WOMAN GETS 3 MONTHS

QUEBEC—Classifying her treatment of her child as inhuman and verging on sadism, Judge Laetare Roy in court of sessions yesterday imposed a sentence of three months in jail on Mrs. Joseph Morisette, found guilty Monday of inflicting grievous bodily harm on her six-year-old daughter.

Evidence was produce during the woman's hearing to show the mother had beaten the sick and undersized child daily.

TWO PROVINCES BALLOT AS ONE FOR LIBERALISM

Hepburn Leads Party Into Power Its Second Time in Past 29 Years.

WEST OUSTS ALL TORIES.

Incomplete Plebiscite on Beer Shows 59,000 in Favor, 51,000 Against.

(By Elmer Dulmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Liberalism strung its banners across Ontario and Saskatchewan to-day, and prepared to take back the reins of government from Conservative hands. The electorates spoke emphatically, and as with a single voice, in general provincial elections yesterday. One humbled the Conservative administration in Ontario for the second time in 29 years.

Mitchell F. Hepburn, 38-year-old Elgin County farmer, who never sat in the Ontario Legislature, led his Liberal forces to a stunning triumph, capturing 65 of the 90 seats in the province. In the last Legislature the Liberals held 16 out of 112 seats.

The other body of voters ushered James G. Gardiner to the Premiership of Saskatchewan after a five-year period in opposition. Premier J. T. M. Anderson's' Conservative Co-operative Government was not only ousted—it was shut out. The latest available returns early to-day indicated there would not be a sinble Conservative in the next House.

In the Legislature of 55 seats, Mr. Gardiner may have a following of 48, or 49 if a Liberal is elected in the deferred election in Athabaska, where voting takes place July 24. The meagre opposition will be made up of six Farmer-Labor members, whose party was supported by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

So complete was the rout in the two provinces that only four Cabinet Ministers were re-elected. Dr. Anderson's entire Cabinet went down to defeat with him in the mid-Prairie province. In Ontario Premier George S. Henry found only Attorney-General W. H. Price, Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highway; and Provincial Secretary George H. Challies surviving the Liberal storm.

Mr. Henry was returned in York East by a comfortable majority over his most serious opponent, Harry Sanders, Liberal. Mr. Price's majority in Toronto Parkdale was cut from 4,000 in 1929 to 253 yesterday. Mr. Challies piled up a majority of 1,360 in Grenville-Dundas and Mr. Macaulay was re-elected in Grenville-Dundas and Mr. Macauley was re-elected in York South by a greatly reduced majority.

The chief lieutenants of Mr. Hepburn, who only recently resigned his seat in the House of Commons to lead the provincial Liberals, gained election without a hitch. The Premier-elect immediately made known he intends to appoint Duncan Marshall, former Alberta Minister of Agriculture, to that post in his cabinet.

He said the Attorney-General may be Arthur Roebuck, who was elected in Toronto Bellwoods and Harry Nixon, leader of the Progressives in the last House, will be Provincial Secretary. The former Liberal chieftain, W. E. N. Sinclair, scored an easy triumph in Ontario constituency.

New Ontario Record

With many thousands votes still to be tabulated from various ridings, Ontario had established a new record for the number of votes cast. It wasc estimated early to-day that 1,211,591 voters marked ballots yesterday compared to 1,146,521 in 1926 and 1,011,880 in 1929.

Premier Henry heard the news of his Government's downfall as he sat in the office of an East York School. He conceded defeat as the list of Liberals elected swelled to around 50 and wired Mr. Hepburn: "Congratulations. I will give you every assistance in taking over the reins of Government."

In the kitchen of the Masonic Hall at St. Thomas, eagerly watching a Morse telegrapher type the glad tidings of the Liberal landslide, Mr. Hepburn was surrounded by enthusiastic supporters. When the full extent of the sweep became known he went out to the street to be received by celebrating crowds.

All Government Backers Fall

Saskatchewan electors mercilessly lopped off every Government supporter and left the small Farmer-Labor group leaderless. M. J. Coldwell, who led the C.C.F.-sponsored party in a widespread campaign, went down to defeat in Regina. The only two-seat constituencies in the province, Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw each elected two Liberals.

Premier Anderson and his Minister of Municipal Affairs, Hon. Howard McConnell, were victims of the Liberal vote-flood in Saskatoon. Attorney-General M. A. MacPherson was beaten in Retaina and Hon. J. A. Merkley, Minister of Railways, Labor and Industries, was left behind in Moose Jaw.

Four years ago to the day, New Brunswick and Alberta held Provincial elections on the same day, but the voters treated their governments with greater kindness. They returned the Conservative Administration in New Brunswick and reiterated faith in the United Farmer Government of Premier J. E. Brownlee.

Beer Sale Undecided.

Saskatchewan voters were far less definite about the merits of beer-by-the-glass than of political virtues. In a plebiscite held in conjunction with the election, they showed a farly evenly-divided difference of opinion. Compilation of votes in the plebiscite early to-day showed 59,000 in favor of freer sale of beer and $51,000 opposed.

Chief oppostion to the proposal to change beer-sale regulations was expected to come from rural areas, however. The vote from the country trickled in slowly.

Ontario will have beer sold in restaurants and hotel refreshment rooms in any case. Both Premier Henry and Mr. Hepburn promised to proclaim legislation already passed as soon as the result of the election was known. Ontario expects beer-by-the-glass by July 1.

Cabinet Ministers Defeated At Polls

HON. H. C. SCHOFIELD HON. DR. J. M. ROBB HON. PAUL POISSON

Along with the defeat of the Hon. W. G. Martin, Hon. William Finlayson, Hon. Charles McCrea, Hon. J. P. Moore, and Hon. T. L. Kennedy, the above three Ministers also failed to get re-elected. Hon. H. C. Schofield and Hon. Paul Poisson were Ministers without portfolio, and Hon. Dr. J. M. Robb was Minister of Health

HEAVIEST VOTE IN HISTORY SEEN

Heavy Rain in Night Gives Ontario Rural Voters Day Off For Balloting.

STORMING IN WEST.

(By the Canadian Press)

Heralded by clear skies, brilliant sunshine and cool breezes in almost every section of the province, election day came upon Ontario to-day with prospects of the largest turnout of the electorate in history.

From Port William and Sault Ste Marie in the north-west, across the northern belt of Sudbury and North Bay, eastward to Ottawa and along the whole southern sector from Windsor to Kingston came reports of early activity and steady polling in both urban and rural centres.

Just what figures to-day's total vote would reach was problematical. In the 1929 Provincial general election 1,001,880 votes were cast; in 1926 there were 1,146,521 votes.

As the trickle of voters at polls opening became a steady stream, there were no reports of disturbances.

A serious accident was averted at St. Thomas when one voter, going after another, lost control of his car and leaped from the machine with his young brother as it plunged into a dam.

Rain Increases Vote

To the west, farmers reported an end of the drought, and where crops could be saved the rain proved of inestimable value. The heavy downpour of the previous 24 hours was expected to increase rather than lessen the "farmer vote."

Only on little-travelled clay roads was any difficulty expected in reaching the polls, and it was believed this factor could be generally disregarded. Many farmers preferred to do no work today after the soaking downpour and prepared to "make a day of it" for the balloting.

In urban centres the change in the weather augured well for a heavy turnout of electors.

Storms In West

REGINA, June 19.—(CP)—Heralded by booming thunder, flashes of lightning and heavy showers during early hours, Saskatchewan electors went to the polls today over mud-splashed roads.

Grey, rain-laden clouds swung across the province and with heavy roads reported in rural areas a curtailment in the general vote was expected.

It was estimated yesterday at least 325,000 men and women would journey to the polls in the 51 constituencies in which 167 candidates seek election to 54 legislature seats today, but overnight rains may change this total considerably.

Henry Votes

TORONTO, June 19. (CP)—Premier George S. Henry voted shortly after 10.30 o'clock today when he appeared at sub-division 1, ward 1, North York, at Oriole, a few miles beyond the division, appearing just as it opened. Other members of the family voted early in the morning.

Norman Muirhead said the premier made no comment on the election but talked about the rain, saying he thought it would do a lot of good, and shook hands with everyone.

Hepburn Turns Out

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 19.—(CP)—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal leader cast his vote at the polling booth in the Community Hall at Union Village, this afternoon. He remained in the city last night after the big meeting here and rested this morning.

All Are In On Election Bet

A Conservative or a Liberal victory in Peterborough Riding—it doesn't really matter which—will earn for Jack Smith and Harold Freeman Simcoe street hairdressers and certain of their customers, a case of a dozen quarts of beer.

It all happened when a fiery Tory and an equally hot Liberal met in argument in the barber shop this afternoon. The former forecast a 600 majority for Lancaster over Hawthorne, while the latter stood firm for the Liberal candidate.

The argument developed and resulted in organization of a sweep in which the Tory supporter predicted the 600 Conservative majority. He was so sure of himself that he bet his Liberal antagonist a case of beer that Lancaster would head the polls. The understanding was that everyone who was in the shop at the time was to share in the beer, which is a break whichever way one looks at it for everyone but the loser.

GARDEN PARTY AT FLEETWOOD

Annual Event Draws Crowd from Franklin, Bethany, Yelverton.

MIXED PROGRAM.

FLEETWOOD, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The initial annual garden party of the season for this locality was held on the school grounds at Fleetwood on Friday evening, with a large crowd attending from the community, as well as many from Janetville, Franklin, Bethany, Yelverton and Lifford Line. The weather was ideal for this outdoor festival, the long white-clad tables, laden with all manner of attractive edibles, being set at the east side of the school building. As the crowds completed the satisfying meal, they repaired to the nearby field of sport where an interesting ball game was played between Yelverton and Bethany boys' hardball teams. Bruce Ryley and Jack Hannah, of Bethany, played with the Yelverton boys for this occasion. The score was piled up to 6-5 in favor of the Yelverton team.

Following the sports program seats were provided in front of the schoolhouse for the fine musical program supplied by local talent, assisted by artists from nearby centres.

Rev. L. W. Scott, pastor of the church, acted as the capable chairman for the evening, and voiced his appreciation for the fine support given this annual event.

The Fleetwood three-piece orchestra provided excellent music at intervals during the program. Omar and Bryce, the Capstick Twins, of Yelverton, were a special attraction on the program as they rendered vocal duets, mouthorgan duets and solo numbers; Miss Jean Stinson, monologue, organ accompaniment by Miss Bessie Howe; Freddie Walker, solo; Mrs. (Rev.) Scott, solo; Kenneth Stinson, guitar numbers.

The gate receipts amounted to $61 and this, with the substantial sum realized at the booth where ice cream, candy etc., was handed out, made the evening a profitable one from a financial as well as social viewpoint.

Lakefield

Lawn Tea.

A lawn tea was held on Thursday afternoon on the grounds of Mrs. H. J. Stuart's residence, under the auspices of St. John's Chancel Guild. Although the attendance was not large, the ladies did very well. Guests were received by Mrs. W. J. Creighton and Mrs. Langley. Mrs. Connell was in charge of a home cooking table laden with delicious wares, which attracted a great deal of attention and patronage. Miss Ogilvie and Miss H. Crawford had the candy table. Mrs. H. M. Stewart introduced a delightful novelty in the form of a stand of bedding plants, asters, marigolds, etc., which were very quickly disposed of. Mrs. Dench, Mrs. Stuart, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Shewen, Miss B. Harvey and Miss E. Hunter served tea. Others assisting included Miss Atwood and Miss Graham.

Women's Institute.

Miss Robinson will be the guest speaker at the summer series meeting of the Women's Institute. She is a capable speaker and is sent by the Ontario Government as the summer speaker. The subject will be, "The Challenge of the Age," and the members of the Hall's Bridge Institute will be the guests of the local branch. Al who are interested are invited to attend on Friday afternoon at 2.30 in the Town Hall.

Miss Robinson will address the Young's Point Institute on Wednesday evening, June 20, in Young's Hall, and a hearty invitation is extended to all women who are interested to attend the meeting.

Millbrook

The many friends of Mr. H. W. Johnston will regret to learn that he has been seriously ill; progress toward recovery, however, is being made. Dr. Lugsdin, of Buffalo, visited his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, last week, arriving on Thursday and leaving again the following morning.

Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Jones were the guests of former parishioners at Mt. Horeb on Sunday, the former taking anniversary services in the United Church at that appointment of the Janetville circuit.

Mr. J. Burnham, of St. Petersburg, Florida is visiting his mother and sister, Mrs. (Dr.) E. L. and Miss Pearl Burnham. Mr. Burnham's daughter, Mrs. A. C. Darling, and her little daughter, Betty, of Peterborough, joined her father here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Nattress, their son, Vincent and Miss Martin, of Toronto motored to the village and visited relatives here on Sunday.

A score or more of men from this community have work on the provincial highway three miles west of Welcome, in the widening and ditch-filling undertaking. Frank Gray conveying the workers in his truck to and from the place of labor, morning and evening daily.

Postmaster T. H. Collins was in Toronto over the week-end, going to the city by motor. Miss M. E. Hetherington was in the Post Office during Mr. Collins' absence.

Athletic Association

A Millbrook Association has recently been formed, the following officers being elected: President, W. E. Ball; vice-president, Rev. W. W. Jones; secretary-treasurer, P. I. Bentley; manager of ball team, L. J. Charlebois; captain of ball team, W. F. Skitch.

Committee to act with the executive to arrange for Field Day on July 2: H. A. Fallis, E. H. Barnes, B. B. Dawson, H. Ball, M. McDowell, R. Stone, Reeve Stinson, R. Gilroy. A good program of sports for the afternoon, ending with a barn dance at night, is the promise for the public holiday.

TRICKY

LONDON—(C.P.) — Twice narrowly escaping capture yesterday, two would be church robbers were being pursued by provincial officers in the area between Elgin Field and Stratford. Driving in a coupe, the men outdistanced one provincial constable in a 15-mile chase and then doubled back on their tracks to evade Traffic Officer Howard Jackman, who was waiting for them north of the city.

Hepburn Speeds Cabinet Selection

LIKELY READY ASSUME OFFICE INSIDE 3 WEEKS

Premier-elect Arrives in Toronto to Confer With Party Leaders.

MAY BE DELAY IN BEER.

Cox Expected to Get Lands, Forests Post—Portfolio for Mayor Croll.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 21.—(C.P.)—Word from the home of M. F. Hepburn to-day is to the effect that the 37 year old premier-elect of Ontario will not go to Toronto until Friday or Saturday.

It is stated to-day that he will take the advice of some of his closest friends and advisers that he should have two or three days' rest on his South Yarmouth farm before "tackling" in earnest his first job of forming a cabinet.

TORONTO, June 21 (C.P.) — Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario came to Toronto to-day from his Yarmouth Township farm to speed selection of a Cabinet to help him take over the reins of government from the remnants of Premier George S. Henry's administration.

Mr. Hepburn, youngest man ever to reach Premiership in this province, expected to assume office in a fortnight or three weeks. He has assurance of Mr. Henry that everything will be done to expedite his accession.

As excitement of the election that brought the greatest Liberal landslide in Ontario's history, and the only one in 29 years, subsided, interest turned to speculation in the make-up of the new Cabinet.

It appeared certain that Hon. Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture in Alberta, would receive the corresponding portfolio in Ontario. Mr. Hepburn already has promised him a place in the Cabinet.

Nixon, Secretary?

Hon. Harry C. Nixon, member of the former Progressive Government of Hon. E. C. Drury and leader of the Progressives in the last Legislature, was reported slated to be Provincial Secretary. The new Attorney-General was expected to be Arthur Roebuck of Toronto.

Observers predicted Dr. L. J. Simpson, elected in Simcoe Centre, would be appointed Minister of Health, and that Charles W. Cox of Port Arthur would get the portfolio of Lands and Forests.

It was considered likely that Mayor David A. Croll of Windsor, elected in Windsor-Walkerville, would get one of the remaining posts.

Those who recalled Mr. Hepburn's promise to include a French-Canadian in his Cabient line-up, considered the names of E. A. Lapierre of Sudbury, who defeated Hon. Charles McCrea, retiring Minister of Mines, and Paul Leduc of Ottawa.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE VACANT.

LINDSAY, June 21 (Special to The Examiner)—It was announced unofficially to-day in local Liberal circles, that friends of William Newman, member-elect for Victoria and Haliburton, would submit his name for a portfolio in the new Liberal Cabinet. Prominent Liberals when interviewed would not confirm nor deny the report. It is pointed out that Mr. Newman had rendered yeoman service to the party, not only in the House, but also on the hustings. He is a splendid debater and, it is pointed out, has qualities which eminently fit him for a position in the councils of his party.

Youth Must Be Served

Not since the Ross regime 29 years ago has Ontario elected a Liberal government at provincial elections. This year they swept out the Conservative administration with a tidal vote of Liberal votes, and elected to the premiership the youngest provincial premier in Canada, and youngest ever in the history of the province. Mitchell Hepburn, seen above, with Mrs. Hepburn, to whom he gives great credit for his success, is only 37 years of age. Also shown in the layout is the Hepburn home in Yarmouth, near St. Thomas.

WOMAN'S TORSO BOILED IN OIL

Special Paper Used to Wrap Body Leads Belief Crime Local.

CLUES DOUBLE EFFORTS.

BRIGHTON, England, June 21 (C.P., via Havas).—Acting on clues they refused to disouss, Scotland Yard detectives worked feverishly to-day to complete their investigation of the facts surrounding the trunk murder mystery.

Following yesterday's autopsy on the dismembered parts of a woman's body—torso and legs—found in railway station check-rooms here and in London, a special appeal was sent out by the investigators, who declared it was of extreme importance that the victim of the murder be identified within 24 hours.

Lack of blood stains on the paper in which the torso and legs were wrapped, at first a puzzling circumstance, was explained when it was discovered that the body had been boiled in oil, then cured in smoke, like a ham.

The paper used to wrap the gruesome remains of the woman, who the autopsy revealed, was in her early 30's and pregnant, was of a peculiar quality used by fishermen along the coast and comparatively rare elsewhere.

These facts tended to confirm the opinion already entertained by the Yard's criminologists that the crime had been committed locally and the body "cured" in one of the fish packing establishments of the district.

The search for the head and arms was being continued, all the parcels in public check-rooms being carefully examined throughout England. An intensive search was also being conducted throughout the country to check the list of missing women.

PLENTY OF CHANCES

Seeing a notice "Boy Wanted" in a window the youth looking for a job quickly went in and made inquiries.

"That's right," said the butcher. "I want a lad. The wages will be $10 a week."

"Shall I have a chance to rise?" asked the lad eagerly.

The butcher nodded.

"You certainly will," he replied. "I want you to get here at five o'clock every morning."

Election Bet

RENFREW, Ont., June 21.—(CP).—Rain prevented two prominent Renfrew citizens, partisans of the Liberal and Conservative parties, from fulfilling an election bet to the letter. But J. J. Southern wheeled S. D. Ferguson for half a mile down the main street in a wheelbarrow.

Southern bet on the Conservatives in the Ontario election and Ferguson on the Liberals. The winner was to get the ride in the wheelbarrow, and both were to be in their underwear. A shower of rain led the men to carry out the undertaking fully clothed, but a large crowd turned out to watch and the deal was executed to the tune of bagpipes and honking of automobile horns.

TWEED MAN IS DROWNED IN DAM

William Alexander, 25, Believed to Struck Head Against Dam in Fall.

BODY RECOVERED.

TWEED, June 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—A fall from the dam on the Moira River here yesterday evening caused the death by drowning of William Alexander, aged 25, popular resident of this village.

The young man an expert swimmer, had gone to the river in company with Fred Freeman for a swim. He had changed into his swim suit and was walking over the dam, preparatory to taking his first dip in the water, when he slipped and fell backwards over the dam into the river.

It is believed that in falling he struck his head on the side of the dam or on a rock and was stunned. The river where he fell is not more than five feet deep, and unless he had been in an unconscious condition he could easily have saved himself in the water.

About eight minutes later Fred Freeman and Felix Rasoite recovered the body from the river. Doctors were summoned immediately and for two hours efforts of artificial respiration were used without a halt.

The youth made his home here with his aunt, Mrs. Hammett, and his uncle, Arthur Hammett. He had previously been employed with Mr. Hammett, but lately had been working on the highway. The funeral will be held Friday from St. James' Anglican Church.

GIRL MURDERED HER OWN FATHER LOVER CHARGES

Says She Cold Bloodedly Fired Shot as Parent Lay Wounded.

INJURED IN TUSSLE.

Prisoner Admits He Intended to Kill Victim for Refusing Consent to Marriage.

PEACE RIVER, Alta., June 21. (CP)...Evidence a girl had shot to death her own father after he had been wounded by her suitor was written into court records to-day in the trial of John Ferguson, charged with the slaying of Louis Jobin, Big Prairie farmer.

Ferguson testified he did not kill the man, but that it was Jobin's daughter, Marcella, who calmly aimed a rifle at her father's back, turned her head, and pulled the trigger.

Ferguson admitted that he planned to kill 'either the old lady or the old man" because they would not give their daughter, Marcella, permission to marry him. He declared that he went to the Jobin home on March 15 last, got into an argument with Jobin over $20 which he said Jobin owed him, and began to tussle. In the tussle, he declared a rifle he was carrying fell and discharged, the bullet entering Jobin's chin.

"Let Me Finish Him"

Then, Ferguson said, he went into the Jobin home and called Marcella; she asked, according to his story, "Why didn't you finish him?" The father, lying wounded, heard the remarks and turned toward them. The girl then announced, his story continued: "No le' me finish him." She grasped the rifle, loaded it and walked toward her father.

Three feet away, he declared, the girl stopped, aimed at him from the front, then walked around to his back, aimed the weapon, turned her head and fired. Then the young man and woman ran through the bushes and went to the home of the accused. Some time later police approached and the girl grabbed the rifle, but he took it away from her.

Three other witnesses testified during the day that Marcella told them she had fired the second shot.

It was the second shot, according to medical evidence, which caused the man's death.

The case is continuing.

HOPE ABANDONED

OWEN SOUND, June 21.—(CP)—Hope of finding Henry Kelso, former Owen Sound Public School principal of late residing in Toronto has been abandoned and members of his family who have been here since Monday, have returned to their home.

The pilot of the government airplane reported last night they saw no tractof either man or boat anywhere around the Georgian Bay.

BOAT FOUND EMPTY.

CHICAGO, June 21 (A.P.).—The sailboat Vivian, missing since 10 a.m. yesterday with its two occupants, Raymond Gustafson, 24, and Miss Ruth Hatch, 25, was found empty this afternoon six miles off the shore of suburban Evanston. The discovery was made by the crew of the coastguard cutter Rush.

An Exception

LOS ANGELES, June 21 (CP) Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, transoceanic flyer, will be able to take his new aeroplane home to Australia with him when the liner Mariposa sails from Los Angeles harbor June 27, despite the Pacific Coast port strike. By special resolution, the local chapter of the International Longshoremen's Association has agreed to assist in loading the craft on the steamer.

Since May 19, Sir Charles has been watching the building of the plane at the Lockheed plant near Los Angeles.

From Australia he will fly nearly 12,000 miles to London.

Next October he will compete in the London to Melbourne race.

WOLF RUNS AMOK IN TINY VILLAGE

Hungarians Bolt Doors in Terror as Marauder Slays 215 Animals.

FINALLY SHOT.

SOFIA, June 21 (C.P., via Havas).—The quiet little village of Bichpuder, isolated in the Burgas district, crashed into the news to-day with the answer of the oft-asked question, "Who's afraid of the big bad wolf?"

The solution was:

All Bichpuder is—or rather was.

A correspondent in the village sent a story to his Sofia newspaper to-day of the slaying of one of the largest wolves ever seen in this region after it had killed 215 animals."

In terse, breathless sentences the despatch continued:

"The wolf, apparently quite mad, was shot at daybreak by villagers after they dared to venture from their homes. It stalked into Bichpuder after dark. It ran amok, from barn to pen, from yard to yard. It strangled 100 sheep, 40 pigs, 25 cattle, 50 dogs.

"This morning people from miles around came to the village square to see the dead terror."

The above despatch brings to mind the stories which have, from time to time, come out of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., of the ease with which wolves of that district have been bested by man. One told of a lone skiier outracing a wolf in deep snow, then ending its career with a few lusty smashes to the head with his ski pole.

Perhaps some Soo huntsman could turn a pretty dollar, even become a district hero, by ridding Bichpuder of its voracious wolves.

SCAPA FLOW MEMORIES ARE REVIVED IN BERLIN

BERLIN, June 21 (A.P.).—Memories of the "heroic sacrifices at Scapa Flow" were revived in the German press to-day, the 15th anniversary of the dramatic sinking of the German fleet, which had been ordered surrendered to victorious allies.

The flet was scuttled on the order of Admiral Ludwig von Reuter, whose determination to prevent his warships from passing into the hands of the British Navy was described to-day as an act of high patriotism.

Co-incidental with memorial service at Berlin, German and British sailors were fraternizing at Swinemunde, where a British destroyer squadron from Scapa Flow was making the first British courtesy visit to a Baltic port since the war.

Hitch-Hikers After Being Given Ride Steal Car, Carry Away Third Passenger

To speed up his elopement from this city, Gerald Donovan, 24, lately of Peterborough but formerly of Toronto, is alleged to have stolen a car, owned by William Driver, in Oshawa, early this morning. In hastening off with the car and his girl friend, Donovan nearly carried off another man's wife.

Louis Corbett, 194 Clifton Street, hired Driver's taxi to make a business trip to Oshawa yesterday. He took his wife, just recovering from an illness, as company on the trip.

Before leaving the city, Mr. and Mrs. Corbett were asked by Donovan and his girl friend if they could get a lift as far as Oshawa. The Corbetts consented to give the couple a ride.

Reaching Oshawa, Mr. Corbett stopped the car and got out in order to look up a street address. During his short absence, Donovan jumped behind the wheel and started to drive away. Mrs. Corbett ordered him to wait for her husband, but Donovan paid no heed. He speeded up the vehicle.

Mrs. Corbett opened the door and jumped out. The car was going so fast that she fell on the pavement, suffering bruises and shock.

To-day, Mrs. Corbett was ill at her home. Police along the highway have been notified to keep a lookout for the stolen car, a Frontenac sedan, with license number, HJ-61.

Less than a week ago, Donovan was granted suspended sentence by Magistrate Langley on a charge of stealing one of Driver's cars for a ride with his girl.

CLOTHING TRADE IS BEING RUINED MEMBER CLAIMS

Conditions Almost Unbelievable Described in Quebec Clothing Industry.

TERRIBLE SAYS STEVENS.

Sweatshop Conditions Aggravated by Demand for Cheap Clothing.

OTTAWA, June 21.— (CP)—A picture of men, women and children working in their homes on cheap clothing in the Province of Quebec, was painted today to the Parliamentary Mass Buying committee by J. G. Glassco, an investigating auditor.

Almost Unbelievable

"This is almost unbelievable," said Chairman H. H. Stevens when the auditor told about a clothing contractor in Montreal taking cloth and thread into the country, there to be sewed into clothing at starvation rates. Whole families would work, receiving 60 cents a dozen for sewing men's pants and, in addition, buying the thread from the contractor who received it free from the manufacturer.

The auditor told of visiting one farm house 25 or 30 miles from Montreal where four families worked together on clothing in the daytime, the women worked the machines, sewing the pieces together, putting in pockets and attaching buttons. At night, the men pressed the finished garments. The joint output for the four families was from 2½ to 3 dozen pants daily for which they received, without considering cost of thread, from $1.40 to $1.80. Each family would receive less than 50 cents for the long day's work.

"We are back in mediaeval times" commented Sam Factor, Lib. Toronto, adding the whole clothing industry in Canada was being ruined by such conditions.

Sweatshop labor and home-work conditions had grown in the last four or five years, the chairman said, aggravated by the demand for cheap clothing for department store bargain days and mail order catalogues.

The auditor said there were from 150 to 200 clothing contractors in Montreal and sometimes sub-contractors. They had small plants or their own, receiving orders from larger manufacturers. In two shops examined, every woman received less than the minimum wages set by law.

VOW MADE 300 YEARS AGO HAS RESULTED IN THE PASSION PLAY

Oberammergau Nearly Wiped Out During Black Plague of 1634.

ALL GREAT ARTISTS.

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

OBERAMMERGAU, June 21. — "Judas Iscariot," is a housepainter by profession, the same as Herr Adolf Hitler was formerly. He has a big swastika flag hanging out over his shop. "Pontius Pilate" runs a saw-mill with his father. There being no sea of Galilee near Oberammergau, nor any other water except some mountain streams. "Peter" is not a fisherman here, but a sculptor. "Mary Magadlene," appropriately, operates a small fashion emporium. "Nicodemus" is a dairy farmer, and "St. John" the beloved apostle is a wood-carver.

The first major actor of the Passion Plays I saw here was the High-Priest "Annas." He was pointed out to me in the street by the taxi-chauffeur who conducted me from the station to my hotel. The taxi-chauffeur himself was also one of the actors. He figures in the mob-scene befcre the pretorium where, according to the New Testament narrative, the hangers-on of the priestly party demanded the death of Jesus from Pilate. My driver had a set of whiskers that would have made the late Mr. Darwin's mouth water. Curious, I thought, how these blondest of German "Aryans," everyone of whom I am told, is an ardent Hitlerite, try so much to look like Bible-picture Jews. They succeed pretty well, I must admit.

COUNTY COUNCIL WILL INCREASE SHELTER GRANT

Children's Aid Society Refused to Accept Grant Made in January.

COULD BILL FOR $1,749.

Legislation Permits Shelter to Bill County 75 Cents a Day for Child.

The Children's Aid Society declined to accept the reduced grant of $800 from Peterborough County Council, as voted at the January sessions, and instead intimated that unless the grant was raised to the usual $1,000 level, the Society would consider levying the charges provided by statute.

It was pointed out to the Council in committee on finance, in a communication from V. Eastwood of the Children's Aid Society board, that under existing laws the Society is entitled to levy at the rate of 75 cents per child per day. At present the county has nineteen children in the Shelter, and the city eighteen.

Could Bill For $1749

On the basis of 2,332 days at 75 cents per day, Mr. Eastwood's communication stressed, which are the actual figures for the last year the Society would be entitled to bill the county for $1749.

The city which contributes an annual grant of $1,500 to the Shelter ran up a total of 1,851 days last year. The city bill at the rate of 75 cents per day per child was $1,388.-25.

Following lengthy discussion of the question, the committee under chairmanship of Reeve Robert Tedford in the chair, recommended that the council give the Shelter an additional grant of $200 bring-

SHIP HITS ROCK 4 WOMEN DROWN 15 OTHERS HURT

Fog Blamed for Tragedy as Holiday Liner Crashes in Norwegian Fjord.

1,000 NAZIS ABOARD.

Scores Leap Into Sea—Officer Saves 20 as Lifeboat Gear Breaks

BY BJORD BUNKHOLDT
Associated Press Foreign Staff

STAVANGER, Norway, June 21.—(AP)—A young officer was singled out today as the hero of the wreck of the Nazi excursion steamer Dresden, in which four women died and many passengers were injured.

The steamer, carrying 1,000 German Nazis on a holiday jaunt, was knifed by a rock last night in the shallow Hardanger Fjord. The Dresden, 14,000-ton ship of the North German Lloyd line, sank shortly before noon with only her bow remaining visible.

In the wild panic that followed the crash, 20 women were lowered to the water in a lifeboat; it drifted too close to the whirling propellors and capsized. Three women were lost and a fourth snatched from the churning waters, died soon afterward from her injuries.

Another boat, also bearing 20 women, was being lowered when the gear broke, plunging them into the sea. The officer without hesitation jumped from the third deck and swam to the rescue of the frightened women.

His aid while another boat was being lowered was credited with preventing a greater death toll.

Strikes in Shallow Water

A Norwegian pilot was aboard the liner, cruising leisurely through this picturesque section, when the tragedy occurred. The shallow spot where the steamer struck was clearly marked but it was believed the pilot failed to see it because of a heavy mist and choppy sea.

Many of the passengers were war veterans from the Saar region, at sea for the first time. No children were aboard.

A number of women who were in the boat which capsized were taken to a hospital here to be treated for immersion and shock.

One of the Dresden's officers said that after the first shock of the catastrophe had been overcome the passengers were calm. "Rescue work was hampered by heavy seas whipped up by a keen north wind" he added.

In their frenzied haste to get away from what they believed to be a sinking ship scores of passengers leaped overboard and swam the short distance to shore safely.

Operator Sticks to Post

Rescue vessels were on the scene almost immediately, called by a wireless operator who refused to desert his post until all save the captain had left the ship. Among them were the King Harald and S.S. Kronprincesse Martha which took off the bulk of the passengers. These were landed at Stavanger.

Later the Dresden was backed off the rock and was beached on Karmoey Island ,where remaining passengers and the crew were put ashore.

All the excursionists were to return to Germany to-day on the liner Stittgart.

The captain and several of his men last night returned to the ship in the hope of remaining until the salvage ship arrived. But the position of the Dresden, whose bottom was badly torn with water pouring in from the port side, grew worse, and they reluctantly abandoned her.

COUNTY COUNCIL HOLDS PAYMENT ON HIGHWAY BILL

1933 Provincial Highway Bill For County of Peterborough Totals $14,000.

OWE COUNTY $6,000.

Reduction of Two Mills in County Rate is Expected This Year.

Payment of the 1933 Provincial Highway bill of $14,000 was yesterday withheld in a motion unanimously endorsed by Peterborough County Council.

The withholding of the amount owing by the County was decided upon mainly in view of the fact that $6,000 is claimed to be owing by the government from the grade crossing fund in connection with the construction of the Norwood subway.

1932 Balance to be Paid

An outstanding balance of $15,817.30 on the 1932 Provincial Highway bill is to be paid.

It was intimated that payment of the 1932 balance and the withholding of the 1933 highway bill would allow of a reduction of over two mills in this years tax rate. It is probable that the tax rate will be set at 12.824 mills as compared with 15.426 mills last year.

The June sessions of council were formally opened on Tuesday afternoon with Warden Rork Ferguson in the chair and eleven other members present.

As first matter of business Wednesday morning, Warden suggested, "it is the feeling of some of us we should withhold the highway bill, as we did last year, in order to give the taxpayers some relief, and also in view of the fact that there is a credit of $6,000 still outstanding to

Obituary

RUSH POINT, June 21 (Examiner Correspondence)—The funeral of Marguerite Toms, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Toms, of Round Lake Settlement took place on Monday afternoon at two thirty. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Kemp of Havelock United Church, at the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seeney of Rush Point.

The death of little Marguerite came as a shock to the community, and deepest sympathy was expressed for the sorrowing parents. Marguerite was apparently as well as usual on Friday. On Saturday she was taken suddenly ill a. was rushed to Peterborough to Nicholls Hospital, but all efforts to save her were in vain and she died Sunday at 10.30 a.m.

Besides her bereaved parents she leaves to mourn her loss one brother Gerald, eight years.

Marguerite was two years and four months old, and a very lovable and winning child and her sudden death will cast a shadow over the community for many a day. The many beautiful floral tributes were a token of love for the little tot. In the service the Rev. Mr. Kemp spoke most sympathetically and appropriately words of comfort to the sorrowing friends referring during part of his talk to the beautiful comforting words in Tennysons poem on Resignation.

JAMES SIMPSON

MILLBROOK, June 21 (Examiner Correspondence)—The death of James Simpson, who had resided with his niece, Mrs. Martin Dew, Carmel, for the past four or five years, took place on Saturday, June 16, in his seventy-fifth year.

Deceased was born in 1869 at Fenella, Ontario, but had spent most of his life in and around Castile, New York State. While residing in Castile and its vicinity Mr. Simpson followed an agricultural, and a railway career, but following his wife's death retired and came to Canada, making his home at Carmel. A funeral service was held at Mr. Dew's home on Sunday evening, conducted by the Rev. William Simpson, B.A., rector of the parish of Cavan, and early the following morning the local funeral director, F. C. Scott and Clifford Skinkle, accompanied the remains to Castile for interment.

The immediate surviving relatives, in addition to the niece already mentioned include another niece, Mrs. Herbert Scott, of Campbellford, who was here for the funeral and four nephews, Frank Randolph, of Niagara Falls, William Simpson of Niagara Falls, Jack and Bert Simpson, of Hastings.

FATE OF BEER IS UNDECIDED PRAIRIE VOTE

Affirmatives Have Edge of 23,000 But Scores of Dry Polls Unreported.

ANDERSON QUITS JUNE 26.

Premier-elect Gardiner Announces Special Session Immediately.

REGINA, June 21.—(CP)—Saskatchewan electors went back to routine today while Premier-elect James G. Gardiner awaited formal resignation of the Conservative Co-operative government of Premier J. T. M. Anderson and went about preparing to name his new Liberal cabinet.

Although the question of the governing party had been decided, there was still some doubt as to the fate of the beer plebiscite which was voted on at the same time. Latest figures showed 82,490 in favor of broadening the beer sales with 59,490 against, a majority of 23,000. But many polls, scores of them in 'dry' areas, were still to be counted.

Resignation of Premier Anderson, who with all his cabinet members went down to defeat as the Liberals swept all but five of the seats which went to Farmer-Labor (C.C.F.) party candidates in Tuesday's voting, was expected to be placed in the hands of Lieutenant-Governor H. E. Munroe June 28. The election writs are due June 26.

Special Session

Premier - elect Gardiner, who headed the previous Liberal government which was defeated in 1929 by the combined Conservative, Independent and Progressive forces, announced definitely last night from his farm home at Lemberg that a special session of the legislature would be called "as soon as we can conveniently get around to it."

Repeal of the School Act passed by the Anderson government was expected to be one of the first jobs the new administration. It will also tackle the problems of economy in government costs, agricultural problams and aid to the province's business generally. The program to be undertaken has not yet been definitely prepared.

The problem of organizing a cabinet was another that confronted Mr. Gardiner but he said "there is plenty of good material from which to choose." Among those mentioned for cabinet rank are two former ministers—Hon. Dr. J. R. Uhrich, Rosthern, former Minister of Health, and T. C. Davis, Prince Albert, former Attorney-General.

Others suggested in unofficial circles are P. M. Anderson, K.C., Regina; W. J. Patterson, Cannington; R. J. M. Parker, Pelly; W. F. Kerr, Regina; George Spence, Notukeu; J. W. Estey, K.C., Saskatoon; Gordon Taggart, Swift Current, and Charles Dunn, Francis, as speaker.

Ceylon Tea Booklet Is Most Attractive

An attractive little booklet presenting a brief outline of the history and development of Ceylon, one of the world's greatest tea centers, has been published by the Ceylon Tea Bureau in Montreal. Free copies of the educational booklet are to be distributed to educational authorities and principals of schools on receipt of requests at the Bureau's headquarters in the Sun Life Building, Montreal.

With an interesting produce map of Ceylon on its cover, the publication traces the fascinating story of the island's history from the ancient beginnings of its civilization more than two thousand years ago to its present position in the world as a great source of tea. The story is told in a graphic and interesting manner. Two fine illustrations are included.

Bismuth, a metallic element, was possibly known to the ancients, but was first clearly distinguished from tin by Basil Valentine in 1413.

CROWN AIMING SEIZE LOTTERY SWEEP PRIZES

Change Replaces Law Allowing Winnings to be Claimed by Informer.

CLAUSE OUT OF DATE.

Bennett Hints at Redemption of Currency in Bullion—Gold Coinage to Disappear.

OTTAWA, June 21 (C.P.).—A new weapon is being forged against sweepstakes and lotteries by Parliament. Having rejected bills to legalize these forms of gambling, the House of Commons to-day has before it an amendment to the criminal code to provide that winnings from sweepstakes may be forfeited to the Crown.

The change replaces the present law under which winnings may be claimed by an informer who institutes an action against the winner of a sweep. This change, it was agreed, is out of date and no successful action to claim winnings has recently been brought.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, proposed the change in the annual batch of amendments to the criminal code which he introduced yesterday.

Plodding steadily towards prorogation, the House of Commons will have other government measures before it to-day. So rapid was the progress yesterday in dealing with the measures previously announced for consideration that an early adjournment had to be taken.

The Senate yesterday advanced a number of bills a stage. It gave first reading to the two bills re-

HAROLD CARR HAD MAJORITY OF 868 VOTES

Mayor Carr, despite the very heavy work imposed on him during the past few weeks, his first entry into the political arena, and the very heavy day he went through on Tuesday, was on the job early on Wednesday, looking after the business interests of his creamery, and modestly receiving the congratulations of the citizens of town, as he met them on the streets.

Looking tired but cheerful after his sweeping victory in the Tory stronghold of Northumberland, he gave a short message to the electors of the riding, when approached by The Examiner. It was this:

"You know I am a modest man, but tell them how very happy I am and how I feel and appreciate the confidence shown by them in me, and that I hope to demonstrate to them that that confidence will not be misplaced."

In the election returns it is seen that only five of the polling divisions went against Mayor Carr, the townships of Brighton, Murray, and Cobourg, Colborne, and Brighton Village. He piled up large majorities in Haldimand and Hamilton, however, while his home town gave him a splendid majority of 139, and Seymour backed him to a like extent. Percy also rallied behind the Campbellford Mayor, and South Monaghan, Cramahe, Alnwick, and Hastings showed their confidence in his ability to represent them in the Provincial House.

OCEAN CANOEIST IS OUT ON LAKE

John Smith Reaches Belleville and Then Starts For Kingston.

BACK BADLY BURNED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

BELLEVILLE, June 27. — John Smith, Peterborough canoeist, en route on a single-handed canoe trip he hopes will take him across the Atlantic, tonight was somewhere between here and Kingston, heading for the broad reaches of the St. Lawrence River and the Thousand Islands.

Smith paused here Tuesday night after coming down the Trent Valley Canal system from his home town, and left yesterday for Kingston. He expects to reach St. John's by the end of June and Northern Ireland about three months later.

"They tell me," Smith said today, before he left "that the canoe will be swamped by the heavy swell of the ocean, and that I am taking my life in my hands . . . but I contend it can be done, and I am willing to try."

The young canoeist is becoming bronzed by the sun, but his back, severely burned by exposure during the last two days, was giving him considerable pain when he reached here.

Last night Smith slept in the canoe, as he always does. He says: "It makes a comfortable bed, and I don't have to disturb any one when I pull out in the morning."

The young adventurer's canoe is a sixteen-footer, known as the "prospector" type. It is a standard model in all particulars, except for a slightly widened beam and more freeboard than is normal, in order to lessen danger of shipping water.

Obituary

MRS. JOSEPH COLLINS

HASTINGS, June 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—Death on Wednesday afternoon, at four o'clock, removed one of the most popular young citizens of Hastings district in Mrs. Joseph Collins.

Mrs. Collins had been seriously ill for the past two weeks, but it was only the last few days that her condition became critical.

Born in the Township of Asphodel on September 11, 1911, whose maiden name was Miss Cassie Teresa Crowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Crowley, prominent residents of Asphodel Township. She spent her life which was cut off at such a young age in the township of Asphodel, with the exception of a few years spent in Rochester where she took a business course and later a position as stenographer. On June 12, 1933, the late Mrs. Collins became the bride of her sorrowing young husband. After her marriage she resided on the groom's farm in Percy Township.

There are left to mourn her loss, her sorrowing husband, an infant daughter, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Crowley of Asphodel, four sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Edward Waters, who is at present critically ill in a Peterborough hospital; Mary Agnes, Annie, and Margaret at home, Francis and Albert also at home.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning from the family residence on the Cobourg Road in Percy Township, at 8.30 a.m. to Our Lady of Monte Carmel Roman Catholic Church, where Requiem High Mass will be sung at 9 o'clock.

Interment will be made in Hastings Roman Catholic cemetery.

LIKELY READY ASSUME OFFICE

rights in that direction might not be fulfilled as soon as William H. Price, Attorney-General, promised would be the case if a Conservative Government was returned.

In a telephone conversation last night with the London Free Press, Mr. Hepburn said the beer and wine amendments to the Ontario Liquor Control Act, passed through the last Legislature, would be proclaimed by order-in-council as soon as possible. However, it appeared certain this would be impossible for two or three weeks, whereas Mr. Price promised the amendments would be in force by July 1.

Mr. Hepburn spent yesterday on his farm resting, on the advice of his doctor. He complained several days ago that he was very tired and that his throat was sore from the strain of delivering so many speeches. The fact he was coming here to-day, however, was taken to indicate nothing serious was wrong with his health.

COUNTY COUNCIL WILL INCREASE

ing it up to the usual amount of $1,000.

Amendment Carried

The decision was made in the carrying of an amendment moved by Deputy Reeve James Milby, and seconded by Reeve Richard Sanderson.

Three members of the council voted in favor of a motion, which was defeated, that no action be taken. They were Reeve W. A. Anderson, the mover; Deputy Reeve George Mullen, the Seconder; and Reeve James Gifford.

Reeve Anderson adopting the same stand that he took on the matter when the grant was cut at the January sessions, referring to the fact that the county had been billed by the Board of Education for the education costs in respect to county children in the Shelter stated, "I would say the Shelter authorities and the Board of Education are going to drive this thing so far that we of the county will have to decide upon some means of protecting ourselves in some other way." He suggested the county might consider establishing their own branch of the Society with accommodations being found for children at the House of Refuge, where he said, there was room to take are of them.

Believes Anderson Right

Warden Rork Ferguson commented, "I believe Anderson is right. We have room at the House of Refuge. Yet," he warned, "under the Act we can be enforced to pay 75 cents a day for each child in the Shelter. I agree it is not justice that the county should have to pay for the eduation of county children in the Shelter, still the fact remains that it is the law. We can do nothing but act in accordance with the law."

Reeve Harry Wood pointed out that the city which also had to pay education costs for city children at the Shelter, said that in addition the city did not derive one cent of taxation from the Shelter."

In supporting Reeve Anderson's proposal that the grant remain at $800, Deputy Reeve Mullen said he did so because in actual fact, despite the cut in the grant, the county was still contributing $1,000 to the Shelter. There was the reduced grant of $800 and the additional $200 levied against the county for the education costs of Shelter wards.

Recommend Grants

Other grants recommended for payment by the committee were as follows:

School Fairs	$100.00
Victoria Park	100.00
Canadian National Institute for the Blind	50.00
Women's Institute	25.00

In full settlement of his claim against the county for services rendered, the committee recommended payment to former county engineer A. W. Connors of a balance of $75. The matter which has been before the council for several sessions past, was settled on motion of Reeve Austin Jackson, seconded by Reeve C. F. Steenburgh.

New Typewriter

Replacing a worn out machine that has done 24-years of continuous service for the county, the chairman of the Property Committee was authorized to make the purchase of a new typewriter for use of the clerk and treasurer.

The Underwood Typewriter Company submitted a proposition offering a machine for $177 less 10 per cent discount and a $5 allowance on the old machine, or at a net cost of $154.30.

Authority to make the purchase of a new machine was given in a motion moved by Reeve Anderson, and seconded by Deputy Reeve Milby.

VIRGINIA SHEARER WINS SILVER MEDAL

Oratory Contest Features Annual W.C.T.U. Convention for Peterborough-Northumberland.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, June 21.—On Tuesday, June 12 at the joint county convention of the W.C.T.U. for the counties of Peterborough and Northumberland an oratorical contest was a new feature, with five young girls competing—Mary Blewett, Agnes Campbell, Audrey Linton Dorothy Martin and Virginia Shearer. The girls were all winners of bronze medals and were not to compete for the silver medal.

The decision of the judges was announced by Mrs. G. K. Tyler, Peterborough who stated that the unanimous decision of the judges was in favor of Virginia Shearer The local branch of the L.T.L. are fortunate in having two silver merallists in their group in the person of Patricia Earnshaw who won the local contest last autumn and Virginia Shearer, winner of the twin counties contest. The two girls are eligible to compete in the Provincial gold medal contest in October The local branch is to be congratulated on its achievement.

Girl's Softball

Those interested are talking of the girl's Softball league as a possible attraction to the ball field in July and August. Selwyn team has merged into Young's Point team and Warsaw has been more or less absorbed in other teams. An early meeting will be called with representatives for interested teams to elect a committee to draw up a schedule.

Gold Coins to Disappear

In the lower house Prime Minister R. B. Bennett expressed the belief gold redemption in bullion only and gold coinage would disappear. The gold standard, he said, apparently was the only money basis which could have any stability. This was when the House was considering the Finance Bill which authorizes an increase in the issue of Dominion notes on the basis of a 25 percent gold backing.

On the motion of Mr. Bennett the House of Commons eliminated the special concession granted to Lloyds in the British and Canadian Insurance Companies Bill. The Bill requires companies carrying on insurance business in Canada to maintain deposits in this country equal to their liabilities to Canadian policyholders. Lloyds was exempted from this provision as the bill passed the Senate.

SPLENDID CO-OPERATION.

In compiling the election returns from the constituency of Peterborough on Tuesday night The Examiner established a new record in the completeness and speed in which the results were collected.

Within a few minutes more than three hours after the polls had closed The Examiner had received the figures from all but one of the 137 polls in the city and county—the best showing in this regard that we have ever been able to make. So much in advance of the political organizations' efforts to obtain the returns was The Examiner that both Liberal and Conservative headquarters practically gave up in despair and depended upon our facilities for their information.

The Examiner was able to set up a new record because the work of its own staff was materially assisted by the splendid co-operation given by deputy-returning officers and election scrutineers, to whom our hearty thanks are extended; the keenness of our corps of correspondents throughout the constituency, and the fine service of the Bell Telephone Company.

All these factors combined to provide a speedy compilation of the results—and enabled us to give the public a practically complete picture of the local election at an unusually early hour.

It was great work all round, and we wish to acknowledge our deep sense of gratitude to all who assisted us in making this splendid achievement possible. They performed a public service of great value, for which general thanks should be forthcoming.

PROTECTING THE PUBLIC.

The revision of the Dominion Companies Act, one of the major pieces of legislation to come before Canada's Parliament this session, has not received the attention from the public that its importance justifies.

Briefly, the bill, which is designed to safeguard the investing public against fraudulent or unsound enterprises endeavoring to secure their capital from the savings of the Canadian people, seeks to compel an honest setting forth of all facts on the condition and prospects of a company offering its stock to the public and to prevent the employment of high-pressure promotion.

It is worthy of note that in initiating this legislation the Bennett Government has chosen the English Companies Act rather than United States legislation for its model.

There is need in this country for such a measure, for while no legislation can keep fools and their money from separating and the gain instinct will always becloud men's judgment, yet the public has a right to insist that so far as possible safeguards shall be provided against chiselling concerns.

The revision of the Dominion Companies Act apparently provides a considerable measure of protection, and no less an authority than Business Week, published in the United States, says of the new bill that it "is provided with what appears to be a very efficient set of teeth."

That being the case, its introduction would seem to be decidedly in the public interest.

PETERBOROUGH OVERLOOKED.

Although the Ottawa Government has brought down a $40,000,000 program of public works, it is impossible to find the name Peterborough mentioned anywhere therein, even in the smallest type.

This failure to do anything for this city demands some explanation from the Government.

We are still struggling with a large measure of unemployment, and have every right to point out that when a relief construction program is launched Peterborough has claims for more consideration than has apparently been accorded us.

Only a few days ago Mayor Denne and Ald. Hamilton visited Ottawa to stress the desirability of including this city in the list of places for which public works were being planned, and they were informed by Hon. H. A. Stewart that no construction work would be authorized until the Government was in a position to balance its Budget.

Had that assurance been fully lived up to there would not be a great deal about which to complain, even if most people do believe that it is better to provide work for the unemployed than to take care of them by direct relief; however, the details of the supplementary estimates show that millions of dollars are to be spent on public works, but that not one dollar of the large amount asked for is to be expended in Peterborough.

It is plainly the duty of E. A. Peck, the riding's federal member, to enter a vigorous protest against this sidetracking of Peterborough's claim for consideration, and he should be backed up in his demands by the civic authorities, the Chamber of Commerce and the community generally.

If there are funds available for relief construction projects, then most certainly Peterborough is entitled to some share in the national program.

THESE SHOULD BE READ.

The Examiner desires to call the attention of its readers to the first of a series of articles on the new marketing legislation, written by Wilfrid Eggleston, staff writer of the Central Press.

This measure, one of the most revolutionary pieces of legislation ever written into the statute books of Canada, is so comprehensive in its scope, so upsetting in its possible consequences, that it is time every Canadian knew something about the Natural Products Marketing Act and begun to realize that here is something that is going to work a tremendous change in this country, if the claims of its advocates are verified.

"The farmer is now to be organized," points out Mr. Eggleston in his first article, appearing to-day, "so that he can hold his own against the distributor and the manufacturer in this incessant battle for a square deal."

It will become the law of the land around the end of this month, so that Mr. Eggleston's analysis and explanation of the legislation is particularly timely.

This experienced newspaper man covers every angle of the question in the series, which begins to-day, and The Examiner cannot stress too heavily the desirability of our readers generally taking advantage of this opportunity of studying a measure that may prove a new deal for Canada's hard-pressed primary producers.

He gives both sides of the question, the first two articles completely covering the views of the proponents of the Marketing Act, and the third expressing the opinion of critics of the new marketing machine.

The Examiner hopes that the chance to become acquainted with a bill of vast significance will not be overlooked.

THE PREMIER WAS RIGHT.

Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, received the honorary degree of doctor of laws at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y. Mr. Bennett delivered a sensible address, in one part of which he said:

"War is a fatal game. Nobody has ever won at it yet—except the munition makers. The world must cease to rely on arms or arms will destroy the world."

It is well that the Prime Minister of Canada, when called upon to speak in a neighboring country as the first citizen of the Dominion, should have said something which the people want to have said.

War is a fatal game. Nobody has ever won at it yet—except the munition makers. That indeed is well said.

The number of those who make money out of war would be small compared with the number who engage in it. Just a handful of people are the winners.

And what a price the world pays in order that those who hold stock in munition firms shall become wealthy. The nations prepare the way by purchasing the munitions, by paying the men who make use of them, and by paying the debts which follow and settling by way of pensions for the smashing of human beings and the crippling of human hope.

The makers of munitions escape the bills which their products bring to pass. They take the profits and to the world in general they pass along the losses. No nation wins; no body wins—except the makers of munitions. Premier Bennett was right.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

HITLER, MUSSOLINI AND VON PAPEN.

Despite the surface cordiality of the greeting and farewell between Mussolini and Hitler who met to talk things over at Venice, there was evidently a conflict of wills and a certain amount of self-assertiveness between them. Engagements between such leaders are arranged with hair-trigger punctuality, and when Mussolini on the first day kept Hitler waiting ten minutes for one function, Hitler countered the next day by keeping Mussolini waiting twenty minutes for another. Each showed that he did not have much respect for the other. These things did not happen by accident.

The upshot of the talks was not encouraging. The main result is that Mussolini failed to persuade Hitler to send German delegates back to the disarmament conference at Geneva. Thus the plans of Britain, reluctantly agreed to by France, have been torpedoed. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald the other day expressed his disappointment that Germany had not made any serious effort to reach an agreement at the conference. Germany has thrown away her last opportunity. Britain need no longer build any hopes on German reasonableness. France never had any illusions on that point so the conference knows now where it stands. There is no hope now for the disarmament conference.

Mussolini and Hitler did agree, however, that the integrity of Austria is to be respected. Austria, Hitler agrees, is not to be coerced into a German union. So far so good. But Hitler made the reservation that in the event of the Austrian Nazis obtaining the ascendancy, the Nazi will shall pre vail. On the face of things that is fair because it is a sound principle of democracy that the majority shall rule. The decision, however, will be a great encouragement and incentive to the Nazi element in Austria. The Austrian Nazis have given Dollfuss a peck of trouble in the past, and the prospects are that aided by German propaganda which will certainly not be lacking, and with the probable help also of smuggled arms, the Nazis will make a strong bid for supremacy. There is more trouble ahead of Dollfuss. There is potential gunpowder in that also for Europe, because France and Britain are flatly against Austro-German union, which in the long run would mean a powerful German combination again.

Then again another element has entered the political arena since Hitler returned home. Von Papen, one of the few non-Nazis in the Hitler Cabinet, came out bluntly at a university graduation against ruthless Nazi domination. Such a blast it was that the German newspapers were forbidden to report it, but the news is bound to percolate through. Von Papen may be disciplined and some explanation will have to be given.

A notorious plotter in the United States against the Allies, and also against the United States before it entered the war, he belongs to the old school. He wants the monarchy restored, wants freedom of the press, freedom of the church, and altogether not so much one-party bossing of the people. That is wholly contrary to the Hitler policy. What will be the result remains to be seen, but this outburst cannot be ignored. Either Von Papen is a bold rebel who wants the restoration of the status quo to some extent, or else he was allowed to make the speech to pave the way for a gracious climb down on the part of Hitler who may have been brought to realize that his dragooning of the people and the bludgeoning of their liberties, is not for the good of the nation.

But the latter view is not likely because the speech would not have been suppressed. It looks as if Von Papen has bolted and is taking the risk of leading the people against the Nazi regime.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Not a member of the Anderson Government was elected in Saskatchewan, and the Farmer-Labor group with a handful of members will comprise the official Opposition. When people want a change they have a habit of saying so.

Premier Henry sent his congratulations to Premier-elect Hepburn as soon as the extent of the turnover was realized. That's the only spirit in which to accept defeat.

One of the outstanding features of Tuesday's election, both here and throughout the province, was the extraordinarily large proportion of the possible vote that was registered. Many thousands who usually remain aloof must have exercised their franchise on this occasion.

And now will come the scramble for places in the new Cabinet, and heart-burning for the aspirants whose claim to consideration does not receive due recognition.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

I LOST MY GIRL

I had a girl. She was a very nice girl, and she had very nice sisters, too. And she was pretty.... I was about seventeen and she was about sixteen....We went on picnics and we went to dances and danced two-steps and three-steps and waltzes together. I wasn't very good at it. I never was very good at dancing. I always had trouble reversing. And I got hot and my hands got moist. And when I realized how hot I was I got hotter still, and my face got red....And we went to parties together. Parties were they played "wink" and "forfeits" and ate vanilla ice cream and layer cake and walked slowly home in the warm moonlight afterwards—never any later than midnight.... The boys wore blue serge suits and high collars, and narrow ties and bright patterned socks, and those were the day of high-buttoned shoes, and they had stickpins in their ties, and none of the girls had their hair bobbed, but they were very pretty, just the same. ....We were growing up, and it was a pleasant time of life.

But she wasn't my girl very long. She quit first, and it was her mother's fault.

She was a lovely mother, beautiful and gentle, and some day I'd like to meet her again. She had four girls and naturally she was anxious about them. Even in those days mothers were anxious about their girls. And she was deeply concerned about the young fellows who took her girls to parties....The trouble was—the thing that made me lose my girl—was that she liked me. She approved of me....And she told somebody, and it got around, that she "always felt safe" when her little girl was out with me.

I suppose I was pleased when I heard that. I don't exactly remember. But I don't think her daughter was pleased. And I think she was annoyed. And it was one of the things that made me lose her. I have an idea that no little girl wants to feel "safe." It isn't exciting enough. It isn't any fun. Mother may be right, but mother is so old-fashioned, and even if mother approves of a young fellow, she shouldn't be so outspoken about it.

So very soon she wasn't my girl any more....We had arguments. We didn't get along. And she went with other boys to parties and I went with others girls....And it WAS, at least partly, her mother's fault.

Popular Astronomy

THE MOON

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

The full moon is always opposite the sun. Many phenomena that break upon our sight we leave unconsidered. Every scene is a summons. It is related to some truth out of sight. How many of us have reflected upon this bit of astronomical fact, that when the Sun is in the most southern part of its apparent orbit, the Moon is journeying in the most northern part or its orbit.

And when the Sun is in its most northern part of the celestial orbit, the Moon is then in its most southern part of its orbit. It follows that the full Moon in winter in the northern hemisphere rides high in he sky, and remains a long time above the horizon. In the summer it is correspondingly low, and remains a much shorter time above the horizon.

Every light beam that reaches the Earth adds to its warmth. The Moon reflects the maximum amount of Sun beams of the Earth in winter days . And in summer days the least.

Different eyes see different objects in the Moon. Some see a Face, some a Crab, some a Girl reading, some a Donkey, some The Lady, and some an Astronomer's Drawing. The Lady's head is usually seen on the extreme right or western half of the Moon. Her face is bright, and is turned toward the left or east, across the disk. At times it is in the lower right-hand corner. When in this position the face is loking upwards. The profile when the outline is sharp and clear is appealing. The upward look is suggestive, and likely to make the observer reverent. Caliban asked Stephano, "Hast thou dropped from the Moon?" Says Caliban, "I have seen thee in her, and I adore thee."

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Alice White,
149 Stewart St., Peterborough.

Your writing indicates a delicate refinement. You are well poised and gracious. You emanate a friendly spirit and inspire the utmost confidence. Your upper loops tell of a leaning towards the romantic and idealistic. You have vision and imagination. You are dignified, optimistic and ambitious. You are cheerful and dearly love a good time. Although you are an idealist at heart, you are careful and practical. You do not let your plans and dreams carry you away from the daily grind. Your artistic and systematic nature lends an even balance to your noteworthy character. You should always dress in colors which inspire you, because your gentle sense of well being needs self-expression through your manner and dress. Your number is 7. Your birthsign is Cancer the Crab. You are ruled by the Moon. February and September are your most fortunate months, and Monday your lucky day.

Donna Jessie Buchanan.
Havelock, Ont.

Your writing shows that you are a most interesting person. You are pleasant and friendly, though rather inclined to be impulsive. You are fond of a change, and seem to be ever on the look out for new ideas. Your imagination is excellent and could be developed along literary lines if you so desire. Generosity is noted in your capital letter formations, and I am inclined to think that you do too much for others, often to your own disadvantage. Your general character is excellent, and you should attract many worthwhile friends to you, through your genuine qualities. Teaching or nursing should interest you, but neither profession is absolutely essential to one of your type, if you have chosen something else, because you can make a success of any venture which your diligent mind allows you to undertake. Your number is 9. Your birthsign Cancer the Crab. You are ruled by the Moon. Monday is your best day and February and September your best months.

Alma Eleanor Clarke,
Havelock, Ont.

Your writing shows that you belong to the discriminating trustworthy type of people, who are intricate as to detail in dress, food, and pleasures. You leave no doubt as to your meaning at any time, because your agile brain offers clarity of expression. You are well poised and well versed. Your talents are all evenly balanced, and you do not appear to be especially ambitious in any one particular line. You have a pleasant friendly disposition and you are sympathetic and kind. You like people and enjoy their society. You should do well in the social affairs in your community or surroundings. Your spirit of independence could be developed, if you were to become attached to a large concern where your ability to manage and to sell could de demonstrated. There is a love of travel noted in some of the letter formations, and the above proposition might enable you to satisfy this longing. Your good taste and well balanced talents suggest a step ladder, upon which, if you desire, may reach the pinnacle of success. Your birthsign is Libra the Balance. August and December are your most fortunate months, and Friday your best day. You are ruled by Venus. Your number is 8.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A REBUKE TO CIVIL SERVANTS

Sometimes officers of the civil service at Ottawa and the various provincial capitals protest against what they consider to be unjust regulations as to office hours. I wonder how many of them know of the first ukase issued in Canada stipulating the office hours of government employees?

On June 21, 1803, General Peter Hunter, lieutenant governor of Upper Canada, issued this order:

"Notice is hereby given that regular attendance for the transaction of the public business of the province will in future be given at the office of the Secretary of the Province, the Executive Council office and the Surveyor General's office every day in the year (Sundays, Good Fridays and Chrismas Day only excepted) from ten o'clock in the morning until three in the afternoon and from five o'clock in the afternoon until seven in the evening."

Soon after the appearance of this notice, Alexander MacNab, a young clerk in one of the public offices, was innocently watching the governor's embarkation from a boat, preparatory to his being conveyed up to the council chamber in a sedan chair which was in waiting for him. His Excellency spied the onlooker, ordered him to be brought to his presence, whereupon he bombarded the unhappy youth with abuse: "What business have you here? Why are you not at your desk? How dare you disobey my orders?" and winding up with: "Sir, your services are no longer required!"

This same Macnab in later life regarded that day's dismissal as good fortune rather than bad, for soon afterwards he procured a commission in the army and saw the world instead of being tied to a clerk's stool in York. He rose to be a captain and died on the field of Waterloo, the only Canadian-born to be among the dead in that famous battle. Sixty years later his Waterloo medal was presented by the Duke of Cambridge, then commander in chief, to Rev. Dr. MacNab of Bowmanville, the nephew of the man who, as a result of a governor's wrath, was transformed from a peaceful civil servant into a soldier of his king in old Europe.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 99c to $1.02; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 46c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

(By Canadian Press)

Cheese prices eased fractionally on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday while other produce remained firm.

The cheese market was off ½ of a cent, Ontario colored being quoted at 10¾c to 11¼c a pound. Quebecs were 10¼c to 10⅝c a pound. Receipts totalled 447 boxes.

Butter was steady, fresh No. 1 bringing 20¼c to 20½c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers sold for 22c for solids and 23c for prints. Arrivals were 18 boxes.

No changes were recorded in egg prices. Graded shipments in carlots or less from Ontario brought 19½c to 20c a dozen for A-large, 18½c to 19c for A-medium, 10c to 18½c for B and 17½c for C. Western carlots sold for 21c a dozen for A-large, 20c for A-medium, 19c for B, and 18c for C. Receipts were 709 cases.

Potatoes were steady to stronger. Quebec Whites were quoted at 65c to 70c per 80-pound bag, compared with 65c the previous day. Prince Edward Island Mountains brought 95c to $1 per 90-pound bag, against 95c, and N.B. Mountains sold for 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

A downward plunge of almost 3c a bushel went hand in hand yesterday, with an outburst of stop-loss selling in the wheat market.

Drenching rains at places in drought districts northwest ,together with enlarged receipts southwest, pulled buying support from under wheat values, and gave momentum to selling. A further unsettling factor was reported possibility whereby Germany would exchange manufactured articles for grain from Argentina.

Wheat closed heavy at the lowest level reached since May 27, 2⅝c to 2⅞c under Thursday's finish; corn, ⅞c to 1⅛c down; oats, ⅞c to 1c off; and provisions unchanged to 15c decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 21. — With scarcely a trace of foreign demand in evidence and the Chicago wheat market lagging, futures prices turned downwards on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday for losses of 1½c to 1⅝c.

Closing figures on July wheat were 76½c, October 78⅝c, and December at 79⅝c. Trade volume was small and operations were of an uninteresting character.

Offerings were not especially heavy, but with only the narrowest of buying power in the pit, it was a simple matter to depress prices. Chicago traders and locals were the best sellers, while a little support came from seaboard houses at bottom levels. Final figures were at the day's low points.

Chicago wheat dropped more than 2 cents net, while Liverpool quotations ended ¼d lower to unchanged.

Cash grains spreads were ¼c up to ⅛c down at the close, and coarse grains softened in sympathy with wheat.

What's in The NAME of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

DAUPHIN, MANITOBA

The naming of this town, situated on the norther border of Riding Mountain National Park, goes away back in 1739, when La Verandrye, the French explorer, discovered the lake close by. La Verandrye named the lake in honor of the heir to the throne of France, the Dauphin of France.

Many years afterwards the town was established, and it was only natural that the town should take its name from the lake lying ten miles to the east.

A Thought

A GOLDEN HARVEST

Every piece of honest work, every loving thought and action, every discipline, and every self-forgetfulness in kindly affection; yes, and every prayer of faith, hope, and love of God; these are seeds of your day that bear their golden harvest with the year If you are still tilling difficult ground, that, too, is part of the work. Tilling or sowing, work sincerely and truly; those who sow in tears reap in joy, and they, too, will one day sing from their very hearts.

The valleys stand so thick with corn
That even they are singing....

COUNTY COUNCIL HOLDS PAYMENT

the county from the grade crossing fund.

Should not Pay Bill

"I feel we should not pay that bill until the Government pays what they owe us," the Warden stressed.

A motion to the effect that the 1933 Highway bill be withheld was moved by Reeve Richard Sanderson and seconded by Reeve Roy Brown, and was carried unanimously.

A deputation from the Lakefield Agricultural Society received assurance that their request for financial grant would receive the careful consideration of the Finance Committee.

Wardens Address.

In his address the Warden commented on the – lamented passing of the late Judge E. C. S. Huycke; and recognized "the kind hand of Providence," that had sent rain at a time when a crop failure looked like a strong possibility.

His address was as follows:

"Since the January session this county has suffered the loss of our esteemed Judge, the late Judge E. C. S. Huycke, and I am sure I voice the sentiments of all in extending our sympathy to the Huycke family."

"You will join with me in recognizing the hand of Kind Providence in sending rain at a time when it saved us from having a crop failure."

"This year the Old Age Pensions, Mothers' Allowances and Municipal Indigents, are costing the County more than in former years, but in spite of these increases we hope to succeed in lowering the county rate over 2 mills less than last year, which speaks very creditably for this council, and I am sure will be appreciated by the taxpayer."

"I wish to thank the members of the council for the cooperation which I have received in fulfilling my duties thus far during the year, and trust the same may be continued, and that we may be back to normal times in the near future."

Reeves H. Wood, Richard Sanderson and F. D. Leahy were appointed a committee to deal with the Warden's address.

HEROIC WOMEN SAVE OLD MEN IN SHIP DISASTER

Those Able to Swim Give Up Places in Boats as Nazi Liner Sinks.

PASSENGERS IN PANIC.

Norwegian Pilot of 30 Years' Experience Takes Full Blame.

(By Bjord Kunkholdt, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

KOPERVIK, Karmoy Island, Norway, June 21 (AP) — How women who could swim gave up places in lifeboats to elderly men was told to-day by a survivor of the wreck of the German steamship Dresden, in which four women were drowned.

Other tales of heroism were brought to shore from the vessel listing in the choppy waters.

The ship's band played the National Anthem and other sprightly marches until the last passenger had been lowered from the decks, the survivor said.

"The second tables had about finished dinner when, with a violent jerk, passengers, tables, furniture, and dishes were hurled together on the floor," the survivor related.

"At first there was great panic among the struggling passengers, but this was quieted when officers said the commotion was caused by the rolling seas.

Panic Breaks Out

Shortly the crew began distributing lifebelts and ordering everybody to the decks. Then panic broke out again.

"As lifeboats were being prepared for launching only the firm action of officers and some passengers who helped handle the situation maintained order.

"The orchestra continued playing all the while.

"One of the stewards, Willy Bruns of Warnemunde, proved himself a hero. He dived perilously from the third deck of the Dresden when a lifeboat crowded with 20 women capsized as it was being lowered into the water. Bruns himself saved four women who were sinking in the ice waters. Other boats picked up women Bruns could not reach. The Steward was almost stiff with cold after his heroic fight in the icy seas."

Pilot Takes Blame

The Norwegion pilot Tacogsen to-day assumed full responsibility for the wreck of the Dresden.

"I take sole responsibility for the Dresden disaster," said Tacogsen. "No other explanation is possible for this unavoidable tragedy.

"Although I have nothing with which to pay the material damage, the moral responsibility is heavy enough.

"The waters of the Karmsund are difficult to navigate, but I have piloted here more than 30 years and therefore have an intimate knowledge of them.

"The disaster was caused by a greater drifting than I estimated.

"There was a mist all day but it got lighter toward evening and therefore the mist was not the real cause.

"There were two pilots aboard but I was on the bridge when the liner struck. Captain Moller and two mates were with me."

Fifteen passengers have been taken from this island, 21 miles northwest of Stavanger, to the hospital there suffering from various injuries. Three of them were seriously hurt but the remainder probably will be discharged shortly.

TRADE VOLUME ABOVE AVERAGE

Noranda and Hudson Base Chalk Up Higher Prices in Base Metals.

SILVER GROUP STEADY.

TORONTO, June 21 (CP)—Trading in the higher-priced gold shares gave the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange a firm tone to-day, and volume over the board was well above the recent average. Only a couple of the base metals, Noranda and Hudson Bay chalked up higher prices while the silver group was steady on small turnover.

Lake Shore was in demand at a narrow advance and gains of 50 cents to $1.25 appeared for Dome and McIntyre and smaller gains for Pioneer and Teck Hughes. Wright-Hargreaves and Bralorne were unchanged, and Hollinger down 10 cents.

San Antonio, Siscoe and some of the other medium-priced shares turned over in heavy volume. Gains of about 10 cents were retained by these stocks.

The Weather

TORONTO, June 21. (CP). Synopsis: The eastern disturbance is centred this morning over the gulf of St. Lawrence and another low area is moving eastward across northern Ontario and pressure is also low over the western provinces and the Mackenzie River valley, while the barometer is relatively high to the westward of the Great Lakes and on the Pacific coast. A few light scattered showers have occurred in the western provinces and showers and thunderstorms in many parts of Ontario and Quebec while heavy rain fell yesterday in the Maritime provinces. It has been cool over Manitoba and the Maritime Provinces but moderately warm in other parts of Canada.

Lower Lake Region and Georgian Bay—Fresh to strong southwest to northwest winds; partly cloudy with local thunder squalls; somewhat cooler to-night. Friday: Moderate to fresh northwest to west winds; fair and moderately warm.

Northern Ontario—Cloudy with occasional showers; cool to-night. Friday: Fair and rather cool.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence valley—Fresh southwest winds; partly cloudy with local thunderstorms. Friday: Fresh northwest Winds; fair and somewhat cooler.

WINNIPEG, June 21 (2.35 p.m.). — With clearing weather through the West and rather light selling pressure, our market held remarkably well in face of weakness in American markets. Hedging pressure of winter wheat continues to take the edge off their market. Foreign reports are of mixed character but still thought on the unfavorable side. There was a little export during the day but volume not large.

Coarse grains held fairly well with fair cash demand with some sales made for foreign shipment.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 21.—In general the market action tends to confirm the theory that this is a period of accumulation and accumulation would account for the dullness punctuated by firmness. On these days we shall witness a general advance out of dullness, though there is no forecasting when it will occur. We may have a week of backing and filling and false moves, or it may turn out that little stock is available at these levels and if substantial buying appears higher prices will ensue.

A rally may eventuate this afternoon.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Wheat and corn prices broke sharply yesterday although the character of the news on crops here and abroad was little different. On whole news received was more bullish than bearish and reaction in prices is what brokers like for a "technical movement." Selling from hedgers in districts where harvest is now under way started the decline in wheat. After that, speculative selling developed with result stop loss orders were uncovered and the recession was accelerated.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 21. (CP)—Almost all the week's gain on the hog division of the Toronto Livestock market was wiped out this afternoon as off trucks, the only grade offered to buyers, dropped 10c at $8.90 or on a basis of $8.50 f.o.b. for bacons and $9.30 off car. The cattle supply was cleaned out at steady prices. Calves and sheep moved slowly while lambs continued steady.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 20; calves, 20; hogs, 240; sheep and lambs, 230.

Butcher cattle ranged from $3.90 to $5.10 while cows brought $2.50 to $3.75. Calves sold from $3 to $5.50, while lambs went at $9 cwt. The few sheep offered sold at $1 to $2.50 cwt., according to quality.

LIVESTOCK QUOTATIONS.

Hogs, off cars, selects $1.00 premium bacons $9.30; butchers $1.00 discount; heavies $1.50 discount; lights and feeders, $1.00 discount; sows $6.80.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 21. — (AP)— Stock dealings slowed down to a walk today as prices generally moved in a narrow range. Gold and silver mining issues were firm, however, and some chemical shares showed a better tone. U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, General Motors, Santa Fe, American Telephone and other leaders registered minor changes on either side of the previous close. Transfers approximated 450,000 shares.

FOOCHOW FLOODED

FOOCHOW, China, June 21.—(AP)—Flood waters covered Foochow's streets today, following torrential rains which swelled the Min River. Heavy loss of life in outlying districts was reported.

Water stood at a depth of six feet on some streets of this mouth coastal city. Traffic is impossible except by boat.

The floods were described as the worst in 25 years.

NEGRO HANGED BY TEXAS MOB

KIRBYVILLE, Texas, June 21 (C.P.). — Two hundred white men last night took S. Griggs, negro 30, from officers and hanged him after he had been seen in the company of a 17-year-old white girl.

The mob stopped an automobile of officers as they took the negro to Orange for safe keeping, threw a rope around his neck, dragged him from the car and hanged him.

Seventeen shots struck him as he dangled in the air. The crowd cut the body down and dragged it over the country behind an automobile, then left it near the door of a box factory commissary.

St. Thomas Sets Record In Votes Polled, Getting Out 9,312 Of 10,267 Available

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 21 (C.P.)—City of St. Thomas giving its first Liberal majority in half a century Tuesday set what is believed to be a provincial record in the way of percentage of votes polled. The total number of available votes in the city was 10,257 and the total votes cast was 9,312, a percentage of 92.82. St. Thomas has a most active young people's organization both Liberal and Conservative and to them is given the lion's share of getting out the record vote.

St. Thomas also claims to have the oldest voter in the province. Mrs. Margaret McCallum, who was 102 years of age, was out to vote for M. F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader and stayed up in the evening long enough to get full returns and as a reward to receive a kiss from the premier-elect as he halted his triumphal procession in front of her home.

INTERNATIONAL PETE DECLINES

Profit-taking Cuts Point or Two Off Some Issues in To-day's Session.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, June 21.— (C.P.)— Prices sagged a little under the weight of scattered offerings falling on a thin demand to-day on the industrial section of the Toronto stock exchange. Profit-taking nicked a point off International Pete and Supertest sagged more than a point. Canada Cement stocks held to the up side and the foods retained some gains, while interlisted shares were bereft of advances at the close.

Volume bulked in Nickel, Canada Cement Common, Canadian Canners "B" and two oils, Imperial and International Pete. Canners "B" was weakened a full point under active selling, closing at 7⅜. Nickel dropped 10 cents to $26 and Brazilian, Ford A and C.P.R. closed unchanged.

Volume was again in small proportions in the distillery group.

BOAT SPONSONS GIVEN TO SMITH

Set on Exhibit in The Examiner Will be Forwarded to Smith.

INVENTED LOCALLY.

In order to assist John Smith, husky young local seaman, in his attempt to paddle the Atlantic, a set of canoe sponsons, guaranteed to keep a canoe from overturning even in the roughest sea, will be shipped to the dauntless canoeist by a group of Peterborough men.

The canoe sponsons are the invention of W. L. Sharpe, 412 George Street, and fit snugly under the gunwale of the canoe.

These safety sponsons, which will probably prove a big assistance to canoeists everywhere, will have a great test when they accompany Smith on his paddle.

The set that will be sent to Smith are on exhibit to-day in The Examiner window. They will be shipped to the Atlantc paddler tomorrow, so that he can pick them up during his trip down the St. Lawrence.

The sponsons are the gift to Smith of Mr. Sharpe, Hon. G. N. Gordon and Louis Yeotes.

CLOTHING TRADE IS BEING RUINED

facturers on the Island of Montreal were described. There were two types of manufacturers, those who manufactured themselves and those who used contract labor in one form or another.

The first type of contract labor, say witness, was where the contractor worked on the manufacturer's premises, but employed his own workers and sold his work to the manufacturer, who supplied the material.

Then there were the independent contract shops in Montreal which solicited work from various manufacturers. The independent contractors maintained their own premises and did not restrict their work for one manufacturer only. The material was supplied by the manufacturer. Then there were cases, stated the accountant, where these independent contractors contracted out their work, but generally speaking they did the work themselves.

The third type of contract labor was the controlled contract shop operating outside the City of Montreal, usually in a country district. These contract shops were not operated under the manufacturer's name, the real owner. The main benefit from these shops outside of Montreal was cheap labor and goods were brought by truck to and from these shops from the manufacturer's city plant.

"The curse of the clothing industry," remarked Sam Factor (Lib., Toronto West Centre).

Terrible Says Stevens

Seventy-one men and boys in a Provinceof Quebec shoe factory have been paid weekly earnings of $4.71 this year, Mr. Glassco said. The average wage for the 48 women in the plant was $6.83 with the vast majority at the $6 level.

"That is terrible," commented H. H. Stevens, when the auditor referred to 24 boys in the factory earning an averageof $2.22 a week. The shoe factories examined in Quebec have been increasing the number of boys in their employ since higher minimum wages were set for women. The Quebec Act, like Ontario's, does not touch boys or men and there has been nothing to prevent payment to men and boys of wages below the minimum for women. Names of shoe manufacturers not made public.

Scandalously Low

It was apparent, said the chairman, that general wages in some Quebec shoe factories were "scandalously low." This prompted Sam Factor, Lib, Toronto, to refer sarcastically to "the proud record of the Canadian standard of living."

The financial position of the eight shoe manufacturing companies examined into was sound and during the past four or five years the earnings were generally very stable, said the accountant. Management and executive salaries seemed reasonable and the owners were regularly obtaining a fair return on the invested capital.

The price at which shoes were sold to department stores and small retailers were not readily comparable but the department stores appeared to purchase most of the slow-moving merchandise seasonally cleared from manufacturers' stocks at reduced prices. Those companies selling a large portion of their output to small retailers suffered heavy losses from bad debts, said witness.

During the past few years a number of small shoe companies have started business in small towns and the country district of Quebec. The Quebec Minimum Wage Board, the accountant stated, had established three classifications which resulted in widely varying rates of pay between Montreal and smaller towns. The comparative legal minimums for fully experienced female workers were.

City and Island of Montreal 19.9 cents per hour;

Other cities and towns of over 3,000 populatio n 20.8 cents per hour;

Towns and villages under 3,000 population 18.7 cents per hour.

With several notable exceptions the wages paid were found to be below the minimum rates, in certain cases very considerably below stated Mr. Glassco. The provisions of the act which limited the proportion of female apprentices to 50 percent of the total was not regularly observed. Generally speaking, the records maintained by the companies as to hours of labor and experienceof workers were incomplete.

No union organizations were observed in the companies visited and apprentices, were employed at extremely low rates, accountant said.

The only company investigated in Montreal, stated the accountant, appeared to be paying female employees less than the minimum wage and the average wage paid to male employees was actually below that paid to females. This company and another company investigated outside of Montreal had been fined for infringement of the minimum Wage Act. He had been informed by Gustave Francq of Quebec Minimum Wage Board that others of the eight companies investigated had avoided prosecution by agreeing to pay employees sufficient to bring their earnings to the legal minimums.

Five of the eight companies reviewed broke the minimum wage stipulating no plant could have more than 50 per cent of its female payroll inexperienced, the auditor said. Four of the companies had 80 per cent or more of its women employees inexperienced.

The following was a list submitted of the eight companies showing the percentages of their female employees paid below the legal minimum: A. 83 per cent; B. none; C, three; D, 83; E, 12½; F, 38.4; G, 38.2; H, 42.5.

The next list of companies showed the percentage of male employees receiving less than 10 cents an hour: A. 60 per cent; B, none; C, 38; D, 18; E, none; F, 31; G, 1.5 and H, 60 per cent. or on a weekly wage of $4 or less, the list would be: A, 25 per cent; B, 5; C, 26; D, 12; E, 21; F, 16; G, 8, and H, 56.

"This is sweating the men at the expense of the women," commented the chairman when the auditor read the last list, showing the percentages of men workers who received less than $9 a week, the legal minimum for women. It was: A, 81 per cent; B, 24; C, none; D, 75; E, 46; F, 48; G, 64; and H, 86.

"This is a lamentable picture for Canada," remarked the chairman.

REEVE GIFFORD LEADS BATTLE ON ASSESSMENT

County Council Refuses to Adjust Equalization and Assessment.

WARDEN ALSO KICKS.

Old Schedule is Adopted on Motion of Havelock Reeve.

While presiding over the Equalization and Assessment Committee of Peterborough County Council at the morning sessions to-day, Reeve James Gifford, youthful representative of Ennismore Township, put up a stiff argument in favor of a reduction in Ennismore's equalized assessment, which he claimed was too high in comparison with other townships.

Despite the persistence with which Reeve Gifford pursued the matter throughout a long debate, it was the general opinion of the council that the time was not opportune for a revoluation of the county.

In a motion moved by Reeve Sanderson of Havelock the committee decided to recommend to council that the schedule contained in the report of the standing committee on Equalization and Assessment, should be the equalized assessment for the year 1934.

Warden Rork Ferguson, who made efforts at previous sessions of council to point out inequalities that exist in the matter respecting his own township was again prominent in debate this morning. Almost without exception the members of the council were of the opinion that some revision was necessary, but that the time is not opportune.

Public School Inspectors R. F. Downey and Leo Copp addressed the Council on several phases of public school work in their respective inspectorates. The former informed the council that Miss Whitton, who was yesterday appointed as representative of the continuation schools on the High Schol Entrance Board had declined to act, for personal reasons. He suggested as a substitute, P. Yule, principal of Havelock Public Shool.

The High School Entrance Board is to sit tomorrow, Mr. Downey intimated, to consider recommendation of pupils for High School entrance without written examinations. Candidates for entrance by recommendation will be considered from Lakefield, Havelock, Norwood, Confederation and May's Schools, it was stated.

Victoria, and speculation is rife as to the probable incumbent of this position. It was stated to-day that no action would be taken by the Liberals in connection with the vacancy for some weeks. Rumors have it that the Henry Government had practically selected the man for the job some time ago, and that Premier Henry was asked to defer the appointment until after the election.

The fate of the present incumbent of the office of Clerk of the Surrogate Court, W. W. Staples, ex-M.L.A., is the chief topic of conversations in political circles. This appointment was made some months ago, the appointee only recently taking over the duties of office. Mr. Hepburn, in a public declaration stated that when he assumed office, he would cancel all government appointments made after October, 1933. Local Liberals unhesitatingly declare the Liberal Leader would live up to his declaration.

Marketing Act Designed to Stop Price - Cutting

NEW MARKETING ACT DESIGNED TO OBVIATE COMPETITION EVIL

Give Farmers a Chance to Battle Against Unfair Distribution.

BECOME LAW IN JULY

Act Will Attempt to Put Stop to Under-Selling and Price-Cutting.

By WILFRID EGGLESTON
Central Press Canadian Staff Writer
(Copyright 1934)

OTTAWA, June 21.—"A ragged crowd, armed with clubs and scythes, fighting against mechanized forces equipped with machine guns for a fair share of the consumers' dollar!"

That's the picture of the unorganized farmer as painted by a member of parliament. That explains for the most part the ruinous price of farm products, the mortgages in arrears, the farm taxes unpaid, the desperation in many agricultural areas.

But the farmer is now to be armed, so that he can hold his own against the distributor and the manufacturer in this incessant battle for a fair deal.

The modern equipment takes the form of the new Natural Products Marketing Act, passed by the House of Commons, and scheduled to become law of the land on or before July 1st.

Couldn't Set Own Price

It has been the eternal complaint of the farmer, the rancher, the fisherman—the primary producer, in short—that in selling the product of his labor he has always had to accept what the other fellow chose to pay him. If he took his wheat to the elevator, he either accepted the current price, or took his load home. Same way with cattle in the market, eggs in the store, and so forth.

Another bitter plaint, especially loud the past three or four years, was that he sold milk for two cents a quart, and learned afterward that the householder in the city paid ten; that he got 40 cents a bushel for his wheat, and bought some of it back again in the form of Graham flour at $10 a bushel; that his fat steer only fetched three cents a pound in the market, but that round steak was 30 cents at the butcher shop.

Someone Made Profit

In brief, that he got an entirely inadequate share of the consumers' dollar—that someone in between was making a good thing out of a commodity which he had sweated to produce and then had to slaughter for what he could get—in many cases less than the actual cash cost of production.

Advocates of the Marketing Act see coming into effect as a result of the legislation a much brighter day for the primary producer. They believe that, properly organized, the farmer himself can have something to say about the selling price of his product, and that he can insist on a fair share of the selling price.

Two questions arise:

1. Haven't there been lots of farmer organizations already?

2. Why haven't they saved the farmer from being the victim of the distributor or the manufacturer?

The answer—given by the supporters of the new legislation—is as follows:

Previous Organizations Failed

1. Yes, there have been co-operative producing and marketing organizations. Many of them are still in existence, and some of them do a lot of good.

2. Because they have always been hamstrung by the fellow who would not co-operate, either in this country, or that.

Suppose the tobacco producers in Canada set up a voluntary organization and got 50 per cent of the growers to agree to insist on a fair price for their tobacco. What chance would they have of getting it, if the tobacco manufacturer could deal separately and individually with the other fifty per cent? Or, failing that, could bring in some cheap tobacco from outside?

When the new legislation is operating, and the producers or a commodity are able to set up a scheme, that sort of thing—so its sponsors claim—will be quite impossible.

Everybody Will Be Included

Why? Because every grower of that commodity will be in the scheme. The majority will be in it because they want to be. The minority will be in it because the others can't afford to let them go driving down the price by unfair competition. That's the theory.

And if anyone tried to cut price by bringing in a lot of cheap tobacco from elsewhere they would be out of luck. It is proposed that the Marketing Board work in conjunction with the customs officials. The government will be able to ban or penalize such attempted imports.

Mass Bargaining Power

So what? The distributors and the manufacturers of the "regulated product" will have no other source for their material than the 100-per-cent-pool of the producers. The obvious result will be an agreement between them, so say the friends of the new legislation. Each will be indispensable to the other. The producers can't get along without the distributors and manufacturers, and vice versa. When the representatives of the producers ask a fair price for their product, the chances are the other people will be inclined to come to terms.

In other words, the new legislation proposes to give the farmer a "mass bargaining power" which, the government believes, will enable them to get much better terms for their stuff than they have done in the past.

So much for the general idea and background of the scheme.

In the second article of this series, the manner in which the new legislation is expected to operate will be outlined. Readers should follow these articles closely, since this legislation is one of the most important steps taken in Canada in many years. Be sure to read the second in the series to-morrow.

Powers of the New Marketing Board According to Wording of the Act

The board to govern the Natural Products Marketing Act will have the following powers, according to the wording of the Act:

4. (1) The Board shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have power—

(a) to regulate the time and place at which, and to designate the agency through which the regulated product shall be marketed, to determine the manner of distribution, the quantity and quality, grade or class of the regulated product that shall be marketed by any person at any time and to prohibit the marketing of any of the regulated product of any grade, quality or class;

(b) to exempt from any determination or order any person or class of persons engaged in the production or marketing of the regulated product or any class, variety or grade of such product;

(c) to conduct a pool for the equalization of returns from the sale of the regulated product; to compensate any person for loss sustained by withholding from the market or forwarding to a specified market any regulated product pursuant to an order of the Board; provided that no compensation shall be paid in respect of a regulated product that may be withheld from a particular market because the grade of such product is deemed by the Board to be unsuitable for such market, or because of restrictions imposed by the government or other competent authority of any other country upon the importation of any regulated product into the country;

(d) to compensate any person in respect of any shipment made pursuant to any determination or order of the Board to a country whose currency is depreciated, in relation to Canada's currency, for loss due to such depreciation;

(e) to assist by grant or loan the construction or operation of facilities for preserving processing, storing, or conditioning the regulated product and to assist research work relating to the marketing of such product;

(f) to require any or all persons engaged in the production or marketing of the regulated product to register their names, addresses and occupations with the Board, or to obtain a license from the board, and such license shall be subject to cancellation by the Board for violation of any provision of this act of regulation made thereunder;

(g) to require full information relating to the production and marketing of the natural products from all persons engaged therein and to require periodic returns to be made by such persons and to inspect the books and premises of such persons;

(h) to pay the operating and necessary expenses of the Board;

(i) to co-operate with any board or agency established under the law of any province to regulate the marketing of any natural product of such province and to act conjointly with any such provisional board or agency.

FEW PARALLELS TO TORY FALLS

So Taschereau Claims in Blaming Affiliation With Bennett Regime.

NO APPEAL, THIRD PARTIES.

QUEBEC, June 21 (C.P.)—Hon. L. A. Taschereau, premier of the province of Quebec, made the following comment yesterday on the results of Tuesday's provincial elections in Ontario and Saskatchewan.

"I believe that the political history of Canada offers few examples to parallel such defeats and reversal of public opinion.

"Two provinces, separated by vast space, have overthrown in a most definite manner the Governments which they brought to power a few years ago.

"In seeking the causes for these Tory disasters, we find that local circumstances in Saskatchewan and Ontario in a measure influenced the vote, but the real cause in my mind, was their affiliation with the Bennett regime, which has been completely discredited.

"Lessons deriving from Tuesday's results showed that new or third parties have no appeal to public opinion; the Canadian people do not want them. Mr. Hepburn's attack on the Ontario Hydro plan is a warning to state ownership proponents, the Ontario voters viewed the scheme from anear and acted accordingly.

"My hearty congratulations to Messrs. Hepburn and Gardiner."

Piles Go Quick

Under Dr. Leonhardt's Internal Method.

Large numbers of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine, when salves do not help and wish is to escape operation.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation and help to heal the affected parts.

Dr. Leonhardt was one of the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for large numbers of patients with a fine record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist, with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

So isn't it wise when other ways fail, to go to McDerm'd & Jury and Bond's Drug Store, who say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe, clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money-back.

Natural Products

The new Natural Products Marketing Act lists Natural Products as follows:

Animals, meats, eggs, wool, dairy products, grains, seeds, fruit and fruit products, vegetables and vegetable products, maple products honey, tobacco, lumber and such other natural products of agriculture and of forest, sea, lake or river, and any article of food or drink wholly or partly manufactured or derived from any such product that may be designated by the governor-in-council, in accordance with the provisions of this act.

The word "marketing" is interpreted by the act as including "buying and selling, shipping for sale or storage and offering for sale."

NO BAN ORDERED

TORONTO — S. J. Ryall, vice-president of the Toronto Musicians' Protective Association declared yesterday that the American Federation of Musicians has not ordered a ban of union-played music from all Canadian Radio Commission stations.

Mr. Ryall said the Toronto Union had received no official word about an all-Canadian Union which was expected to operate independently of the international body.

Some idea of the magnitude of the SUPERIOR STORES ORGANIZATION may be gained by the following comparison. If Brantford, Chatham, Galt, Guelph, Kingston, Kitchener, Lindsay, London, Niagara Falls, Oshawa, Owen Sound, Peterborough, St. Catherines St. Thomas and Stratford, were all grouped into one vast community their total population would not equal the number of Canadians served by Superior Stores each week. Superior Stores with their 900 members rank as one of the largest distributors of food products in the Dominion of Canada, and each store is owned and operated by a member of the community which it serves. You are making a material contribution to your own and Canada's prosperity when you "Shop at Superior Stores".

GEORGE STREET ANNUAL PICNIC IS BIG SUCCESS

Large Attendance of Sunday School and Congregation Present.

GROUP GAMES.

Competition in Various Classes Creaed a Great Deal of Interest.

A large attendance of Sunday School and congregation, good weather, and a full program of recreational features marked the annual congregational picnic of George Street United Church at Nicholls Oval, Wednesday afternoon. Over 500 persons, young and and old, were on hand and enjoyed an extensive and carefully prepared program of events.

During the afternoon horseshoes for the men and tennis for the young people were available, while a long list of competitions and races were run off. Over 30 events were keenly contested.

Four competitions for the ladies also created a great deal of interest and merriment, especially ladies' nail-driving relay race. It was a treat to watch the shrewd blows delivered at the unsuspecting nail heads.

Promptly at 5.30 a delicious community picnic supper was served by the ladies. The assembly, divided into groups from Cradle Roll up to adults, was speedily served by Mr. Middleton and his assistants.

A special band under the direction of W. H. Cunningham, played during the supper and evening and was much enjoyed.

A booth in charge of W. P. Hetherington and Wes Flannery, dispensed ice cream, soft drinks, and candy to all and sundry, and was a very welcome part of the arrangements.

After supper came group games for the little ones under the able leadership of Miss Eva Outram and a number of helpers.

A softball tournament was the outstanding feature of interest. Sixteen teams in a senior, intermediate, and junior series battled bravely for three silver cups which are being presented for the first time for annual competition. One of these was presented by M. E. Knox, jeweller, and the others through the picnic committee. The eight runners-up received ice cream cones for all members.

Following are the teams taking part:

Senior series (four teams)—Men's team, Intermediate Church League, Junior Church League and Juvenile Church League. The Juveniles were winners of the Knox trophy.

Intermediate series (six teams)—Midget Church League; Misses Skitch and Mills' classes; Miss Walton's class and all girls above 15 years; Miss Squire's class, and teams 'A' and 'B' from Miss Pickering's class. The Midget Church League team won the Intermediate trophy.

Junior series (six teams)—Selected from the combined classes of Messrs. Hamilton and Wasson; Messrs. Kingdon and Dorrington; Misses Allison and Gilgour; Misses McPhee and Edmison; Misses Douglas and Hardill; and Miss Burnham and any others not already included. Messrs. Hamilton's and Wasson's team were winners of the Junior Silver Cup.

Missing Briton To Get Aunt's £100,000 If Found Happily Wed By Christmas '38

WINNIPEG, June 21 (C.P.). — The hunt for John Francis Gallagher was on to-day.

There wasn't any active search, but if John is found, happily married, and his aunt finds out about it before Christmas Day in 1938, John is going to receive £100,000. If he isn't found, or if He is found and is still a bachelor, churches and charities will get his aunt's real and personal property.

John's disappearance was revealed to Alderman J. A. McKerchar, Acting Mayor of Winnipeg, in a letter from Mrs. R. Zarah, 143 Well Hall Road, Eltham, London, England, yesterday. Mrs. Zarah is John's aunt, but she hasn't heard about him for several years.

Her letter to Alderman McKerchar disclosed her desire to find her nephew and it detailed the gift of £100,000 which would be given to him if he were married and settled down by December 25, 1938.

The last two addresses which Mrs. Zarah had for her nephew were Box 130, Carbon, Alta., and General Delivery, Prince Albert, Sask. Efforts to locate him in those districts so far have been unavailing.

RAIL SITUATION STILL UNSOUND CLAIMS BEATTY

Upholds Present System of Society Except in Manner of Application.

OPPOSES CODE TACTICS.

U. S. Efforts Impossible in Canada—Continue to Produce Wheat as Main Crop.

TORONO, June 21. (CP)—E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, moved to Port Hope to-day for an address after telling members of the International Building Owners and Managers he doubted the wisdom of "too elaborate planning" in national economics.

Mr. Beatty will address boys of the Port Hope private school today. Last night he said he thought the present system of society was not wrong except in the "way in which it was applied." He spoke of what he called unprecedented parallelism of Canada and the United States during the depression but upheld Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in declining to adopt code measures for industry.

He deprecated failure of Canadians to heed the warning of the late Lord Shaughnessy that a railway problem was being created and added "The railway situation in Canada is still unsound and unhealthy."

Institution of drastic recovery measures—such had been applied in the United States—were impossible in Canada, he asserted, pointing out that Canada was a debtor nation and was dependent upon foreign trade for her prosperity. Recovery in the Dominion was only possible through finding solutions to the main problems—debt, railway and wheat.

Wheat Main Crop

"We must continue to produce wheat as a main crop and our real occupation must be to see that commonsense plans be followed in seeing that wheat is sown on land suited for it with seed of correct varieties and grown as cheaply as can be arranged."

Mr. Beatty placed the problem of unemployment first and said men would be put back to work. He emphasized the government had combined all methods of meeting the unemployment situation, but that in the end Canadians depended on courage, enterprise and industry as the lasting cure.

He said governments in Canada tended to cater to the public demand for services with the result that the per capital debt arising from all municipal, provincial and dominion obligations was $577.80. He aded if extravagance in government was to be ended, the movement must start with those who were governed. Meanwhile, he declared, debts must and would be paid.

Of the railway problem he said it was contrary to the "philosophy of public ownership" to believe anyone could profit from publicly owned utilities operated at a loss. He said he still held the belief that proper steps to end unncessary loss in railway operation had not been taken, although recent co-operation of the two major systems was tending to decrease it.

Mr. Bennett Receives Another LL.D.

From the looks of things here Prime Minister R. B. Bennett is not too happy about having just received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, New York. Nor does Palmer C. Ricketts, director, look particularly happy about conferring it. Of course they both were quite elated about the whole affair really and the long faces here may be caused by talking about economic systems or political changes.

SUNBEAM TROOP HOLDS OUTING

Happy Band of Youngsters From Salvation Army Enjoy Annual Picnic.

AT INVERLEA PARK.

The Sunbeam troop of the local Salvation Army held their annual outing in Inverlea Park on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. William Saunders as leader and Miss Daisy Castle as assistant. Over thirty-five girls ranging in ages from 8 to 11 indulged in pleasant pastimes during the afternoon and evening, and consumed the sandwiches, cakes and ice cream served so well by Mrs. Saunders, Miss Daisy Castle, Margaret McDougall and others, and a nice line of competitive games carried out.

A tug-of-war was held which taxed ot the limit the strength of these fair young ladies. The following took part—3 trys:

These girls won the pull first first time: Mable Stoneberg, Marian Weaver, Myrtle Bowes, Corine Lefave, Geraldine Fredenburg, Helen James.

These girls won the pull—Bertha Bradley, Jennie Weaxes, Charlotte Masters, Jean Lananette, Dorothy Bradley, Olive Copperthwaite.

Young People's Sgt.-Major R. C. Braund acted as judge for the sports and felt privileged to have the opportunity.

Miss Margaret Woolcott's farewells were made at this meeting before leaving for Orillia with her parents. Major and Mrs. Woolcott, who are shortly leaving their command in Peterborough for the command of the Orillia Corps of the Salvation Army.

QUEBEC LIBERAL PARTY DOOMED

Same Move That Overthrew Ontario, Saskatchewan Regimes Will Repeat.

SAYS OPPOSITION CHIEF.

QUEBEC, June 21 (CP) — The movement to unseat present governments, which had overthrown the Henry administration in Ontario and the Anderson Government in Saskatchewan, both Conservative, would cause the downfall of the Liberal Government in Quebec in the next elections, Maurice Duplessis, Leader of the Opposition, stated last night.

Mr. Duplessis, guest of honor at a banquet attended by 200 members of his party, expressed the belief that Quebec Conservatives would suffer less from election of Liberals in the two provices which voted Tuesday than would the administration of Premier L. A. Taschereau.

Provinces were independent of each other, he said, and so are the parties in government. "Problems in Ontario are not the same as those in the Province of Quebec. The time has passed when Mr. Taschereau can win elections by depending on the Dominion Liberal party. I promise you we will know how to frustrate his tactics in the next elections."

Electors of Ontario wanted a younger leader and a younger government, he said. Criticism made by Mr. Hepburn of the Henry Government could apply in Quebec to Mr. Taschereau. Mr. Hepburn had accused Mr. Henry in connection with Hydro-Electric matters. What would he say about Mr. Taschereau who is director of 12 companies? I am sure Mr. Taschereau is not happy to see the Henry Government in Ontario defeated."

Two political parties were sufficient—one good and one bad. "That is why the smaller parties had to be crushed in yesterday's provincial elections. Does a province need a party half bad and half good?"

MEDICOS STUDY WAR ON DISEASE

Calgary Convention Hears Papers on Cure, Prevention of Tuberculosis.

CANCER DISCUSSED.

CALGARY, June 21 (CP)—War against disease was under study here to-day by doctors from all parts of Canada and leading medicos from the United States who are attending the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

Papers and discussions on the cure and prevention of tuberculosis, amoebic dysentry, tumors and cancer were heard by the delegates yesterday, and at night Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, spoke at the annual banquest. The convention concludes to-morrow.

Hope that tuberculosis would be fought successfully until it was only a minor cause of deaths was expressed by Dr. R. G. Ferguson of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League. A review of studies of amoebic dysentry was given by Dr. J. C. Meakins, Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and peculiarities of tumor and how to combat them were reviewed by Sir Frederick Banting, Toronto, discoverer of insulin, a cure of diabetes.

Dr. Max Outler, Chicago, reviewed research in the campaign against cancer and voiced praise for the Canadian Government system of establishing radium units in its efforts to stamp out the disease, greater reseach into cancer, manner of growth and means of checking it were urged by Dr. Cutler.

Importance of the patient, no matter what the disease, bringing his attention to a medical man was emphasized by practically all speakers at the convention. This was particularly necessary in diseases such as tuberculosis and cancer.

Karl Otto von Bismarck-Schonhausen was the first chancellor of the German empire.

JUNIOR FARMERS' FIELD DAY IS WELL ATTENDED

700 People Attended Junior Farmers' Field Day in Bethany.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Mary Burnham of Millbrook, H. Brunt of Newcastle Wins Trophies.

Saturday, June 16, was an important event at Bethany, when more than seven hundred people attended the Annual Junior Farmers' Field Day.

The boys' softball tournament attracted the following ten entries: Brown's, Starkville, Mount Pleasant, Cavan Ebenezer, Darlington Ebenezer, Providence, Hampton, Millbrook Continuation, School, Newcastle, and Pontypool, while the girls' tournament had entries from Bailieboro, Millbrook, Newcastle and Bethany.

Newcastle won the girls' final softball game by 8-4. Bailieboro and Millbrook played for the consolation prizes, with Bailieboro the winners by a close score. The Millbrook team, consisting of Collegiate girls, made an excellent showing in all their games. In size they looked like juniors, but their playing compared favorably with the older girls. The line-up of the finalists was as follows:—

Newcastle.—Violet Henning, lf; Dorothy Bonathan, rf; Evelyn Rickard 1b; Ann Hendry, c; Florence Spencer, ss; Dorothy Quantrill, cf; Merle Shaw, 2b; Ruby Shaw, p; Bunnie Dudley, 3b; Trudy Bonathan, spare.

Bethany.—Isabel Sisson, 3b; Marjory Page, lf; Evelyn McKinnon, 1b; Edna Jackett, c; Vera Strachan, 2b; Wilma Beer, rf; Clara Beer, ss; Muriel Patterson, cf; Muriel Hannah, p.

Two boys' teams that didn't make the semi-finals last year showed much improvement, in that they met in the finals. Ebenezer (Darlington township) were the ultimate winners from Pontypool by 8-4. The Pontypool team deserves much credit as they played four games compared to their opponent's three; Ebenezer having drawn a "by" in the semi-finals.

Ebenezer—H. Osborne, W. Brown, G. Osborne, J. Gay, L. Rundle, G. Pickell, A. Down, W. Pickell, S. Nicholls.

Pontypool.—V. Fisk, J. Payne, L. McNeill, A. Higgs, Hamilton, J. Fisk, Heaslip, Hannah, Bradburn.

The other semi-finalists in the boys softball were: Hampton, Providence and Mount Pleasant; with the teams finishing in this order.

The township tug-of-war was limited to Manvers and Cavan. Many are of the opinion that it was the extra vocal support of the Manvers' fans that eventually turned the tide in their favor.

The standard events drew a large entry in both the boys' and girls' classes:

Boys' Events

100 yard dash—1, H. Brunt (Clarke); 2, O. McCarthy (Cavan); 3, K. Werry (Darlington).

220 yard dash.—1, H. Brunt (Clarke); 2, G. Rickard (Darlington); 3, O. McCarthy (Cavan).

Standing broad jump—1, A. Higgs (Manvers); 2, R. Lewis (Clarke); 3, E. Snyder (Cavan).

Running broad jump—1, H. Brunt (Clarke3; 2, R. Lewis (Cavan); 3, Quantrill (Clarke).

Relay race.—1, Clarke; 2, Manvers; 3, Cavan.

Girls' Events

100 yard dash—1, Mary Burnham (Cavan); 2, K. Smith (Cavan); 3, B. McDowell (Cavan).

50 yard dash—1, Mary Burnham (Cavan); 2, Muriel Whittington (South Monaghan); 3, K. Smith (Cavan).

Standing broad jump—1, Wilma Beer (Manvers); 2, B. McDowell (Cavan); 3, I. Sisson (Manvers).

Running broad jump—1, B. McDowell (Cavan); 2, I. Sisson (Manvers); 3, B. Wood (South Monaghan).

Running high jump—1, Muriel Whittington (South Monaghan); 2, M. Hanna; 3, I. Sisson (Manvers).

Relay race—1, Cavan; 2, Manvers.

Mary Burnham, Millbrook, captured the silver trophy for the highest points scored by a girl, while H. Brunt, Newcastle, won a similar prize in the boys' events. The prize for each event was an attractive bronze medal.

A large cup was awarded to Clarke Township for piling up the largest number of points. This must be won two years to become the permanent property of any township.

The final item of the day was the hardball game between North and South Durham. Orm Gamsby collected a team from the South that turned the tables on North Durham to the tune of 8-1. The highlight of the game was the steady pitching of H. Brunt, who limited the northern stars to three hits. The South team collected nine safeties off the pitching of the Staples brothers.

North Durham. — Marlow, rf; Woods, c; Riley, 1b; Philip, 2b; R. Staples, ss; Davis, 3b; Jackson, lf; Marlow, cf; G. Staples, p.

South Durham.—Savery, 2b; Lycett, lf; Graham, rf; Lane, 1b; Brunt, p; Elliott, cf; Rickard, c; G. Graham, 3b; Muldrew, ss.

E. A. Summers, Agricultural Representative for Durham, who acted as general manager, was delighted with the fine co-operation received from all the Junior boys, girls and others who were responsible for this successfu sport's day.

To Play Leading Role In Passion Play's Tercentenary

This year the Passion Play at Oberammergau celebrates its Tercentenary. Taking the leading roles in the play will be Alois Lang, who will play Christ, and Anni Rutz, who will take the part of the Virgin Mary. They are shown here.

about the huge crowds of strangers in Oberammergau, six to seven thousand a day, from all parts of the globe, he told me that in ordinary times the place was like a graveyard. The innkeeper, I should not forget to mention, figures in the play as "Moses." He pronounces part of the majestic prologue. He generously invited me to come and live in Oberammergau and by way of a little prologue of his own, tried to date me up for to-morrow night when he is not working. Imagine going to the movies with Moses! Out to see the "Burning Bush," I suppose!

All Great Artists

Yet I would not have anyone believe that the people of Oberammergau are frivolous. They are simple people unspoiled by flattery, but they are great artists. Anywhere else in the world the Passion Plays might seem distasteful, in these mellow, serene surroundings, a village that is almost unreal in its strange other worldly atmosphere, the Passion is in its place. Unusual villagers! You watch them —carving, sewing, swinging the mattock. The potter, the smith, the cooper, the mother, the father, the burgomaster, the postmaster, the reaper, the laborer; of such is the stuff from which the Passion Plays are made. People unspoiled by sophistication. Well-read, broad-backgrounded.

There is something awesome in this village. With familiarity, awe grows upon you. There is something of deep spiritual meaning in these lives. The strangest thing is the way they respect each other, as if Alois Lang were in reality Jesus of Nazareth, and Peter Rendl, St. Peter and Klara Mayr, Mary Magdalene. It is an artistic respect even more than a religious respect for Johann Zwink, who plays "Judas Iscariot," is one of the most beloved citizens of Oberammergau.

Everyone Takes Part

Every one of the three thousand inhabitants of Oberammergau takes a part in the cast. The major roles, such as the one of "Christ" and the other personages who figure in the traditional account of the Passion are filled by the elders of the village. The men who represent "Christ" and "Judas" are cousins. They are members of the famous Lang family. This family also owns the Museum of Art, where there is a magnificent collection of the master-pieces of the local art of sculpture.

The Lang family has furnished several great "Christ" figures to the Passion Plays in the course of the ages. Not only are the Langs of a tribe of high artistic attainments, but they are men of exceptional character. They are looked upon as saints almost and indeed they live an austere and saintly life. Every time the Passion Plays are to be given a certain emotion grips the village and everyone is curious to know whom the elders will select to play the role of Mary, the mother of Jesus. This year, as was the case four years ago, this important role is filled by Anni Rutz, a girl of exquisite beauty and of an almost angelic character.

Celebrates Tercentenary

This year Oberammergau celebrates the 300th anniversary of that solemn vow made by the elders of the village in 1634. That was in the middle of the disastrous Thirty Years' War when the whole of Central Europe was ravaged by pillaging and murdering armies. As was inevitable, epidemics made their appearance of which the black plague was the worst, for it carried off, according to conservative estimates, one-third of the total population of the continent. In the neighborhood of Oberammergau entire villages disappeared. It is said that for miles and miles around not a living creature could be found, nothing but corpses.

A careful chronicle is kept of those gruesome years in the parish house. The inhabitants of Oberammergau first thought that they could protect themselves against contagion by putting out guards which prevented any stranger from entering the village. For months they kept the plague at bay. Finally the dread disease crept in nevertheless. One of the villagers had gone to work in the valley where he was a grave-digger. His name was Caspar Schisler. Schisler all day handled the bodies of men, women and children which had perished from the plague. People simply threw their dead into the streets toward sundown and in the night the grave-diggers carted the corpses away in piles.

Schisler contracted the disease himself and feeling that he was going to die decided to return to Oberammergau. He sneaked in through a little known mountain-path, this avoiding the sentinels. With him the black death had entered the village.

Plague Wiped Out Village

In the winter of 1634 eighty-eight persons died of pest in Oberammergau. By spring time half the population had been wiped out and death menaced the survivors. The villagers practically lived at the church, praying night and day for intercession. It was the worst thing they could have done, but of course, they had no knowledge in those far-off days of the modern laws of hygiene. Contagion spread in the crowds.

Then one day when but a third of the inhabitants survived, the elders summoned the people to the church once more. Standing before the altar, hand in hand, they vowed that they would "portray every ten years the tragedy of the Passion."

From that moment nobody died of the black plague in Oberammergau. The following spring, 1634, the villagers kept word. This does not mean that the Passion Play was unknown in Oberammergau previous to 1634. The text used in the play up to a few years ago dated from the twelfth century. The Passion was universally portrayed at Easter time in Europe. The Flemish miracle plays were famous before Oberammergau was ever heard of.

Every Ten Years

But from 1634 onward the inhabitants of Oberammeragau have carried out the solemn vow of their fathers every ten years. Troubled times, wars, opposition from the highest authorities did not cause them to abandon their plays. Once only did the Passion Play have to be postponed. That was in 1920. This was the year when, as the Hitlerites say, "famished Germany seemed about to go under in shame and distress." It was not till 1922 that the people of Oberammergau could carry out their vow. The representation of 1922 fell in the most cruel year of three centuries, I was told. Germany was in the midst of the inflation. Ruin and misery triumphed on all sides.

This year the Oberammergau renew their vow. They have charged Leo Weismantel, one of their own, to compose a short prologue in which the will to keep up the representations finds expression. But the music of Rochus Dedler in all its touching simplicity remains the essential part of the program in this year of jubilee.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

TORONTO.—Cecil Gorman, employee of the Ontario Department of Highways, was remanded to-day to June 23 for trial and ordered held in custody without bail.

Gorman was arrested yesterday and charged with uttering, arising, according to police, out of the disappearance of cheque forms from the Parliament Buildings Police said an attempt was made last week to cash one of the forms made out for $6,200.

Where Historic Passion Play Is Held—Oberammergau

Here is the village of Oberammergau, set in an idyllic scene beneath the mountains of Bavaria, and made famous by the production, every ten years since 1634, of the Passion Play, which still retains the original music and lines from the first performance. The actors in the play are chosen from the villagers themselves, and nearly every inhabitant takes part.

Weddings

KEENE—HUBBLE

HAVELOCK, June 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—A quiet wedding of much local interest was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, June 16, at the United Church Parsonage, Norwood, when Mabel Evelyn Hubble, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hubble of Blairton, became the bride of Alexander Keene, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Keene of Belmont; Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Warsaw officiating.

The winsome bride was attired in a wedding gown of pale blue crepe with large picture hat of light gray and matching accessories. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

She was attended by Miss Rena Keene, sister of the groom, gowned in pink organdie with picture hat of white straw, and white accessories. Mr. Carmen McMillan supported the groom.

On their return to Blairton a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and afterwards a wedding luncheon was served to the immediate relatives of the two families.

After a short motor honeymoon trip, the happy couple will reside in Belmont. They are followed by the best wishes of a host of friends in this district.

Fraserville

Mrs. A. A. Smith, Miss Elsie Henkle and friend of Rochester, motored over on Saturday and are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Solomon.

Miss Ethel Waterman, Reg. N., of Peterborough is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Ray Finlay.

Mrs. Hamilton and daughter Marilyn of Peterborough were guests on Sunday of her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Hewitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moncrief and daughter Greta attended Cavan anniversary services on Sunday morning, and visited friends there.

Mr. Austin Trotter of Port Hope was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Trotter on Sunday.

The many friends of McFinlay Clarke will be glad to know he was sufficiently able to return home from Nicholls Hospital on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hewitt were guests of the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hewitt, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mullen and daughter of Smith attended Fraserville Church on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Harold Lackey, B.A., B.D., had charge of the service in Fraserville Church on Sunday afternoon. He preached a most inspiring and helpful sermon from the text Matthew 16:25—"For whosoever will save his life shall loose it; and whosoever lose his life for My sake shall find it." Mrs. B. Seabrook rendered a beautiful solo: "You May Help a Load to Lighten?"

On Thursday afetrnoon the men of the community plan a bee to clean up the Fraserville Cemetery.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter.

HONORARY COLONELS

The commissions of Col. L. T. McLaughlin, C.M.G., D.S.O., as an honorary colonel of the Peterborough Rangers and of Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman as honorary lieutenant colonel of the same unit, are announced in current district orders from Military District No. 3 headquarters in Kingston.

The orders announce also the promotion of Capt. E. G. Jones of the Victoria and Haliburton Regiment to the rank of major and the extension of the period of command of Lt.-Col. R. I. Moore, V.D., over that regiment to May 17, 1935.

TWO FIRE ALARMS.

Only two alarms were received by the City Fire Department yesterday. Both were caused by defects in electrical equipment.

At 478 Mark Street an alarm was occasioned following short-circuiting of a cord on an electric toaster, while last evening a call was received from 190 Charlotte Street where ammonia fumes were escaping from a refrigerator. The refrigerator was removed outside the house by firemen and a service man was called.

CORRECTION IN RESULTS.

The Examiner's attention has been drawn to several errors in the tabulated list of votes received by each candidate at the various polls in the riding. On careful check it has been found that several results were placed in the wrong poll. However the total vote which each candidate received is not changed. The correct vote at poll 43 (May's School House in North Monaghan) should have been Hawthorne 44, Lancaster 110, and Sutherland 23, and at Steenburgh's Hall in Belmont, Hawthorne 78, Lancaster 24, and Sutherland 0. In next Tuesday's paper the poll summary will be repeated, as the final count by Returning Officer F. J. A. Hall takes place on Monday evening.

Khan's Felicitation Wins Ascot Gold Cup

ASCOT, England, June 21 (C.P. Cable). — Foreign threats were once again beaten off in the renewal of the famous Ascot Gold Cup to-day when the Aga Khan's Felicitation won the long-distance handicap.

Thor II., Marcel Boussac's crack French campaigner, raced into second place, and Lord Derby's Hyperion, Derby winner of last year, and favorite to-day, was third in the field of 10.

The American mate and two other French entries were unplaced in the event, which has become the greatest international event for flat-racers in late years.

The Gold Cup was over the punishing journey of 2½ miles. It was first run in 1807.

Obituary

MRS. MARGARET S. JOHNSTON

The death of Mrs. Margaret S. Johnston early this morning at the home of her brother, George Dixon of Lakehurst, followed an illness of the last seven months. Born in Douro township fifty-one years ago, the deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Dixon. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fred Dixon of Lakehurst, and one son, Wesley of Smith township; also by two brothers, George Dixon of Lakehurst and Charles Dixon of Toronto, and four sisters Mrs. Harry Fawcett of Florida, Mrs. Ab Crowe, Cleveland, Mrs. John McLean of Ashburnham and Mrs. Al Gill of Peterborough. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from Belleghem's funeral chapel to the Little Lake cemetery, and the services will be conducted by Rev. Mr. James.

BENJAMIN REVOY

Another of the older residents of Peterborough passed away this morning in the person of Benjamin Revoy, 292 Woodbine Avenue. He became seriously ill last February, and in view of his advanced years the members of his family had recently held but little hope for his recovery.

Mr. Revoy was born in Marmora eighty years ago, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Revoy. He received his early education in that village and on March 16, 1878 married Matilda Jane Coper. A few years later the family moved to Peterborough and for fifty years Mr. Revoy was a well known and respected resident of this city. He is survived by four sons and four daughters, William Revoy of Brantied Matilda Jane Cooper. A few and John and Fred Revoy of Peterborough; and by Mrs. E. Dormer of this city; Mrs. J. W. Draper, Cobalt, Mrs. J. W. Devall, Peterborough; and Miss Anna Revoy of Gouverneur, N.Y.; also by one sister, Mrs. F. Deline, Trenton; and two brothers, Mitchell Revoy of Frankford, now 91 years old, and William of Toronto.

The late Mr. Revoy was predeceased by his wife who died on May 1, 1933. On the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, March 16, 1928, the family held a happy reunion at their Woodbine Avenue home. The funeral will be on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Bethany Tabernacle, of which Mr. Revoy was a member, to the Little Lake cemetery, with Rev. R. P. Browett and Rev. Wesley Armstrong officiating.

MRS. JOHN CHRISTIE.

The death occurred recently at St. Mary's Hospital, Timmins, of Loretta Dufault, the beloved wife of John Christie, formerly of this city.

Mrs. Christie had been in hospital since May 25 until early this month, and seemed to be on the way to recovery when she suffered a relapse. Her death was due to heart trouble.

The late Mrs. Christie was born in Quebec and was twenty-five years of age. She was popular with all who knew her, and was held in wide respect. Besides her husband, she leaves one baby boy, Duncan Claude Christie; her mother and two brothers.

The husband of the late Mrs. Christie was a son of the late Mrs. John McCarthy. Other relatives of Mrs. Christie residing in this city, include three sisters, Irene McCarthy, Mrs. J. Hanrahan and Mrs. James Flaherty, also one brother Charles.

JOB OF HOLDING HORSES TOO MUCH FOR REPORTER

Does the job of holding a customer's horses come within the scope of a newspaper reporter's duties? An Examiner scribe was faced with this question when a farmer drove up to the office door with two prancing equines this morning.

"Will you keep a-hold of these horses while I buy a paper, mister?" the farmer asked the reporter who happened out the door at the moment.

The reporter eyed the nervous beasts askance. His experience with horses had been limited strictly to observation from a safe distance of the kind that run around race tracks and he had no desire for closer acquaintanceships.

"You hold the horses and I'll get your paper," the reporter suggested hastily, and the bargain was made.

Vacation Time

Many people have learned from experience that spinal treatments taken before or during their vacation have enabled them to get more pleasure and derive more physical benefits from their holidays.

This is logical, too, because spinal manipulation tones up the nervous system, thus helping every organ and part of body to function more normally.

Our treatments can help you to get the best from your vacation.

FAREWELL PARTY TO LEACH COUPLE

Presentation Made Rev. James Leach at Gore's Landing Social.

MOVING TO BOBCAYGEON.

On Friday evening, June 15th, a large number gathered in the Gore's Landing Public Library, to spend a social evening in honor of Rev. James Leach and Mrs. Leach, who are leaving this week for their new charge at Bobcaygeon. Rev. J. Leach was formerly vice-president of the library, and spent much time and labor in selecting a large number of the best books to add to the large collection in the library.

The evening's entertainment opened with community singing, Mrs. Ruby Meggs presiding at the organ. Rev. W. F. Payton, who acted as chairman then spoke a few words, followed by a lovely solo, "My Laddie," by Miss Emily Pratt. Mrs. McKee Bingham then favored the audience with a delightful number, Act 1, Scene II., from "The School of Scandal."

Then Rev. Payton, in a few well-chosen remarks, thanked Mr. Leach for his assistance during the past four years for taking such a keen interest in the library. Rev. James Leach is a great lover of books and it was very fitting when Mr. Clare Harris, librarian, presented him with "The History of English Literature."

Mrs. James McLeod then presented Mrs. Leach with a pair of beautiful silver candlesticks and two green candles with a Chinese design on the side; the Chinese emblem of Happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Leach were taken completely by surprise, but thanked their friends very graciously.

Mrs. McKee Bingham gave a very pretty Irish folk song "Barney O'Hay." Miss Laura Smart gave a humorous recitation, "Mrs. 'Arris at the Protographer's." The closing number on the program was a duet, "Till Dawn," by Miss Emily Pratt, soprano, and Mrs. McKeen Bingham, contralto.

After the program a dainty luncheon was served, Mrs. F. W. Pratt acting as tea-hostess with members of the entertainment committee assisting. The centre tea-table looked very dainty with a beautiful Cluny cloth. In the centre a beautiful bouquet of yellow roses in a silver basket flanked by tall silver candlesticks with lighted candles made a dainty picture. The side-tables, piano and organ were massed with glowing peonies of every color.

This picture of beauty and refinement was a perfect setting for the farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Leach, who during their stay among us have labored hard to bring forth the best and highest ideals. The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close an evening which will never be forgotten.

On Wednesday afternoon, June 13th, the ladies of the United Church presented Mrs. Leach with a beautiful silver tea service.

T.T.C. DISPUTE UNSETTLED.

TORONTO. — The wage dispute between the Toronto Transportation Commission and its carmen remained unsettled to-day and no action was taken by either body.

The T.T.C. will meet to-morrow to decide whether they will accept the majority award of the Board of Conciliation which favored a reduction of three cents an hour in the basic rate of wages of the men.

By GLADYS GLAD

Song Writer Learns of Exercise To Eliminate Protruding Tummy

By GLADYS GLAD

The charming Buddy De Sylva, well-known author, producer and song writer, certainly knows his onions when it comes to judging the perfection of feminine figures. Buddy possesses a pretty keen physique himself, you know. No pot-bellies or protuberant waistlines for him; And he believes that it's just as important for a man to watch his figure lines as it is for a woman.

Of course, a man doesn't actually have to possess the brawny shoulders and slender waist of a Clark Gable, or the perfect physique of a Johnny Weismuller, to look the answer to a maiden's prayer. But he certainly can't quite expect to be the apple of any female's eye if he allows himself to become fat, flabby and thick waisted. A pot-belly or a thick, pudgy waistline is just as detrimental to a man's appearance, you know, as it is to a woman's.

A good many men have the idea that reducing is strictly a woman's game. If a woman sees any fat beginning to accumulate on her waistline, she doesn't rest easy until she has trimmed her figure down to attractive slenderness. But too often, if a man notes that he is becoming corpulent, he just accepts it philosophically, and does nothing about it.

As you probably know, the talented Buddy recently returned from Hollywood, where he contributed his abilities toward the production of several popular pictures. While there, Buddy saw a good many of the chorines and chorus boys rehearsing and practicing limbering exercises. And there is one exercise they did that he considers particularly effective for keeping the waistline slender, both for men and for women.

If this exercise, you stand erect, feet apart, knees stiff. Then you swing your hands down between your legs, bending at the waist, and twist your hands under and around your legs so that you grasp each leg at the front part of the ankle. Retain this position, keeping your knees stiff, and try to walk about the room. You'll probably think this exercise pretty tough at first, especially if your body is stiff. But try it, you pudgy-waisted males and females, and I'll bet you'll find it no end beneficial!

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

In discussing the various aspects of his business with my friend, the artificial limb maker, I asked him about artificial arms. He said that he made them, but could never be quite as enthusiastic about them as he could about an artificial leg. The leg acts automatically and unconsciously on the part of the patient after he has become accustomed to it, but for the use of an artificial arm or hand concentration is always necessary, no matter how long it is worn.

These artificial devices are among the oldest apparatuses made by surgeons. We have illustrations of artificial hands going back to the first days of gunpowder. Of course, in the old days, few people survived the amputation long enough to need an artificial limb.

Modern artificial arms and hands can be devised so that the fingers and thumb make appostion, and are strong enough to pick up a heavy object. The control of the hand is made by straps around the opposite shoulder, and is done by shrugging the shoulder. A little rachet at the wrist will put the fingers and thumb into a set position at any place.

An artificial limb manufacturer sells about 20 times as many legs as he does arms. "Perhaps," said my friend, "I could sell just as many arms as legs if I believed thoroughly that the customer would be as satisfied with the arm as one would with the leg, but having been in the business for over 20 years, I find that the people with artificial arms and hands usually discard them in the course of time. It is really simple to go around with an empty sleeve and learn to do your work with one hand and arm, than it is to have the bother of controlling the artificial one."

Artificial limbs, properly made, are universally said to be quite comfortable, and little discomfort is experienced in their use even on hot days. I asked my friend whether he had to change his sock on the artificial foot as often as on the other foot, and he said he did. It tends to preserve the limb.

Proper care of the artificial limb is more important in its preservation than the amount of use to which it is put. Properly cared for, they last practicaly indefinitely.

The shoes on the artificial side wear out just as fast, but not any faster, than the shoes on the natural foot.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

E. P.: "Is it possible that a thyroid toxic condition could cause mental dullness? Is there any chance that thyroid toxic trouble will disappear in time?"

Answer: Thyroid disease can cause all sorts of mental trouble. It is possible you are confused in your terms when you say "toxic". The usual form of thyroid trouble which results in mental dullness is due to lack of thyroid secretion (myxoedema), not toxic trouble. Toxic thyroid usually causes mental excitement. Toxic thyroid disease frequently runs its course and disappears, in time, of its own accord.

Liberals In Durham Stage Celebration

PORT HOPE, June 21.—The election of W. J. Bragg, Liberal candidate, to the Provincial House for Durham County in Tuesday's election was celebrated in gala style here last night. The newly elected member, who triumphed by a 265 majority over Milton Elliott, Conservative, was wildly acclaimed by hundreds of townspeople, and, after an old-time political parade, speeches were made in Central Park Hon. Vincent Massey acting as Chairman. Mayor W. J. Crowhurst welcomed the successful candidate, who replied briefly.

A clean home means a healthy home

Canadian housewives prefer Old Dutch because it keeps everything spick and span . . . wholesomely clean. Old Dutch assures healthful cleanliness because it removes invisible impurities as well as the visible dirt. It leaves no tell-tale scratches which not only mar the surface but are ideal hiding places for dirt and germs.

Old Dutch is so efficient because it is made with pure "Seismotite" (pronounced sis'-mo-tite), a fine, flaky, cleaning and polishing material of volcanic origin. Buy a package of Old Dutch today. Try it for cleaning floors, painted walls, woodwork, kitchen utensils, glassware, or on any surface where water may be used for cleaning. It polishes as it cleans porcelain, enamel and tile. It's kind to the hands, doesn't clog drains, is odorless and removes odors.

Doesn't Scratch

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

SOMETIMES FIVE TRUMPS SEEM FEW

Being ruffed three times when holding only five trumps, with three trumps in dummy, is not pleasant. The remainder of the hand has to be played with great care, and, as South discovered, must go unusually well to score game.

	♠Q 6 3 ♥8 7 4 ♦K Q 10 ♣10 8 6 4
♠K 9 4 ♥10 ♦A 9 6 3 2 ♣A K 7 5	W. N. E. S.	♠10 8 ♥K 9 6 3 2 ♦8 5 ♣Q 9 3 2
	♠A J 7 5 2 ♥A Q J 5 ♦J 7 4 ♣J

Bidding went: South, 1-spade; West, 2-diamonds; North, 2-spades; South, 3-hearts; North, 3-spades; South, 4-spades, taking a long chance. West doubled.

The opening lead was the K of clubs. South ruffed the second club. He led his ace of spades, followed by the five. West's K won, and he ruffed South again.

When South led the four of diamonds, West won with the ace, winning the third defensive trick, and ruffing South for the third time, removing the declarer's last trump. The declarer led a diamond. Dummy won. There last trump in dummy picked up West's last trump. South discarded his lowest heart.

The fate of the contract depended upon the location of the missing K of hearts. Dummy led a heart. Declarer's J won on a finesse. South's last diamond was led, and another heart was led from dummy. South had a dreadful suspicion that West still might turn up with the K of hearts. Had he counted the hands carefully he would have known this could not be true, even if the fall of the 10 of hearts at his left had not shown that West was out of that suit. Players do not always count hands. The Q of hearts won the trick, and the ace won the tenth trick for the declarer, just giving him his doubled contract of four-odd.

How Bidding Should Go?

The hand was dealt by South. Both sides were vulnerable, without score toward the rubber game. East and West made no bids.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT

"HEAT LIGHTNING" and "MY LIPS BETRAY"

Aline MacMahon has a tragic role in "Heat Lightning." When a movie actor or actress plays in a certain type of role, the public generally becomes so used to that type that a departure seems strange. It is recorded that ZaSu Pitts tried a strong role and the public laughed. But Aline MacMahon, who has many a time made her audiences laugh at her hard-boiled comedy efforts, does very well as Olga, the 'lady with a past' which finally catches up with her, even in the desert where she has retired to seek a refuge and run a service station.

This feature is really like a play. The theatre could hardly produce a better setting than the heat lightning that flashes through the lurid night scenes, with the voice of the Italian singing old love songs, as an accompaniment. The tragedy of the sister chimes in perfectly with the story. And Frank McHugh has far too little to do, as the chauffeur who defends his honor—or what have you — from the two dames from Reno.

Lillian Harvey in "My Lips Betray" does not do much to recall the fine impression she made in "Congress Dances." She is too much the automatic doll. But it is an entertaining picture—one of those gay farces in which the sovereign of an imaginary and—Ruthania—falls in love with the singer of the "Volks Garten" and makes her his queen.

John Boles is the dark young monarch with the fine voice which he gets a chance to use in this picture, which also includes some gay dancing by the little lady who is the heroine of the piece.

—Jeanette.

CHANGES NEEDED

HIAWATHA, Kas., June 21. (CP) The law here has failed to keep pace with the firemen. Asking a revision of city laws, Mayor Newton Reybolds poins out that one ordinance gives firemen "full use and right way of all sidewalks for their bicycles while going to and returning from fires."

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

The adjourned tax sale was held in the Campbellford Public Library on Tuesday morning, with the town treasurer, Fred Wood, wielding the hammer. Only a few small lots were sold, the town taking over the balance of the property, up for sale for arrears of taxes. It is expected, however, that within the next week or two, that property realizing from two to three thousand dollars, will be sold.

Mr. J. F. McGregor is in Toronto this week, a delegate from the Campbellford Lodge, I.O.O.F., to the Grand Lodge Convention, being held in that city.

Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Scott attended the Sutton-Rutherford wedding held in Havelock on Saturday.

Ford Is Confident 5-Day Week Coming

DETROIT, June 21 (AP)—Henry Ford, who believes the "one certainty in life is there are going to be changes," to-day predicted eventual adoption of the five-day week and the six-hour day throughout industry of United States.

"This country can operate on a five-day week," he said. "That and the six hour day would have been here new if 'they' had left things alone."

He declined to amplify his reference to "they," but said the depression was not alone in halting this development toward balancing production and consumption.

"Things are made faster now," the automobile manufacturer said, "and people must have more time to use what they make. I can't say just when the shorter working day and week are coming, but they will be here."

Mr. an Mrs. J. Earl Mann of Detroit were guests yesterday at the wedding of the former's sister, Miss Margaret Mann of Smith township, to Mr. Reginald McMullen.

A jolly half-holiday outing was held yesterday by the combined staffs of the Metropolitan Stores and the F. & G. Markets, under super vision of the manager of the Metropolitan Stores, Mr. C. E. Richmond, and Mr. Cliff Shea of the F. & G. Markets, assisted by Mr. Barney Quinn of the Canadian Packing Company, which kindly lent a truck for the use of the picnickers. In truck and motor cars, the party totalled about one hundred merry people. The girls from the Metropolitan Store wore large red and yellow beach hats in honor of the occasion and all departed early in the afternoon for Trent Bridge, where a program of races and contests was run off and a picnic supper enjoyed, followed by dancing in the Pavilion to music played by Percy Atkinson's orchestra. Softball races between the men and girls of the two stores resulted in two wins for the Metropolitan. Prizes were presented for the following races: 100 yards for men—1, Bill Quinlan; 2, Joe McGillen (both of the F & G Store). Ladies' 100-yard dash—1, Miss Eleanor Dunford; 2, Miss D. Dodds (both of the Metropolitan). Pop relay race—1, Joe McGillen; 2, Bill Quinlan; 3, George Gainey, (all of the F & G Stores). Bean race—1, Miss Gertrude McMahon; 2, Mrs. B. Jones; 3, Mrs. K. Armstrong (all of the F & G Stores; 4, Miss Eleanor Dunford of the Metropolitan. Ladies' balloon race—1, Miss Eleanor Dunford of the Metropolitan 2, Miss Edna Dunford of the F & G Stores; 3, Miss Nina Andrus of the F & G Stores.

The Summer wedding season is at its height. The time of roses is here, and wedding bells are ringing gaily. It is a pity we do not have them rung more as they do in England and the continent. There the bells peal forth their happy tidings when chimes are in the belfry of the church in which the marriage is performed. It is an enchanting sight to see the bridal party emerge from a church while the bells send their sonorous waves of music over the throng waiting to see the couple and their attendants. It is all so festive.

But whether there are bells or not, there is festivity wherever there is a wedding. Fortunately, decorations can be beautiful without being extravagant. Flowers there are in abundance, for gardens are ablaom, and foliage is in its early green freshness. There are always plenty of young folk delighted to be asked to help in the decoration of church or home. There should be someone who directs the arrangements, while the rest carry out the plans as best they can. Sometimes wedding bells are included in floral decorations.

* * * * * *

Let me suggest that everyone who has flowers to send, remember to send them to the bride's house the day before the wedding. Whatever you have will be most gratefully received, whether it be sprays of green or of flowers, whether they are modest little blooms or large flowers with more decorative value. It is such a joy to realize your friends are showing their interest in making the event one of beauty by sending the tangible proofs of their remembrance. And it is a genuine pleasure to the sender to have some share, however small, in the gaiety of the momentous celebration.

* * * * * *

If the wedding is at home, one corner of the room, or some good place such as in front of the fireplace, can be banked with green and flowers. This is customary, but one added touch of decoration which is unusual is to have a low table each side and a little in front of the bank of flowers. On each have a bouquet of flowers, and have the pedestal tables entwined from floor to top with green dotted with gay sprigs of flowers or single blossoms. Two end tables or arm tables of similar size and shape can be used. There is just a suggestion of a floral inclosure for the bridal couple to stand in, which is charming.

Weddings

McMULLEN—MANN

A lovely outdoor wedding took place yesterday afternoon on the lawn of "Pinecrest Farm," Smith Township, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Mann, when their only daughter, Mabel Margaret, became the bride of Mr. Reginald Seyward McMullen, only son of Mr. T. E. McMullen of the Lindsay Highway, and the late Mrs. McMullen.

The ceremony was solemnized at half past one o'clock by the Rev. R. D. Wright of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, under a beautiful arch formed of ferns, peonies, roses and white daisies. The wedding music was played by Mrs. J. Earl Mann of Detroit.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely frock of white silk chiffon organdie, with high neck and touched with blue. Her white tulle veil was wreathed with orange blossoms. She wore white moire slippers with white silk hose and long white silk lace mittens. Her bouquet was of red Briarcliffe roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Phyllis Moore of Smith township, cousin of the bride, was in triple sheer pale pink crepe, accordion-pleated. She wore a white hat, while slippers, hose and gloves, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The best man was Mr. R. B. McGill of Toronto, cousin of the bridegroom.

The ribbon-bearer, who held the ribbons which separated the bridal couple during the ceremony from the rest of the audience, was Marion Edmondson, cousin of the bride, wearing maize voile with white hat.

After the ceremony, dainty refreshments were served at flower-decorated little tables on the lawn, with about eighty guests present. The bride's table, placed indoors and draped in Irish linen, was centered by a four-storey bride's cake and done with bridal wreath and tall pink tapers in silver candlesticks. Decorations of the rooms were carried out with pink and white streamers and bells.

Receiving with the bridal party was Mrs. Mann, mother of the bride, wearing a dress of brown-flecked crepe and corsage of pink carnations.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. McMullen left by motor en route to Sault Ste. Marie for a trip through Michigan, where they will visit friends in Grand Haven, Lansing and Detroit, stopping off at Dundas, Ontario, before returning to reside on the bridegroom's farm on the Lindsay Highway.

The bride's going-away outfit was carried out entirely in blue, with a frock of striped crepe, a silk coat, and hat and accessories all in the same soft shade.

The young people received many handsome gifts from a large circle of friends. The bridegroom presented a necklace set with topaz to the bridesmaid, a coral and white bead necklet to the ribbon-bearer, a silver bracelet to the pianiste, and a silver belt buckle and tie clasp to the best man.

Guests were present from Detroit, Toronto, Lindsay, Oakwood and Shedden, Ontario.

NORTHEY—OLIVER.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Stothart Dairy Farm on the Lakefield Road on Saturday, June 16th, at 3 p.m., when Charlotte E. E. (Shirley), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Oliver, became the bride of Mr. Cecil Royden Northey, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Northey of North Smith.

The bride, very becomingly attired in a pretty shade of blue crepe, with white accessories, and carrying sweetheart roses, was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Elliott as bridesmaid, similarly attired in pink crepe and carrying pink carnations. The groom was assisted by Mr. Alex. Kennedy of Peterborough.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. J. A. Northey, the bridal party took their places under a pretty arch. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. J. Milyard of George Street United Church. Mr. E. E. M. Joblin, student preacher on the Wesley Circuit, of which the groom is a member, was also present.

After partaking of a bountiful wedding breakfast, served in the spacious dining-room of the Stothart home by a bevy of girl friends of the bride, the happy young couple left by motor for Toronto and points West, the bride travelling in a pretty swagger suit of blue grey tweed with grey hat, shoes, gloves and purse.

The wedding gifts, which were numerous and testified to the popularity of the young couple, included a shower from girl friends of the bride and a bridge lamp from her associates at the C.G.E.

Upon their return home the young couple will take up housekeeping on the groom's farm near Buckhorn, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends and relatives.

BAILIEBORO

Rev. Harold Lockie, B.A., B.D., of Fraserville conducted the service in the United Church on Sunday evening in the absence of the pastor, Rev. E. M. Cook, who was conducting anniversary services at Dummer. Rev. Lockie's discourse was most impressive and greatly appreciated by the congregation of the local church.

Flower service was observed in the Anglican Church on Sunday evening. The pastor, Rev. Simpson was in charge and special music was provided for the occasion. A large congregation was present to enjoy the service which has become an annual event in the local Anglican Church.

Mr. Gerald Lander of Plainville was a visitor to the village on Sunday.

Messrs. G. Stuart and M. Perrin were visitors to Kingston this week.

Messrs. W. Byers and A. Barker attended the Peterborough, Kingston ball game in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. E. T. Milton spent the week-end at his cottage at Rice Lake.

Mr. Robert Montgomery is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. T. A. Skitch.

Spring Salada Hot Rolls
Strawberries, Devonshire Clouted Cream
Tea

This is the first recipe for clotted cream I ever have seen. Frankly, I stole it (from a newspaper, however), and hope I may be forgiven for doing so and passing it on to you.

Today's Recipes

Devonshire Clotted Cream.—Let two quarts of rich milk stand 24 hours in room temperature. Then set over a low heat and bring almost to boiling point. Keep there ten to fifteen minutes. It should not boil. Let stand for another 2 hours at room temperature. Then skim the cream by folding it over and over in small rolls. Chill before serving. This makes a scant cup of clotted cream. This may be made from pasteurized milk, but it sets better if milk that has not been pasteurized can be obtained.

Cream Scones

Two cups cake flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons sugar, four tablespoons butter, two eggs, one-third cup coffee cream. Sift flour, measure and sift into a mixing bowl with baking powder, salt and sugar. Work butter into the dry ingredients with a pastry blender or the tips of the fingers. Beat eggs, add cream. Turn into first mixture and stir slowly until flour is dampened, then stir vigorously until a soft dough is formed. Place on a lightly floured board, knead lightly 30 seconds. Roll out and cut in rounds or triangles. Brush over the top with slightly beaten egg white, and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, 12 to 15 minutes. These are nice for tea.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

CONNAUGHT PARK at Ottawa opened a seven day meeting yesterday and Tommy Gorman of Chicago Black Hawk hockey fame, who is general manager, reports a splendid opening at the Capitol City of Canada. There is a horse at Detroit called Ceylon that they expect to make a killing on. He is ready for the question any day now and his connections are very proud of him. The string that Tom Flippin has been campaigning in Canada since early in May has been shipped to Rockingham Park and it will pay you to keep an eye on them as they are all in perfect shape and are at the top of their form. War Plane, Below Cost, and Hillsborough are the aces of the bunch and each won a race at Long Branch or Dufferin Park.

Star Crest who chipped a bone in his ankle during a race at Hamilton last summer, has not won a race this year. He has started about three times but never got even close. On Tuesday he was entered at Dufferin and reported to the paddock but the track veterinarian would not allow him to start alleging he was sore and unfit to race. It looks like the end of this old timers racing days. We told you last week that Stefan Jr. and Altsheb would win at Dufferin and on Wednesday both came through with winning efforts. Leg Sweep, the queen of the half milers made her first start of the year on Tuesday at Dufferin and after holding up the start for over fifteen minutes with her bad post acting she finished last in an eight horse race. That one is hard to swallow as she is usually unbeatable on this oval, but it will not pay to drop her yet as she may face the starter again at Dufferin before Saturday night.

THE PRICES at Dufferin while not abnormally large have been fairly generous. That is the solid horse in the race usually pays a good price. Take for example on Tuesday, old Granite Rock looked like a sure winner, yet he paid $9.80 for a deuce. Floyd Gentry is not meeting with the same success at Dufferin as he enjoyed at Long Branch where he saddled at least one winner or more each day. He won on opening day at Little Saratoga with Trigling, but since then has done nothing. Of course, being a native of Kentucky, the famous horse racing state he is not used to half mile tracks. He has one under his wing though, called Thunderdrop who has performed over Dufferin with much success, when racing for Guy Bedwell, so don't be surprised if this one clicks before the week is over.

COLUMBIA LOU AIDS YANKEES BEAT INDIANS

McCarthymen Strengthen Hold on First Place by Sweeping Cleveland Twin.

RED SOX WIN AGAIN.

Battling Tigers Come From Behind to Defeat Senators in Extra Innings.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., A.P. Sports Writer.)

With Babe Ruth playing his last big league season—according to his own word—big Lou Gehrig appears ready to become the Yankees' slugging hero instead of merely the Babe's understudy.

In the past few years Columbia Lou has done plenty to earn a ranking as one of baseball's greats, but he has always been overshadowed by Ruth. This season he is far out ahead in all the clouting competition and one of the most important reasons why the Yankees are on top of the American League despite Detroit's best efforts to knock them off.

For the last couple of days Gehrig has been playing with a chipped bone in the big toe of his right foot, but it hasn't interfered with his socking the ball or his iron man streak of over 1,400 consecutive games. He clouted his 18th homer of the season yesterday to bring the Yankees the first of two victories over Cleveland that gave them a half-game margin over the Tigers.

With the score tied in the ninth, Lou rode the ball out of the park to gain a 3-2 Yankee victory and give Lefty Gomez his 12th mound victory. Red Ruffing followed that up with a one-hit hurling job to win the second game 3-0, driving in one run himself and letting only two runners reach first.

The Yanks needed both decisions to stay on top as Mickey Cochrane's Detroit club came through with a 13-10 victory over Washington in an 11-inning battle. Doubles by Charley Gehringer and Hank Greenberg touched off the winning rally after Heinie Manush had struck two Senatorial homers Sox in 4th Place.

Boston's Red Sox moves into the fourth place ahead of Cleveland by slamming out 18 hits and a 14 to 9 victory over the Chicago White Hose. The St. Louis Browns, hitting almost as hard, rocked the Athletics 11 to 3 despite Bob Johnson's 20th circuit drive of the year.

The Canadian-bred three-year-old, Mr. Chink, pulled up sore after his work yesterday morning and will be on the shelf for some time.

Brooklyn Dodgers Batter 9-5 Decision Over Second Place Cardinals.

(By Canadian Press)

New York's pennant contender, the Giants, added a full game to their National League lead by slugging the third-place Cubs down, 12 to 7. Two homers by Mel Ott, making 17 for the year, featured an 18-hit assault on four Cub pitchers. The Giants tucked the game away in the third with a seven run outburst.

Meanwhile the Brooklyn Dodgers helped out by battering out a 9 to 5 decision over the second-place Cardinals as Van Mungo, although touched up freely, won his 11th game of the year. The loss left the Cards one full game behind New York.

After a day in the second division, Pittsburgh's Pirates returned to fourth place with a 6 to 5 decision over Boston ,gained when Manager Pie Traynor scored in the ninth on Pinky Whitney's error. Down toward the cellar, Philadelphia and Cincinnati split a doubleheader. The Reds staved off a late rally to win the opener 6-4 but yielded 15-10 in the second slugging match which produced a total of 34 hits.

NEWARK CUBS FALL BEFORE TORONTO BATS

Leafs Hit Three Homers in Big Third Innings, Scoring Eight Times.

BISONS ALSO FALL.

Montreal Defeats Chiefs in Both Ends of Twin Bill at Syracuse.

(By the Associated Press)

A five-game winning streak today had carried the fast traveling Toronto Maple Leafs within three games of the pace setting Newark Bears in the International League.

Starting with the last game of the series with Albany last Friday, Ike Boone's sluggers took one from the Senators, swept through three games with the lowly Baltimore Orioles and yesterday carried on against Newark, defeating the Bears 10 to 5 to shave a full game off their lead.

Again it was the Leafs' big bats plus some effective hurling on the part of Al Hollingsworth that spelled victory. Trailing by four runs going into the third, the Canadians let loose with a barrage of hits and before the last man was out had clubbed giant Walter Brown and Vito Tamulis, two erstwhile members of the New York Yankees, for eight runs. Hollingsworth then steadied and held the Bears to one run during the remainder of the game. He was relieved by Sheriff Blake in the eighth but received credit for his ninth straight triumph.

Royals Going Up

The Montreal Royals moved above the .500 mark for the first time since June 10 when they licked the Syracuse Chiefs twice, 3 to 1 in the opener and 8 to 3 in the nightcap.

Warren (Curly) Ogden kept the Syracuse's six hits well scattered in the first game, but weakened in the ninth and was relieved by Johnny Salveson with the tying runs on base. The former New York Giants' hurler halted the rally by retiring the last two men. Jack Coombs went the route for the Chiefs, being touched for nine hits.

The second game, scheduled for seven innings, went nine before the Royals put on a five-run rally. Hubby Walker, Montreal outfielder, was the hero of the 13-hit attack. He crashed out two homers and robbed the Syracuse batters of three hits by brilliant catches. Both of his home runs came with the bases empty but the second broke a 3 to 3 deadlock and sent the Royals away on their ninth inning rally.

The Rochester Red Wings kept their place two games behind Toronto by trimming the cellar dwelling Baltimore Orioles in the night game marked by unusual strikeouts. In all 21 whiffings were recorded, 13 by the Rochester flingers, Johny Berly and Tony Kaufmann who granted only six hits. The Wings backed them up with a 15-hit attack.

First Triple Play

The Buffalo-Albany tilt, won by the Senators 3 to 2 was marked by another unusual playing feature, the first triple play of the season. Buffalo, held to five hits by Mark Filley, got some satisfaction by the triple killing when Del Bissonette socked a liner over second with two aboard in the fourth. Greg Mulleavy snared it, stepped on the sack to retire Joe Mowry then threw to Jack Smith to catch Fred Sington off first.

Hank Greenberg, Tigers — Batted in four runs, including winning tally, against Senators.

Petes' Second Place Position in Senior League Race at Stake.

Belleville	6	2	3	1

(Note.—Tie-games have no bearing in the standing as they must be re-played).

Second place will be at stake here Saturday when the Oshawa Dukes play the Petes in Riverside at three o'clock. As it will also be the first appearance here of Oshawa this year, this game should draw the biggest crowd of baseball fans of the season. It promises to be a nifty struggle.

Knotty Lee is likely to start Spook Scriver again on the locals' mound, while Dozy Ogden, who beat Belleville last week, may get the call to hurl for the Dukes. Since the Motor City squad has been turning out regularly for practice, and since overtime work no longer interferes with the game, the Dukes can boast of probably as strong a team as any in the Central League. They are expected to be at their best against the Peterborough crew, natural pride—in view of all the Peterborough-Oshawa baseball controversy in the spring—spurring the visitors on in this contest. It also apes up as a good attraction for fans here.

OMEMEE GIRLS WIN BY LOPSIDED COUNT

7th-Inning Batting Rally Too Much for Sixth Line, Lose Out 30-18.

A seventh inning batting rally that chased twelve runs in, gave Omemee Girls a lopsided 30 to 18 victory over the Sixth Line team on the former's grounds last night.

Both teams clouted the ball with a will, and the score mounted in every frame until the seventh, when the Liners tied the count eighteen all, but Omemee came back strong and socked out nine clean hits for an even dozen runs and the game was called with one out.

Hickson pitched for the winners but was hit freely. She fanned seven and was given good support. Mae Payne did the hurling for Sixth Line, and passed six batters. She failed to hold the opposing batters, who connected often, and fielding behind her was shaky at times.

The teams:

Sixth Line—K. Nelson lf; D. Tucker c; A. Weir ss; M. Renwick 1b; L. Bowie 2b; R. Millar cf; M. Payne p; M. Bell rf; I. Davis 3b.

Omemee—Rehill rf; Sherin cf; E. Bigelow c; Fisher 2b; Pickett 1b; Reddick 3b; P. Bigelow lf; McQuade ss; Hickson p.

Umpires—Galbraith at the plate; Frick on the bases.

Although blackberries existed in a high state of development as wild plants, they attracted little attention as garden fruits until as late as 1850.

After bowling from 1 p.m. Wednesday until 2 a.m. Thursday morning, J. Livingstone and J. Johnston of Cannington were declared the winners in our club's first open tournament of 1934.

Too much praise and credit cannot be given to Charlie Butcher, the popular caretaker, for the condition of the greens. All we can say is that they were excellent.

And the hot dinners served by the lady members of our club was, we believe, the best effort that they ever put forth. It, too, was excellent.

The score cards used throughout the tournament were very generously donated by H. S. Howden, cashier of The Mutual Life Assurance Co.

The new souvenir pin donated to each player sure made quite a hit.

A spectator took a snapshot of the Games Committee, but we hope it will not be used against us as evidence.

A lot of our boys could bowl a great deal better—but you know there was an election on Tuesday. Some of our rinks won as many games as did the Conservatives won seats out in Saskatchewan.

Anyway, no matter how you look at it—win, lose or draw—it was the best afternoon, evening and morning's sport held yet.

SUCCESSFUL TOURNAMENT HELD ON PETERBOROUGH CLUB GREENS

Cannington Pair Only Visitors to Figure in Money of 24 Outside Entries.

VALUABLE PRIZES.

Tournament Marks Fifth Anniversary of Local Club in Its New Home.

A pair of bowlers from Cannington, J. Livingston and J. Johnston captured first honors as the Central Ontario open doubles tournament was brought to a conclusion at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club last night. Of twenty-four entries from outside points in the district, they were the only visitors to figure in the prize money.

Under excellent weather conditions a high grade of competition prevailed all afternoon and evening. Rain threatened, but only a few harmless drops fell between three and four o'clock. The draws provided for three matches for each of the fifty-four pairs entered and scoring was on the newly adopted 2-1-0- basis.

Locals Rank in Order.

After a day of consistently good rolling N. Routley and R. Anderson of Peterborough captured second place and third position went to H. Freeman and J. D. Fitzpatrick of this city when the final standing was reckoned. The Peterborough pairs taking fourth, fifth, and sixth awards were W. Wood and K. Sloane, J. Sedgewick and M. B. Chenhall, and J. Harrison and E. Coleman.

A fine pair of woollen blankets went to the two Cannington winners. Routley and Anderson received a carving set, and Freeman and Fitzpatrick each got a verandah camp chair. Silver-plated water jugs, camp chairs, and woollen sweaters made up th remainder of the prizes.

Fifth Anniversary.

The tournament won the interest of many bowling enthusiasts of the city. During the afternoon the club porch was well filled with spectators and their numbers were augmented later as the deciding matches got under way. The highly successful meet served to mark appropriately the fifth anniversary of the club in its new home.

Mark St. Leading In Bantam Finals

Mark Street Bantams won the first game of their final Church Softball League series over St. Paul's, 18 to 13, last night. It was a good fixture, featured by hard hitting. Craig pitched a steady game for the winners and had excellent support, fifteen Saints being stranded. Williamson and Mackness both twirled for St. Paul's with less success. Craig and C. Ferguson topped the Ashburnham bunglers, while the McMillan brothers and King looked good for the losers. The Presbyterians finished strong, but big fifth and sixth innings gave Mark Street the edge. The second, and perhaps the final, game of the series will be at Nicholls Oval Friday. The teams:

Mark Street.—Brady, 3b; Craig, p; Ball, lf; V. Ferguson, cf; Scriver, c; F. Agnew, ss; C. Ferguson, 1b; Clark, 2b; W. Agnew, rf.

St. Paul's.—Mackness, 1b, p; T. McMillian, 2b; Sedgewick, c; J. McMillian, cf; King, 3b; Rutherford, lf; Williamson, 1b, p; Morrow rf; Steer, ss.

St. Paul	010	042	042—13

The merry lacrossers are at it tonight in Riverside at six o'clock, that is if there isn't a strong California dew—plain rain to you and you—falling. It's between the Aajmaa Club (doggone, we're going to call them the Pyjama Club yet) of Belleville and the Kiwanis of Peterborough. And it's the first local O.A.L.A. tilt of the season. As both teams won their opening contests, this one shapes up as being a nifty struggle. The lads have an enclosure along the west grandstand over at Riverside and fans will have perfect accommodation. We're glad to see organized gutted-stick wielding return to this town and hope the fans appreciate it and take in the games.

• • • • • • •

There's an E.P.L. ball game tomorrow also, at six in the Exhibition Grounds, and followers of this loop should see another fine fight between Cogs and Fosters. Remember that 3-3 tie game they played last week, when the Clubmen ran into a raft of horseshoes to finally grab off a tie somewhere this side of midnight—at least it was pretty dark? If Fosters throw Lefty Dunkerley back at Cogs, it's liable to provide another nasty headache for the loop-leaders.

Brintons pulled out a 7-5 verdict in a fine men's softball game last night over Fashion Crafts at Central, it being a postponed affair or something. There was much bickering and running to the referee, the close play having both sides on edge. Ross Currie and Chuck Butcher both did some nifty twirling, and got good support as a whole. Brintons had Jack Playford—released by the seniors—back in centre field and he will be a lot of help there. They also had Jimmy Newson, late manager of C.G.E., playing third. This one has us puzzled.

We're informed that it's okay for a player to be released by his manager and to sign up and play for another team. And it appears as if Newson did this. Being manager of C.G.E., no one could stop him, so he released himself and Brintons signed him. We don't think Brintons should have done this, as it certainly wont help the wobbly C.G.E. crew. Not so long back, we're told, C.G.E. spoiled things in the former ladies' loop by this very thing, getting a corner on all the outstanding players in town. Meantime, C.G.E. are trying to carry on in the men's circuit, and we suppose will have to elect a third manager.

Sixth Line gals journeyed out to Omemee last p.m. and took the wrong end of a 30-18 score for their trouble. Mae Payne of Warsaw pitched for the Line lasses, while M. Hickson—a new one on us—tossed 'em in for the O's. It was the third win for Omemee, while the Lang maidens have been successful just once so far. But look at all the fun they have! Omemee goes right back to Sixth Line tomorrow night, while Westclox and Maple Leafs tangle at Central on Saturday. Meantime, the grass is growing so fast at the Bowl that some of the local milkmen are thinking of turning their cattle into it for pasture.

A few postponed games and various semi-final and final playoffs are winding up the Church Softball League now. The loop got away to an early start, but with the slew of teams in that it had, we thought they'd be going till the crops were harvested. However, good weather and a flock of games almost nightly gradually cleaned up the various sections and now the end is in sight. The finalists are dishing up some smart softball now. These games are listed for this eve: Trinity Seniors vs. St. Paul's at King Edward Park tonight, umps from Mark and Knox; George St. Juniors vs. All Saints at Queen Mary, umps from St. James and St. John's; St. James vs. George St. in a juvenile semi-final at Queen Alex.

The Petes are practising nightly in preparation for their game with Oshawa here Saturday. And don't think the Dukes aren't doing a lot of bustling around, and working out regularly! They'd sooner lick us here than get another large order at General Motors which would mean heavy overtime for the players. Second place will be at stake as both the Petes and Dukes are .500 in the standing now. With Archie Deyell still on crutches, looks like Spook Scriver will get the first call to fling 'em in for the locals, with Bill Calladine in reserve.

This guy Tommy Pointer of Napanee, former star southpaw in the C.O.B.L. is pitching nice ball again this year. Last evening in a Quinte League game, he held Brighton to one hit and fanned nineteen to give the Gibbards a 3-0 nod. Not a man got by first, but Tommy had to be good as Purdy of Brighton let the Furnituremen down with three bingles spread apart. Too bad for the Nats the day Manager Gerow and his ace portsider decided to migrate to Ernie Gibbard's town, as Belleville could certainly use Pointer. And Walter Gerow was quite a loss, too.

Up and down Sports' Rialto: Maple Leafs got a 3-2 win over King Edward School in a fine bantam baseball game yesterday eve . . . . The Leafs play Habocos Friday at 5.45 in Armour Field in another bantam tussle . . . . The E.P.L. dance at the Brock tonight should be good and all friends of this circuit are urged to drop in and give 'em a hand . . . . Ralph's Terriers, local juvenile baseballers, went to Yelverton last p.m. and returned with a 6-5 win. G. Clark and McIlmoyle doing the locals' hurling . . . . This team is trying to arrange a game for Riverside with a Lakeshore outfit next Wednesday . . . . If our juvenile team can beat one of their junior squads—we could then appreciate why the Lakeshore League was afraid to include a junior team from here in the spring.

Good Game Promised In Friday's E.P.L.

Cogs play Fosters at 6 tomorrow (Friday) evening in an East Peterborough Baseball League game at the Exhibition Grounds. The top team in this circuit received a bad scare when the tailenders held them to a tie—a lucky break for Cogs—their last meeting, and no doubt tomorrow's battle will be another close one. Left Dunkerley is likely to be sent right back at the Clubmen and if so, he should again prove plenty troublesome. Percy Vannest, Casey Masterson and Lefty Billingsley are all available to hurl for the Cogs.

Some sparkling E.P.L. games have been dished up the past two weeks at the southend diamond, and this one promises to be another fine contest. The teams are of Intermediate "A" calibre and rate better crowds of fans than they have been getting. Ever since Fosters bolstered its lineup, they have been crowding opponents hard, and are due to cop a victory any day now. This may be their day. Fans are advised to take in these tilts for good baseball entertainment.

6 Killed, 8 Badly Hurt French Train Wreck

MULHOUSE, France, June 21 (AP)—Six persons were killed and eight injured seriously when a local communting train from Wesserling crashed to-day against the bumper in the main station here.

Faulty brakes were blamed for the accident. The bumper is used to prevent the train from going over the end of the track.

Fifteen other injured passengers were given emergency treatment, while scores were badly shaken up.

The first two cars of the train were both wooden coaches. They crumpled under the impact.

All the victims were workers en route to Mulhouse.

MARITIME TRIALS.

AMHERST, N.S., June 21 (C.P.).—Every boxing centre in the Maritimes, except Halifax and Cape Breton, is represented on the entry list of the interprovincial boxing tourney from which will be selected the Maritime boxers who will go to Montreal to compete in the British Empire games trials there this summer. The interprovincial tourney takes place June 22 and 23.

MAPLE LEAFS NOSE OUT SOUTHENDERS

King Edward School Beaten 3-2 in Thrilling Minor Ball Struggle.

Maple Leafs noosed out King Edward school, 3-2, in a fine bantam baseball game last evening in Armour Field. It was the best City League struggle so far and both teams put up a thrilling fight, besides showing some first-class ball. The Ashburnham crew got two runs in the second inning and one in the fourth, while King Edward shoved one across in the second and another in the seventh.

Mortimer pitched a fine game for the losers, holding the Leafs to five hits, while he fanned eleven and walked two. Curtin, on the other mound, also hurled good ball to restrict the K.E. boys to six hits, strike out five and walk seven. Good support aided him considerably. The fielding on both sides was good, despite rough ground. The teams:

King Edward—Platt ss; Todd 3b; Castle c; Berwick 2b; Ridley 1b; Lucas rf; Hopcroft lf; Freeman cf; Williams cf; Mortimer p.

Maple Leafs—Wright ss; McCormick c; Curtin p; Bradshaw 1b; Spencer 2b; Davern 3b; O'Leary lf; Bennett cf; Ward rf.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
King Edward .. 010 000 1—2	6	3
Maple Leafs ... 020 100 x—3	5	1

Umpires—Smith and Simpson.

Dairy Notes

CAMPBELLFORD, June 21 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Cheese offered for grading at the local grading station on Friday were as follows: Brae 15, Burnley 37, Trent Bridge 35, Crow Bay 32, Prince of Wales 33, Aylstone 45, Stanwood 22, I.X.L. 17, Woodlands 19, Kimberley 31, Beaver 17, Trent Valley 36, New Model 11, Ideal 83—making a total of 433 boxes of cheese graded.

Cheese sold on Belleville Board last Saturday for 10¾ cents, and on the Napanee Board the same day for 10 15-16 cents.

The May statements for the factories in the Campbellford district show an average price for May milk of 22 1-5 cents per pound butter fat.

Owing to the fact that a few factories were availing themselves of the facilities offered by the Cheese Factory Patrons' Association for the group selling of cheese on the Belleville Board, the executive of the association at a meeting last week, decided to have Mr. Meyers arrange for sale of the group assembling here, at the same time reserving the right of any limit. This will procure sufficient cheese to take care of direct sales to the Old Country market, which might be made by the Patrons' Association through the Marketing Board.

Mark St. Seniors Clinch Top Place

Mark Street clinched first place in the Senior section of the Church Softball League last night, beating Knox, 29-11. Knox will still finish second by beating George Street Friday. Mark had three big frames off Wedlock to win out, while receiving good pitching from M. Hunter. Ferguson, Brady, Parsons and Mitchell led the hitters, with Charlton and McDonald best for Knox, the latter also fielding well. The teams:

Mark Street.—Mitchell, c; Parsons, ss; Townsend, cf; M. Hunter, p; Brady, 1b; Sager, 3b; Ferguson, 3b; Darwin, lf; G. Hunter, rf.

Knox.—Gatfield, 2b; Charlton, rf; A. Wedlock, p; B. Masters, c; Allen ,ss; B. Wedlock, 1b; G. Masters, lf; McDonald, cf; Morrison, 3b, 1b; Ferguson 3b; Smythe, rf.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A FIELDING

CHAPTER 29

"Who was she herself?" he asked first. Gillian's father was a major invalided out of the war. Her mother had to look after him in every way. They were traveling abroad at the moment. Travel was the only thing that seemed to help him. She did not know where to reach them. She had not heard from them, nor written, since Christmas, when they were in Switzerland. They had then intended to go to Malta. As for Mr. Tait, she had first met him in Vichy. She had come to Mrs. Burnham because she had to go somewhere in a hurry, and she had an idea that Mrs. Burnham would help her if she could, and was not a friend of Mrs. de Souza's.

Pointer did not believe one word of all this. Any more than he believed her when she said that her talk with Mr. Tait last night had been merely the idle talk of being found by him in his stepmother's house when he thought—if he thought of her at all—as somewhere in France with her employer. He asked her various questions and obtained replies of the same color.

But when he stopped, and seemed to pick up the top of a gold fountain pen, and she gave it one indifferent, careless glance before saying that she had no idea whose it was, he did believe her. It meant nothing to Miss Dundas—that, he thought, really was true.

When he let her go, she passed out and up the stairs like an automaton whose spring was set in some dreadful terror. Almost it seemed to him that he felt a chill as she brushed by him.

When he closed the door behind her, he stood a long moment staring at his shoe tips, hands deep in his pockets, head bent on his breast.

This terror of Gillian Dundas', it seemed to linger in the room where she had been. Guilty fear of the police investigation might be part of it; he felt sure that it was, but it was by no means the whole. That fear was as it were, on the surface of something even deeper yet. Gillian Dundas was afraid for her life, not from anything that he could do, but from another cause. Even supposing her to be guilty of Tait's death, she would know that she might hope to escape the extreme penalty, or indeed get off entirely, but whatever it was that lay beneath that fear of him was something which Pointer believed she thought to be inescapable and imminent.

A murder had been committed, a girl was afraid for her life. Surely it must be the same hand that she dreaded, unless, guilty of Tait's murder, she dreaded vengeance. Pointer dallied with this last idea for a second or two, but if Gillian Dundas were guilty, then there was another potential life-taker in the same circle. This was most unlikely. It seemed much more likely that she was afraid of the same hand that had struck down John Tait. Why? Why should she fear his fate with such helpless certitude of her doom? It could not be that she had seen something, or knew something, which, if made known to the police, would lead to the detection of the criminal or criminals. Or one would think she would have been prevented from seeing Pointer. She had been allowed to return to the house unmolested. She had worked and lunched at the studio, she had told him, alone. Also, against this idea that she might be in danger because of some knowledge of the criminal, was the fact that she was the only person in the house who showed any terror. Yet if she were in possession of any incriminating fact, the criminal would indeed have cause for alarm, for Gillian Dundas looked to Pointer both stupid and entirely self-centered.

Had she received a threatening letter too? This seemed a possible explanation. That she knew that Tait had had one also—that he had told her as much in that talk last night—and that when he died today she knew that she would not escape either. That would mean that they both were linked in the past. Pointer turned the case this way and that to try and catch some gleam of light from its dark surface. Tait, by his position and his record, was a man of high intelligence. Gillian Dundas, from the point of brains, did not exist at all. Then how could the two be in such equal danger that the death of the one meant the death of the other? He gave it up for the present; all he did know was that she was waiting, dumbly, for the end. So certain was she of this end that she was not struggling against her fate. Though he did not think her a fighter ever. She had not turned to him. She had not made the slightest effort to obtain protection. . . . He felt that as far as her greater terror was concerned, he was out of it. Altogether she was a strange fact in the case. Two clues and two alone had so far. The gold fountain pen top, and this terror of Miss Dundas'. And they were not linked, as far as he knew.

He was called to the telephone. The Home office analyst was speaking. The two specks sent on the slides were particles of spun glass, dyed a light green with the usual British commercial light green dye, just as the manufacturer of the glass was British. As for the poison for which he was requested to test especially, he had found it on both specks but not equally applied. This looked as though the specks had been part of some spun glass object which had been dipped, or sprayed, with the poison after it was made. The object of which these specks had formed a portion was something very brittle, and therefore small. Nothing for use. Something ornamental probably. More the analyst could not say. Pointer told him that he had not hoped to learn so soon.

So those marks in the thumb and second fingers of John Tait's right hand were thin filaments of green dyed poisoned glass. . . . Had something burst that he was holding? Something so fragile that a touch would shatter it and drive its spun walls into the hand that held it? He went up now to Tait's rooms, where he had at once sent one of his men to stay on guard. There were three rooms in all. He went rapidly through the dead man's writing table. Most of his belongings would be sifted and sifted again, but he might at once come on some outstanding feature of interest. First of all, he picked up a book of engagements from beside the large inkstand, where lay an assortment of pens and pencils. All unbitten, as the servant had said.

He looked the book through very carefully indeed. This morning he found marked with an asterisk in pencil and the figure 11 beside it. Now, 11 was the number of Miss Dundas' studio in the Fulham building. The other entries seemed all straightforward enough, with the exception of exactly a week ago. On that day was an entry "Letter from ——" and then came a space where a name had been erased. Then came he words "that of course I would. Next Tuesday." Today was "next Tuesday." Pointer studied the erasure through his glass. It was rather a long name beginning with a capital letter that was as broad at the bottom as the top. He decided that it had been either an H or a W or an M. There were absences of marks that ruled out other letters. There was one or possibly two tall letters in the middle, and quite clearly two tall letters to finish. It suggested some such name as Weatherell offhand. Pointer also thought that following it had been the words "I replied," and that they had been rubbed out with the name. Certainly it was a simple proceeding which suggested some one not afraid lest the deletion be noticed. Just as the book had lain on the table for any one to see. It rather looked—so far—as though Tait himself had rubbed out that name, Pointer thought. But why?

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 22

Another day of surprisingly important events and propitious circumstances is presaged by the direction of major planets. There is likely to be a sudden precipitation of situations inciting to radical change, bringing about fresh interests, new opportunities of large scope and far-reaching influence on the future life. Employment seems in line for outstanding promotion or preferment and there is a sign of a substantial increase of the real possessions; but beware some degree of treachery, malice or misprepretation. Or possibility hostility or dispute.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of complete change quite unforseen and unexpected, with radical effect on the entire future destiny.

A child born on this day should be progressive, adventurous and fully capable of engaging in great enterprises, which may take it far.

Change In Cabinet Complete, 3 Weeks

TORONTO, June 20. (CP).—The present Ontario government will be out of office and the new cabinet to be formed by Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn in power within less than three, weeks, according to Premier George S. Henry, who declared the Drury government was formed in a little less than three weeks after the defeat of the Hearst administration.

Should Mr. Hepburn be able to select his cabinet at an early date, his advent to power may not be delayed more than two weeks. "We wait for the official returns anyway' said Premier Henry to-day. "It will take some time to clean up the fag ends. Every minister will have some matters to deal with."

CHRIST CHURCH, CAMPBELLFORD OPENED IN 1854, DEDICATED BY BISHOP STRACHAN JULY 17, 1861

First Anglican Circuit Was That of Rawdon, Percy, Seymour.

LATER SEYMOUR, PERCY

First Campbellford Services Held in Old Log Building Near Pulp Mill.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 21 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — The 80th anniversary of the opening of Christ Church, Campbellford and the 85th year of the beginning of parish history will be observed by the congregation on Sunday, June 24, and this event in the church life marks the wonderful progress, both spiritual and congregational, that has been made in this section of Old Ontario by the Anglican Communion over the past years, from the time before Campbellford existed as a town of some importance, and was only a hamlet of a few scattered log houses, then known as Trent Bridge. And this little church, ivy covered and pretty, nestling at the foot of a hill on the limits of the town, and surrounded by the tombs of its faithful, the centre for the past ninety years of the home life of Anglicans of the district, has a history that not only an Anglican can be proud of, but that has played an important part in the building up of the Campbellford of to-day.

To anyone standing in one of those old churches in the Motherland, which date back more than a thousand years, eighty or ninety, or even a century seems but a short period, but in this new land ninety years or a century carries one back to the beginning of a town or parish.

The first Church of England clergyman who definitely ministered to the members of the church in the Townships of Rawdon, Percy and Seymour was the Rev. Edward C. Bower, a travelling missionary. Mr. Bower began his work in this district in 1849 and carried his labors on until 1853. In 1849, he baptized Margaret, daughter of Charles and Mary Todd, of Rawdon, and united in holy matrimony, Francis McAnnany, of Belleville, and Caroline Rannie, of Seymour. This is the first baptism and marriage entered in our parish register.

The Campbellford of this time, 1849 to 1853, has been described by the late Henry Rowed as "a very small hamlet, and contained only four or five small log cabins, was surrounded with forests, and known by the name of Seymour Bridge."

The Rev. Edward C. Bower held services in an old log building near where the pulp and paper mills now stand, owned by a Roman Catholic Irishman, by name Boland, who kept the post office. Mr. Bower resided in a log house south of and across the road from Henry Bonnycastle's farm. He was taken to his place of service in the farm wagons of the settlers. Services were held later in an apartment over a general store owned and occupied by Mr. John Gibb. About this time, 1853, Mr. Bower was removed and the Rev. J. C. Clarke was appointed his successor.

Mr. Clarke was the first clergyman to reside in the old parsonage, which formerly stood on the site of the present rectory, and signs himself, "missionary of Seymour and Percy." The first baptism registered by him is that of Frederick Charles, son of Henry and Kate Rowed, May 29, 1953.

In the summer of 1854 this church building was far enough advanced in construction to be used for public worship. When the church was opened in this year, eighty years ago this summer, there were no pews, the congregation sitting on pine boards resting on blocks of wood, and the clergyman preaching from a rough board standing on two stilts. Later, when the church was pewed, Mr. Rendle made and presented a pulpit of butternut to take the place of the previous rough desk.

A word about the church and rectory grounds. This property, including the old parsonage, a frame building, one and a half acres for the site of the church, and about eleven acres of rectory grounds, was purchased from the late Captain John Tice of the British Army, by Mrs. Elizabeth Carlow, and given by her to Henry Rowed, who gave it to the church in accordance with her wishes. The deed to the twelve acres was drawn up by Henry Rowed and his wife Kate, on January 29, 1855.

During the interim of 1856-1858, there was no resident clergyman, but occasional services were held by visiting ministers, especially by the Rev. Charles Ruttan, who came here from Cobourg, and then the Rev. F. J. S. Groves took charge of the parish.

The first baptism by Mr. Groves is that of Florence Matilda Rowed, January 3, 1858. Mr. Groves signs himself as travelling missionary in Hastings, and later on, rector of Seymour. Services were held in Campbellford for the Seymour West congregation and in Warkworth for the Percy people, and fortnighty services in the English Line School house in Seymour East. The pew rent system was adopted in Mr. Groves' time, January, 1858, and abolished in Rev. E. Cooper's time. The first pew rent book is mostly in pounds, shillings and pence.

The earliest confirmation list recorded is in 1858, an earlier confirmation service being held in May or June, 1856, when Annie Howed, Rosins Rendle, Frank Bonnycastle and others, renewed their vows and received the Bishop's benediction.

The class in 1858 numbered seventeen, and included Ellen Rowed, Catharine Keys, Richard Bonnycastle, Lydia Archer and William Archer. At the next confirmation, July 17, 1861, a class of seventeen was presented. It was at this visitation that the little church was consecrated by Toronto's famous pioneer bishop, The Hon. and Rt. Rev. John Strachan. It was his last visit to the parish. He died on All Saints Day, 1867.

The present rectory was built in 1871, and the rector, Rev. J. S. Baker, defrayed seventy-five per cent of the cost of it. In 1875 the Rev. Ralph Hindes was appointed rector, supervising the parish until 1885. In 1876 the gallery in the church was built, and in 1883 the chancel was added. The cemetery grounds were consecrated on November 2, 1883. The Rev. Thadeus Walker had charge of the parish from 1885 to 1891, during which a portion of ground was added to the cemetery, September 3, 1888, and the church was redecorated in 1889.

The Rev. W. E. Cooper, M.A., was the first rector of Campbellford, as the former clergy were appointed by the various bishops, to be in charge of the churches of Seymour and Percy. During Mr. Cooper's incumbency, 1891-1901, Campbellford and Warkworth churches were separated. Many improvements were made and numerous gifts were donated to the church during this period. The lectern and Bible were donated by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bogy, the east window above the altar was placed there in memory of Robert Cockburn, and the chancel side window and crimson altar frontal by the Willing Workers.

The Rev. A. J. Reid was rector from 1901 to 1911. On December 4, 1904, special services were held in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of this church. A pipe organ, which had been recently purchased, was dedicated on this occasion. The offertory for the day amounted to $530, and the special preacher was the Rev. Canon Skeyn of Toronto.

The Rev. Charles Carpenter was the next rector, from 1911 to 1917. The choir vestry was added to the church in 1912, and the church redecorated in 1914. The following gifts were presented to the church during the period of 1912-1917: pulpit by Miss E. M. and B. Wallace; credence table by Miss Moffit; chalice by Mrs. Robetr Linton; two collection plates by part of the Haydon Bequest; brass altar rail by Mrs. R. S. Buller; cross and two vases in memory of A. L. Colville by fellow churchmen and friends.

On Easter Day, 1914, Dr. George Archer was presented with a gold watch when going out to the mission fields, after preaching on Sunday evening. An address was read to the doctor, signed by the rector and the church wardens, Charles Bedford and A. E. Caddy.

In 1918 the Rev. C. E. Clarke took charge of the parish, and ministered until 1923. The Parish Hall was built in 1919 at a cost of $6,700. An alms dish and four collection plates were donated to the church by Mrs. R. F. Buller. The reredos was presented to the church by Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brown and the altar linen by Miss Ethel Bedford. The men's club, Boy Scouts, and Junior Auxiliary were formed in the parish.

From 1923 to 1926 the Rev. G. C. Clarke was rector of Christ Church during which time the present rectory was renovated.

During the rectorship of the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, 1926-1931, the rectory grounds, which had been neglected for some time, were greatly improved. The following gifts were received by the church: Sedalia, donated by Rev. N. C. Wallace; cruets, by Miss Ethel Bedford; prayer desk in memory of James Franklin Linton and Robert Linton, by the Linton family.

In 1931 the present rector, Rev. T. H. Floyd, became rector of the church, and still ministers faithfully to the congregation. Much progress has been made during the past three years, and the same spirit which caused Christ Church to be built, is still carrying forward the work of God in the community through the faithful ministration of the minister and his flock. The present wardens are N. A. MacColl and Archie Hatfield.

The following heads of families were members of the congregation when the church was erected in 1854: Mrs. Carlaw, Charles Buller, George W. Ranney of Belleville, Alonzo Dunk of Seymour, Daniel Carling, Capt. John Tice, Major Campbell, Dr. Denmark, Robert Cockburn, Henry Bonnycastle, James Archer, William Free, Wm. Varcoe, Thomas Little, Wm. Ogilvie, John Atcheson, Mr. Bennett, John Odell, Capt. Cassan, Capt. Geary, R.N., Gilbert Bedford of Seymour, Frederick Macoun of Seymour, James LeVesconte, Edward Tildesly, Alex Denmark, Henry Rowed, Thomas Rendle, Abram Free, Thomas Free, Wm. Atkinson, Wm. Dunk, Robt. P. Boucher, Wm. Ivey, Mrs. Taylor, Hugh Gibb.

On Sunday next the Rev. T. Stannage Boyle, M.A., D.D., of St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, will preach at the morning service, the Rev. N. Clark Wallace of Birch Cliff, at a memorial service in the afternoon, and the Rev. C. E. Clarke, M.A., of Toronto in the evening.

COOL-HEADED PUP.

PHILADELPHIA, June 20 (C.P.). —When it comes to keeping cool in an emergency, consider the case of Mickey. Mickey, Augustus Nace's dog, was chained to a burning kennel inside a burning building. He stalked quietly out of the building, dragging the kennel with him, and then turned around to watch the flames a chain's length from his nose.

PUT BLOW-OUT PROTECTION on your car!

NO EXTRA COST

You can't pick your spot for a blow-out. It might come in fast traffic, on a narrow bridge, on a cliff-edge. Thousands are killed or injured every year. But now you can avoid this terrible risk.

NEW INVENTION PREVENTS BLOW-OUTS

The Life-Saver Golden Ply, built into every new Silvertown, resists internal heat—makes you "3 times safer from blow-outs." With this destructive inside heat controlled, tires also give months of extra wear. Yet the new Silvertown costs not a penny more than standard tires!

Come in and get this priceless protection for you and your family.

Jackson was waiting for his wife outside a big shop in the west end of Cleveland when a poorly dressed man came up to him.

"Could you spare me a dime, sir?" he asked.

Feeling in a festive mood, Jackson reached in his pocket and drew out three cents.

"I've only three cents in change," he said, regretfully.

"Well," said the beggar eagerly, "give me that and pay me the rest later. I'll take a chance on you being honest."

Otonabee Reeve Takes Objection To Council's Move

Reeve Anderson and Deputy-Reeve Davidson Strenuously Oppose Placing Additional Mileage in County Road System.

WARDEN FERGUSON SOUNDS NOTE OF WARNING. FEARS COUNTY WILL BE OVERBURDENED

In Heated Debate Reeve Anderson Temporarily Vacates His Seat—Otonabee's Representative is Charged With Inconsistency.

In open session with Warden Rork Ferguson in the chair, Peterborough County Council yesterday afternoon assumed approximately thirty miles of township roads throughout the county as a part of the county road system with approval of the Provincial Highways Department.

The action of the council was strenuously opposed by Reeve W. A. Anderson, who received the support of his Deputy-Reeve Percy Davidson, and led to remarks from Reeve Harry Wood of North Monaghan that caused Reeve Anderson to temporarily vacate his seat and leave the floor of the house.

Note of Warning

Requests of the various reeves respecting certain sections of township roads they proposed should be assumed by the county were heard and noted, after which the Warden sounded a note of warning. Commenting on the large amount of provincial highway contruction now in progress in the county, he spoke of increased highway costs that would result to the county, urging that it would be unwise to assume any more county roads. "If we do," he stated, " we will have so much increased county mileage that we are going to overburden ourselves as I see it".

Stating his entire agreement with the Warden's remarks, Reeve Anderson moved and his deputy seconded, "that no action be taken". The motion was entirely without support when put to the vote.

A motion by Reeve Allan B. Mann of Smith followed asking in effect that the township roads as suggested, "hold on a minute. In view of that motion we will have to include Otonabee's claim." He asked that eleven miles of township roads in his township be assumed by the county with theobvious purpose of blocking the proposals.

"Dog In Manger"

Reeve Wood charged, "the representatives from Otonabee are playing dog in the manger. It is not fair," he said, "they voted against these measures and are now trying to profit by them".

Reeve Mann's motion apparently

FARMERS URGED TO GET UNITED BY W. A. AMOS

Need to Organize as Class is Stressed at U. F. O. Picnic.

MARKETING PROBLEM.

No One Going to Bring Farmer Out of Depression Except the Farmer.

The need for farmers to organize themselves as a class if they hope to correct marketing problems and secure the necessary legislation to improve the condition of the agricultural industry generally, was stressed last evening by W. A. Amos, of Palmerston, president of the United Farmers Co-Operative Company, in an address last evening at Nicholls Oval during the picnic of the local Peterborough United Farmers Club.

Mr. Amos stated that other classes had organized to gain benefits for themseves and farmers must do so also if any lasting improvement was to be secured. No longer was any accomplishment to be made by individual effort, and such organizations as the U.F.O. should be joined and supported by the farmers, he said.

Kenneth Petrie, of Otonabee Township, president of the club, was chairman of the meeting held following the ball games under the trees at the Oval. A. D. Runions announced the Judging Field for farmers to be held next Thursday afternoon at Exhibition Park. H. B. Cowan introduced Mr. Amos to the meeting.

Organized Agriculture

In beginning his address, Mr. Amos stated he would speak upon organized agriculture. The farmers he said had borne the brunt of the depression and he had watched keenly to see what methods the agriculturists would adopt to get themselves out of it.

"The only way to get out of the mess we are in, is to take an intelligent view of conditions" he declared. "There is little use of us trying to accomplish anything individually. That is not the way things are done these days. We were never so dependent upon our neighbors as we are these days, and each community is dependent upon the other."

Marketing Problem

One of the chief problems to-day was marketing, he continued, and the marketing problem was world wide. "To-day the great bulk of the matters that affect agriculture

HOUSE REFUSES DIVORCE PLEA

Action Climaxes Charge of Strong Lobby in Upper House.

MONTREAL CASE.

OTTAWA June 22 (C.P.) — The Private Bills Committee of the House of Commons to-day by a vote of 14 to 10 refused the petition of Hyman Stotland, Montreal, for a divorce from Ruth Rudnikoff Stotland, Montreal.

The Bill of Divorce passed the Senate Committee by a vote of four to two, and was the subject of controversy in the Upper House, where it was charged that a strong lobby had been maintained in connection with the Bill.

Echoes of the lobbying charges seeped over from the Senate into the Commons Committee The Committee decided to hear counsel for parties.

A similar petition had been rejected by the Senate last year. R. L. Calder, Montreal, counsel for Mrs. Stotland stated. To the charge of lobbying Mr Calder replied that it was a case of counter-lobbying.

"If Parliament wants to get rid of lobbying in divorce cases it will have to get rid of the jurisdiction," Mr. Calder told the committee. Let the question of divorce be made a

BRITAIN SENDS GERMANY BID TO DEBT PARLEY

Declines to Accept Her Default on Dawes, Young Loan Interest.

NO UNDUE HARDSHIPS.

Points Out Excess German Exports to Britain Cover Amount Three Times.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, England, June 22. (C. P. Cable). — Britain has invited Germany to "talk over" her debts and the six-months moratorium. The invitation is contained in a strongly-worded note from Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, to Baron von Hoesch, the German ambassador in London, in which the British minister declines to accept the German grounds for default on the Young and Dawes loans.

In the opening communication to Sir John the German ambassador said Germany desires to pay her debts but that is only possible to the extent to which "foreign countries—that is, in the present circumstances, practically the creditor countries—open additional markets.

"The solution of the German transfer problem is very definitely dependent on the decision of the creditor countries as to how far they are willing to open their markets to the sale of German goods," the ambassador's letter added.

Germany's Hope

Germany cherished the hope that the situation "may not be further aggravated by compulsory measures against German exports."

Sir John replied that exports from Germany to the United Kingdom had always exceeded British exports to Germany. The excess in favor of Germany amounted to $67,500,000 in the year ending March 31, 1933; and had risen to $77,000,000 in the 12 months ending last March.

"This excess" said the British foreign secretary, "is sufficient to cover the interest on all the German loans issued in London more than three times.

"His Majesty's Government has no desire to exclude German exports, nor do they desire to insist on any unreasonable demands for their bondholders. But they are of the opinion that for reasons already given a refusal to continue service of the Dawes and Young loans cannot be justified.

3 MONTHS REST FOR MACDONALD

Break in Premiers Health Stirs Speculation on National Govt's Future.

BALDWIN IN COMMAND.

By FRANK KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, June 22.—(A.P.)—The decision of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to take at least three months' rest, leaving Stanley Baldwin in command, aroused Parliamentary circles to-day over the future of the National Government established as a result of the financial crisis of 1931.

Downing street confirmed Mr. MacDonald's holiday plan, but announced doctors had advised the Premier to go ahead. There is a possibility he will make a trip to Canada or the United States, but at least the first week is expected to be spent at Lossiemouth, Scotland, his home.

Should Mr. MacDonald's health not respond to the rest treatment, informed observers consider his present retreat would prove a graceful means of political retirement. But that emphatically is not the Premier's present intention.

His hope is to build up his strength for the autumn session, which will provide the greatest test the National Government has faced.

With the Prime Minister away, the only Laborite among National Government leaders will be J. H. Thomas, jovial secretary for the Dominions and man-about-town who lives up to his nickname. "Dress-suit Thomas."

SUFFERS AGONY PORTRAYING CHRISTUS IN PASSION PLAY

Antn Lang Only Half Conscious When Removed From the Cross.

OVER 700 ACTORS

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

OBERAMMERGAU, June 22.—In this simple little mountain village, common potters and wood-carvers are holding the centre of the world's stage, illuminated by every newspaper and journal in the western world. To me it seems symbolic, for were they not also unlettered Galilean fishermen and a carpenter's son whose words and acts to millions still in our day are worth more than all the treasures of the earth? These people, the villagers of Oberammergau, are born and raised in the consciousness of an ideal. Nothing has spoiled them. Neither the highest praise of the critics nor the flattery of princes. Here are people directly linked to the scenes once enacted in far-off Judea. The Passion Play is not a commercial venture. To the villagers it is an act of faith, a church service, a mark of faithfulness to a vow, a token of gratitude for divine deliverance. "The purity of intention," someone said, "regarding the offering of the Passion Play has not in the least altered these village folk." It is pure idealism on their part and the very air you breathe here is full of a reverent spirit.

The longer you stay the greater grows your admiration for these artists, who animated by a faith and a sincerity both astounding often give proof of physical efforts

Playful Frogs

NARROWS, Va., June 22 (CP) —Harvey Spicer says he has at last discovered the secret of the disappearance of his "frying size" chickens.

After numerous chickens had vanished mysteriously, Spicer, a farmer near here, kept a lookout for several days. He finally saw a large bullfrog seize a chicken and dive into a pond near the chicken lot.

Spicer drained the pool and found 12 chickens piled in the centre of the pond. Spicer and his neighbors killed 40 large frogs.

F. C. Pruetiz a neighbor of Spicer, vouches for the story.

CUT OFF SUPPLY TO THE MAN WHO DROPPED WAGES

Prices, Labor Standards, Trade Associations Regulate Business Practises.

PUBLISHING NAMES.

Committee Undecided as to Publishing Names of Clothing Makers.

OTTAWA, June 22.— (C. P.) — Regulation of prices, business practices and labor standards through trade association was urged today before the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee by R. P. Sparks, representing the National Fair Trade Council. This would involve repeal of anti-trust laws and establishment of a trade board, to supervise trade associations.

If a manufacturer, for instance, dropped wages, he could be punished by the trade association, even to the extent of having his supplies cut off. His only appeal would be to the federal trade board who would supervise and control the trade associations.

There was an echo of politics at one point, leading to a declaration by Sam Factor, Lib., Toronto, he would recommend to Premier-elect Michell Hepburn the affairs of the Central Supply Warehouse in Toronto, of which Mr. Sparks was president, be investigated by the new government.

Mass Buying of Relief Goods

The Toronto Liberal said the Central Warehouse did the very thing Mr. Sparks complained of—through mass buying efforts, purchasing clothing and shoes which it sold to the Ontario government at low prices for relief purposes.

It had been estimated by E. A Dunlop, former Ontario Treasurer, the company had saved the province $1,000,000 and he would welcome any investigation. "I did a good job and I did it gratis," said Mr. Sparks.

"But you sold goods, purchased through mass buying methods, at ridiculously low prices," insisted Mr. Factor.

"I would suggest you get in touch with Mr. Hepburn and ask him to investigate the company," said Mr. Sparks.

"Yes, that will be done but I would rather get from you a list of the prices at which goods were sold the Ontario government, workmen's pants, for instance."

"There were no sweatshop goods.

Stockyard Fire Takes First Typhoid Victim

CHICAGO, June 22.—(A.P.)—First victim of typhoid fever contracted during the stockyards fire, Edward Dolan, 17 year old son of a fire captain, was dead to-day.

Coincidentally it was learned that more than 40 persons have been stricken with the disease in the last three weeks.

Investigation brought out that during the stockyards conflagration water was diverted from a sewer to the great reservoir used for watering cattle. Piped to the pens, this was drunk by firemen and fire spectators, including Dolan, who died yesterday.

About 200 firemen and others are under observation as suspected victims of amcebic dysentery or other intestinal infection caused by the tainted water.

Shot In Back Ends 12-Year Farm Tiff

DOYLESTOWN., Pa., June 22 (C. P.) — A 12-year-old dispute over ownership of a ditch that divides their properties has ended in death for one Bucks County farmer and arrest of another as his slayer.

The dead man, Paul Kulscar, 60 father of seven children, was shot in the back last night while digging in the ditch that has been the source of enmity between him and Alex Legat, his neighbor.

Legat came out of the woods about an hour after the shooting carrying a shotgun, police said.

"I don't care. I got him That's what I wanted. I fight no more," constables quoted Legat as saying

The hook gauge, an instrument invented by Uriah Boyden, is for measuring differences in level in a surface of water.

A Warm Drop

GRENNFIELD, Mass., June 22. (CP).—The baggageman dropped the crate and 24,000 bees stormed forth, taking undisputed possession of the railroad station. The police riot squad was called.

That made the solution simple. With the squad was Sergeant Fred Woodward, bee fancier and the man to whom the crate was consigned. His fellow officers let him round-up his property.

PREMIER - ELECT SUGGESTS BRUCE RESIGN OFFICE

Hepburn Hints Economy Move by Lieutenant-Governor to Ease Taxes.

CONSIDERS BEER ACTION.

Will Abolish Second Year at Normal for Teachers Soon as Possible.

TORONTO, June 22 (CP.).— Beer and wine and rules affecting school teachers to-day were marked as the first concern of the incoming Ontario Liberal administration as Mitchell F. Hepburn, Premier-elect, delayed his Cabinet-making expedition to Toronto until to-morrow.

Mr. Hepburn, already pledged to start beer and wine flowing in restaurants and hotels as soon as he assumes power, added to his program last night a proposal to abolish as soon as possible the Department of Education ruling that school teachers must return for a second-year course at Normal School.

At his Yarmouth Township farm the Premier-elect said the Department of Education ruling had occasioned considerable confusion among Boards of Education forced to replace school teachers compelled to resume Normal School training. Many boards, he said, had suspended their annual replacement routine in view of his campaign pledge that such a course would not be necessary after his Government assumed power.

Observers meanwhile believed the new administration might be installed as early as July 1 They said there was nothing to prevent the Government of Premier George S. Henry from handing over its office by that time.

Mr. Hepburn also suggested yesterday that Lieutenant-Governor Herbert A. Bruce might resign his office as an economy measure to help save taxpayers' money He added he would have no ceremonious pomp at the next opening of the Legislature.

Authority With Dominion.

There was no official reaction to his proposal that the Lieutenant-Governor resign and permit his function to be filled by Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, but authoritative sources at Ottawa said such a

CARTER IS FINED $150 AND COSTS

Crown Alleges Man Had in His Possession Number of Liquor Permits.

PLEADED GUILTY.

Harry Carter, 163 Stewart street, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Langley to-day to a charge of having had in his possession a quantity of liquor not purchased from the Ontario vendor. He was fined $150 and $45.50 costs.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry told the court that it was not a case for the minimum penalty. "Found in this man's possession were a number of liquor permits, several of these were for dead men and others had entirely fictitious names' he said. "The whole thing was fabricated so that he could secure large quantities of beer."

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared on Carter's behalf.

THREE BANDITS GET $4,700 CASH HAMILTON FIRM

Halt Tuckett Tobacco Paymaster on Street Outside Office.

TWO MINUTE JOB.

Flash Gun, Nab Bag, Escape in Car—All Are Masked.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 22 (CP)—Three men held up the Tuckett Tobacco Company paymaster in front of the company's Queen street North plant to-day and escaped with a $4,700 payroll.

The paymaster, W. H. Warnke, had returned from the bank on a company truck with a bag containing the $4,700 in cash, mostly bills. As he alighted in front of the Tuckett office, a car containing three men drove up and one stepped out and covered Warnke and the truck driver with a revolver. He ordered Warnke to hand over the bag and jumped back into the automobile which raced away north.

The holdup occurred at 1.25 p.m. Warnke could give little description of the men, except that they were dressed neatly in dark clothes. Only one got out of the automobile.

Watches Holdup.

Stephen Ambrose, son of the president of the firm, who was an eyewitness of the holdup, said he was standing at the corner of Queen and Greig Streets and saw the truck containing the accountant drive up. The latter was about to hand over the payroll to other employees when the car which had been following a short distance behind, pulled up short with squealing brakes.

One man alighted. Brandishing a nickel-plated revolver, he accosted Warnke with the command, "Hand it over." The latter obeyed,

C.C.F. SHOWING PLEASES CHIEF

Woodsworth Believes Party Will Replace Conservatives in Future.

PRACTISE CONTEST.

OTTAWA, June 22 (CP)—While the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation did not win as many seats as had been hoped in the provincial elections in Saskatchewan and Ontario, the campaigns were great educational factors in preparation for the next Federal election, J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, stated in an interview yesterday. He had returned to Ottawa from Saskatchewan where he participated in the contest.

Electing five C.C.F. members in Saskatchewan, the candidates of this party, Mr. Woodsworth explained, received almost 25 per cent of the popular vote. In Ontario where only one candidate was elected and where only 37 candidates of the party ran, they obtained close to 10 per cent of the total vote cast. In the provincial election in British Columbia last year the C.C.F. obtained 33 per cent of the popular vote although electing only seven members (one of whom has since died). The Liberal government there only received 42 per cent.

"As in British Columbia, so in Saskatchewan the C.C.F. will be the official opposition, so the effect of the cry of losing a vote by voting C.C.F. will disappear," Mr. Woodsworth said. "I am convinced that three parties cannot continue indefinitely. In Britain it was the Liberal party that largely disappeared and in Canada it looks as if it would be the Conservative party."

"The campaigns have placed us in excellent position for the next Federal election," Mr. Woodsworth stated.

CASE CLOSES

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Seven days of evidence in the society divorce action brought by Edward Frank Willis James against his wife, Tilly Losch James, the beautiful Viennese dancer, was completed to-day before a courtroom of brilliantly-dressed spectators, who twittered over scandalous tid-bits. The case was adjourned to Tuesday.

James alleged his wife was guilty of misconduct with Prince Serge Bolensky, a member of an old Russian family.

PAIR OF GUNMEN CLEAN OUT BANK AT BLACKSTOCK

Bind Manager, Force Teller, Pistol at Back, to Open Vault.

TAKE $4,000 CASH.

One Guards Prisoners as Pal Gets Gas—Outspeed Pursuers Toward Bowmanville.

BLACKSTOCK, June 22.—A hold-up man with $4,000 and two revolvers stuffed inside his pockets stepped out of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch office here yesterday, climbed into a heavy sedan auto parked outside the barber shop next door and drove across the street to a gas pump.

Inside the bank his companion, with a gun in each hand, was standing guard over the manager and the teller, both lying on the floor, bound hand and foot.

Villagers in stores and loitering around the four corners saw the stranger drive over to the gas pump outside the Superior grocery store, but didn't realize what was going on.

The holdup man in the auto asked Gertrude Henry, the girl clerk of the grocery store, for ten gallons of gas. He handed her two $2 bills believed to have been some of the money taken from the teller's cash drawer.

Signals to Friend

When the tank was filled and the holdup man had pocketed his change, he signalled to his friend in the bank. The friend came running out. They drove south toward Bowmanville, which is about 15 miles away.

Donald Beer, of Brougham, an insurance agent, was in Harvey Ginn's barber shop next door to the bank. He heard the cries for help from Harry Major, the teller, who had slipped his bonds, and had come to the front door.

Beer jumped into his car and drove down the highway after the robbers. They had a head start of a few hundred yards. He said later that he pressed his accelerator down to the floorboard, that his speedometer registered 70 m.p.h. but that the fugitives outdistanced him.

The large blue sedan, license number B-713, in which the robbers escaped, was stolen from the used car lot of the G. W. Hogan Company, Ltd., 348 Danforth Avenue, Toronto, between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning, a police check-up showed.

Ginn, the barber, on hearing Major's cries for help, ran into the bank next door and untied Lloyd H Corner of Nestleton, the manager, while the teller telephoned the police.

Alarm Goes Out.

Chief Constable Sidney Venton, at Bowmanville, relayed word of the robbery to Provincial police headquarters at Toronto and the constabulary of all municipalities in the district were notified. Equipped with descriptions of the wanted men, a description and the license number of their car, police kept a lookout on all main highways, particularly those leading into Toronto, while Chief Constable Venton and a squad of county officers toured the countryside in search of the robbers. There is no police department at Blackstock, while is a community of some 200 inhabitants in Cartwright Township.

The two robbers were observed driving up and down the highway through Blackstock around noon. A schoolboy on his way home to lunch noticed that the strangers seemed to be looking around at the layout of the building on the main street.

Other inhabitants saw them pull up in front of the barber shop about a quarter to two o'clock. They got out of the auto and went in the front door of the small bank.

One was short, looked about 23 years old, wore a blue suit and a grey felt hat. The other was taller, seemed about 40 years old, was wearing a dark grey suit and a grey hat.

Asked For Manager.

The first time the two went into the bank the younger man, the one who drove the car, asked the teller

$400 IS GRANTED TO FAIR BOARD

Reeve Anderson Opposes Increased Grant to Peterborough Exhibition.

OTHER GRANTS MADE.

Reeve Allan B. Mann of Smith made an unsuccessful attempt in committee on finance to have a recommendation made to Peterborough County Council increasing grants to Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board to the former $500 level. His only support was from Reeve Harry Wood and Deputy Reeve James Milby both of North Monaghan.

The Exhibition Board grant reduced last year to $400 will remain at the same figure this year, the committee recommended. Reeve W. A. Anderson led the opposition against any increase being granted on the grounds that as a class A fair Peterborough is receiving additional grants from the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Other Fair Board grants are to remain as formerly, having been set as follows: Norwood, $300; Lakefield, $250; Galway and Apsley, $150 each.

Although Dead For 7 Years Havelock Man Still Listed As County Constable

Although he has been dead for almost seven years, a former Havelock resident is still officially listed in the minutes of Peterorough County Council among the active county constables.

Called to the attention of the Committee on Appointments by Reeve Richard Sanderson it was a matter that led to the decision that the entire list is in need of revising in order to bring it up to date. At least one other of the county constables listed, is also deceased.

Questioned regarding the constable in Galway-Cavendish Reeve Austin Jackson said: "I never hear anything of him. I guess he must still be acting."

Angus Graham of Havelock was recommended for appointment as county constable in place of the late E. Williams, who has been dead for seven years past. The appointments are made by the county judge.

Reeve Harry Wood of North Monaghan urged the need of two county constables in his township. Further consideration is to be given the whole matter of county constables when the list is revised and brought to date.

Other appointments recommended by the committee to the council were as felows: J. W. Ridpath and C. J. Darling to be re-appointed to the Mothers' Allowance Board; J. A. Middleton, re-appointed to the Board of Education.

PRINCE REACHES 40TH MILESTONE UPON SATURDAY

Heir to Throne of British Empire, Busier, Graver of Mein, Than Ever.

NO ROYAL ROMANCE.

Devotes Himself to Campaign for Removing Slums Throughout Isles.

BY THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 22.—(C. P. Cable)—He still doesn't look it, but the Prince of Wales is 40 years of age tomorrow, entering middle-age.

Busier than ever and graver of mien, the heir to the throne of the British Empire does not get much relaxation these days. Content with his modest bachelor apartments at St. James' Palace and his country place at Sunningdale, he has devoted himself in recent months to the campaign for removing slums throughout the British Isles.

The press, the world over, does not get a chance nowadays to couple the name of the world's most eligible bachelor with some stately princess or lovely lady of the realm. His royal highness works hard at his job.

He took time off this week to attend the Royal Ascot race meeting with the King and Queen, and the other night he slipped away to the military tattoo which has been drawing tens of thousands a night. On that occasion he characteristically declined to enter the royal box and few knew of his presence.

The Prince preferred to remain literally behind the scenes, chatting with officers and men and finding out how the wonderful spectacle was organized.

His Empire missions have now been taken over by his younger brothers—the Duke of York, Prince Henry and Prince George. When he goes overseas again is problematical although he might logically be expected to pay another visit to his ranch in Western Canada in the next few years. There were eager suggestions during the winter that his royal highness visit the British West Indies but the trip did not materialize.

The Prince is in deadly earnest about the necessity for clearing up the slums, a gigantic program on which an appreciable start has already been made. A few weeks ago he left the glamor of a royal court at Buckingham Palace, one of the first of the season's courts, to travel through the night by motorcar to some of the most depressed areas in Wales.

He launched the campaign personally two years ago. Since then he has made constant visits to industrial areas where the recovery seems to be in the nebulous future despite constantly rising employment figures. He has spent months in many forgotten corners of the "tight little isle," getting first-hand information of the plight of the workless, spreading a much-welcomed word of cheer, encouraging ev-

Gardiner Has Plans But Not Telling Them

REGINA, June 22 (C.P.).—Resting at his Lemburg Country home, near here, James J. Gardiner, Premier-elect of Saskatchewan, to-day kept his counsel. He had plans, he told the Canadian Press over long distance telephone, for the setting up of a competent Ministry. When that time came he would announce them.

The youthful Liberal leader, entrusted with the task of repairing a rift that disturbed a 25-year-old governmental reign preferred to remain silent on policies, selection of Cabinet Ministers and other matters relative to an incoming administration.

"We have not heard from the Government," said the Liberal chieftain. And, he intimated, until the Government's resignation is in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor, he would remain silent on questions of policies, selection of Cabinet Ministers, and other matters always before an incoming administration. He refused comment on Mr. Hepburn's announced intention to abolish the office of Lieutenant-Governor in Ontario.

PUBLIC OWNED CENTRAL BANK MEETS DEFEAT

Liberals Also Lose Move to Restrict Governor to Canadian Citizens.

NONE AT HAND—BENNETT.

Hints Sir Edward Peacock for Post — Debate Continues.

OTTAWA, June 22. (CP).—With the bill creating the Bank of Canada, a new development in Canadian financial history, before it the House of Commons to-day continued the discussion over the merits of public or private control over the new institution. After smooth sailing in disposing of legislation for several days controversy cropped out again in the House yesterday when arguments threshed over in the banking committee cropped out in committee of the whole.

The Liberals renewed their plea that the bank should be state-owned as well as state-controlled but their arguments failed to win the support of the House. Another dispute arose over the provision that the Governor of the bank be a British subject. Liberals sought to restrict it to British subjects resident in Canada but the government contended it would be difficult to find a man in Canada experienced in the operation of a Central bank and insisted on the right to go outside Canada.

Another opposition amendment defeated would have given the Minister of finance power to acquire the shares of the Bank of Canada at any time and thus make it publicly- owned.

The discussion drew from Prime Minister R. B. Bennett the opinion that no other central bank in the world was so clearly and completely subject to control of the government as the proposed Bank of Canada. The governor must be acceptable to the Government, the directors may pass no resolution without the approval of the governor and the Deputy Minister of Finance is a member of the board of directors.

Complete Control.

This, Mr. Bennett said, assured complete control in essential matters of policy and still protected the institution from any interference of a purely political character.

One function of a central bank, said Mr. Bennett, was to control the volume of credit in times when speculation became unduly rampant. This had been done effectively by central banks in other countries

Only car under $4000 with a V-8 Engine

NEW FORD V-8

Definite reasons for the superior performance and efficiency of the V-type engine

THERE'S no guessing about the superiority of V-type engines. They hold every major record on land, on water and in the air. For years they have been used for the finest motor cars in this country.

We designed a V-type engine for the Ford because it has certain basic, fundamental advantages that cannot be duplicated in any other type. It costs more to build a V-type engine—a great deal more. But we absorb that cost for the sake of getting better performance on the road. Here are just a few of the advantages of Ford V-8 design.

MORE EFFICIENT DESIGN—The Ford V-8 engine is more efficient because the eight cylinders are divided into two short banks of four each and placed opposite each other in a compact V-shape design—instead of being strung out in a long straight line.

ONE-PIECE CASTING of cylinder blocks, crankcase and exhaust passages. An exclusive Ford V-8 engine feature that means better performance and economy. Keeps operating parts in permanent alignment by providing exceptional rigidity for entire engine. Also increases smoothness, gives longer life to bearings and all moving parts.

SHORTER CRANKSHAFT—Compact V-type design of Ford engine permits use of shorter, more rigid crankshaft. This reduces vibration.

BETTER FUEL DISTRIBUTION—Shorter and more direct fuel passages to cylinders increase engine efficiency.

SIMPLER COOLING SYSTEM—Ford V-8 design brings all cylinders close together and results in simpler cooling system within the engine.

MORE EFFICIENT LUBRICATION—Oil lines are shorter in the Ford because of V-8 design. Less distance for oil to travel. More efficient lubrication.

GREATER SMOOTHNESS because of inherently correct engine balance resulting from 90° V-8 design with 90° spacing of crankthrows on fully counterbalanced crankshaft. Precision weighing of pistons and connecting-rods assures accurate running balance.

INCREASED BODY ROOM—Ford V-8 engine takes up less space in hood because of shorter, more compact design. It is one reason why the Ford V-8 has more interior room than any other low-price car.

The Ford V-8 engine is outstanding in service because it combines V-8 performance with economy. It delivers more horsepower per gallon of fuel than any Ford engine ever built.

COBOURG TAKES 14-13 FIXTURE

Teams Battle 10 Minutes Overtime at Campbellford to Break 13-13 Tie.

PLAYED IN ARENA.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 22 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The crack of the old hickory was again heard in Campbellford last evening after a period of three years, when the locals played their first home game in the newly formed lacrosse loop, clashing with Cobourg in a game that lasted for an extra ten minutes' overtime to break a 13-13 tie, the game going to the visitors with a 14-13 count.

And action was ripe, with one of the fastest box lacrosse fixtures seen in the old Mill Town. Played in the Davidson Arena, owing to the heavy rain yesterday afternoon making the High School ground too slippery, a good side-line turned out to give the Maroons the necessary support. And performing his first public office since his election to the Provincial House, Mayor Harold N. Carr faced off the ball, and got a rousing reception from the crowd, as he walked into the centre of the rink.

Four fifteen-minute periods were featured and every minute of the play was fast. Opening in good form with the locals taking the offensive, the Cobourg Reds came back with speed, and setting a pace that was fast for the game, continued it to the last bell. Although out of form after a long lapse away from the game, the Hometowners put up a grand fight and tied the count at the end of the last period, necessitating an extra five minutes each way, "Toe" Ibey for the visitors netting the winning counter with one minute to go.

Hendy for the locals turned in a splendid game, and was responsible for eight of the thirteen counters with Runnions netting four and "Huck" MacArthur the odd one. But all players were directly responsible for the tally, for they put up a splendid exhibition of team work, showing excellent passing, and covering their men in great style. As usual, "Buster" Whitton centred much of the play, always being where the ball was and being responsible on passes for many of the counters.

For the visitors, Lucas, Morford, Ibey and Johnston shone, being responsible for all the counting and carrying a great deal of the play. Lucas is a fast player and featured some terrific rushes which at times counted, and other times caused uneasy moments in the Campbellford area.

PRINCE REACHES 40TH MILESTONE

ery worthy organization established to alleviate distress.

"I have been appalled that such conditions can exist in a civilized country such as ours," he roundly declared at a great meeting in London last month. Calling recently for personal service from the youth of the country to combat the national ills he said:

"I want you to understand we are not just facing a few more months of 'grin and bear it.' We must get into training for a long period of work—hard work and effort sustained despite possible discouragements."

Many Paths Closed

The Prince very simply summed up his aspirations on that occasion. 'As far as my part is concerned," he said, "many paths in life are closed to me. Much that I would like to do I cannot.

"But I have tried to bring more closely together the people of the Empire to bring more closely together the English - speaking peoples, and further our interests abroad. I have had my failures, I know, but in these years with few precendents to guide us, to have no failure is to have attempted nothing."

The Prince's birth at White Lodge in Richmond Park on June 23, 1894, was on a Saturday. It coincided with the grim weekend in which the French President Carnot was assassinated.

There will be no special celebrations of the anniversary to-morrow. But the Royal post office will be deluged with congratulations official and personal, from every part of the world, and they will be delivered to the bachelor apartments, though they might have gone to stately Marlborough House, the residence of his father and grandfather when they held the same title. The Prince will not use it.

PUBLIC OWNED CENTRAL BANK

through the raising of the rediscount rate. In England the rate at one time had been raised to eight per cent. with marked effect. Such operations should be free from political considerations.

In this connection, said Mr. Bennett, it was doubtful if the United States had a central bank in the real sense of the term. The Federal Reserve Banks had never taken definite action to curtail credit for speculative purposes

The hint of a suggestion that a distinguished Canadian-born London banker might be called back to Canada to head the Bank of Canada was dropped when Mr. Bennett mentioned the name of Sir Edward Peacock of the Bank of England. In asking the House to reject the amendment restricting the Governorship to Canada residents, he said it would bar the appointment of a Canadian who had qualified himself for a high position in Canada by experience acquired abroad.

Merger Bill On To-day.

The Bill to permit a merger of the express and telegraph services of the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways may be introduced to-day. When Hon. R. G. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, sought the leave of the House to introduce it without notice yesterday a protest from Right Hon W. L. Mackenzie King Liberal Leader, led him to leave it until to-day.

The Senate yesterday put the finishing touches to a number of Bills sent up from the Commons and referredthe farm debts measures to its Banking Committee.

PREMIER - ELECT SUGGESTS BRUCE

measure could not be forced, as the Dominion government alone possessed the right to demand resignation of the Lieutenant-Governor, whose salary of $10,000 a year is paid out of Dominion funds.

Little heartburn appeared from reports proclamation of the beer and wine act of the last legislature might be delayed for a short time. It is a long time since Ontario's elbow-benders were able to take a legal drink in a public place and they seemed willing to wait a little longer.

The cabinet line-up was awaited with interest. It was presumed certain Duncan Marshall will get the agriculture portfolio as he had experience in the corresponding office of an Alberta government.

Set-up of the rest of the ministry appeared uncertain, although Mr. Hepburn said last night he would issue calls for his cabinet within a week. It was believed generally that Arthur Roebuck of Toronto, would become Attorney-General and that Hon. Harry Nixon, Progressive leader of the last House, would be Provincial Secretary.

Commentators considering the proposal that the Lieutenant-Governor's office be abolished recalled Mr. Hepburn denounced the Henry administration for securing the appointment during hard times when, he claimed, the Chief Justice could look after his duties.

Some said that if Mr. Hepburn chose he might withhold the Ontario grant for the upkeep of the official residence at Chorley Park. There was no indication, however, that he considered such a course.

PAIR OF GUNMEN CLEAN OUT BANK

where the manager was. He said he wanted to see him about cashing a traveller's cheque. Harry Major, the teller, said the manager was in his office with a client. The two waited around for a few minutes looking over the interior of the bank, then said they would return in a little while and departed.

For the next hour they sat in their auto, strayed across the street together and sat on the curb, and then for perhaps the last 15 minutes one sat in the car while the other stood beside the front fender. Residents of the community passed by; some nodded in greeting. Others were suspicious of the strangers. At least three citizens made a note of the license number of their auto.

About three o'clock they re-entered the bank. The manager was in the front part. The elder of the two robbers slapped a road map on the counter and said:

"I want to cash a draft."

Corner, the manager, looked down at the road map, then looked up at the pseudo-client, and saw a revolver pointed at him. He also saw that the younger stranger was covering Major with a revolver.

"Shoot 'em in the knee-cap if they get funny. That's the best way to fix 'em," the younger robber said.

Begins To Tie Pair.

The younger man then took some quarter-inch rope out of his pocket and began tying up the two bank men.

"If it weren't for the change in government, we wouldn't be here," remarked his companion.

Bound hand and foot, Corner and Major were made to lie down on the floor. The younger man began looking for the key to the teller's cash drawer. Unable to find it, he said to Corner:

"If you're trying to slip anything over on us, you're liable to regret it."

The key was located. The younger man cleaned several hundreds of dollars out of the cash drawer. Next Corner's hands were untied and, with a gun at his back, he was compelled to open the safe. More than $3,000 in bills were taken out. The robbers also took possession of the two revolvers belonging to the bank.

While the elder man remained on guard the younger one went out to the auto, drove across to the gas pump and used, it is believed, some of the freshly stolen money to buy ten gallons of gas. He blew the horn for his accomplice, and they sped away together.

STORE ROBBERY COSTS PAIR LIFE

Toronto and Montreal Men Both Have Long Police Records.

MONTREAL, June 21 (C.P.). — Harold "Red" Doyle of Toronto and Henry Wilson, alias Hartwell, alias Thomas Reed of Montreal, were today sentenced to imprisonment for life by Mr. Justice Charles A. Wilson in the Court of King's Bench here for holding up the jewelry store of Bibeau Freres on January 9.

Wilson also drew an additional three years for being in possession of narcotic drugs at the time of his arrest on February 3, with a fine of $200 or an additional six months. Five other charges of armed robbery are standing against Doyle and Wilson, mainly in connection with their activities during the Christmas and New Year's season.

Both men have long records dating back for years. Doyle served eight years in Portsmouth Penitentiary, Kingston, Ont., from which he was released on parole, but finally had to complete his term. Wilson served two five-year terms in St. Vincent De Paul Penitentiary here.

Toronto Livestock Review

TORONTO, June 22 (C.P.) — No extreme price changes were recorded on the Toronto Livestock Market this week, a 50-cent loss in calves being the greatest move either way. Hogs advanced 10 to 15 cents up to Wednesday ,but the close was easier with a 10-cent drop on off trucks, the only grade on the market on Thursday. Cattle, sheep and lambs closed unchanged.

Runs on all classes with the exception of hogs were heavier with cattle showing an increased supply of more than 2,000 head. The calf, sheep and lamb runs were 1,500 head heavier, while hog receipts were down 1,100 head.

Though liberal rains throughout the province improved pastures, demand for stockers from the country was weak. Exporters shipped 386 head of cattle for Great Britain and a few loads of slaughter cattle were sent to Montreal. The supply of 5,700 head of cattle was almost sold out at the close of the week.

Weighty steers ranged from $4.50 to $6.25 and one outstanding load of 1,275-pound steers brought $6.75. Good and choice butcher cattle sold at $5 to $5.35, with tops at $5.50. Thin butchers sold as low at $3.50. Fed calves were draggy towards the end of the week at $4.75 to $5.50 for medium to good quality, while a few tops reached $6.50 in the early days of trading.

Butcher cows ranged from $2.50 to $3.75, while bulls moved within a range of $2.75 to $3.50. The store cattle supply was very light, small lots selling from $3 to $4.15 cwt.

Prices on the calf division held steady under firm trading until Tuesday afternoon, when the movement turned draggy. Wednesday's prices were down 50 cents cwt., and the market closed with that drop. Good and choice vealers sold mostly, at the close, at $5 to $5.50 with occasional tops at $6. Common to medium vealers brought $3 to $4.50 and a few grassers sold at $2.50 to $3.

The hog market closed from unchanged to fiev cents higher at $8.55 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.90 off changed to five cents higher at price reports from England influenced Toronto packers, who were offering lower bids on week-end deliveries. Sows sold generally at $2.50 cwt., below the bacon price.

Lambs closed unchanged at $9 cwt. for choice, with a few picked lots at $9.50. Culls ranged from $6 to $7 cwt. Sheep were slow on a light supply at $1 to $2.50 cwt. according to quality, while yearlings sold mostly at around $5. Buyers on the market announced at the close that a $2-cwt. discount on buck lambs will go into effect Monday, June 2.

Weddings

HOPKINS—SULLIVAN

TWEED, June 22 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday, at the Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father J. Powell, when Miss Madeline Sullivan, daughter of the late John Sullivan and Mrs. Sullivan, became the bride of Edward Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hopkins.

The bride was prettily gowned in white lace with silver shoes and large white hat to match, and was attended by her sister, Patricia, dressed in blue, while Miss Reta Sullivan, dressed in blue organdy, acted as flower girl. The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Michael Hopkins of Tamworth.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. After the ceremony, the bridal party, together with a few near relatives, partook of a dainty dinner at the home of the brides mother.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's Training School for Nurses, Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston; while the groom is a rising young business man of Erinsville village.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins left on a trip to Sudbury and Copper Cliff and on their return will reside in Erinsville.

WALKER—HUMM

TWEED, June 22 (Examiner Correspondence)—A charming wedding took place in St. Peter's Church, Queensboro, on Wednesday, at 10.30 a.m., when Miss Charlotte Bernice Humm, daughter of H. W. Humm and late Mrs. Humm, and Ernest Thomas Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Walker were united in holy matrimony; Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne, rector of the parish of Tweed and Madoc, officiating.

The church was tastefully decorated with summer flowers for the occasion. Mrs. George Lowe of Queensboro presided at the organ.

Miss Ruth Bell of Belleville was the bride's attendant and Mr. Alfred Evans of Belleville was the groomsman.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, a very dainty buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wood, to the members of the immediate family and friends.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES AIKINS.

TRENT RIVER, June 22 (Examiner Correspondence).—The death of another of Trent River's highly esteemed residents occurred about midnight on Wednesday in the person of Mrs. James Aikins, after an illness of two weeks, at the age of 71 years, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Carnrite, Trent River.

Mrs. Aikins' maiden name was Eliza Mack, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Mack, of Rawdon. She was married to her late husband, James Aikins, of Seymour Township, about 47 years ago, making their home at Stanwood until 15 years ago, when they came to reside at Trent River. Mr. Aikins predeceased her a few years ago. Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. James Carnrite, of Trent River; a son met death by drowning at Healey Falls about 15 years ago; also one brother survives, John Mack of Havelock.

The late Mrs. Aikins was a member of the United Church; a devoted mother, good neighbor and made many friends.

The funeral takes place this (Friday) afternoon. Service in the United Church, conducted by Rev. S. A. Kemp, and interment at Maple Grove Cemetery.

LEANDER LEVESQUE

TWEED, June 22. (Examiner Correspondence). One of the oldest residents of Elzevir township, Leander Levesque, passed away on Tuesday in his ninety-third year at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Neal McGeachey. The late Mr. Levesque was born in the U.S.A. and came to Canada with his parents in his early childhood.

The funeral was held at the Anglican Church, Flinton, the Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne of Tweed officiating. Interment was in the Anglican cemetery at Flinton. He leaves to mourn five daughters and one son.

MRS. FREDERICK HIGMAN

MARMORA, June 22. (Examiner Correspondence). — Sarah Nugent wife of Frederick Higman, passed away early on Wednesday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Jane Henderson, "The Ridge" Wellaston township in her seventy-fifth year. She was one of the oldest natives of that district, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nugent.

About eighteen months ago she fell down the steps of the cellar at her home and had been ailing ever since.

Besides her sorrowing husband she is survived by one son, James, residing at home. The late Mrs. Higman is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jane Henderson and Mrs. Maria Henderson, also of Wollaston township.

The funeral, held at the home of Mrs. Jane Henderson on Thursday afternoon was largely attended. Rev. Mr. MacGregor, United Church minister of Coe Hill, officiated.

Interment took place in the old Thanet cemetery where several of the deceased lady's ancestors are buried.

The pallbearers were William Henderson, Hugh Nicholson, Daniel Henderson, Charles Murphy, Edward Murphy and Denis Murphy.

MRS. THOMAS WHITEMAN

TWEED, June 22. (Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. Thomas Whiteman passed away at her home near Harlowe. She was one of the oldest residents of the district. Her husband who was over ninety years old, predeceased her two years ago.

The funeral was largely attended and the service was preached by Rev. J. C. Wickware.

CAVAN, June 22. — (Examiner Correspondence.)The funeral of the late Gilbert Kincaid, Manvers, was held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ida Keegan, Cavanville, on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Holden of Bethany, and the Rev. Dr. Lang of Cavan, officiating. The pallbearers were six of his old neighbors of Manvers, Messrs. William Armstrong, Hiram Ward, William Hanna, Henry Ward, Richard Challice and Ernest Fallis. Interment was in Fallis' cemetery.

Mr. Kincaid, who was seventy-eight years of age, had only been ill for a few days. On Thursday morning he was taken to Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, where he suffered a stroke on Friday morning and died on Monday evening, June 18th. He had been a life-long resident of Manvers, born and lived all his life on the homestead on the Eighth Line, two and a half miles west of Bethany, which he still occupied when he became ill. For many years he took an active part in municipal affairs and also was a drover. His wife, Sarah Ann Ingram, died February 3rd, 1932.

He is survived by six children, three sons, Orma, Raymond and Harold of Bethany, also three daughters, Mrs. Keegan, Cavan, Mrs. Jos. Coulter, Lindsay, and Mrs. Harry Hutchison, Port Perry.

Friends were present for his funeral from Toronto, Lindsay, Port Perry, Peterborough and Orono.

MRS. PHIL VANCE

BONARLAW, June 22. — The funeral of the late Mrs. Phil Vance was held on Sunday afternoon at St. Thomas' Church, Eighth Line of Rawdon. Interment in the St. Thomas' cemetery. The service was conducted by the Rector, Canon W. G. Swayne, assisted by the Rev. A. S. McConnel of Stirling. There was a large attendance.

OLIVE STEPHENSON.

NORWOOD, June 22.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Olive Stephenson was held Wednesday afternoon from the home of Mr. B. W. Squire, Queen street, where a large gathering of friends and acquaintances assembled to pay tribute to one who had lived the greater part of her life among them. She was one of a family of four brothers and three sisters, children of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stephenson, a prominent family of the earlier days in this community, all of which have predeceased her, except one sister, Mrs. W. B. Squire, of this village, and one brother, Herbert Stephenson, of Hastings. One nephew, James Mullen, who has made his home with Miss Stephenson, since childhood, is left to mourn the loss of a devoted and ever faithful aunt.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Bell, of the United Church, Hastings, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Reeves, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Norwood.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. J. F. Pearce, J. A. Finlay, T. M. Lumsdon, John Weir, John F. Elliott and M. Callander.

Interment was made in Norwood Cemetery.

MRS. EMILY J. ARMSTRONG

Surrounded by members of her family, Mrs. Emily J. Armstrong, widow of the late Robt. Armstrong, passed quietly away recently at Melita, Manitoba.

Emily Stewart was born in Otonabee Township, near Peterborough, August 11, 1860. Following their marriage in 1884 Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong came to the West, taking up a homestead south of Elva, where they farmed continuously with the exception of three years spent in Deloraine. In 1905 the family removed to Melita where they have since resided.

The late Mrs. Armstrong was one of the few remaining original pioneers of this part of the province and bore her part with that valient race of men and women who left the familiar scenes of the settled east and set their faces steadfastly toward the setting of the sun, where from the vast stretches of prairie wilderness new homes and fertile fields were wrested by dint of ceaseless toil and a faith that scorned defeat.

Mother of a large family, the sole responsibility for which she was early called to assume, she devoted her life to the training and welfare of her children, keeping her family together and showing that example of Godliness and faith which rebounds so greatly to the blessing of the young. Yet the years sat lightly upon her and hardships served but to mellow and sweeten a personality of unusual winsomeness and charm.

Of recent years the late Mrs. Armstrong lived quietly in her little home in Melita giving generously of her time and effort to religious work. A member of the Presbyterian Church, she was past president of the Ladies' Aid Society and Women's Missionary Society.

Deeply mourned by her family to whom she has ever been an inspiration, the beloved deceased is survived by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. F. J. G. Sutherland, Mrs. Wm. Scott, Mrs. D. Lamont and Miss Henrietta, all of Melita; Oswald R. of Beloit, Wis.; John D., of Lashburn, Sask., and Rev. F. W. of The Pas, Man. The late Mrs. Armstrong was predeceased by her husband twenty-two years.

FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1934

A STUPID ATTEMPT.

There was a number of stupid features in the handling of the provincial election by Government headquarters, but probably the silliest activity of all was the Conservative publicity effort which, under the title the "National Press Bureau," bombarbed the newspaper offices for several weeks with highly colored "news" articles intended to boost the Government's cause.

How in the name of common sense anybody hoped to deceive newspaper staffs with this propaganda is, we must confess, baffling to us, and the best proof of the stupidity of this wasted effort is that as far as our observation goes not a solitary newspaper in the province published a line of this ridiculous stuff.

In other words, the Government campaign organization squandered hundreds of dollars in a clumsy attempt to fool the newspapers into publishing articles so obviously twisted and distorted that a school boy would have recognised at a glance that this was doctored stuff.

The only place for that kind of propaganda was the wastepaper basket—and that is evidently where every newspaper office put it.

The member of the board of strategy who authorized anything so silly as this attempt should be made to foot the bill out of his own pocket.

BOYS' CAMP FEATURES.

The Kawartha Boys' Camp, which, thanks to the vision of the Rotary Club, affords an opportunity to hundreds of boys in this city and district to enjoy a holiday under ideal conditions, promises to be more popular than ever this summer.

It is announced that entertaining and useful features are to be included in the camp activities, and particularly will this be the case during the week of July 7 when the Boys' Work Board will hold their annual camp.

A special art class, basketry, camp craft, musical appreciation, leather craft, signalling and other interesting specialities are being listed in the program, and every moment will be of interest and benefit to the boys of the camp.

There should be an unusually large enrollment for the Boys' Work Camp during the week from July 7 to July 14, as well as during the rest of the summer when the camp will be carried on under Rotary direction with D. A. Loomis in charge.

Parents who are planning holidays for their boys should not overlook the opportunity that is offered by this splendid camp at Clear Lake, one of the most completely equipped, best organized and best conducted boys' camps to be found anywhere in the province at rates that put its facilities at the disposal of nearly everybody.

A TREMENDOUS TASK.

Undoubtedly the biggest problem before the new Government in Ontario will be the financial condition of the province, and the best means not only of pegging the provincial debt, as Mr. Hepburn has promised, but of materially cutting down the expenditure.

As the Brantford Expositor pointed out a few days before the election, some clear-cut, direct and comprehensive plan is absolutely needed to save this province from the morass for which it is headed, and the size of the collar on a glass of beer does not answer the problem, neither does the promise of cleaning out a number of office-holders to make way for others, nor does the suggestion that everything should be socialized.

There is a tremendous task ahead of Mr. Hepburn, and there is no doubt that he is well aware of that fact and is determined to tackle it with the same vigor that he demonstrated throughout his campaign.

The Examiner believes that the people of Ontario, regardless of politics, realize the desirability of co-operating with and assisting the new administration in every way possible in view of the vital necessity of this debt problem being effectively dealt with.

One form of co-operation would be to quit looking to the Government for all kinds of financial assistance, and to bring to an end the custom of sending deputations down to Queen's Park urging the expenditure of public funds on all sorts of enterprises and services.

NO GENERAL ELECTION YET.

Although it was frequently stated during the course of the provincial election campaign that the defeat of the Henry Government would speed up a federal election, The Examiner could never see the situation in that way.

Why the overthrow of the Conservative provincial administration would cause Mr. Bennett to hastily appeal to the electors in the federal arena was something that we could not possibly explain, and the Prime Minister has already made it clear that he has no immediate intention of going to the country.

It is safe to say that unless some crisis develops that is not at present in sight there will be no federal election until next year.

In the first place, the improvement in economic conditions would naturally suggest to Government strategists that a continuance of this upward trend would leave the Bennett administration in a much more favorable position twelve months hence.

Again, Mr. Bennett's marketing legislation has not yet been tested, and it is possible that a year's trial might prove this measure of such value to Canada's farmers that their attitude toward the Government would be materially altered.

And then there is the Stevens investigation, and of which legislation correcting some of the abuses that have been revealed will have to be drafted.

It will not be surprising indeed if this corrective legislation proves to be the main policy upon which Mr. Bennett will eventually appeal to the electors.

The new Government will not take over office for several weeks, it is announced. The thirsty voters who wanted beer by July 1 are in for a disappointment.

A GREAT RESPONSIBILITY.

A great responsibility rests upon Mr. Hepburn and his colleagues. He will not, we are sure, fail to realize that. It is one thing to go about the country criticizing and another to be in the seat of office and fulfil the promises made. Mr. Hepburn has himself been criticized for making generous promises and for indulging in general rather than specific charges. But the votes of the people show that they are willing to put their trust in him. Responsibility is a sobering position, as has been proven, for example, in the experiences of the Labor extremists like Snowden when elected to office in Great Britain. Mr. Hepburn, we believe, will appreciate the difference between being on the benches criticizing and being player-manager of the team. Now that the people of Ontario have endorsed him in the most convincing fashion, we ask that he be given the support of the adherents of all parties. Give him a chance to prove what he can do. It is obvious the premiership must be his because he, and he almost alone has raised the party from the dead, and in these difficult times, and when the new Government is bequeathed a load of debt, it is only sense and fairness that the critics refrain from rocking the boat and give the captain a free hand at the bridge without interference; or, to mix the metaphor, that the back-seat drivers keep quiet.

• • • •

And just what sort of premier Mr. Hepburn will make depends upon himself. It depends on his ability to handle a big and untried team and to meet extraordinary situations as they occur. He can prove his stature to those who have had their misgivings if he picks for his cabinet men of fitness for the particular job he allots them and refuses to be dictated to by unseen forces. We believe he will, no doubt, like hundreds of men before him (quoting Walter Lippmann's discussion of a current situation in Washington), grow more conservative as he faces the realities. He will make the choice which every man with ideals has to make who accepts responsibility; he has to choose between achieving particular measures now and expounding general views at large. So normal is their evolution that socialist parties who wish to preserve their true doctrine generally forbid members of their party from taking office under non-socialist governments. They have seen how the Snowdens and Briands move inexorably from left to right under the pressure of responsibility.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

BRITISH POLITICS.

A London despatch deals with opposition to Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald from partisan sources. Mr. MacDonald, as everyone knows, is a Labor man heading a National Government. Labor is against him now because it figures that he deserted the cause that raised him to political fame. On the other hand, there is a great deal of opposition to the Prime Minister from both Conservative and Liberal sources. Conservatives of the old school wonder why a Labor man should head the Government when the vast majority of the members are Conservatives. They think Mr. Baldwin or some even more conservative Conservative should have the honor.

The Prime Minister's position is not a happy one from the purely political point of view, but he seems to have no intention of stepping aside or backing away from his opponents. He has been living at No. 10 Downing street for a long time and proposes to remain as long as he can.

It is out of the question, of course, for the Prime Minister to return to Labor leadership. Even his old associate, Lord Snowden, is dead against him. Labor looks upon MacDonald as a deserter, as one who forsook the comrades of a lifetime in order to cling to the premiership where there was no other immediate way of doing it.

MacDonald, on the other hand, will contend that his action in heading the National Government was taken on purely patriotic grounds, that the administration was formed to save the country from chaos and despair.

That, of course, was the reaction of the voting public, as evidenced by the huge majority given the Ministry on November 10, 1931. And the Government has rendered good service to the country, aiding materially in the restoration of business and prosperity.

In the minds of many persons, disappearance of the National Government might result in a revolutionary change in the British political situation and there is little disposition to try the experiment. Old Country people, for the most part, have no greater love for Fascism than they possess for Communism. They are anxious to avoid both. A recent example is found in the manifesto signed by 139 Britons—representing the churches, the universities, art and science and all the political parties—in which this significant statement is made: "We, for our part, believe that power of action can be given to a democratic state, while at the same time liberty is preserved for the citizen." This manifesto is headed, "Liberty and Democratic Leadership."

The London manifesto is a direct result, of course, of the violent trend of European politics in recent years and the desire that nothing of this kind shall follow in Great Britain. British democrats recognize, as an American contemporary has pointed out, that unrest and nasty incidents in the Old Land are due to impatience with the slow-moving machinery of parliamentary government, the lack of strong leadership and swift decisions for dealing courageously with the changing social conditions of the age, and they have thus publicly proclaimed their belief in the possibility of reforming the executive of a democratic land in such a way as will combine swift, planned, rational action with methods of persuasion and the free exercise of citizen rights.

It does seem reasonable to suggest that the machinery of democracy can be speeded up—in Briain, in Canada and elsewhere—to secure more effective action than we get at present. The comparison is continually being made that private business, transacted on a public basis, could never survive. Nevertheless, speeding up or not, it is impossible to conceive that Britain would submit to government on either Fascist or Communistic lines. Britons are simply not built that way. —Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Peterborough's share of the relief works program is exactly nothing. This city deserves better treatment from a Government that it has substantially supported.

Nearly 70 supporters of Mr. Hepburn were successful on Tuesday. And practically every one of them would admit, if forced to, that he believes that he might be of public service as a member of the Cabinet.

More people used their franchise on Tuesday than at any other election in the history of the province. Even the politicians are puzzled to explain this record vote.

The Conservative representation in the House will be confined to Toronto and Eastern Ontario. That is a condition that has never been duplicated in Ontario politics.

A WORLD VIEW

A world view helps to appraise rightly national conditions. Seen by itself a nation may take too pessimistic a view of its economic World Industry state. In this Steps Up and Why and industrial article the attempt is made to set forth some of the features that are to be found in a study of the nations as an unit. A world view tugs at our thought for expression.

1933 Was a year of partial recovery for the leading capitalistic countries. All of them sensed an upward trend. The gain was costly. Any recovery at the expense of the workers is too, far too costly. The capitalist, the predatory capitalist profited. The worker was exploited. Industry is mostly in the hand of the conscienceless capitalist. In but few industrial centers do the workers get a fair deal. Profits are piled up while the worker is robbed more and more. In some industries, the worker as has been proven, has been exploited by speeding up his activity. He is driven to the point of stout refusal.

The world over the farmer has been exploited by being paid the lowest prices for the product of his labor, and for his foodstuffs, and for raw materials. The farmer is the foundation of economic and industrial prosperity. Within reach of Peterborough are many valuable farms with their comfortable homes and well built barns. Get the record of how this was achieved and you will discover that the women shared the hard work necessary. For predatory wealth to have the power to exploit such deserving citizens, calls for the constructive remaking of our industrial system.

Economially Weak Countries

The picture of recovery in 1933 grows darker as the perspective is widened. Take in the weak nations and ample shadow is at hand. During that year the weak have been exploited as never before since nations began to call themselves civilized. Labor wage was forced down to a pitiable level. Canada is counted one of the most fortunate countries industrially. Yet when even part of the truth is given the public about the wage exploitation of Canadian workers the report is a shock to self respect. In the weaker nations the wage conditions are a disgrace to our age. Not only are the wages below a living level but the prices of the products of labor are forced down. Much of the raw materials for the factories of the more favored nations come from no civilized way of resisting exploitation. Touch the food stuffs of a nation and you touch its very arteries.

By every capitalist nation a struggle is on for the control of the foreign market. There are world markets. There are markets where by coercion great profits can be gleaned. On those markets competition is vested with the intensity of the war spirit. These world markets are the danger spots of the world. War may not break out on any one of them. If co-operation does not take the place of fierce competition war will be the result. The armament race is enough dangerous. But the market race is the menace to the peace of the world. The market is the present focus spot of international discord. It ought to be the most peaceful place in the world. Business is blessed by peace and good will and cursed by competition.

Extreme Nationalism in Economic Policy

Tariffs are an expression of extreme nationalism. They are as nationalistic as are arms, and battleships, and powerful armies. Prohibitive tariffs are in operation in America, and Great Britain, and in France. Prohibitive tariffs are the order of the day in many countries. Favored nation tariff agreements are not productive of peace relationships. They heighten the nationalistic sentiments of competitive nations. They make for war as truly as do armaments.

Prohibitive tariffs bring on trade wars. That is one of the chief preventitives of recovery The world has never witnessed such trade wars as are now in progress. And this at a time of crisis. One wonders that the combined intelligence of the nations does not awaken to the peril that threatens. Surely the world has some common sense. When will it assert itself.

The currency conditions of the nations are also making for war. The currency of the nations is competitive. There is a currency market. On the world market the currencies are in competition. Men and women are gambling on this market. There is more gambling on the currency market than on the Board of Trade. Every bit of trade gambling is an obstacle in the path of recovery, and checks prosperity.

Dumping of goods by foreigners on the Canadian market is done by capitalists. It is the intensest kind of trade war. We have in our home a grass mat made in Japan and sold in Peterborough for less than one dollar. When bought we did not notice the tag, "Made in Japan."

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyst for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Muriel White,
149 Stewart St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting illustrates a nervous disposition. You are quite artistic and quite frequently desire self-expression through this art, but I am afraid that you find it difficult to 'let yourself indulge' in your artistic longings. Don't you find that thwarted ambition has made you a trifle bitter and sharp? If you do, there is a way out of the quandary, if you will learn to make use of it. That is: either to study and teach what you would like to have done yourself, or take up a special line at night-school for your own benefit during the summer months. Business of a secretarial nature might interest you in the daytime, for you seem to be the type of persons whose hands must be busy. When you love, you love deeply and sincerely, so fortunate is the man who will claim that interest. Your birthsign is Cancer the Crab. You are ruled by the Moon. February and September are your best months, and Monday your lucky day.

Miss Edna O'Neil, Freeport Sanitarium, Kitchener.

Your handwriting illustrates intelligence and progressiveness. The upper loops suggest a very good imagination of the practical type. It does not lead you up into the clouds of idealism, but yet you have ideals which are precious to you. These ideals of yours are more material than abstract, because they are the type which can either be practiced or carried out in every day life. You are gifted with excellent common sense, and do not bemoan the fact that things in general are not better than they are. If at any time you feel rather discouraged, you put your shoulder to the wheel, and try to remedy matters through sheer determination. The crossing of your 't' bars reflect wisdom and splendid will-power. The formation of some of the smaller letters, suggests that you are not averse to changing your mind when the occasion demands. Your general character is excellent. You are kind, sympathetic and just. You are honest and most trustworthy. I am sorry that your health is not of the best, but with your splendid courage, I am sure a complete cure will be effected. Thank you so much for your kind inquiries as to my own health.

Margaret Shannon, Springville, Ont.

Your handwriting portrays a gentle nature. You are kind and thoughtful. You enjoy all things which are beautiful. You have an artistic tendency which lends itself to the betterment of your life. Colors should appeal to you, especially soft toned pastel shades. Your mind is intelligent and keen. You have the ability to impart knowledge. This does not of necessity mean a school teacher, though I think you would have made a splendid teacher had you so desired. Your will-power is normal. Your determination is exceptionally well developed, but it does not make you obdurate in the least. You should be interested in music and like certain types of music better than others. There is a natural tendency to work too long and too diligently. This causes you to become mentally and physically tired. Then sleep is not at all refreshing, because your mind is not really at rest. You have a keen insight and penetration into the faults and failings of human nature, therefore, you always endeavour to think before you speak, lest you hurt the sensitive feelings of others.

A LAURA SECORD MEMORIAL

On this date, in 1901 the first of two monuments to Laura Secord, the heroine of Beaver Dams was unveiled in the cemetery at Lundy's Lane. Mrs. Secord survived her husband by 27 years. He died in 1841; she lived until Oct. 7, 1868. She was, in accordance with her wishes, laid beside his body. For many years two marble slabs marked the graves; but in the summer of 1901 a monument was erected at the grave. It is surmounted by a bronze bust which was designed by Miss Mildred Peel and is an ideal representation of Laura Secord as she appeared in 1813. The monument bears this inscription:

"To perpetuate the name and fame of Laura Secord, who (on the 23rd of June, 1813) walked alone nearly twenty miles, by a circuitous, difficult and perilous route, through woods and swamps, and over miry roads, to warn a British outpost at De Cew's Falls of an intended attack, and thereby enabled Lieut. FitzGibbon on the 24th of June, 1813 with less than 50 men of H.M. 49th Regiment, about 15 militiamen and a small force of Six Nation and other Indians under Captains William Johnson Kerr and Domonique Ducharme, to surprise and attack the enemy at Beechwoods (or Beaver Dams), and after a short engagement, to capture Colonel Boertaler, of the U.S. army, and his entire force of 542 men with two field pieces. This monument, erected by the Ontario Historical Society from contributions of schools, societies, Her Majesty's 49th Regiment, other military organigations and private individuals, was unveiled 22nd of June 1901."

The two stones that were formerly on the graves were placed in the vestibule of Trinity Church, Chippawa.

A second monument was unveiled in 1911 at the House at Queenston from which she started her historic journey, financed by private subscriptions, a government grant and moneys deceived from the sale of "The Story of Laura Secord" written by the widow of the late Hon. J. G. Currie. Children and older folk make it a point to decorate the monument at Lundy's Land on June 23. This year the day falling upon a Saturday it is anticipated that the pilgrims to this Canadian heroine's grave will be greater than usual.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 99c to $1.02; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Smashing downward 3¼c a bushel yesterday, wheat fell to more than 17c below the high point reached on June 1.

Big arrival of wheat at domestic primary centres largely owing to rapid progress of harvest operations, found the market without any adequate speculative buying support. This led to heavy liquidating sales, together with execution of many stop-loss orders. For the first time in a long while, receipts of wheat at primary terminals yesterday totalled upward of 1,000,000 bushels, and more nearly amounted to about 2,000,000.

Wheat closed staggering and at the day's lowest level, 2½c to 3¼c under Wednesday's finish; corn, 1¾c to 2¾c down. Oats 1⅝c to 1¾c off, and provisions unchanged to 15c lower.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter and cheese prices were fractionally easier while eggs and potatoes remained unchanged on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

Butter sold for 20 to 20¼c a pound for fresh No. 1, in cartons or less, down ¼c. Small lots to retailers brought 22 cents for solids and 23 cents for prints. Receipts were 1,655 boxes.

Prices on the cheese market were off ¼c. Ontario colored being quoted at 10⅝c to 10¾c a pound, while Quebecs were 10¼c a pound. Arrivals totalled 3,574 boxes.

The egg market was unchanged. Graded shipments in cartons or less from Ontario sold for 19½c to 20c a dozen for A-large, 18¼c to 19c for A-medium, 18c to 18½c for B and 17½c for C. Cartons from the West brought 21c a dozen for A-large, 20c for A-medium, 19c for B and 18c for C. Receipts totalled 578 cases.

Potatoes were firm. Quebec whites being 65c to 70c per 80-pound bag; N.B. Mountains, 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains, 95c to $1 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 22. — With Chicago prices on the skids and only a limited export and speculative demand in evidence, wheat prices displayed strength on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, even though closing on the down side. Net losses were ⅛c to ¾c.

July wheat closed at 76½c, October at 78c, and December at 79c. Selling, which had the appearance of spreading operations with the Southern market, proved too heavy for the buying power, and, after starting fractionally improved the prices dropped back and never recovered.

Foreign buying, estimated at about 400,000 to 500,000 bushels, made its appearance in the pit in the opening minutes and accounted for the short-lived advance. Pit observers claimed there was good support in the July option each time it looked like toppling, but were unable to determine the nature of the support. Pit trade was not large.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PROVINCE OF SASKATCHEWAN

The province, quite naturally, takes its name from the great river which flows across it. The word is of Indian derivation, the English translation meaning "swift current." This name is somewhat strange, as the current of the river, although it is strong, is not so great as to call for such particular note.

The earliest name applied to the river was Pascoyac or Pasquia, or even Pasquayah, but for the last 200 years it has been known as Saskatchewan, although the early authorities could not agree on the spelling. It has been spelled all the way from Quisisquatchiouen to Shaskasiwin, with Keiskatchewan, Saskatchewine, Keejeechewan and Sisiskatchewan thrown in for good measure.

When the North-West Territory was broken up into provinces it seemed only natural that the largest of the three provinces should take this name.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

DO WOMEN WANT TO BE TAKEN CARE OF?

I've been wondering about women. ....About all women, and particularly about three of them.

The first is a fine, healthy intelligent and independent woman who will not drive her own car....She earns her own living and it's a good one, too. She makes her own decisions, she lives her own life, and she owns a fine car. But she doesn't drive it. She could, if she wanted to. I can imagine her getting into an automobile and going down the highway 70 miles an hour. But instead of that, she's dependent on some man to drive it. Whenever I see her in it, there's always her brother or her husband or her son at the wheel....And I wonder why she doesn't drive that car. Some day I'll ask her.

The second woman is a successful professional woman. She drives her own car and does it well. Nobody tells her how to do things. She tells herself and does them. Somebody asked her the other day why she did not marry and she said she'd looked over all the men she knew and she realized that if she married any of them she'd probably have to take care of them. And she doesn't want to. SHE wants to be taken care of....She's earned her own living for many years, and now she'd like to have somebody else do it for her.

I don't exactly know the third woman, but I know about her. She's a greatly successful writer. A sturdy thinker. A feminist, an articulate defender of women's rights and independence....She was in our town a few years ago and she suddenly turned to a woman acquaintance at a luncheon given in her honor and said she was tired of earning her living. She wanted to marry and be taken care of....She went back home and she did marry and now she doesn't write as much as she did.

I rambled about this to a friend and asked him what he thought.... He said, "It isn't mysterious at all. It's merely biological. Women are the sex that in a material way and at a certain time in their lives, if they become mothers, must be taken care of by men. All of those women you mention are merely responding to that urge. Doesn't that explain it?"

I suppose it does....But is it also the feminine in men that makes some of them all the time, and all of them some of the time, wish to be "mothered" and "petted"? Let some woman answer that.

INDUSTRIALS DIP FURTHER

Nickel and Walkers Both Follow Lower New York Trend.

C.P.R. OFF ¾ POINT.

TORONTO, June 22 (C.P) — Industrial shares dipped further late to-day on the Toronto Exchange, after poking along sluggishly in the early part of the sessions. New York influence was depressing and International Nickel worked down to 25.10, off 70 cents, while Walkers Common dropped 1½ to 35½. Losses were general though offerings were light on the decline.

The sell-down was apparently due entirely to an afternoon exhibition of weakness on the New York Board. C.P.R. lost 7¾, Brazilian ¼, Ford "A ⅛, and Consolidated Smelters more than a point. Walkers Common dropped to 35, but recovered a little of the gain, while Distillers-Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol each lost about ¼ point.

CONFUSION

HAMILTON—Premier-elect Mitchell Hepburn's announcement that he would abolish second year normal school requirements for teachers today caused confusion here.

Twenty-one teachers from local public schools already have been released, effective June 30, and other teachers engaged in their places. If the ruling is abolished, the 21 teachers will not have to take the extra year at Normal School.

LISTLESS TREND IS MAINTAINED

Prices Move Irregularly Lower on Wall Street.

WEATHER INFLUENCES.

(By Victor Eubank, Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Hot weather apathy, in addition to other soporific influences, kept the stock market in somewhat of a comatose condition to-day and prices were irregularly lower during the greater part of the session.

There were intermitten dips and rallies, but few of these flurries rippled the dull trading surface. The silver issues were hesitant in contrast to their strength of yesterday. There were scattered firm as well as soft spots in evidence. Prime investment bonds were slightly higher. Shares of Allied Chemical and Howe Sound got up about a point each and improvement was shown by Bethlehem Steel, Great Western Sugar and McIntyre Porcupine. Some of the motors turned heavy, Hudson dropping around 2 points to a new low for the year. The Hudson relapse was attributed to the liquidation of a tired long account.

Most Canadian shares were slightly lower, including International Nickel and Dome Mines, both of which yielded around ½ point. Hiram Walker and Lake Shore Mines were inactive on the curb and showed no change from the previous day. Canadian bonds were steady.

JUNIOR GOLDS MOVE HIGHER

Early Losses Wiped Out as Market Forges Ahead.

SILVERS BETTER.

TORONTO, June 22 (CP)—An almost expiring morning market on the Mining Board of the Toronto Stock Exchange, stirred into action this afternoon, and scattered but narrow losses were replaced by gains of considerable proportions in the secondary golds, silvers and base metals. While the high-priced golds turned over in better volume, prices were inclined to hold unchanged.

Dome, Lake Shore, Hollinger and Bralorne finished the day on the down side, and McIntyre, Teck and Pioneer closed a little higher Trading was heavy in San Antonio, Little Long Lac, Macassa, Siscoe, Read Authrier and Gods Lake, and most of these were up at the close.

Oxford Group Team Visits Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, June 22.—(Examiner Correspondence). — An Oxford Group took charge of the evening service in the Lakefield United Church on Sunday evening and introduced this much talked of movement into Lakefield. Their service was heartily enjoyed and appreciated.

Junior Institute.

The Junior Institute met on Wednesday afternoon in the bandstand with an attendance of eleven members and the president, Miss Eva Higgins, in the chair. The roll was answered by giving your name in full. A prize of $3 to the high girl of the county judging competition and $2 to the second, also $2 was voted toward glasses for Percy Edwards. The next meeting will take the form of a picnic held in the Lakefield park with a pot-luck supper and each member to bring a friend. On Thursday, June 21, a party will be given at the home of Miss Muriel Bullock. Misses Marjorie Frankish and Pearl Mullen gave the report of the district annual. The roll call at the picnic will be answered with an Irish joke.

St. Andrew's Church.

Mr. Max Warne, of Peterborough, gave St. Andrew's congregation a great treat on Sunday evening when he played a violin solo at the evening service and accompanied the hymns. Mr. Warne is a real musician and his performance excelled anything of the kind heard in the village for a long time.

HANDWRITING ON WALL

LONDON, June 22 (CP Cable).—The Spectator, leading weekly review, expressed the opinion to-day the sweeping victory of Liberals in the Ontario and Saskatchewan elections this week forecast the "inevitable substitution of a Liberal for a Conservative Government in next year's Federal elections."

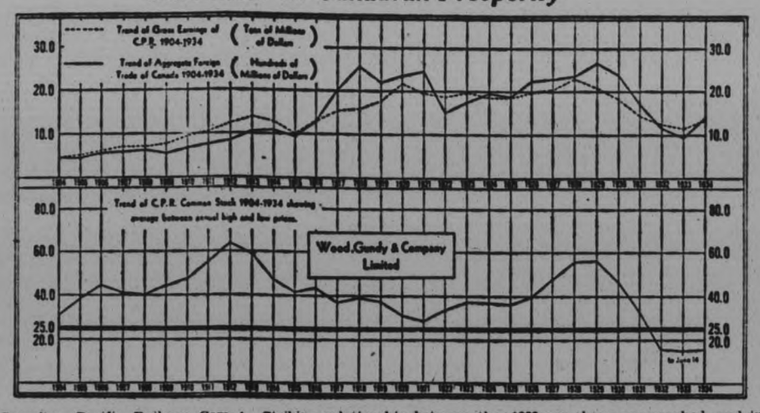
The appearance of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King as Canada's chief negotiator when the Ottawa agreements are reviewed "may make a substantial difference to the whole Empire," The Spectator continued.

LATEST BEER COUNT

REGINA, June 22 (CP)—Results of the beer plebiscite continued to trickle in from far flung constituencies and late to-day tabulation from 1915 out of 3,035 polls showed:

For beer	125,869
Against	110,699
Majority for beer	15,170

Barometer Of Canadian Prosperity



Canadian Pacific Railway Company development has paralleled Canadian trade and commerce during the past thirty years, as graphically illustrated in the above chart prepared by Wood, Gundy and Company. C.P.R. is known throughout the world as a barometer of Canadian prosperity, and this is exemplified in the above chart.

In the upper chart the scale is on the basis of tens of millions of dollars. The 1934 figure is estimated on the basis of the percentage increase of the first four months of 1934 over the similar period of 1933.

Striking relationship between the advancement of the C.P.R. and the development of the trade of Canada, is indicated by the fluctuations in C.P.R. gross earnings, and the aggregate volume of export and import trade of Canada, charted on the basis of hundreds of millions of dollars.

In the lower chart, Canadian Pacific Railway Company Common stock price trend from 1904-1934 is shown, giving the average between annual high and low prices. Late in 1930 this stock was split four for one. Prices charted prior to this date are at one-quarter of value for the purpose of uniformity throughout the period. In 1912 the high of $283 per share was reached, and in 1929 a price of $265 per share was recorded (these prices being $70.75 and $66.25 per share respectively on the four-for-one basis).

A line is drawn throughout the period, marking the $25 price level, which indicates that in more than twenty-eight years of the period since 1904 the C.P.R. Common Stock sold above $25 per share. The recent issue of Canadian Pacific Railway Company Convertible Non-callable Bonds bears an interesting conversion feature in which each $100 principal amount of bonds may be converted into four shares of $25 par value Common Stock until 1941.

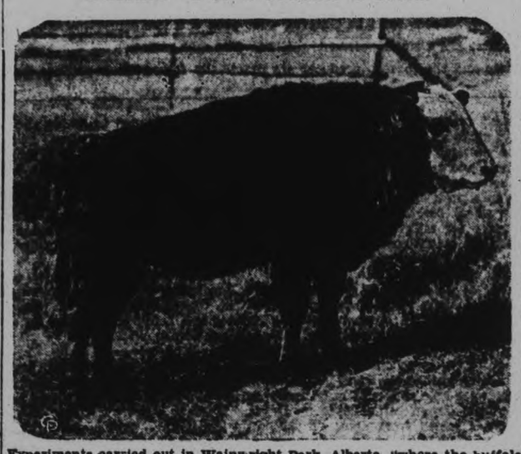
"Cattalo" For Frontier Farms



Experiments carried out in Wainwright Park, Alberta, "where the buffalo roam," have been successful in producing the domestic animal shown above. It is called a cattalo and is a cross-breed of cattle and buffalo, through the medium of the imported yak. The new animal is designed for use in climates where a hardy species of cattle is required to stand the rigors of a long winter.

NEW SPECIES OF CATTLE BRED FOR FRONTIER FARMS IN NORTH

Experiments in Wainwright Cross Cattle, Yak and the Buffalo.

CALLED "CATTALO."

By Central Press Canadian

OTTAWA, June 22. — Thirty strange animals roam on the pasture near Wainwright, Alberta. Neither domestic cattle nor buffalo, the new cattle are a mixture of these two animal species. Their name combines that of the original types. The cattalo has been developed after many years of experimenting by the scientists of the Canadian government.

The cattalo, which resembles both the buffalo and cattle ancestors, was developed to provide a sturdy type of cattle for farmers opening up the northern agricultural districts of the Canadian west. Ordinary cattle could not stand the cold, nor find their own forage in winter. Buffalo, on the other hand, can live even in the Northwest Territories and forage in winter. The cross-breeding of the two species was started a few years ago.

Difficulties were encountered, and it was necessary to find an intermediary animal, as the resultant animal from buffalo and cattle often died at birth. In distant Siberia was located the yak. Cross-breeding between domestic cattle and yak, and the hybrid from this union with the buffalo, has been successful, and to-day the cattalo is thriving on the western plains.

The cattalo has a hide which is similar to the buffalo, heavy, thick hair and durable, making a warm cover. Those who have had a chance to try cattalo meat say that it has all the qualities of beef cattle. The cattalo carries a greater percentage of flesh on its back, just as the buffalo does.

When enough of the animals have been produced at the experimental station near Wainwright, the new type of cattle will be sent to various farms in the northern fringes of the western provinces where the cattalo will play the same role on these northern farms that cattle play on all the farms of the continent, supplying milk and meat.

Liberal Forces Planning Protest

According to reports received by The Examiner, Liberal forces are gathering information relating to irregularities in the conduct of the election, for the purpose of lauching a protest much of the material on file, upon which the Liberals are relying concerns the operations of James Baskin, foreman of Camp Number Two, as well as the conduct of certain parties in securing votes at several of the other camps.

A LIBERAL CHALLENGE.

OTTAWA, June 22 (C.P.). — The Liberal caucus, it is learned in the Parliament Buildings, yesterday decided to challenge the Government to dissolve Parliament. The move will be made on the first motion to go into supply which possibly will not come until Monday. On Wednesday when the question was raised in the House by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Premier R. B. Bennett replied that the Government would advise the Governor-General to dissolve the House when it decided such a step to be in the best interests of Canada.

ENGLISH SOLVE AUSSIES' STYLE

Mastering Invaders' Bowling, England Scores 293 Runs for Five Wickets.

WALTERS FEATURES.

LONDON, Eng., June 22. (C.P. Cable).—Mastering the Australian bowling, England compiled 293 runs for loss of only five wickets at the close of play this evening in the start of the season's second test match.

Thirty thousand were in the stands at Lords as the match got under way with England determined to even things up for the dramatic Australian victory in the first test.

A fine sixth-wicket partnership by Maurice Leyland and Leslie Ames was the prime factor in England's encouraging scoring. The pair brought the total from 182 runs to 293 and were unbeaten at the close. Earlier C. F. Walters helped materially with a brilliant innings of 82.

C. F. Walters, who scored 82 before losing his wicket, led the English defence.

Young E. A. Chipperfield, who got on the Aussie team virtually at the last minute, once again proved a dazzling new star in the cricket world. He collared three of the English wickets to-day, getting two of them — the veterans Herbert Sutcliffe and Walter Hammond—for only three runs.

The truck pursued for a few blocks but was soon left behind. The accountant returned to the bank shortly after the occurrence and drew another sum equal to that taken in order that the employees might not be kept waiting.

To-day's hold-up recalls a similar occurrence two decades ago when the late John Cauley, cashier of Tuckett's, was held up in the same neighborhood, and the payroll taken. Violence was used on that occasion, the employee being injured so badly he never fully recovered. The robbers were apprehended later and sentenced to long terms in Kingston.

The robbers to-day were all masked.

Startling Evidence U.S. War Industries

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP). An inquiry into the United States war materials industry has uncovered evidence which a Senator calls "shocking."

Senator James Pope, (D., Ida), said yesterday that investigators mittee had already uncovered for the senate munitions com- "startling revelations" although they began the investigation only recently.

The information was carefully guarded pending public hearings in September. Pope said that to disclose it prematurely would destroy its "strategic value" and lead to "subversive propaganda" by firms involved.

It "will shock the nation" when disclosed, he added. The inquiry, he indicated, will uncover a large "ring" interested in the propogation of wars.

EXILED AUSTRIAN NAZI INJURED IN PLANE CRASH

FRANKFORT -ON- THE- MAIN, Germany, June 22 (C.P.) — Eduard Frauelfeld, the exiled leader of the Vienna section of the Austrian Nazi party was slightly injured to-day in the crash of a Luft Hansa airliner to-day in which the pilot was killed.

Claim Miss Tufverson Spotted In Boston

BOSTON, June 22 (A.P.).—The Boston American says it has unearthed a clue indicating that Miss Agnes Tufverson, missing New York lawyer, was alive and in Boston as late as this month.

The American says Mrs. Ruth F. Hall, 26, of Melrose, employed in a Boston cleansing establishment, identified a photograph of Mrs. Tufverson published in a recent edition of the American as that of a woman who had visited her place of employment twice. The first visit, the American said, was made on May 15 and the second, between June 1 and 10.

On both occasions, the American quoted their informant as saying, that the woman left a dress to be cleaned.

Board Retains Power to Discipline "Chiselers"

NEW MACHINERY BEEN DESIGNED TO ELIMINATE NON-COOPERATOR

Give Producer a Fair Share of Consumers' Dollars—License All.

FOLLOWING BRITAIN

Central Press Canadian Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1934)

OTTAWA, June 22. — The new Canadian marketing machinery is aimed at two achievements:

1. The elimination of the "non-co-operator" who refuses to associate himself with fellow-growers, and prevents them from maintaining prices, by under-selling which breaks the market.

2. Getting thereby for the producer a "larger share of the consumers' dollar."

How will it work? Based on experience in other countries, notably Great Britain, with a similar legislation, and on the avowed intention of the government, as expressed in the House of Commons, the following is a concrete illustration of what the Marketing Bill is expected to accomplish.

Let's take the city of Ottawa and the milk problem. Within a radius of 25 to 50 miles there are hundreds of dairy farmers producing the milk which the city drinks. Some of them are associated in co-operative associations. Some are independents. There are large dairy companies and small distributors, and also peddlers who sell the milk they have themselves produced.

Make Small Profit

In common with dairy farmers all over Cnada these people have complained that they have had to sell their milk at ruinous prices. Fluid milk has been as low as $1.25 a hundred pounds. Pay the freight or the other delivery costs on that, and the farmer nets about two cents a quart. Even lower figures are quoted for "surplus" milk. According to expert figures on the subject, submitted to the milk committee a year ago, it costs the farmer at least three cents a quart to produce, and he should get perhaps four to five him a fair break.

Meantime the consumer in the city pays nine and ten cents a quart for the milk.

Why doesn't the milk farmer in the neighborhood of Ottawa insist on getting three and a half or four cents for each quart of milk? Why not get together, organize, strike a fair cost price plus reasonable profit of say $1.60 per hundred pounds, and insist on getting it,—refuse to sell a quart unless that price was met?

Could Not Organize

Just a pipe dream, up to now. The farmers who held out for $1.60 would just be left with their milk on their hands. Not only would a minority refuse to enter the scheme, but the big dairies and distributors would be able to get milk cheap down on the line toward Montreal, or up toward Pembroke, and leave the $1.60 farmers "holding the bag."

So what? Along comes the new marketing act. A Dominion marketing board is set up. The farmers of the Ottawa Valley seek to set up a marketing scheme in connection with milk. They hold meetings, organize. They petition the minister. They hold a vote. Seventy-five per cent of the Ottawa milk producers want to join, let us say. The other 25 per cent are either indifferent or hostile. In the past, even 10 per cent could break any arrangement.

Some to Be Exported

The minister receives the petition. He is satisfied that a large majority of milk producers arcund Ottawa want such a board. He refers the proposed scheme to the Dominion marketing board. If the board says: "Go ahead" the minister can either act at once, or, if a poll has not already been taken, he can stage another.

He has, also, to be satisfied that a portion of the product produced may be exported, and, since surplus milk is made into milk powder and sold abroad, as well as butter and cheese, it would, presumably, qualify on this point. If not, the scheme can still be set up under the provincial enabling legislation.

The producers work out their own scheme, outlining for the minister's benefit the proposed geographical limits, the number of persons on the local board, and many other particulars.

The milk marketing scheme of Ottawa and district, is set up and begins to operate, let us say. Then what happens?

Every producer seeking to deliver milk into the city of Ottawa may be required to register, and obtain a license. The local board thus has 100 per cent regulation over the supply of milk. Outsiders, or "chiselers" seeking to break the price and make an independent deal with the dairies could be disciplined. The leaders of the Ottawa milk scheme, the local board, would then be in a position to insist on a "living wage" for their dairy farmers: a price for milk not inconsistent with the actual cost of production.

Might Reduce Production

Of ocurse, there are many varieties of schemes. A cheese-marketing scheme would have to take into account the large exports. As in the Patterson scheme for butter in Australia, the producers might have to reconcile themselves to selling abroad for much less than they were able to secure in Canada, the loss abroad being made up by bonuses raised from domestic sale. Some schemes might be Dominion-wide, others concerned with a small corner of Canada. Some schemes would deal only with the export portion of the product, and would be mainly concerned in seeing that excellent quality only was sold abroad. If over-supplies of any regulated product threatened, at any time, the marketing board might have to supervise the withholding from the market of some portion of the heavy crop, compensating the producer for holding off the market.

But such, sketchily is the idea of the marketing scheme as operating in the United Kingdom and elsewhere, and being copied here in a general way.

What its advocates claim, and how it will operate has been shown in the two articles in this series, of the Marketing Act. In the third and concluding article the critics will have their say. Weaknesses, harmful results, and other faults, if any, will be pointed out by these critics in to-morrow's concluding article.

WILL MARKETING ACT RESULT IN FASCISM?

Will the Natural Products Marketing Act, which is to become law next month, lead Canada to Fascism? Or will it be the salvation of the farmer?

No legislation in years in Canada has evoked so much controversy. In two articles, the pro views have been expressed. In the third article to-morrow, the critics will have their say—and the reader can judge himself after the whole picture has been fairly put before him. Be sure to watch for the third article in this series.

Will New Act Protect Milk, Tobacco Industries?

Pretty pictures, these. They depict the romance one so often reads about farm life. The top picture shows a rural scene from a small dairy farm. The lower, a tobacco farm in Ontario. But back of these pictures lies a tragic economic picture. The milk producer and the tobacco producer are practically forced to take what they can get for their produce—if evidence brought out in various government probes is to be believed. It is conditions like this that advocates of the Natural Products Marketing Act claims will be remedied when the Act is made law next month. These producers are to be assured of a fair price for their produce, providing the law can be enforced.

unseconded was lost sight of and Reeve Richard Tedford was the first to rise to press his claims on behalf of Dummer Township. His motion was seconded by Reeve Wood and carried at the vote.

In separate sequente the claims of Asphodel, North Monaghan, Ennismore, Smith, Belmont and Douro Townships were acceded to by the council. All were dealt with under separate motions, and in each instance had the full support of the council with exception of the Otonabee representatives, and also the representatives of the Northern Townships who do not vote on matters concerning county roads.

Expresses Disapproval

Reeve Anderson again expressing his strong disapproval of the action of the council stressed that his opposition was solely on the grounds that it was not the right time for the county to assume further mileage on the county roads system. He reviewed past events showing the lead that had originally been given by Otonabee Township in support of the good roads movement, and spoke also of the events that had led up to the reduction in the county road system.

"We see this condition that if we take on any more milage in the county it will inevitably result in increased road rates before very long", he urged.

As it was apparent that the measures were going through, Reeve Anderson said, that in justice to his own township he was forced to make similar claims on behalf of the people he represented. He would modify his original request that eleven miles be assumed by the county with the obvious purask that the county take over an 8-mile section on the Wallace Point road.

"The Wrong Time"

Reeve Robert Tedford of Norwood, who was with the Warden and the Otonabee representatives in disapproving of the county's action in the matter, felt that Reeve Anderson's claim was just enough in view of what had transpired, yet he said, "I feel the county has chosen the wrong time to take over so much additional mileage."

In stating that "Anderson and the other gentleman from Otonabee have tried to block the whole scheme," Reeve Wood remarked, "I for one will not support the Otonabee motion."

The Warden put the motion to the vote. Reeves Robert Tedford and Mann and Leahy were the only three who supported it. Stating the reason that he and his deputy had not voted, Reeve Anderson said he was merely trying to be consistent. He was opposed to the whole scheme, he said, because he felt the time was inopportune.

Should Support Anderson

Reeve Mann urged that the entire council should support Reeve Anderson's motion. It evoked the report from Reeve Wood, "We were on a certain piece of business and Anderson and his deputy attempted to block it."

The North Monaghan representative had barely finished explaining why he refused to support the motion when Reeve Anderson registering obvious displeasure withdrew from the council chamber.

"Still that doesn't make me mad," Reeve Wood remarked as the Otonabee reeve left the chamber.

Pouring oil on the troubled waters, Reeve Robert Tedford said, "I give a man credit that takes a definite stand and then sticks to it. I felt that it was not a good time to take over more roads into the county system, merely to saddle the county with additional expense. I still think so, but now that you have done so Otonabee is entitled to equal rights."

"Do you not realize that Anderson asked for more than anyone else in this county," Reeve Wood questioned.

Deputy Reeve Davidson — "He could not have asked for less than eight miles, otherwise he would have asked you to assume some road that lead to nowhere."

Anderson Resumes Seat

Returning to the council chamber, Reeve Anderson occupied a seat on the public benches, while the Warden again put the motion to the vote. Reeves Robert Tedford, Steenburgh, Mann, Leahy and Deputy Davidson rose to support the motion. Reeve Anderson requested to rise to cast the vote that would swing the motion in Otonabee's favor, remarked, "I cannot vote from here."

Resuming his own seat in the council, he still declined to vote stating that he wished to be as consistent as he possibly could under the circumstances, whereupon the Warden cast the deciding vote by which the county assumes the Wallace Point road.

Apart from the additional mileage which the county has just assumed, it was pointed out by County Engineer A. E. Chalmers that the combined county and suburban area road mileage was 132.8 miles.

Additional mileage assumed in the county roads system as a result of yesterday afternoons session, was roughly described by reeves of the various townships, as follows:

Douro: 4 miles from Maple Leaf cheese factory to connect up with Indian River road.

Belmont: 6 miles into Cordova Mines.

North Monaghan: ½ mile on Lock street from McKellar to Park streets.

Ennismore: 3 miles from Chemong bridge west to Victoria County boundary.

Dummer: 2 miles from second line corner south to connect with Highway 7.

Asphodel: 2 miles on a section of the road from Dummer.

Smith: 5 miles on the Centre Line north from Lakefield road.

Otonabee: 8 miles on Wallace Point road.

The question of the Highways Department refusal to pay grants amounting to approximately $400 for work authorized by reeves on county bridges was again under discussion.

Mr. Chalmers was not prepared to say what the attitude of the Department might be in the future. It was merely a matter of complying with the Act.

Reeve Anderson moved and Reeve A. B. Burrows seconded, "that the Department be asked to reconsider their allocation of grants for bridge expenditures made by the county last year." The motion carried.

He added that he was satisfied that no member of the council had any intention of going contrary to the Act.

FARMERS URGED TO GET UNITED

is a matter of legislation," he said. Such legislation might be called socialism, but no matter what term is applied to it every government is bringing it into effect. "These are the things," he urged "that farmers must take cognizance of."

He traced the history of the U.F.O. and explained that its membership had dwindled because farmers had become disillusioned. However, there was no purpose to be served by farmers sitting back in discouragement at conditions.

"There is no one going to bring the farmers out of the depression except the farmers." Mr. Amos stated. "Citizens in the city have been pointing out that conditions will not become right until the purchasing power of the farmer has returned, but have they done anything to give the farmer that purchasing power. No, because it is not their business to do so, it is the farmers business and the farmers must work out their own salvation."

Farmers he maintained were as intelligent as any other class, and they should realize that they must accept the responsibility of saving themselves. "I urge you to join some organization that is free to go before the government and get the needed legislation that is required to aid agriculture," he continued. "That was the purpose for which the U.F.O. was formed."

Others Organized

Other classes had organized "more than you dream of," he said, and no competition existed internally between members. Farmers also should organize and so gain some control of the trend of the markets. Referring to the new Marketing Bill, he said, "The whole reason for the Marketing Bill is that marketing has been found to be in such a chaotic state that somebody has to step in to protect the farmers' interests."

"I hope we are not going to be satisfied to accept things as we find. We must realize civilization is progressing and things that were good enough for our farmers are not practicable now. Whether civilization has improved or not it has been moving on."

In conclusion he urged, "If you find any movement that will assist you to organize your forces that is the movement that you should support."

During the sport program, the Rifle Ranges' girls softball team defeated the Central Smith girls' team by 21-20; while Douro defeated Central Smith in a men's game. Prizes were donated by the Pratten Hardware store.

ONE MOMENT'S NEGLIGENCE BRINGS LIFELONG REGRET!

SCARRED for life! Perhaps blinded! How memory must haunt some guilty driver's mind! And the records show that there were thousands of guilty drivers in Ontario last year.

This message is not for the habitually reckless, callous motorist. His license can be cancelled—and will be! This appeal is to the usually thoughtful driver who takes a chance only now and then. Death and injury to 8,280 men, women and children on Ontario highways in one year clearly indicate that now and then is too often!

This tide of needless bereavement and suffering must be turned! You, the decent, law-abiding, self-respecting citizen can help.

Will you not do your share? Will you not drive carefully, safely . . . always?*

VICTORIA PARK TREES PLANTED BY ASHBURNHAM REEVE IN 1867 A GIFT FROM COUNTY COUNCIL

Reeve A. C. Dunlop Supervised Adornment of County Grounds Now Park.

SESSIONS 67 YEARS AGO

Council Invited to Opening of Railway Into Belmont.

While the county council is engaged this week in striking the tax rate it may be of interest to them and other taxpayers of the townships to glance back over the affairs and personnel of the council of sixty-seven years ago.

The Dominion of Canada was entering upon Confederation in that year of 1857, and all the constitutional and commercial structure which we take for granted today was yet to be erected in this country.

In that year the three villages, Lakefield, Norwood and Havelock, had not emerged in corporate form, and were presumably still township hamlets.

The Warden of the county in 1867 was P. M. Grover, reeve of Asphodel, residing at Norwood, and T. Coughlin of Hastings village was the deputy-reeve. Peter Pearce of Havelock was Reeve of Belmont and Methuen. Other municipalities were represented as follows: Otonabee by Reeve William Lang of Allandale Mills (Lang) and James Miller, deputy, Keene; Ennismore by Reeve Daniel Whelan; Smith by Reeve John Walton and Deputy Isaac Garbutt; Ashburnham by Reeve A. C. Dunlop; Dummer, Reeve T. G. Choate; Galway, Reeve Thos. Probert; Harvey, Reeve W. A. Scott; North Monaghan, Reeve George Young; Douro, Reeve George Clarke.

Most of Haliburton county was included in the jurisdiction of Peterborough at that time with the following representation: Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther of Peterborough county with Cardiff, Monmouth, Harcourt and Bruton townships, Reeve John Carroll, Apsley; Dysart, Guilford, Dudley and Harburn, Reeve John Lucas of Haliburton; Snowden and Glamorgan, Reeve Francis Peck, Minden; Stanhope, Reeve James Melville, Minden.

The membership of the council was nineteen, only one more than today. The county treasurer was Walter Sheridan, the clerk was Edgcombe Pearse, county engineer George A. Stewart of Peterborough, jail surgeon Dr. A. McNabb, auditors J. J. Hall and Dr. T. W. Poole.

House of Refuge Proposed.

The procedure of Warden Grover's council has a familiar ring. The committees were much the same in their designation and purpose. Business at the January session in 1867 included a special committee's report on the expediency and cost of building a bridge across Chemong Lake, and a proposal for re-survey of Harvey township.

A motion by Mr. Walton and Mr. Garbutt referred to the Property Committee the necessity of building a House of Refuge as required by "Statutes of the last Parliament of Canada."

Those were the days of horse-stealing, more or less the counterpoint of today's thefts of automobiles. A by-law provided for rewards for the conviction of any person for stealing any horse or mare in the county. The sum of $400 was appropriated to be spent on the road south of Burleigh bridge to Hoyet's corner "with a view of affording relief to the young and thriving settlement north of that point" and as an aid to prospective settlers.

A motion relating indirectly to Confederation was passed in June appointing a committee to have a flagstaff erected at the county building "if for no other purpose than to show our nationality especially when we take into consideration our present position commencing a new era in our arrangements."

Road Building

On June 20, 1867, the council authorized sale of debentures for the construction and gravelling of various main roads including the Chemong Road, 4th line of Smith, now part of the Peterborough-Lindsay boundary, Warsaw road, Keene road, the Norwood-Hastings and the Norwood-Havelock road easterly to the boundary, the "block road" from Peterborough to Norwood.

Purchase of two hundred copies of Dr. Poole's local history "A Sketch of the Early Settlement and Subsequent Progress of the Town and County" was approved.

Two hundred dollars was granted to the Peterborough regimental band.

A Long Session

The June sessions were opened in 1867 on June 18 and concluded on the 26th.

The council accepted the invitation of the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company to attend the opening of the branch line from the Narrows (at Trent Bridge) to the ore bed in Belmont.

The Monaghan Gravel Road Company proposed that the county buy the gravel road now part of the Peterborough-Port Hope highway.

Minor business included repairs to the bridge across the Big Shute at Burleigh, and replanking the bridge across the Gull River at Minden.

Hastings village seems to have been part of Asphodel township, for the county council discussed repairs to the bridge over the Trent requesting aid from Northumberland and Durham and the building of a lock-up in the village.

A by-law was read empowering the council to raise $10,000 to assist the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company to build a railway from Harwood to Ashburnham.

Presumably the railway had already been constructed for the council also proposed to raise $10,000 to help the same company build a railway from Ashburnham to Chemong Lake. It was later built across the river and past the Normal School site through Smith. Its roadbed can be traced today extending from the city into the township.

In the October sessions the council decided to refer both by-laws to the ratepayers at the January elections.

Victoria Park Trees.

The council passed a vote of thanks to Reeve A. C. Dunlop of Ashburnham "for the good taste he had shown in the adornment of the Court House grounds with trees, and for his good management in procuring a suitable flag and staff, and for the economical manner in which these works have been carried out."

A special committee was appointed to enquire into the report that a certain prisoner was allowed to go beyond the precincts of the jail.

The council of 1867 wound up its duties in the week of January 14 and recorded its thanks to Warden Grover for the able, dignified and courteous manner in which he has presided during the year.

Saskatchewan Beer Vote Is Undecided

REGINA, June 22. (CP).—Two-fifths of Saskatchewan's vote on the beer plebiscite, which seeks an opinion of the people on the sale of the beverage by the glass in licensed premises, was unreported early to-day.

There was a majority of $13,389 in favor of a change in the provinces' liquor system, but few new returns had been received overnight.

The vote early to-day was:

"Yes" 112,779
"No" 99,390

Many deputy returning officers sealed ballot boxes without making a count of the beer ballots and until these are reported, when the provincial returning officer makes his official count next Tuesday.

DOMINION MUM ON BRUCE CASE

Explain Office and Duties of Lieutenant-Governors Laid Down by B.N.A. Act.

PAID BY OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, June 22.—(C.P.)High officials of the Dominion Government would not comment last night on the proposal of Mitchell Hepburn, Premier-elect of Ontario, that Lieut.-Governor H. A. Bruce should resign. It was explained that the office and duties of Provincial Lieutenant-Governors were laid down in the British North America Act and that they were appointed by the Dominion Government.

Section 58 of the B.N.A. states that "for each province there shall be an officer, styled the Lieutenant-Governor, appointed by the Governor-General in Council by instrument under the Great Seal of Canada." A further section states that—"the salaries of Lieutenant-Governors shall be fixed and provided by the Parliament of Canada."

Under constitutional procedure Mr. Hepburn, as leader of the successful party in last Tuesday's election, will be summoned by Lieut.-Gov. Bruce when Premier Henry resigns, and asked to form a government. He will be sworn in by the Lieutenant-Governor and the Legislature, when summoned, will be opened by the Lieutenant-Governor.

With respect to administrators, Section 67 of the B.N.A. states as follows: "The Governor-in-Council may, from time to time, appoint an administrator to execute the office and functions of Lieutenant-Governor during his absence, illness or other inability."

GROUP HANDLED 200 RELIEF CASES

United Workers' Organization Holds Farewell Party in Moose Hall.

Two hundred relief cases have been handled successfully by the United Workers' organization since its work began in March last year, Charles Holland, chairman, reported at a meeting in the Moose Hall last night. He spoke for a few minutes during a farewell party which brought to a conclusion the club's activities for the summer.

The relief cases have been of many different natures, he said. Sometimes the trouble consisted of a dispute between the recipient of relief and the Relief Board, sometimes it was a complaint that relief had been unjustly reduced or cut off and other times it was a refusal to accept relief work which was involved. A settlement satisfactory to both the Relief Board and the recipient of relief was reached in each instance, he reported.

Continuing, he said that in 109 cases of threatened eviction taken up by the organization their efforts to mediate failed only twice. In most cases satisfactory settlements were effected by means of arbitration between the tenant and landlord. During the year, in about fifty cases where sufficiently prompt action could not be secured from the Relief Board, required assistance was secured through The Examiner, he reported.

Changed Name

Mr. Holland remarked that the organization has changed its name several times since it was established. At first it was known as the United Workers' Fraternity and had quarters on George street. After removal to its present Hunter street quarters and several reorganizations, it is now known as the United Workers' Club he said. He and his followers withdrew from the organization known as the Workers' Protective Association as it existed two months ago because "too many Reds had got in" he declared.

Almost two hundred persons enjoyed the farewell party which took the form of a dance with the five-piece orchestra of Jim Black in attendance. Jim Black, who with Charles Holland and Thomas Bellis is on the executive of the club, gave his services free. Proceeds will be used to pay back rent for their hall and to meet current expenses. Ten dancing prizes were given away during the evening.

FULFORD MAJORITY

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 22.—(CP).— Announcement was made to-day by J. S. Webster, returning officer for Leeds riding, that the official majority of George T. Fulford, successful Liberal candidate in the riding over Dr. H. A. Clark, Conservative candidate was 1242.

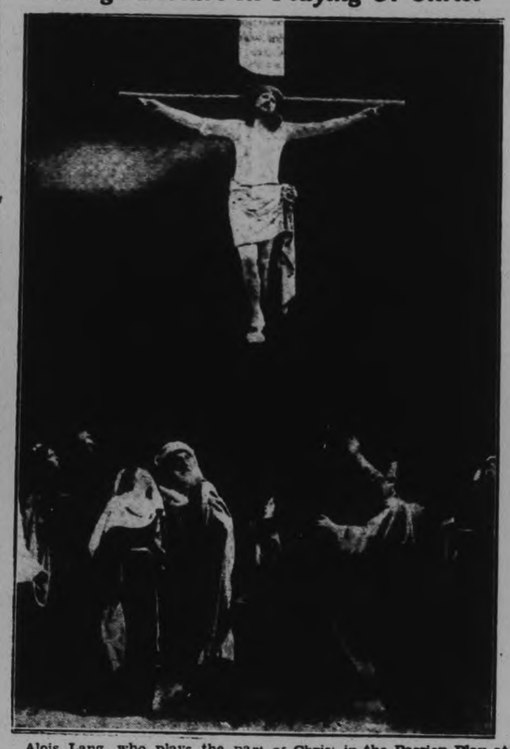
Undergo Torture In Playing Of Christ



Alois Lang, who plays the part of Christ in the Passion Play at Oberammergau, undergoes severe physical torture during the crucifixion. When they finally take him down from the cross, he is only half conscious. The cross he has to bear weighs about 200 pounds. The crucifixion scene is shown here.

SUFFERS AGONY PORTRAYING CHRISTUS IN PASSION PLAY

which seem to surpass human endurance.

Has Difficult Part

Let us take Alois Lang for instance. Alois Lang represents Christ in the play. His role is one of the most difficult that can be imagined. As soon as he is elected by the inhabitants of Oberammergau to fill the role of Christ, he begins to train. The training consists in carrying the cross. The cross weighs 100 kilograms, an almost incredible load. He walks a certain distance with it every day, gradually increasing the length of the way.

But the most painful trial is the crucifixion, for the illusion of the spectator must be complete. For twenty minutes, the duration of the crucifixion scene in the play, the artist must cling to the cross by means of a thin strap around the wrists. When he is stricken down his arms and his legs are completely paralyzed. It happens quite frequently that he faints. To-day Alois Lang was only half conscious when he was taken from the cross.

The performance, which was a general rehearsal was played in a glacial downpour of rain. Herr Lang went through the pouring rain bearing the heavy cross and later remained suspended for a full quarter of an hour, half-naked, of course. It takes a strong man to stand this terrific strain, but tomorrow he will do it again for the first public showing.

Actually Lives Part

I saw Herr Lang after his trial and asked him how he could possibly endure what must be nothing less than torture. "Ich denke so lang wie moeglich an die viel grossere Schmertzen Christi!" he said. (I think so long I can of the much greater suffering of Christ.) He explained that he thinks less of the perfection of the play than of the sentiments implied by his role. In other words he lives, he personifies Christ at the time of playing.

The most famous person in Oberammergau is Anton Lang, "the ideal Christ." He is too old to play the chief role now, which he filled to the admiration of the whole world in 1900, 1910 and 1922. Alois Lang, to-day's "Christ" is his son. Another son, Dr. Anton Lang Jr., is professor at the Georgetown university, the Catholic university in Washington, D.C.

The older Herr Lang, now a venerable patriarch with long white hair, told me that he had a trans-Atlantic conversation a few days previously with his son in the U.S.A. "I understood every word clearly," he said. "My son's fiancee, who still lives here, joined in the overseas conversation.

Anton Lang told me of a painful experience in his career. It happened in 1910. "During the crucifixion scene one of the straps around my wrist suddenly broke just as they were lifting up the cross. I had scarcely time to stick my thumb through a loop in the broken strap. In this way I went through the whole scene. The pain was excruciating but I held firm to the end. Needless to say I fainted the moment I was lifted down."

Over 700 Performers

This year's "Christ," Herr Alois Lang, the son of Anton, is an extraordinary artist. There is a great difference between him and his father. The elder Lang is a man of unalloyed mildness and radiant sweetness of expression. The son is sterner in appearance, more austere and taller. But he has a warm and powerful voice. He plays with moderation and with judicious emphasis on the most essential episodes in the great drama.

"Three hundred years ago," said Herr Alois Lang, "our forefathers began with fifty actors, to-day we have seven hundred and fifty performers. They are all natives of Oberammergau or of the valley. We play with a single-minded elevation of purpose. There is no pay for the individual players. It is the greatest honor for a boy or girl in this village to be selected for a part in the Passion Play. Blessed among women," he added, "is she who may impersonate Our Lady. This year Anni Rutz has that role for the second time. Such divine grace has never yet been bestowed on one individual.

One thing the Oberammergauers won't discuss. They will talk about their part for hours, but no sooner does anyone introduce the subject of politics they are silent. Herr Hans Zwing, wh portrays "Judas," told me that he is so little interested in politics that he never reads a newspaper.

VIENNA POLICE SURE PODERJAY IN MURDER CASE

Unable to Lay Charge Until Miss Tufverson's Body is Recovered.

WAIT ON AMERICA.

New York Cemeteries, Graves to be Combed as Search Spreads.

VIENNA, June 21 (AP)—Otto Steinhaeusl, Secretary of Vienna's international police organization, said to-day evidence connecting Captain Ivan Poderjay with the disappearance of Agnes Tufverson was strengthening.

"We do not yet have a confession," Steinhaeusl said, "and we can only accuse him of murder when the chain of circumstantial evidence is closed.

"For this we await from America news of the finding of Miss Tufverson's body."

Vienna authorities are convinced that the 43-year-old woman lawyer is dead.

While police were confident that Poderjay was heavily involved in the mystery, they expressed belief that Suzanne Ferrand, the French woman with whom Poderjay was living here, had no connection with it.

Steinhaeusl said she probably was not guilty of anything on which extradition proceedings could be based. She is held, however, on a charge of having forfeited by another's crime. Possessions of Miss Tufverson, including six dresses, had been given to her by Poderjay.

Comb Cemeteries

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—The hope of solving the mystery of the missing Miss Agnes Tufverson lay to-day in the graves, the cemeteries of Greater New York.

On the theory that the woman—a shrewd and successful lawyer until she married Captain Ivan Poderjay—was slain and buried secretly, police directed an inquiry into all recent burials which may have been done under unusual circumstances.

The co-operation of neighboring authorities was enlisted in a message spread through up-State New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Vienna police reported that unless the body is found, they may be obliged to permit their prisoner, Captain Poderjay, international soldier of fortune, to go free, though they hope developments in Vienna may bolster their case.

A new thread was picked up by police in the thin web they have woven about Poderjay—a thread that led to Philadelphia.

James T. Neary, assistant District Attorney, said Miss Tufverson effected transfer of her stock to a man in Philadelphia about Dec. 15. The identity of that man, not Poderjay, was not disclosed.

New Court Set Up Aid "Little Fellow"

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 21 (A.P.).—The United States Government, an authoritative source disclosed today, has forged a new weapon to strike at monopolistic oppression of the "little fellow."

By a far-reaching change in procedure, this source said, the Federal Trade Commission is to become a business court to mete out swifter decisions on charges of unfair practices.

The new weapon involving a basic change of the relations between the Commission and NRA, is contained in a technical order issued by the Commission.

As this order was explained to-day, the emphasis is to be placed on the Commission's judicial function. Hitherto its operations have been threefold. It investigated, made complaints, and then sat in judgment on its own complaints.

President Roosevelt, it is said, suggested the Commission and NRA get together to iron out apparent conflicts in procedure. Out of conference between the two, the new plan arose.

Bill On Way To Unite C.N.-C.P. Express, Telegraph

OTTAWA, June 21 (C.P.).—Bills which would enable the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway to amalgamate their express and telegraphic services, will be introduced into the House of Commons to-day by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways. The one measure is an Act "to incorporate Canadian Railway Express Co." and the other an Act incorporating "Caiadian Communications Company."

To the House of Commons Railway Committee yesterday Dr Manion made it clear that the Bills were merely enabling legislation in the event that the two systems are able to come to arrangements for a merger satisfactory to all concerned. The two railways would each take 50 per cent of the $40 000 000 stock and would have an equal say in the operation of the companies.

A study of the proposed merger had been approved by E. W. Beatty president of the C.P.R., and C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the C.N.R.

Europium is a chemical element contained in exceedingly small quantities, in monazite sand and, as shown by spectrum analysis, in the chromosphere of the sun and in other heavenly bodies.

Sheriff's Deputy Returns To City

The fears of Sheriff F. J. A. Hall for the safety of one of his missing deputies have been allayed.

According to current report gleaned from Court House gossip, the Sheriff as Returning Officer in the Electoral District of Peterborough Riding appointed a certain deputy to distribute ballot boxes in distant polling sub divisions in the north country.

The deputy left the Court House in the Sheriff's car, but after distributing the ballot boxes was apparently so taken up with the possibilities of the north country as a tourist paradise, that he failed to return. He was gone for almost a week, it is rumoured, before the anxious Sheriff, probably fearful that his deputy may have fallen prey to bears or wolves or other of the north country attractions, sent one of his bailiffs to locate the missing deputy—and his automobile.

The bailiff's search was apparently fruitful, because the Sheriff has retained possession of his car, and the erstwhile deputy is back in town again.

GREATER SPIRIT OF BROTHERHOOD IS URGED UPON THE KIWANIS CLUB

Rev. F. M. Wootton Addresses Weekly Luncheon of Local Club.

WRONG EMPHASIS.

A plea for a spirit of brotherhood as a check on the world trend toward autocratic government was expressed by Rev. Frank M. Wootton of Trinity United Church, in an address to the Kiwanis Club at luncheon to-day.

"I believe there is no man to-day from the king in his palace to the pauper in his hovel who does not appreciate the spirit of brotherhood,' Rev. Wootton declared. "It is the spirit of brotherhood which underlies true democracy. The people of the world do not want dictators such as Hitler and Mussolini; they wish governments founded on the basis of brotherhood."

Emphasis is not being placed in the right quarter in this regard, Rev. Wootton continued. Long after that great apostle of the spirit of brotherhood, John Mott has passed on, his work will first be seen in its true importance. He will live on forever in the spirit" which he has encouraged, he said.

He advised his hearers to look for the best in life; to evaluate life at its highest point. He urged that there is a ministry of life in which all can take part by sowing the seeds of greatness among the youth of the day.

William Williamson of Palmdale, California, brought greetings from the Kiwanis of Southern California to members of the local club. Mr. Williamson is a native of Lindsay and is in Ontario on a visit to his home town.

Two solos, "The Trout,' and "June," were sung by Mrs. Laurie Mitchell, guest of the day. She was accompanied by Martin B. Chenhall.

Weddings

HILL—BAMFORTH.

Marriage of interest took place at the summer home of Dr. Frederic Bamforth of Ohio State University, when his only sister, Dorothy C. Wilson Bamforth, was married to Armas J. Hill, B.Sc., of Toronto. The ceremony was conducted by the bride's father, the Rev. Richard Bamforth, B.A., of Peterborough, and took place in a little woodland sanctuary created for the occasion at the head of a beautiful crescent rock garden, under large twin silver birch trees, where iris, lemon lilies, and columbines were in full bloom. Peonies in all the lovely shades of rose, red, pink, and white were in profusion throughout the grounds.

The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. Frederic Bamforth, and was robed in a simple, lovely white corded silk crepe gown, and carried Joanna Hill roses. Her bridesmaids were Miss Audrey Kent of Port Perry and Miss Blanche Hiltz of Toronto. Miss Kent wore a flowered chiffon gown with transparent blue velvet sash. Miss Hiltz wore flowered organdy, with pink satin sash. Both carried summer flowers. The groomsman was Mr. Harvard Bamforth, B.S.A., of Peterborough, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register Mr. Arnold Spencer, B.Com., of Peterborough, played the violin, accompanied on the piano by Miss Pearl Carruthers of Peterborough. The bride's mother was gowned in a French chiffon gown in pastel shades, and wore a corsage of orchids. After the ceremony there was an informal reception. After returning from their wedding trip, which will be spent canoeing around Kenora and the Lake of the Woods district, they will reside in Toronto.

The Weather

TORONTO, June 22 (C.P.). — Synopsis: Pressure is high over Hudson Bay, the region of the Great Lakes and the south-east states, and low over the Western provinces and Mackenzie River Valley, while the disturbance which was over Ontario yesterday morning has moved eastward to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, with somewhat increased intensity. During the past 24 hours scattered showers or thunderstorms have been fairly general from Eastern Ontario to the Maritime Provinces. It has been moderately warm over Western Canada, also in the southern portion of Ontario and Quebec, while in other parts of Canada the weather continues rather cool.

Lower Lake Region and Georgian Bay—Light to moderate variable winds; fine. Saturday—Moderate to fresh south-east to south winds; partly cloudy and moderately warm, with some showers chiefly in western portion.

Northern Ontario — Moderate winds; fair. Saturday—Moderate to fresh south-east winds; mostly cloudy; probably some showers.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley—Light to moderate winds; fair and moderately warm to-day and most of Saturday; probably followed by showers Saturday night or Sunday.

CHILD MISSING FEW HOURS

Missing from his home for several hours this morning, Tedd Kayne, aged four, of 62 Murray street, was found on the street about 11 o'clock and returned safely to his worried mother. The little fair-haired chap, in blue overalls, had apparently wandered off to seek adventure.

RETURNS TO HIS HOME

James Moore, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore of Smith township, has sufficiently recovered from a recent accident that he was able to return home from Nicholls hospital yesterday. It will be recalled that the young man sustained extensive head injuries when a gasoline drum he was engaged in cleaning on the farm exploded some weeks ago.

CHILD SCALDED BY BOILING TEA

Fines Imposed Upon Men For Political Fisticuffs.

CHILD INJURED.

LINDSAY, June 22 (Special to The Examiner).—Laverne Suggitt, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Suggitt, of Janetville Station, was badly scalded on Wednesday. The little fellow accidentally pulled a teapot of boiling tea off the table, the contents scalding him badly about the arms and chest. Dr. Harris of Port Perry was summoned. The child is suffering considerably, but hope is held out for his recovery.

Two residents of Coboconk, named Weaver, who engaged in a fight over politics in that village on election day, appeared before Police Magistrate Jordan this afternoon to answer a charge laid by Provincial Constable Joseph Nelson. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed.

Donald Morrison, aged five years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morrison of Argyle, Eldon Township, was the victim of a painful accident on Monday. The little fellow ran into a stretch of wire while playing in the yard. The wire penetrated the flesh just above the eye, coming out the other side of the optic. The little lad tried to pull the wire out, but failed. He was rushed to the hospital, where everything is being done to save the eye.

The sudden death took place this week at Victoria Road when George Wright, a well-known resident of that village, passed away in his daughter's arms. The deceased had been a resident of Mariposa Township until eleven years ago, when he took up residence in Victoria Road. He was a prominent member of the Orange Order.

MANY HYMNS LACK CHURCH DIGNITY

President of Society Offers a "Yardstick" to Properly Evaluate Suitability.

CINCINNATI, June 22 (C.P.). — Most of the hymns sung in churches were recently characterized in a Sabbath outburst of indignation as being "among the sacred cows of the Protestant Church."

They are, moreover, said William N. Mackey, "atrocious," with the good hymns overlooked in favor of songs "we can sing with our mouths wide open and our minds almost perfect blanks."

Mackey is president of the Hymn Lovers' Society of America, formed here two years ago, he said, to raise the standards of hymns sung by all denominations. Needed, Mackey added, is a yardstick with which to evaluate hymns. To help, he proposed this one:

1—Is it good theology? That is, does it affirm faith, love, dependence, or humility; constitute a petition; or offer thanks?

2—Is the music dignified, beautiful, and suited to the words?

3—Are the words well chosen?

FIND 12TH BOMB IN PARIS MAILS

Police Redouble Efforts After Believing Madman Had Been Scared Off.

ALL BUNDLES PROBED.

PARIS, June 22 (AP)—A 12th bomb was found in the mails to-day in the sinister campaign of terror, revived yesterday by "The Three Judges of Hell."

After several days of respite from bombs police had believed the criminal they call a madman had been scared off. But the resumption of deliveries revived widespread fear throughout Paris.

The latest bomb was found in the post office with mail taken from a box in a populous workers' district near the Place Voltaire.

Police and postal authorities were in a fever of activity, examining all suspicious bundles. Scientists in city laboratories studied the bomb sent yesterday to a cafe owner, but which did not explode.

Authorities are convinced an insane person brooding over the Stavisky scandal, is responsible for the fiendish campaign in which several workers have been injured.

The first bombs carried notes threatening President LeBrun, Premier Doumergue and other high officials. They were signed, "The Three Judges of Hell.' One was sent to Andrew Citroen."The Henry Ford of France."

Germany To Abandon 40-Hour Week For 48

BERLIN, June 22 (AP)—Germany prepared to-day to abolish the 40-hour week in favor of the former 48-hour schedule.

The step was hailed by an official source as a "gratifying sign that the unemployment problem is being mastered.'

The spokesman said the increase in hours was ordered principally because "there exists a serious scarcity of skilled labbor which could not be replaced by untrained men, and therefore continuance of 40-hour plans for skilled labor became inadvisable."

Railway carloadings in Germany in a recent week were 12.5 per cent above the same period of last year.

Only 49,000 juveniles, between the ages of 14 and 18, in England are unemployed.

Blindness Caused by Lack of Proper Care at Birth

BLINDNESS AND ITS PREVENTION SUBJECT OF ADDRESS TO WOMEN

Miss M. A. Tamkin, Former Head of "Clarkwood," Addresses Local Council.

PROPER CARE AT BIRTH

"The blind hate to be pitied and often, we must remember, they are of higher intellect than we are. It is hard for sighted people to realize just how difficult life can be for those of keen intellect and courageous spirit who are denied any actual part in life and are obliged to depend entirely on others. It is this disability that the Canadian Institute for the Blind strives to conquer when it trains the blind to do useful work."

Miss M. A. Tamkin, now of Peterborough, who for twelve and one-half years had charge of "Clarkwood," a home for Blind Women in Toronto, spoke on "Blindness and its Prevention" to the members of the Local Council of Women, gathered in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon for the last regular meeting of this season.

Miss Tamkin described various ways in which blind children are educated. Geography, for instance, is taught entirely through the senses of hearing and touch, with maps in which raised outlines indicate mountain ranges and where indented strips mean rivers.

The Braille system of type, she said, has now been made universal, so that blind people of Japan and China are using it as well as the English-speaking races.

The speaker emphasized a warning to mothers about prevention of blindness, a large percentage of which is attributable to preventable accidents. Sharp instruments left on the edge of a table and toppled over by a curious child may cause blindness for life, and so may a fall when the child is enjoying one of "those terrible all-day suckers," the fall causing the sharp stick to pierce the eye. Another warning was about the use of too strong an eye solution without advice of physician. One of the old ladies in "Clarkwood" became blind through the use of an eye solution which burned her sight away and caused her pain ever after.

Proper Care at Birth

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, realizing that much blindness is caused through lack of proper care at birth, has caused government legislation to be passed making necessary the use of a silver nitrate solution.

Also, knowing that dependence on others makes an additional cross for the blind, the Institute has provided factories where trained sightless men workers manufacture brooms, basketry, leather goods and the rubber mats that are becoming increasingly popular and are made from old automobile tires. The women here use high-powered electric sewing-machines that turn out house dresses and bungalow and nurses' aprons with great speed and a skill that makes them compare favorably with the articles made by sighted people. The Eaton and Simpson Companies, said Miss Tamkin, buy quantities of these goods. The only drawback in this connection is the great vibration and terrific noise from these machines, both of which are hard to endure by the extremely sensitive nerves of the blind. But the fact of being independent adds much to their happiness and well-being.

"And in this way the blind of Canada are having a new vista of life opened up for them by the Institute."

The speaker referred to the gifted entertainers among the sightless, many of whom are skilled musicians. Scholarships awarded by I.O.D.E. Chapters have enabled many to come to Toronto to pursue their musical education, and, although it is difficult to procure work for them, the Institute makes a great effort in this direction. The speaker alluded to the cheerfulness of the "Sunshine Trio," composed of sightless girls, one a pianiste and singer, the second a violinist, the third an elocutionist. Again, others go about and earn a living as piano-tuners.

In "Clarkwood," said Miss Tamkin, there are between thirty and forty blind women from the ages of twenty to eighty years. The younger ones go out to work and the others remain in the house.

"There is something about blind people which makes you love them," remarked the speaker, "if you are with them for awhile."

Although those sightless from birth have no conception of color or of relative sizes, they appreciate things which they are told are pretty and delicate and love to feel them. They also loved motor drives. Their way of distinguishing paper money was to find out the value of the bills and fold each denomination in a different fashion.

At the conclusion of the address, a very appreciative vote of thanks was accorded Miss Tamkin, voiced by Mrs. C. M. Scott.

Routine Business

In the absence of the president, Mrs. B. W. Harvey, the chair was taken by Mrs. V. R. Henry. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. J. Cridland, Mrs. H. Tremain gave the financial statement, and Mrs. E. Wand read the correspondence.

A committee to draft the nomination form for the annual convention of the National Council, which will be held in Ottawa from October 15th to 19th, was appointed, with members in Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. B. Law and Mrs. Wand. Delegates will be appointed at the September meeting of the Local Council.

Mrs. E. Telford, convenor of Cinema and Printed Matter, gave an extremely interesting talk, reading from an article which appeared recently in the "Echoes," entitled "Why an Appeal Board in Ontario?" and referring to the necessity (from the writer's viewpoint), of a Board to appeal the decisions of the Ontario Censor Board and allow greater latitude in the entry of moving pictures. This viewpoint was regarded as not in the best interests of the movie-going public and of the children in particular. Mrs. Telford referred to the enforcement of the Quebec law which forbids the entrance to a movie theatre of anyone under sixteen years of age, even when accompanied by an adult, and regarded it as a move in the right direction if the morals of the coming generation were to be safeguarded. Reference was also made by Mrs. Henry to the letter of thanks sent by the Local Council of Women in Kingston to the manager of the Capitol Theatre there, for allowing every other Saturday to be used for children's programs in his theatre. Mrs. Telford spoke of recent children's programs here as being exceptionally good and hoped that more might be available.

Work Among the Children

Mrs. Joseph Mills spoke of the work carried on at the Well Babies' Clinic and also of some of the experiences of those connected with the Mothers' Allowance Commission.

In closing, she referred to the returned men of the city, saying that an extremely small award of even five dollars a month prevented such men from receiving needed city relief.

"And the factories have no use for men over forty years of age," she went on. "Their places are being filled by youths from the Technical School. And yet the returned men were promised so much when they came back from the war."

Mrs. N. H. Sutton, in referring to the fact that many children see undesirable pictures at Saturday matinees, said they would be much better off out in the country on hikes with Boy Scouts or Girl Guides. She also extended an invitation to the Girl Guides' garden party on Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. C. H. Rogers, when a pleasant program will be presented and tea will be served.

Mrs. F. H. Dearborn extended thanks to all who had helped to make the May tea of the Local Council such a success, and Mrs. V. R. Henry, in turn, thanked Mrs. Dearborn for the efforts made in this connection.

At the close of the meeting, a feeling reference was made by Mrs. Wand to the late Miss A. M. Lancaster, who, at the time of her death, was convenor of Moral Standards in the Local Council and who at all times took an active and untiring interest in the various activities of the organization. At many a meeting, the late Miss Lancaster's brief little speeches on timely matters were listened to with the interest they always evoked and her worth as a poetess of quiet charm made another mark of distinction on the Council's membership roll.

COURT INQUIRES IN SHIP WRECK

German Captain Admits He Was Resting—Been on Duty 49 Hours.

NO COUNT AGAINST PILOT.

KOPERVIK, Karmoy Island, Norway, June 22.—(A.P.)—Officers of the German liner Dresden testified at a Maritime inquiry into the liner's loss to-day that they had no charge to prefer against the pilot, who apparently by misunderstanding took the vessel into waters for which he had no pilot's certificate.

The Norwegian pilot, named Jacobsen, however, was well acquainted with the fjord where the liner piled into a rock Wednesday night with 1,000 vacationing Nazis aboard.

"This is my first mishap," said Captain Wilhelm Peter Moeller of the Dresden. "I cannot understand how it happened.

"I reproach myself for not being on the bridge before the accident, but I had been on continuous duty for 49 hours because of mist and bad weather and intended to take a few hours of very necessary rest when we reached clear, quiet waters."

Women Still Nervous

While the court heard evidence, the disconsolate passengers of the Dresden made the best of their enforced presence here. They were scantily clad as they waited a boat to take them back to Germany. Many of the women still wore lifebelts and some continued to weep hysterically.

There were more Germans on this small island than Norwegians. A recheck of the death list revealed only two women last their lives in the wreck Wednesday night. Earlier reports said four were victims.

Captain Peter Moeller of the sunken liner testified that the rock in a shallow fjord which brought his ship to grief was not marked on the English Admiralty chart. He was using this chart to steer his course.

A Norwegian pilot, Jacobsen, after first assuming responsibility for the disaster, withdrew his statement. He then told the court when it was decided to enter Ryslke Fjord, abandoning a previously scheduled route, he had informed aptain Moeller he was not familiar with the waters.

Captain Moeller said he understood Jacobsen answered in the affirmative when asked if he had the right to alter the course. He did not know, Moeller added, that Jacobsen did not have a certificate for the route.

A report of the findings will be sent to Germany.

The Scouts have been looking forward to a district camp this year and the question of where to go has been discussed backwards and forwards. It has now been decided to have the camp at Young's Point, where Ernie Wolff and his troop have cooked their meals for several seasons.

The camp will be from July 21 to July 28, and it will be necessary for all Scouts who wish to go to advise their scoutmasters before June 30. It is hoped that it will be an enthusiastic camp and a big one.

WOMEN URGED UPHOLD LEAGUE

Favor Curtailing Facilities for Purchase of Wine and Beer.

BY-PATHS ON ROADS.

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 22.—(CP)—Convened for the purpose of discussing problems affecting Ontario women, the second day's sessions of the Ontario Provincial Council of Women was resumed here this morning.

Last night the delegates heard Prof. T. W. McDermot, Ottawa, outline the work of the League of Nations and plead for its support by the women of Canada. They also passed resolutions proposed by various local councils.

Necessity of curtailment of facilities for securing beer and wine will be impressed upon the provincial government, the gathering decided. They will also ask the government to compel truckers to provide for the comfort of stock in transit during cold weather, and urge the authorities to safeguard pedestrians by constructing by-paths along highways.

Delegates approved of a resolution calling for barring of minors from attendance at divorce trials. Another resolution carried urged study of the effect of unpaid taxes on communities.

Study of Ontario's education system by the Women Teacher's Association was forecast.

Questions of birth control and sterilization will not be dealt with until the council has discussed the statement of Miss Winnifred Kydd, president of the National Council of Women, it was decided.

ROSENEATH W.M.S

Ladies Plan Garden Party — Name Delegates to Sunday School Convention.

ROSENEATH, June 22 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. Alfred Sherwin was hostess to the ladies of the Women's Missionary Society for their regular meeting in June. The president Mrs. Albert Nill conducted the meeting in her free and easy manner which consisted of many items of business, including appointing delegates to attend the Sunday School convention at Eddystone and the planning of the garden party which is to be held on Tuesday, June 26th.

After considerable time, naming various committees for the occasion, and discussing the menu for the tables, the program for the afternoon was as follows: a reading by Mrs. M. D. Brown; "A Puzzle" by Sylvia Schwartz; a poem by Miss J. Johnston, "I'll Take What Father Takes." The introduction leaflet was read by the president entitled Chinese Work in Canada; Mrs. Delbert Brisbin read, "The Memorial Table"; No. 1 by Mrs. George Mouncey, "In the early days of Canada"; No. 2, Mrs. Reg Crego, "The work carried along three lines of Christian endeavour, Educational, Evangelical and Medical; No. 3 was read by Miss Mary Paton on "The Oriental work that is being done in Vancouver and its surroundings."

Mrs. Herman Blodgett kindly offered her home for the meeting in July with Jessie Johnston as program committee. Mrs. Robert Mouncey, Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite, Misses Annie Brown and Gladys Blodgett to provide the lunch.

The hostess was given a hearty vote of thanks for her kind hospitality and afterwards served dainty refreshments with the help of the committee in charge. Collection taken totalled $1.40.

NO MATCH MONEY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 22 (CP)—Notice of Middlesex County employees: Bring your own matches.

The County Commissioners sat on a monthly oppropriation of $8 which was required to keep the judges' lobby and various county offices stocked with matches.

OPEN VERDICT REESOR INQUEST

Fatally Injured Along With Alex Vanderburg in Accident at Sunderland.

ON MAY 12TH LAST.

LINDSAY, June 22. (Special to The Examiner).—An open verdict attaching no blame to any person was brought in by the coroner's jury at the inquest held at Sunderland last night in connection with the deaths of Frank Reesor, of Brock township and Alex Vanderburg of Toronto in an automobile accident on May 12th. Mrs. Reesor, widow of Frank Reesor, in her evidence stated that when her husband's car left the village it was travelling about 15 miles an hour. She said she saw a car coming from the north on the wrong side of the road and she remarked to her husband that a collision was inevitable and the latter replied that he was over to the edge of the road as far as he could get without taking to the ditch. As the other car came closer it was still on the wrong side and travelling at an estimated speed of 60 miles an hour. There was no one around where the cars collided. Although she was in a dazed condition folowing the accident, Mrs. Reesor declared that she remembered everything distinctly.

M. Tantan of Oshawa, driver of the other car, swore that he was driving at a speed of about 35 miles an hour before he reached the turn at the village. He saw the lights of the Reesor car which appeared to be veering somewhat on the highway. He turned to the wrong side to avoid a collision, and in the confusion the Reesor car swerved in his pathway.

Provincial Constable Carr testified that Tantan staggered freely and that an hour after the accident there was an unmistakable smell of liquor. The stagger, he declared, might have been due to an injury on Tanton's head. He was not in a position to say anything definite relative to Tanton's sobriety.

Tanton in his evidence swore that he had taken a glass of beer an hour or so before the accident.

Coroner J. H. Oliver, of Sunderland presided during the inquest and County Crown Attorney Hall of Oshawa examined the witnesses.

TRINITY W.M.S. HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Wootton Gives Address on Subject, "Seeing God."

O, Father, deign these walls to bless;
Fill with Thy love their emptiness;
And let their door a gateway be
To lead us from ourselves to Thee.

With these words, the president, Mrs. Cunningham, opened the meeting of Trinity W.M.S. in the ladies' parlor of the church on Tuesday afternoon. Roses and peonies had been arranged around this lovely room, making it look much like a garden. A collection was taken to buy wool to prepare for the September bale.

After the business part of the meeting Mrs. (Rev.) Wootton took the chair. The subject of her address was "Seeing God." Mrs. Seabrooke giving a synopsis of the life of Joseph Scriven, author of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. Carver gave a paper on the Life of Charles Wesley, followed by the singing of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." Mrs. Forster then read a paper on the 23rd Psalm, and solos by Miss Eleanor Brown and Miss Dickson were very much enjoyed. At the close of the meeting, Group D served refreshments in the banquet hall from a table prettily decorated with iris, roses and daisies.

Assassination Plot On Hitler Is Denied

BERLIN, June 22 (A.P.). — Nazi agents swept swiftly through Germany to-day, tracking down and spiking rumors that an attempt had been made to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

So insistent were the reports that the Government press department took cognizance of them by issuing a denial.

A sifting of the rumors disclosed one fact. Somebody took a pot shot at an automobile en route to funeral services Wednesday for Frau Karin Goering, wife of the Premier of Prussia.

The bullet was not fired on the road Herr Hitler travelled to the funeral, and apparently was not intended for him or any other high official.

"I saw him (Hitler) myself as he alighted from his car upon returning from Neudeck," said a press department offical to allay alarms.

AN INDUSTRIAL CENTRE?

BERKELEY, Calif., June 22 (AP) Despite severe summer temperatures, visions of a great electrochemical industry near Boulder Dam to utilize vast chemical deposits in conjunction with the tremendous electrical output were described to-day to the American Society for the Advancement of Science. That the Boulder Dam area, on the Colorado River, is capable of being developed into an industrial centre even though summer temperatures range to 128 degrees and winter lows to eight below zero, was the opinion of George V. 6 HURT IN SUB BLAST.

CHERBOURG, France, June 21.— (A.P.)—An explosion in the battery room of the French submarine Ariane to-day burned a dozen men. Three were badly hurt, but their injuries were believed not fatal.

The explosion was attributed to an accumulation of hydrogen from the batteries.

It occurred as the 600-ton vessel was preparing to leave the naval station after an overhauling.

Mrs. James Dutton of Stewart Street lent her residence yesterday afterncon for a very successful and pleasant affair which started out, and ended, as a lawn tea, the ladies spending part of the time indoors during the three o'clock shower and emerging later to enjoy tea on the lawn and listen to a very fine program of music from a gramaphone wired outdoors especially for the occasion. The tea was held under the auspices of the Dorcas committee of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The guests were received by Mrs. Dutton and Mrs. A. T. Barr and tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. W. A. Burrell. The rooms were beautifully decorated with a quantity of lovely short-stemmed crimson and pink roses, the gift of Mrs. R. R. Hall. The tea table was done with a cloth of filet lace and outwork and was centered by a silver basket filled with rose carnations and placed on a mirror reflector. Tea was poured by Mrs. E. F. Mason and Mrs. H. B. Cowan, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Blewett, head of the Dorcas committee, Mrs. Fraser Watson, Mrs. James Dutton, Junior, Miss Elizabeth Walker and Miss Lily Kay. Miss Nina Davidson was treasurer. The guests included a number of 'shut ins' of St. Paul's congregation, who were brought in motors by their friends.

Mr. C. E. Wiley of the carrier staff at the Post Office, has a birthday to-day.

Members of the choir of Mark street United Church, with their husbands and wives, had a delightful outing last evening at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Telford at Chemong. Each guest took a turn at playing amateur golf on the course which encircles the house, some playing with the skill of long practice and others making the game as vigorous as that of a large golf course. Later, all gathered in the bright dining room where delicious refreshments of strawberries, ice cream and cake were served. At the close of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Telford were tendered a hearty vote of thanks for their hospitality.

Mrs. Walter McKee of North Monaghan entertained at a small tea on Wednesday afternoon, when members of the executive of St. Paul's Ladies Aid Society, and a few of their friends, were guests, the proceeds to be used in aid of the Calendar Fund which the Ladies' Aid Society recently inaugurated. This is a novel idea in which the Freewill offering by the ladies for any special project in a church takes the form of selling first the whole year to one member for two dollars. Then the possesor of the mythical year sells the months to twelve ladies for one dollar apiece; the owners of each month sell the four weeks for half a dollar (using thirteen months in the year); the weeks sell the seven days for twenty-five cents apiece and each day's owner hunts up twenty-four other ladies to sell the hours at 10 cents each. If the requisite amount of energy is put into the plan and its furtherance, hundreds of women will be finally enlisted in the project, which nets a complete sum of nearly eleven hundred dollars) At Mrs. McKee's tea, the table was very attractively arranged with a cloth of Irish linen centered by a large silver basket filled with marguerites, and yellow candles in junior siver holders. Tea was poured by Mrs. A. T. Barr and Mrs. Andrew Jack cut the ices. Assistants were Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. James Savigny and Mrs. Annie McKibbon.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

While the majority of parents are very much pleased when their one and only child, or when one of their family of children is precocious, it is not unmitigated blessing to have a child unusually forward. There are compensations in having children develop naturally so that they are not either ahead of their playmate or those of the same age, or far behind them. In speaking of the average development, it should be borne in mind that there is a latitude in it. A child has to be well in advance of the front rank of ability to be precocious, or far behind the average to be backward.

* * * * * * *

The precocious child may have no brighter mind actually than one who is slow in developing. The point is that the precocious child is in advance of those of his own age but he must keep in advance to retain his supremacy. All too often the precocious child gradually sinks into the file of the average as he grows older, while the really brilliant mind, that has been slowly arriving at maturity, passes him in expertness in later years.

* * * * * * *

It is well for parents to consider these truths. They will then be slow to force a precocious child to the limit of his ability while in the tender developing years of childhood, preferring to temper his advancement to suit his age instead of featuring his smartness.

* * * * * * *

There are two things to be considered especially in a precocious child. One is his health, the other is a tendency to priggishness. Unless the child is diverted by recreation and rest, he may use up his vitality, and sap his mental vigor. Beware of exploiting his abilities. Give him sympathetic understanding and affection. Discourage any idea of showing off. If he brags or shows off, his playmates will dislike him, and he will be a lonesome little boy.

* * * * * * *

The child who is blessed with unusual ability has a mind to be treasured, and a body to be kept in the best possible physical health to be a foundation worthy of it. Help him to grow in mind and body naturally without any forced accent of his brilliancy, lest it be worn thin at the time when he needs it most.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"TARZAN AND HIS MATE"

This is an extremely exciting and adventurous picture. After a few reels, one loses all thought of make believe and feels, strangely enough, that the action must really have been filmed in some jungle spot of the universe. It is hard to realize that actors, even in these days of screen fakes and trick photography, could be as agile and expert as these two: Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan. The latter, who seemed so inept in the first 'Tarzan' picture, now appears to have taken on a fresh lease of interest. She does some daring stunts and seems to thrill in them.

The queer beasts of the jungle, the elephants and great apes that come to the weird call of the lord of the jungle; the rhinos and crocodiles and snakes, all have a part in the making of this extraordinary feature, which is action and go from start to finish.

The dying place of the elephants, that bourne to which a wounded bull turns when he is done to death, forms the mecca for two Englishmen who start out on a safari to attain the goal of the wealth-hunter, the massive ivory tusks that lie strewn over its haunted plain. Through a waterfall, after numerous misadventures, go the seekers and there misfortune overtakes them and Tarzan comes riding on his elephants to save the desecrated place. And then ju-ju and the lion callers' overtake the travellers.

The story has treachery and romance as well as thrills and adventure, and is one of the most exiting to emerge from Hollywood. It is remarkable in more ways than one.

Little Jack Little and his orchestra, as well as the Do-re-mi Girls and Gypsy Nina add to the musical joy of the program, preceding the main feature, in a short reel that includes the singing by Jack Little of "I Raised My Hat" and several other of his song hits. Then there is the old stand-by, Popeye the Sailor, in "Sock-a-by Lady," to add to the fun of the evening. All in all, this bill is mighty good entertainment.

—Jeanette.

CLEARING HOUSE MOVE NO BLUFF

Britain Determined to Obtain Justice for Self and Nationals From Germany.

LONDON PRESS COMMENTS.

LONDON, June 22 (CP-Havas).—"While Great Britain would sincerely regret an retaliation against the Dominions in order to strike us, that cannot alter Great Britain's determination to obtain justice for herself and her nations," The Daily Telegraph observed to-day in an editorial commencing on the bill presented in the House of Commons yesterday for establishment of an Anglo-German clearing houuse.

The setting up of the clearing house will be a most disagreeable necessity, if Germany carries out her threatened moratorium on transfers to service the Dawes and Young loans, and other debts, the paper said. "If the necessity be conceded, however," The Telepraph continued, "its being disagreeable ought not to stand in the way.

"Berlin may have considered that the British attitude was merely a bluff, the text of the Debt Clearing Office and Import Restricts Act should remove that impression in Germany."

The Financial Times commented: "The new bill is necessary as a contingent measure of protection; but the only proper hope must be that its provisions will not have to be implemented."

The News Chronicle said: "The chief criticism of the whole plan is that it is very doubtful whether it can practically prove a success in producing the money.

"But the import restriction proposals are far more ambitious. What it amounts to is that the Board of Trade is given powers to start a little tariff war of its own whenever any foreign country is foolish enough to provide it with an excuse for doing so."

LUNCH COUNTER IN WOOLWORTH STORE

Modern Lunch Counter Will Be Open to the Public on Saturday.

A modern lunch counter with all the latest features is the interesting new unit that has just been added to the many features of the Woolworth store in this city.

The lunch counter should prove popular, guaranteeing as it does quick service and absolute cleanliness in the preparing of dainty luncheons. This counter is placed conveniently to the entrance to the store, and invites inspection because of its beautiful white-tiled perfection. Every improvement discovered thus far for the proper refrigeration, preparation and serving of food has been installed in this counter.

The counter will feature the serving of sandwiches, plate salads, sodas fresh fruit sundaes and all manner of refreshing drinks.

In the basement of the store a most up-to-date kitchen has been installed, and here also absolute cleanliness and care is the watchword.

The lunch counter and kitchen were installed by employees of Thomas Ephgrave under the supervision of G. H. McLarty, engineer of the Woolworth Company.

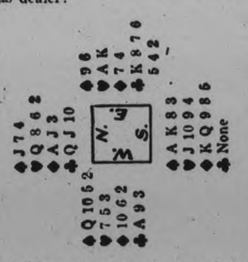
JUSTIFIABLE IRREGULARITY IN BIDDING

It was a rubber game, without part game score either way of the table. Both East and West were ready to bid whenever they thought it would pay them, but they simply passed. North and South were reliable partners. How should they bid their hands, starting with South, as dealer?



Bidding went: South, 1-diamond, to show his longest suit first; North, 2-no trumps, upon beter than average honors, probably a solid diamond suit across the table, and an evenly divided hand, the 2-no trumps being intended as a force; South, 3-spades; North, 3-no trumps, knowing that his partner was shorter in spades than in diamonds. What should South bid? Most players would return to diamonds.

That bidding should cease when partner names game at no trumps is only a superstition. You do not want to allow partner to play no trumps, when you are void of a suit, as South was. He could not rebid spades, and game was doubtful at diamonds. To show North the real situation, South bid 4-hearts, which North passed. It held without a double. Of course, every player at the table knew that the declarer held a 3-suiter but none except himself knew that he had violated all rules for bidding. Few players would have dared bid 4-hearts, on 4 headed by a pack, nevertheless, I consider South made a fine call, considering the bidding by partner. If North did not like hearts, he readily could shift to 5-diamonds.

To prevent cross-ruffing, West led a trump, which East won with the king, to show that he held the ace also. East led back a club, knowing that his partner must hold the ace, but South let go a losing spade, and West won the second trick for his side.

West led a trump and East's ace won the third and last defensive trick. East led a spade, but South won with the king, then he pulled the last loose trump. Dummy was put in the lead with the ace of diamonds, and the queen of clubs was led through East's king, which he refused to put up, hoping that South might credit West with its possession. It was a possibility which the declarer had no need to risk. He used his last trump to ruff. On the last two, dummy discarded its last club and next to its last spade. South led his last good spade and dummy ruffed the last spade held by declarer, just fulfilling game contract.

PERFECT START—And a perfect finish—for Cavalcade, winner of the Detroit Derby and a $35,000 first prize

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THE CLASS of horses performing at Connaught Park, Ottawa, this years is very cheap. Of course the small purses they are offering does not attract the good ones. The best horses in Canada today are all quartered at Hamilton awaiting the Ambitious city plant's opening on Tuesday next . . . Our old friend Jockey Mattioli is riding in grand form at Detroit these days, kicking home one or two winners each afternoon. This is the first year he has not been seen under silks on a Canadian track in a good many seasons. It is with fond memories we recall how he used to bring Broadway Lights from behind in the stretch to the applause of thousand of racing fans.

In one of our columns last week we advised you that Pan and Omareen would be winners at Dufferin. Both came through on Wednesday, Pan to the tune of $42.50 and Omareen clicked for $24.80. You can look for this pair to repeat and both are in winning form and very consistent when right . . . Have you noticed that Eddie Seagram has only won one purse at Little Saratoga? He may cop another with Irish Kid before they close as this one has a lot of early speed which is a big help on a small track . . . Cudgeldoe is about due to win a heat in the near future in a Canadian bred event at a mile and one sixteenth. They are always trying with this one.

JOCKEY MURRAY who rode the ill-fated Canterbury Rain has been notified by the stewards not to accept any more mounts at that track. He nearly allowed another another horse to fall the very next day after the accident so they figured he better confine his efforts to the larger ovals . . . Conny Smythe has temporarily returned from the racing game. He has a few two-year-olds quartered at Detroit but none have been starters for nearly two months. Guess Conny figures hockey is more in his line than horse racing . . . Len Sweep has been put on the schooling list and her future entry barred until her post manners improve.

The Canadian racing season is rapidly nearing the halfway mark. With Devonshire and Dorval not operating at all this year and Kenilworth being satisfied with only their early spring meeting it means our season will be curtailed by thirty-five days. After Hamilton closes Fort Erie will open a fourteen day session and then Stamford Park at Niagara Falls will hold two seven day meetings before Hamilton start their second session. Then back to Toronto for the fall campaigns at all four tracks before the beagles start their trek southward.

Kiwanis Win Easily in First Lacrosse Game

QUINTE AAJMAA CLUB DEFEATED IN FIRST GAME

Locals Have Decided Edge Throughout for 18 to 6 Triumph.

SNAPPY FIXTURE.

The local Kiwanis lacrossers opened their O.A.L.A. season here with an 18-6 victory over the Aajmaa Club of Belleville before a hundred and fifty fans at Riverside Park last night. It was a snappy fixture, but the locals had a decided edge throughout, piling up a lead of 9 to 1 in the first half and outscoring the visitors, 9 to 5, in the second stanza. The Petes got the jump on Belleville at the first whistle and kept the others on the defensive most of the game. The score by periods were: 5-0, 9-1, 12-3, and 18-6.

Despite the one-sided count, it was an interesting affair to watch. The players kept hustling and turned in some smart lacrosse for so early in the season. Though a bit rought in spots, no damage was done and no penalties drawn. The Kiwanis showed superiority in all departments, having more finish to their combination, attack and shooting, while they back-checked effectively and displayed a strong defence as well as star goal-tending.

Weak Defensively

The visitors were particularly weak defensively, seemingly unable to cope with the tricky local rushes. They also missed good scoring opportunities when they had the Petes outnumbered in their own area. Joe Gould was the hardest worker for Belleville and starred along with Gibbs and Powers; Gibbs and Gould each netting three goals. Their goalie was not every effective.

Both Red Creighton and Meyette —each playing goal for a half— looked good for the winners, each making some nifty saves at close range. The defence in front of them was strong and not backward about stepping into oncoming opponents. Both front lines looked brilliant, various players dashing off sparkling lone rushes, or teaming up on neat combination plays. Dundas, Jack, King, Routley, Magee and Jones were all outstanding, with the others close behind.

Take Early Lead

The locals rushed in four goals inside of five minutes of the first quarter, and got another late in the frame. They were much the better team the first half of the second, though Belleville gave them a battle later. The third session was the most even one of the night, the locals having only a slight edge. The first part of the fourth again was close, but the Petes broke out in a late rally to have Belleville on the defensive again at the last whistle.

The teams:

Belleville — Goal, Delaney; defence, F. Day, H. Day; rover, Gibbs; wings, J. Gould, Goodie; centre, Powers; subs, L'Heureux, McKenzie, Brookes, Burdes, Murphy, Watson, Scott.

Kiwanis.—Goal, R. Creighton, Meyette; defence, Hatton, Hutchinson; rover, LeBarr; wings, King, Jack; centre, Dundas; subs., Gerow, Jones, Magee, Routley, Creighton.

Referee—J. Moore of Belleville, V. Reynolds of Peterborough.

INDIANS BACK IN 4TH PLACE

Cleveland Takes to MacFayden's Offerings and Yanks Lose 9-5.

SENATORS BEAT TIGERS.

Clevelands Indians produced the most important American League development of the day when they assaulted the league-leading Yankees for a 9 to 5 victory, scoring most of their runs off Danny MacFayden in the early innings, and climbed back into fourth place.

The triumph put the Indians just two percentage points ahead of the Red Sox, who split a double-header with Chicago. Boston pounded Ted Lyons hard in the early innings to win the opener, 6-3, and again a five-game winning streak, but yielded to Whitlow Wyatts seven-hit flinging and Al Simmons 11th homer, 4 to 1, in the second clash.

The Athletics' pair of belting aces, Roy Johnson and Jimmie Foxx, hit their 21st and 16th homers respectively but couldn't get better than an even break with St. Louis. The Browns captured the opening, 7-5, but the two homers and Johnny Marcum's finging gave the A's the afterpiece, 6-2.

Washington did the double job of improving its pace in the race and keeping Detroit from forging ahead of the Yankees by smashing out an 8 to 6 decision over the Tigers in a give-and-take game decided by a five-run ray in the fifth.

SUNDAY MONTREAL GAME

MONTREAL, June 22. — (CP) — First Sunday night game in the International League history will take place here next Sunday. Toronto Maple Leafs will oppose Montreal Royals. An afternoon game was regarded as impractical as streets will be jammed with spectators of the annual St. Jean Baptiste parade Sunday afternoon.

LAZZERI UNDER DOCTORS

NEW YORK, June 22 (UP) — Tony Lazzeri, New York Yankees' second baseman, was confined to his bed, under a physician's care yesterday. He is suffering from a twisted knee and probably will be out of the game for one week.

BEARS KNOCK HILCHER FROM MOUND IN FIRST

Toronto Gets 12 Hits But Punch Is Lacking With Men On Bases—Chiefs And Royals Divide Doubleheader At Syracuse.

(By Associated Press.)

Toronto's five-game winning streak had reached its end to-day just when the Maple Leafs were beginning to look like real contenders for Newark's place at the head of the International League standing.

Ike Boone's Maple Leafs had cut the Bears' lead to three games when they won the opener of their series at Newark on Wednesday, but with their safety threatened the league leaders rallied last night to pound out a 9 to 5 decision.

A five-run assault in the first inning drove Walter Hilcher out before he retired a man in the first inning and made it just a breeze for Jack Loarocca, Newark flinger.

George Selkirk provided the hitting features when he walloped his ninth homer of the season and his 96th hit in the seventh inning.

One Game Ahead.

Toronto's defeat left the Leafs only a game ahead of the Rochester Red Wings, who duplicated Newark's first-inning feat and shellacked the Baltimore Orioles 9 to 4. George Granger was the victim of this five-run assault which carried the Red Birds through to victory although they were outhit 14-11 and Norbert Kleinke failed to go the route.

Two double-headers, one in the afternoon and the other a twilight-night affair, completed the program for the lower-ranking clubs, and failed to alter the positions of any of them. Both ended in even breaks.

Split Double Bill.

The fourth-place Montreal Royals and the Syracuse Stars split the afternoon bill in a pair of mound duels. Syracuse took the opener 4 to 1 behind Johnny Merena's six-hit flinging. The Royals captured the afterpiece, in which both Johnny Salvesen and Fred Fussell hurled seven-hit ball when Hubby Walker singled with two aboard and the score tied in the seventh, and Fresco Thompson followed with another base hit.

The Buffalo Bisons staged a seventh-inning uprising in a short twilight game to snatch a 7 to 6 decision from Albany, scoring four runs in the last frame although held to five hits by Ned Porter and Bob Edwards. In the floodlight clash the Senators piled up too big a lead for another rally to overcome and won 11 to 5 as Joe Mowry knocked in six runs with a homer and a single. Ollie Carnegie contributed two circuit swats to the Bison cause.

Deloro And Marmora Play To 7 All Tie

MARMORA, June 22 (Examiner Correspondence).—Honors all round were evenly divided in Marmora in Trent Valley fixture with Deloro on the former's grounds on Wednesday evening, the score being 7-7. McInroy on the mound for the homesters was a trifle wild for two innings, but settled down and secured fifteen strike-outs. Callery for Deloro pitched good ball until the latter part of the game, when Marmora made up a three-run deficit. He had ten strike-outs to his credit. Stewart, whose triple in the first was the feature hit of the game, secured five hits in all. Teams:

BRAVES GAIN FIRST DIVISION IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

Pirates Drop Double Decisions to Fast Stepping Boston Club.

WARNEKE WINS DUEL.

Chicago Ace Blanks Giants, Allowing Them But Four Hits.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

For a team whose chances of getting into the pennant fight were thought to have gone "pfftt" when Rabbit Maranville broke his leg in a spring exhibition game, the Boston Braves seem to be doing pretty well by themselves.

Pittsburgh's current slump, which has cost the Pirates 10 defeats in their last 12 games has had a lot to do with Boston's latest rise to the first division, but the Braves have helped out by winning nine out of their last 14 conests, including a doubleheader from Pittsburgh yesterday. Just before that the tribe put together a seven game winning streak, the longest in the majors this season, only to balance it with six straight losses.

Reasons for Killing

Fred Frankhouse and Wally Berger were two big reasons for Boston's twin killing. Frankhouse limited the Bucs to seven hits in the opener to chalk up his 11th hurling victory 4 to 1. Berger accounted for five runs in the second 8-7 triumph with two home runs, making it four for two days in Pittsburgh and 10 for the season. Pinky Whitney brought in the other three with another circuit drive that helped offset the Pirates' 17 hits.

In fourth place the Braves remained only six games behind the Giants who lost a bit of their lead to the third-place Cubs when Lon Warneke turned in a four-hit hurling job, his best since his two one-hit games at the start of the season, and won 4 to 0. It was the Giants' second whitewashing of the year and their southpaw ace, Carl Hubbell, was on the losing end.

The Cardinals continued their pursuit of the Giants by pasting the Dodgers, 9 to 2 as Dizzy Dean pitched his 10th winning game and Jim Collins socked his 15th homer.

Cincinnati trimmed the Phillies 4 to 1 behind the seven-hit flinging of Tony Freitas to take the lead in their "cellar" series.

ELECTRICS DROP OUT OF SOFTBALL

League Will Take Over Team With Fred Scates and Percy Harrison as Co-managers.

UNDER SAME NAME.

C.G.E. has dropped out as a regular club in the Men's City Softball League, their resignation being sent in and accepted this morning. The league will immediately take over this team—continuing to call it C.G.E.—with Fred Scates, loop president, and Percy Harrison of the league executive, co-managers. Lack of support was given as the reason for the Electrics' failure, after repeated efforts, to carry on individually.

The new team, under the old name, will be made up of many of the former C.G.E. players, as well as several strong additions. This is the prospective line-up of the C.G.E. team that will play in the second half: Catchers, Cadd and Walsh; pitchers, Heffernan, Martin, Gallagher of Omemee and Parsons, former Toronto City Service twirler; first, F. Jones; second, Weese; third, Willshaw; shortstop, Fleming; outfield, Miller, O'Toole, Clark, Hope, and J. Jones. Other players wanting a tryout will be welcomed at a workout at 2.30 to-morrow afternoon at Central.

The team is scheduled to play Fashion-Crafts to-night at Central. At the time of writing, it was not certain whether this game would be played this evening or held over till Monday. However, there will be a men's game of some sort to-night—a regular one—and one on Monday. The first-half the schedule ends on Tuesday. Both Scates and Harrison are well known in men's softball circles, and both are experienced managers, so the new C.G.E. team—after many vicissitudes—may turn out as the surprise outfit of the second half.

Indian River Wins From Centre Douro

Indian River took an early lead to win from Centre Douro, 14-9, in an East Peterborough Softball League game Wednesday night. Taking advantage of errors in the infield and outfield, Indian River garnered 14 runs in three frames. Douro changed pitchers then, Towns being replaced by R. Walsh who blanked the opposition the rest of the way. Walsh for the River started great but weakened later, Douro getting nine runs the last three innings. Darkness forced the calling of the game at the end of the fifth. Centre Douro kicked about this, claiming two more innings could be played. The victory creates a three-cornered tie in the league. The teams:

Indian River: Lonergan, 3b; Walsh, p; Robinson, c; M. Doherty, 2b; Holmes, 1b; O'Brien, ss; F. Doherty, rf; Fitzgerald, cf; Spencer, lf.

Douro: B. Towns, 1b; E. Allen, c; Sheehan, lf; C. Towns, p, cf; Moher, ss; Garvey, rf; H. Allen, 3b; O'Connor, c, lf; J. Walsh, 2b; R. Walsh, p, cf.

Score by innings:

Indian River	6	3	6	0	0	—	—	—	14
Centre Douro	0	0	1	4	4	—	—	—	9

SPYING ON SPORTS

"GOSSIP AND SUCH

HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHTERS may win world title bouts without so much as getting their hair mussed training for the scrap.

But baseball is a different story.

Success on the diamond may not call for so much physical exertion as carrying two hods of bricks up 20 flights of stairs 20 times daily, or so much mental exercise as doing 12 volumes explaining the Einstein theory, but it does require a deal of combined mental and physical activity.

If you don't think so ask—or, better still—just look at Mickey Cochrane.

He is the hardest working of the Detroit ball players—and probably the hardest working of all major league managers of the moment.

And the Detroit Tigers, as a result, are ngarer a pennant than they have been during any June since 1924.

CONNIE MACK, himself, Mickey's old boss and baseball teacher, says Mickey is working and worrying too much about the game. That Cochrane is taking the game too seriously.

Well, that's no never mind to Gordon Stanley Cochrane. He wants to make good. He believes in all the good old adages about "Strive and succeed" and "Do or die." Even the one about "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

Mickey plays, too—he plays baseball.

The Cochranes' most famous son has imbued his charges with this same spirit and will do work. There are no round-heels resting on Tiger spikes. Mickey has the boys on their toes.

MICKEYPLANS to wait until October before he starts taking pride in winning the American league pennant—because he hasn't won it yet.

For instance, New York and Washington, at the moment, look plenty formidable in the way of preventing the Tigers from catching world seriesitis.

But Mickey does take pardonable pride in the efforts of his players.

"Look at the Goose," says he, "and Gehringer. Can they hit, huh?"

"And that pitching staff—Schoolboy Rowe's the best since Grove came along. And there's Bridges and Marlberry—not bad, not bad."

No, not bad. And that infield of the Tigers has also brought happiness to Detroit.

As for the catching—well, Mr. Cochrane is too busy tending personally to that particular assignment so we'll just have to form our own opinion on that department.

COMBINATION AIDS GREATLY IN C. G. E. WIN

Losers Lack Finish Around Goal Mouth—Art Heal Makes His Debut.

A PROMISING PLAYER.

Systematic combination plays around the Scots' goal rewarded the Canadian General with a four to nothing win in a league engagement, on King Edward Park, last night, before a fair attendance of spectators.

The losers introduced Arthur Heal, a King Edward schoolboy, at inside right. His display in that position warrants his continued appearance along with George Clark to make up a smart wing. He tackles fearlessly, makes clever openings while in possession of the ball. Many of the Scots team were absent which accounted for the many new faces included in the eleven.

Custodians Tested

C.G.E. lost the toss and faced the wind. In spite of this, they had the Scots' hemmed into their own half of the field. Eventually Carmichael broke up the continuous attack to send his forwards into the C.G.E. area where Craig missed by inches. On the next visit, Dyer outwitted the full backs to witness his effort roll on outside of the upright. Midfield play continued for a long while with the half backs controlling the issue. Jones, at centre half C.G.E., transferred the play to his left winger who travelled with the ball and finished with a drive that hit the post. A break away by Quinn on the right wing terminated in McPhate working a flag kick off the defense man. From the resultant kick, McMaster met the ball with a clever header to open the scoring. The Scots tried hard to get the equalizer but they lacked the finish around goal. They completed the first half with only ten men. Half time: Canadian General 1, Caledonians 0.

Have Full Team

On resuming, Leggitt took up the left half position, to make the Scots' full eleven. Clark and Heal, on Caley's right wing were outstanding with their splendid combination. A well set plan of attack led by Quinn, on C.G.E. right, split the opposition defense to permit Mitchell to make a feint move in front of goal, McMaster accepting the opening with a perfect goal. Within five minutes, Alex. Mitchell registered the third counter. A re-arrangement of the Scots' eleven failed to strengthen the attack thereby permitting the winners to concentrate on the Scots' citadel where Tice, Scots' goalie, put up a brilliant exhibition. With seven minutes to go, a misunderstanding between the Caley's full backs resulted in McMaster scoring the fourth counter. Canadian General 4, Caledonians 0.

Caledonians—E. Tice, goal; C. Barson and W. Denisen, full backs; H. Webb, R. Carmichael and S. Leggitt, halves; G. Clark, A. Heal, F. Dyer, D. Green and T. Craig, forwards.

Canadian General — W. Curtis, goal; J. Mitchell and W. Bolam, full backs; S. Clark, E. Jones and W. Robb, halves; J. Quinn, F. Earle, B. McMaster, A. Mitchell and T. McPhate, forwards.

St. James' Juveniles Defeat George St.

St. James' Juveniles defeated George Street, 16-10, in their Church League softball game yesterday, and the George Streeters must win the next semi-final game to stay in the running. After leading all the way, the team weakened last night in the seventh to let the Saints chase in seven markers. Ridley was hit hard at first, but got better in the later stages. Gunsolus also went well and received good support, too, till the end. Some smart fielding was dished up by the rival third-sackers and shortstops. Murduff, Leether, Leggett, McInness and Bullock led the hitters. The teams:

St. James.—Murduff, cf; Leether, ss; Berwick, 3b; Castle, c; Ridley, p; McGoverin, lf; Lawson, rf; Leggett, 1b; Woods, c.

Six In Third Frame Takes 12-8 Triumph

A big third inning when they scored six runs gave All Saints' Juniors a 12-8 win over George Street in a hard-fought Church Softball League game last night, the win giving the Saints a second-place tie with Lakefield. The victor between these teams Monday will meet St. James' in the finals. Fisher and McKee both hurled good ball, with Fisher's support being superior. Beauclerc and Fisher got on base three times each for the Anglicans, while Ward hit two homers for the losers. Mark also hit well. The teams:

George Street—Ward 2b; Mark c; Burnham lf; Kingdon 1b; Wells rf; Parnell 3b; McKee p; Burns ss; Rutherford cf.

All Saints'—Platt 2b; Worsencroft 3b; Fisher p; S. Seabrooke cf; Jay rf; Williams ss; G. Seabrooke 1b; Rusaw c; Beauclerc lf.

What we would call a lousy trick—we might go so far as to say a rotten trick; yes, we WILL go that far—would be for it to rain tomorrow afternoon thereby spoiling another Oshawa-Petes' ball game. That would be rubbing it in. The Dukes were here a couple of weeks ago but that "million-dollar rain" that had the "farmers smiling", according to all papers, came along. Well, that was oke. After all, crops are fairly important, too. But twice in a row is not so good. We have been very anxious for a long time—and no doubt plenty of local fans feel the same—to see these much talked-about Dukes in action, and here's hoping we get the chance tomorrow.

* * * * * * *

They play the Petes at three in Riverside, and one Mister Dozy Ogden will likely pitch for Oshawa. Don't let the name "Dozy" fool you—this boy pitches his best ball during his mound siestas! Yeah, he's the champ sleep-pitching (like sleep-walkers) baseballer in captivity. Let's hope he's only half-dozing, or else let's hope the boys here open up on him and wake him up like they did Messrs. St. Louis and Jamieson last Saturday. That knocking of leather on wood would have awakened Rip Van Winkle his first two weeks! Spook Scriver will likely fling for the Petes, and he's another dude that you must look at twice to know whether he's awake or not. Ho, hum, we'd better change the subject before we fall asleep, too. Anyway it ought to be a hot ball game.

* * * * * * *

Down at the Grounds ala Exhibish this e'en, Cogs and Fosters are slated to go to the mat around six tinkles of the grandfather clock. After seeing the last struggle between these outfits, we wouldn't bet a quarter—even if we had one—on either side. Cogs rate as the strongest team in the loop, but they looked no stronger than 4.4 beer against Lefty Dunkerley last time out. If he goes back at them, betting will be light and even, and keep your glimmers peeled on the pole-hoss.

* * * * * * *

Over at Riverside yesterday after supper, the first local O.A.L.A. tussle of the season was unwound and the Belleville Pyjama Club—podden us, the Aajmaa Club—got slapped around to the tune of 18-6 by ye Peterborough Kiwanis. Not much of a crowd, and the game wasn't as close as we figured. However, it was a nice one to watch, what with snappy play, some fancy goals, a big of comedy now and then, and a smart looking blonde two rows back of us. The local lads looked very good for this time of year and will be tough onions to any club as they go along. Belleville will improve, but it will have to in order to get any place, or maybe the cellar's okay with them. They licked Campbellford and that doesn't sound natural. Must be a colored gentleman in the kinding wood somewhere. Maybe, Campbellford had only half a team down there. At times last night it looked like the Petes vs Joe Gould.

* * * * * * *

Picking out individual stars, except in the movies, is seldom a cinch, and less so in a contest like last night's where every guy and his brother figured in the scoring. Several of the old reliables, who will be eligible for a pension some of these years, and most of the youngsters played rings around their opponents. Naw, we won't pick out some and leave others out. But we did like Bill Gerow's war-whoop, Emmett Creighton's form-fitting shorts, Lebarr's Millbrook shift" and that blonde baby's smile.

* * * * * * *

Brinton softballers crept right up on the heels of Johnston's Tires last night by taking a stranglehold on a 14-12 count. They led in runs, in hits and in errors, though they're not bragging about their bobbles... ..It was a lively, scrappy sort of game, not too good, but interesting... ..The Brintons punctured the Tires with a flock of hits, but Bert Deck's lads weren't a bit shy of digging in and waving the wagon-tongue, either. The first half ends next Tuesday, and right now it looks like maybe the Johnston crew will be chirping a song on the canary's perch—in other words, they ought to cop a playoff berth.

* * * * * * *

Percy Harrison tells us that the City Softball League draw-radio will be at Central in future for men's games and music will be supplied. That is, up until July 3rd when the draw takes place. Fans dropping a dime on the drum at these fixtures get a free ticket. Last night, plenty of shekels were dug up among the crowd, a lot of folks figuring a softball game, plus a chance at a radio, was worth two nickels any time. Well, it's nice to have music on hand to turn one's attention to—in case the game itself hits a sour note or two.

* * * * * * *

Quite a few people around these parts are running a fever over John Smith, the local lad, who is on his way toward the Atlantic Ocean, which he hopes to paddle across in a canoe this summer. Smith was born and raised in Peterborough, going to Queen Alex school. Followers of aquatic sports may recall the chap at the time of the water demonstration by the George St. wharf in '27—Canada's Diamond Jubilee—who thrilled the crowd with surf-board riding on his head! That chap was this same John Smith, and you've got to hand it to him for courage anyway, whatever about good judgment.

CARPETMAKERS THREATEN LEAD OF JOHNSTON'S

Base Hits Feature Brinton's 14-12 Win Over Tiremen Last Night.

SLOPPY FIELDING.

Brinton Carpet smashed their way to a 14-12 win over Johnston Tires last night, at Central, to stay right on the heels of the league leaders. There were plenty of base hits to feature the contest, but some sloppy fielding crept in in spots and made the game a rather loose one.

Lefty Sturgeon, manager of the Brintons, pitched and batted his team to a well-deserved win. After Bill Abbott weakened in the last of the seventh, he came in and set the Deck gang going down in their tracks. He allowed only 4 hits in 2 1-3 innings and had five hits out of six times at bat, including three doubles and two singles. Bill Abbott started on the mound for the Brintons and went along all right till the seventh when he weakened and his defence wobbled and forced his exit and Sturgeon then took up the hurling.

Tom Montgomery, in the box for the Tiremen, was hit rather freely throughout, and finally shelled out by a barrage of safeties. Freddie Elliott then took up the pitching duties and kept the Carpetmen in chack from the sixth inning on.

Brintons had a field night at bat, every man had one or more base hits. Sturgeon with 5 out of 6 leading the attack. For Johnston's Webb Starr, the catcher, was their big gun offensively with four hits out of five times at bat, one being a hard-hit home run.

Both teams defence was weak, especially in the outfield, where a high wind made outfield flied hard to judge, and several dropped flies were the result. Team:

Brintons.—Newson, 3b; Smith, 1b; Weir, lf; Calladine, ss; Sturgeon, rf; p; Williamson, rf; Playford, cf; Bradshaw, 2b; Abbott, p; Dugan, c.

Johnsons'.—Starr, c; Dorrington, 2s; Crary, ss; Montgomery, p, cf; Elliott, p; Ellis, 1b; Parsons, cf, lf; Stanger, 2b; Allen, rf; McQuade, cf, rf.

Score by innings:

The next important event to take place at our club will be the playing for the "Tip Top Tailors" Trophy on July 2nd.

A few years ago Ken Sloane, the energetic manager of the local branch of the Tip Top Tailors, was instrumental in persuading his company to donate a trophy to the Lawn Bowling Club for annual competition, and along with the cup this company has every year donated four pairs of white flannels for first prize.

So again this year we are pleased to announce to the bowlers that "Ken" has been successful in obtaining four pairs of white flannels for the top honors.

Having in mind the wishes of the "Tip Top Tailoring Co," the committee has, after several meetings, decided to play for this competition on July 2nd and has set that date aside for that purpose.

You will hear more about this later, but we just want to tell you a few of the rules. Each rink to be of schedule calibre as far as possible; three 14-end games to be played; entries to be handed to secretary of Games committee by Friday night next; fee $2.00 per rink.

Now just one more word.... you know to-night will be Friday night....and we are still running those interesting little tournaments....get a hold of two bits somewhere and then head for the greens....prizes all new and different....oh, yes! the time is 7.30 p.m.

HAUNTED VARSITY

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 22 (CP) —The University of Kentucky Museum shoud be amply haunted.

A shipment of 300 Indian skeletons were received yesterday, making the Universitys' osetological collection the largest in the nation. The bones were removed from the portions of the Tennessee Valley which will be flooded by the Norris dam.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 22.—The stallion, Hygro, has been sold by George A. Saportas, of Malvern, Pa. to Gus F. Schreiner, owner of South Fork Ranch, Kerrville, Texas. Hygro will be shipped from J. Fisher's The Caves Farm, Eggleston, Mr. where he served a few mares last month and this month, to his new home.

OSHAWA DUKES HERE TOMORROW

Will Field Strong Line-up Against Petes in C.O.B.L. Game.

SCRIVER TO PITCH.

Oshawa Dukes play their first regular C.O.B.L. game in Peterborough in four years tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at three in Riverside Park. After playing several years in Toronto loops, the Dukes dropped out of the Ulster League several weeks ago, and though slated to play here sooner, were rained out. This will be their first appearance. The Oshawa team has played two C.O.B.L. games so far this season, winning one and losing one. They can move into second place over the Petes by winning tomorrow's game, or the locals can cop this tilt and crowd ahead of Kingston on the top rung.

Dosy Ogden, Dukes' ace hurler who defeated Belleville last week, is the likely choice to oppose the Petes here. The visitors will be at full strength and very anxious to knock off the Liftlockers. Spook Scriver is the logical selection for the home assignment, with Bill Calladine ready to relieve him if necessary. The Petes, after their fine hitting display here against Kingston last Saturday, should pack in the fans, as they hope to repeat the bingling process against the Dukes. This being a new team to the home followers, the biggest crowd of the season is expected. It should be a first-rate ball game.

Soccer Notes

A twin soccer bill is scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening when the Canada Packers meet the Canadian General in the first round of the Injured Player's Fund. Kick-off at 3 o'clock. Harry Hotston referee.

The Packers executive have selected the following team to do duty on Saturday afternoon for the Cup tie: J. Chamberlain, goal; N. Downer and A. Downer, full backs; Art Downer, J. Buchan and A. Bromley, halves; J. Colhran, W. McCracken, A. Todd, T. Foster and G. Downer, forwards. Sub., A. Rishea.

The Caledonians Football club are holding a Moonlight tonight down the river. The boat leaves George street wharf at 8 o'clock.

On Saturday evening, the Deloro and Lindsay aggregations meet in a league engagement on King Edward Park. Kick off at six o'clock prompt. Referee Walter Harrington. Four points to count. This match is so arranged that it will illiminate double trips for the teams.

George Blowers signed for the Canadian General on Tuesday but he is not eligible for the cup game on Saturday afternoon.

The Caledonians expect to have the Trenton Flying Corp soccer team here on the holiday afternoon, instead of travelling to Pontypool.

Canadian General are endeavouring to get the Oshawa league leaders here for an exhibition game in the near future.

WANT LEDUC IN CABINET.

OTTAWA, June 22 (C.P.).—Liberal associations of Eastern Ontario, it was announced yesterday, will hold meetings within the next few days to endorse resolutions making representations to Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn to appoint Paul Leduc, victorious Liberal candidate in Ottawa East, to the Ontario Cabinet.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to Marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. In France where the three were sojourning, Lady Tait takes a dislike to Gillian Dundas, a beautiful girl, who, it is disclosed, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Tait becomes alarmed when his business associate Lord Mills, is found shot to death. Mrs. Burnham takes Miss Dundas "under her wing" much to Lady Tait's annoyance. A luncheon given by Lady Tait in honor o. Tait and his fiancee, and attended by John's cousins, Alysia, Etta and Claud Naylor, is a poor success owing to Tait's apparent uneasiness. Tea is interrupted by the discovery of John Tait's body on the sidewalk in front of Lady Tait's home. Suspecting he has been poisoned, Chief Inspector Pointer of Scotland Yard nvestigates what appears to be murder and first questions the victim's cousin, Claud Naylor. Talking with Lucy Burnham, Pointer learns that Tait received a death threat by letter the same day Lord Mills had killed himself. Then the inspector interviews Lady Tait. Next Pointer questions Alysia and Etta Naylor, Tait's cousins. When he reaches Gillian Dundas, he finds terror and dread written in her eyes. Pointer learns that two specks he had taken from the fingers of one of Tait's hands were spun glass from an object which probably contained the fatal poison. Then he searches Tait's rooms and finds certain deletions in an engagement book.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

Pointer looked next at the dead man's check book, a very recent one. There was a comfortable balance scribbled on the back of the last counter foil. Pointer looked at the pile of old counterfoils fastened together with a rubber band which he found in a locked drawer. Two things interested him. Some months ago was a check to Self for 500 pounds followed the next week by one for 50 pounds. The same thing happened exactly six months before. Here too a check for 500 pounds to Self was followed by another to Self of 50 pounds. There was nothing else of interest. Nowhere did any name occur that might fit the erased blank in the engagement book. Pointer took the check book and the old block of counterfoils. Then he looked once more through the engagement book. There were no other erasures nor any other name that seemed to properly fit the blank. The valet professed an absolute ignorance concerning what was, or was not, in the book. An ignorance that, seeing the book lay out on the table, struck the chief inspector as overdone. Did Mr. Tait keep his old engagement books? Pointer expected a negative, but to his joy the man pointed to a locked cupboard. "Full of stuff of that sort. Brought over from a cupboard they're altering in his house."

Pointer found inside it all he would have desired—a pile of personal books of all kinds. But he had to go back nearly a year in an engagement book before he found an entry. "Letter from W. Wants me to go there. Made an appointment over the phone for tomorrow," and on the following day was an asterisk. So the erased initial was probably W. There was no other helpful entry in the book. After some fruitless, further searches, he came on an old game book nearly six years old. In it he found several entries that showed that Tait had often shot at a place called Pilgrim's Halt, and that on each of these occasions there was always one name among his fellow guns that did not vary, the name of Westmacott. Probably, therefore, the host. Pointer saw that by trying the letters on tissue paper over the erasure, the name would exactly fit in.

Westmacott of Pilgrim's Halt . . . sounded familiar . . . But why the erasure and the guarded entry today at 11? He went to the nearest telephone outside the house and rang up a young man about town who acted as one of the Yard's voluntary assistants in matters of this kind. Ward Thynne worked in the Ascot office of St. James' when it was a question of admission to the Royal Enclosure. His mind was a perfect card index of people in society, though he could not have earned threepence a week as far as the rest of his attainments went.

Who was a Westmacott? Apparently the owner of a place called Pilgrim's Halt and Park Pinnacles and Mariners and two hunting boxes in the Highlands, and a huge house in town — 11 Palace Green? Sort of Second Lord Shafteslury. He's been out in China for the last three years or so, carrying on a relief mission of his own."

Pointer asked if he was known to be a friend of a Mr. John Tait, who was a co-director with Lord Mills on some companies.

"Very great friend indeed. They were at Newand regularly have gone fishing together in Norway for years. I should say Tait is Westmacott's particular pal. And besides that, Tait's Miss Henrietta Naylor's cousin, you know. What does that signify? Dear me, how little you chaps at the Yard really know, when it comes to important things! Westmacott was going to marry her, and then suddenly turned and whizzed off to help the Honduras earthquake victims on the spot. Left the Lady high and dry. Nice girl too. Rather a bit out of his line — a hard riding, hard swearing, and probably hard drinking young amazon then. She's turned herself into the equivalent of a Salvation Army lass since, and it doesn't suit her."

The man at the other end was warming up. "And then of course Lady Ida! Lady Ida! Westmacott's widowed sister-in-law who acts as his hostess and keeps his houses open now he's away. Yes, John Tait and Lady Ida were at one time rather bracketed together. Oh, not as Westmacott and Etta Naylor were. The last had the banns all but read out. No, but people rather expected something would come of it in due time with regard to the other two. Only nothing did. When was this talk? About two years ago more or 'ess. Since then, Tait seems to've dropped out of Lady Ida's circle. Anything else?"

He was warmly thanked, and Pointer rang through to his own rooms at the Yard. Had any fresh information come in? Very much so. The first test of the blood of the dead man had proved the existence of a deadly dose of the poison mixture named by Dr. Angelli. It had been administered directly into the blood. By a cut, a prick, an injection of some kind.

"Or a splinter," Pointer mentally added.

Pointer's next step was to drive to Palace Green. It looked as though eleven referred to that, and not to Miss Dundas' studio.

Palace Green is one of the few unspoiled streets of large houses still left in town. As yet no buses roar through it, and it remains broad and stately, facing Kensington Palace and the Gardens. Westmacott's was one of the largest of the houses, and an end one. Along its side ran a passage way into Church street. A very high wall with a door in it protected the garden from being overlooked. He rang the bell, sent in his name only, and asked to see Lady Ida on "a matter concerning Mr. John Tait."

He was shown into a fiercely modern room where the chairs and tables seemed better suited to a submarine in their metallic economy of line and space than to a London town house. The usual flashing cushions were piled everywhere a heap of them in one corner around a steel radiator. The lighting was concealed, the ceiling colored, the floor metallic looking. Altogether Pointer was quite prepared for the ultra smart-looking woman who came in a moment later with the inevitable cigaret-holder stuck at an angle from pillar-box red lips. In age the woman was perhaps 40. Very handsome and a more resolute jaw and eye he had not often met. "Thou shalt want ne'er I will" should have been the lady's motto, whatever her family. But she looked at him very keenly, and she had come in very quickly in answer to his message.

"From Mr. Tait?" she asked.

Pointer hesitated to allow her to make some further remark. That might be enlightening, for he thought she was disturbed by his visit.

But as Lady Ida said nothing, he explained that Mr. Tait had been picked up dying near his house that his dead body had been carried into his stepmother's house and that, believing that Mr. Tait had been in to see Lady Ida that morning around 11, he Pointer had wondered if she had noticed anything odd, whether he had looked ill, or if she had heard him complain of feeling ill.

LIFE-SAVING AIDS.

FORT ERIE, Ont., June 22 (CP)—First-aid kits for resuscitation purposes will be placed on the two Fort Erie swimming beaches along the Niagara River, Fort Erie Council decided to-day in an effort to minimize drowning accidents. The move was made on a recommendation of Councillor Herbert T. Guess. Life belts were put on the beaches recently.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, June 23

According to the lunar transits bearing rule on the events of this day, there is some promise of a fair increase in the finances as well as a decided advance in the direction of a beneficial and friendly interest in those in places of power and authority.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a rather fortunate year as regards finances or an enhanced popularity with those in position and power, who may give friendly ear to solid propositions.

A child born on this day may be aspiring and ambitious, attaining fair position through the intervention of powerful friends, corporations or secret societies.

REDS PARADE

NEW YORK, June 21. —(AP)—Five hundred young persons, swinging fists and singing the "Internationale," clashed twice with police last night at Times Square, heart of New York's theatre zone.

Rrouted from Broadway, they swept down on the night court where three of their number had been taken on disorderly conduct charges and were again dispersed by police, using their nightsticks. The prisoners were held in bail for hearings today.

WESTERN FARMERS ARE BLAMED FOR THE PLIGHT THEY ARE IN

Charles Wallace Returns to City After 12 Years in the West.

OUTLOOK IS PROMISING

"The Western farmers are themselves responsible for the plight they are in," Charles Wallace, a resident of Edmonton who has been visiting the city during the past two weeks, said in an interview to-day. "Like everybody else they have been living away ahead of themselves. They realize it now and are beginning to return to old-fashioned farming on a sound basis."

Mr. Wallace, who left Peterborough twelve years ago for the West, said that the swing back to the use of horses in place of tractors and other automotive machinery is an indication of the present trend of retrenchment. The extent of this swing is reflected in the fact that few good horses are to be bought in the West to-day and only at high prices, he said. The farmers know now that they should never have abandoned horses for expensive and uneconomical machines.

"Farmers throughout the area have discovered what fools they have been," he continued. "A gradual change is coming about. They are getting back to the life the old pioneers lived. They have no money to buy manufactured products from the East so they are producing practically all the food and much of the clothing they need right on their farms and leading self-contained existences."

Hit by Dry Weather

Questioned with regard to extent of the present drought distress, Mr. Wallace said that it is the farmers in the southern sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan who have been hit hardest. Up north, particularly in the Peace River district of Alberta, good crops are expected this year. With the exception of an era in the south-west, Manitoba farmers will have fair crops, he said.

For the farmers in the dry southern belt, no amount of rain will repair the damage which has been done, he continued. In many cases the crops have been actually blown away as the wind removed the parched surface soil. He reported seeing, a couple of weeks ago, a snow fence in use to keep dust from drifting over a railway line seven miles out of Moosejaw. Many sections of the fence were completely buried in the dust, he said.

But the farmers are not resigned to the ill-fortune, Mr. Wallace reported. They are migrating by the thousands to the better lands in the north. In one month alone this summer, five hundred families have moved from southern Alberta into the Peace River district. They should never have settled in the south in the first place, he declared.

"On the whole, the situation in the West is easier than at this period last year," Mr. Wallace opined. "The wheat growers do not expect to clear much on their wheat but better prices for hogs, cattle and horses are helping things along."

With the United States expected to come into the market for wheat this year, the outlook is promising, he said. He predicted that American demands will completely wipe out the present 200,000,000-bushel wheat surplus.

HIS WIFE HAD TO DRESS HIM

Disabled by Rheumatism in Shoulder

Put Right by Kruschen

When rheumatism gets a real hold on one, it often has very unpleasant results. Read what a plight it put this man into:—

"One year ago I was taken with rheumatism in my shoulder. I was so bad that my wife had to put on my stockings and shoes for me, and help me get my coat on. I took several kinds of medicine—with no results. Then I saw Kruschen Salts advertised, and decided to try them, with the result that I am rid of my rheumatism. So I cheerfully recommend Kruschen Salts to anyone who is bothered with rheumatism."—L.M.G.

The pains of rheumatism are caused by deposits of needle-pointed uric acid crystals in the muscles and joints. Dissolve these mischievous crystals and flush them out of the system, and your sufferings will be ended.

The effect of the six salts in Kruschen is to convert uric acid crystals into a harmless solution—and then pass them out of the body along with other waste products. Nor is that all. Kruschen's gentle aperient action ensures a condition of internal cleanliness—an inside so free from all fermenting waste matter that no such body poisons as uric acid are ever able to accumulate and contaminate the blood-stream again.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

BAY OF QUINTE Y.P.A. EXECUTIVE GUESTS HAVELOCK YOUNG PEOPLE

Representatives Attend From Bethany, Bailieboro and Peterboro.

L. A. FINISHES QUILTS.

HAVELOCK, June 22 (Examiner Correspondence).—Members of the executive of the Bay of Quinte Y.P.A. of the United Church were guests of Havelock Young People on Monday evening at the closing meeting for the season, held in the basement of the United Church here, when a banquet and fine program and a very brief resume of the seasons' work were the order of the evening.

Representatives were present from Peterborough, Bethany and Bailieboro, and participated in and enjoyed fully the program arranged by the committee in charge. The following toast were given:

The King; Mr. Norman Small. Our Church; Miss E. Roberts; responded to by Rev. S. A. Kemp, pastor of Havelock United Church. Our Visitors; Miss M. Williams; responded to by Mr. Monk of Bethany. Our Officers; Miss Ina Morrison; responded to by Miss Morrison. Our Members; Mr. Maynard Bullied; responded to by Mr. Tennyson Seeney. The toasts were interspersed by readings by Miss Dorothy Davidson and Miss Edith Russell, and vocal solos by Misses Edith Roberts and Minnie Williams.

The church orchestra members, resplendent in their Venetian costumes, added a bright touch of color to the occasion, and contributed several appreciated numbers to the evenings' entertainment. A period of community singing was also greatly enjoyed.

Miss Thornton of Peterborough was in charge of the recreational games into which all entered with great zest.

The evening was brought to a close after a vote of thanks moved and endorsed by the visitors, and expressions of the pleasure occasioned by their presence, by the president of the association.

An interesting meeting of the United Church Ladies' Aid was held in the basement Tuesday afternoon, June 19th, when a large number of ladies were present and two quilts were finished.

One beautiful quilt, Dutch Girl pattern, made by the ladies at other meetings will be sold. The other was quilted for a lady in the community.

As usual, an afternoon tea was served, after which the members continued with their work until all was finished.

A miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Gwen Rutherford, whose marriage to Mr. Ernest Sutton took place on Saturday last here, was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Peters on Friday evening, when about 40 friends and neighbors were present.

An arch of flowers and pink and white streamers was arranged in one corner of the spacious drawing rooms, a large armchair and table placed therein for the comfort of the bride elect and to receive the gifts as they were opened. Little Berniece Longmuir, and Verna McGowan, dressed in light summer frocks, with large bows of satin ribbon on their pretty curls, entered the room drawing a child's wagon, with a large clothes basket all beautifully decorated with pink and white tissue, the basket completely filled with parcels for the bride elect.

As each parcel was opened, the guest of honor thanked the donor, and passed the gift to the children, who placed them on the table nearby.

Two contests, one a word contest, parts of a watch, was won by Mrs. Henry Scott of Campbellford; another one guessing the number of buttons contained in a bag, was won by Miss Helena Spencer. Mrs. Scott received a handsome china plate, and Miss Spencer a china bowl as a reward for their skill.

A dainty lunch was served at the midnight hour when the hostess was assisted by Mrs. George Rorke, and Mrs. James Squire.

The closing meeting of Knox Presbyterian Church W.M.S. was held at the manse on Monday evening, June 18th, the President, Mrs. Robert Scott, presiding.

The meeting opened in the usual manner by singing a hymn and a Scripture reading, by Mrs. Kinnaird.

The lesson was Hospital work, done in the Far East and was most capably handled by Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson. A splendid report of the semi-annual convention held recently at Millbrook, was given by Miss M. Sexsmith, and proved very useful to all present.

During the business session it was decided to hold a sale of home baking and candy sometime during July. A committee was appointed to arrange for the sale and choose a suitable date for the same. The meeting closed with prayer led by Mrs. (Rev.) Beaton.

CUT OFF SUPPLY TO THE MAN WHO DROPPED WAGES

anyway," retorted Mr. Sparks. He promised to file with the committee a statement of the company's operations and his connection with it, after first suggesting auditors be commissioned to go into the place.

Sweatshops and low wages are a direct result of the grasping buying methods of department stores, the committee was told by Mr. Sparks. The large top-heavy financial structure of chain department stores, he said, demanded more and more bargains, more and more sales, with the result the pressure forced down wages and working standards in manufacturing plants supplying the goods.

A few minutes after one of the committee auditors told of sweatshop conditions in clothing factories in Montreal, the representative of the individual retail merchants began his many-sided indictment against chain and department stores. He said they were forced to increase their mark-up—difference between cost and selling prices—to keep pace with their top-heavy financial structure and could not operate and pay the same prices as small merchants. The effect was to grind down labor in the manufacturing plants.

T. B. Hurston, one of the committee investigators, told of sweatshop conditions in contract clothing plants in Montreal. He said he found 32 women and men working in a plant 30 feet by 15 and of 47 factories investigated, 42 broke Quebec minimum wage laws.

Publishing Name.

The question as to whether the names of those firms which pay low wages should or should not be published will be considered by the committee over the week-end and a decision arrived at on Monday. This was decided by the committee when, as a prelude to examination of general costs of various clothing manufacturers, E. J. Young, Liberal member for Weyburn, protested against the committee's procedure of disclosing the names of Eaton's, Simpson's and others, but of failing to disclose the names of manufacturers who paid extremely low wages.

"I protest against these people being listed as A, B, C and D," said Mr. Young.

"I have not the slightest objection to their names going into the record," said Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman of the committee, "but I don't like your way of putting it—as if someone had prevented their names from going in. I am satisfied that their names should go in, but I am bound to point out to the committee that the investigation has not been as wide as it should have been. There are many other manufacturers besides those, who are just as bad from the standpoint of low wages. The question is, should we disclose the names of those when we are unable to give the names of the other manufacturers.

"The wages in the clothing and in the boot and shoe industry are a disgrace to this country," said Mr. Stevens. "But it is a difficult problem. If the committee decides these names should be disclosed I have no objection."

"This raises the point I brought up earlier," said Major W. W. Kennedy (Cons., Winnipeg South Centre). "I realize the point of view suggested by the chairman, that, inasmuch as it is not a complete investigation of all offenders, it might be said there is an element of unfairness in published the names of those we have already investigated.

"The press had full particulars of leading business firms in this country, and whatever implication comes from the evidence is public property. We have followed them thrcugh." Major Kennedy continued, "and in the boot and shoe industry and in clothing we found a condition of wages there that is reprehensible and a scandal of this country. Why should their names not be published? If a snake crosses your path you scotch it, even if you don't kill all the snakes. My view is that all those names should be disclosed as they come along."

"Will the committee leave it until Monday?" asked Mr. Stevens. "I must say I don't object to publishing the names; but I think the committee should give it more consideration."

The Minister added that on Monday a proper statement could be drafted by the committee giving out the names and other particulars..

T. B. Hurston, one of the committee investigators, said he looked into conditions in 47 contract shops in Montreal.

"How many paid minimum wages?"

"Four."

"And the 43?"

"How were conditions in the shops?"

"Very bad."

The investigator said he went into one shop, 30 feet by 15 feet, in which 32 people were working.

"How did male wages compare with female wages?"

"In many, many cases men were paid less wages than women."

Clothing contractors received about 50 per cent. less wages than in 1931, said the investigator. The price for topcoats dropped from 90 cents and $1 to 55 and 65 cents, and for men's pants, from 65 and 71 cents to 46 and 51 cents.

For the past 2½ years the amount of work done in homes in Montreal has been increasing, said Mr. Hurston. He investigated one home in which a man, his wife and two daughters worked, being paid 20 cents for making a pair of pants.

Two thousand strikers in the furniture trades of Malines, Belgium, have returned to work at reduced wages.

British fruit canners expect this season to be the largest on record, and say they could use 25,000 tons of soft fruits, such as strawberries and raspberries.

GERMANY GIVES TRADE WARNING

Will Sever Commercial Relations With Nations Trying to Collect Interest.

"THREATS OF NO USE."

BERLIN, June 22 (C.P.). — A warning that she would sever commercial relations was Germany's answer to-day to threats of other nations to collect interest on her foreign debts.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, said bluntly, "It is no use to threaten or scold us."

Following the Reich's recent six-months' moratorium on its obligations, Great Britain and France have discussed creating clearing houses which would impound German commercial funds to meet payments frozen by the moratorium.

"I should not wonder, however, but what this nonsense of clearing arrangements must be gone through with, too," Dr. Schacht said, "after all the rest of the nonsense the world has had to face."

He explained the Reichsbank's stand to foreign correspondents and diplomats yesterday, suggesting a return to Germany of her former colonies as a possible solution of the debts problem.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR ROTARY CAMP

Taught How to Make Use of Their Leisure Time.

Programs which will be of educational benefit as well as entertaining are being worked out for the Kawartha Boys' Camp this summer. In addition to the regular camp activities, periods are to be devoted to the creative use of leisure time.

During the Boys' Work Board camp from July 7 to July 14, a number of able leaders will head groups pursuing several different interests. An art class will be under the expert direction of J. Kaj Dinesen, well known as one of Peterborough's promising artists. Instruction in sketching with pencil, charcoal and ink will be given and crayon and watercolor instruction will be available for those who desire it. For those who show promise in elementary work, a special class in oil painting is being arranged. Those interested are being asked to get in touch with Kaj Dinesen or J. C. McClenaghan at the Y.M.C.A. for further particulars.

Other interesting and profitable hobbies which will be encouraged will be basketry with L. W. Copp as leader, campcraft under the direction of Rev. C. D. Daniel, and music appreciation under the leadership of Arnold Spencer. D. A. Loomis and J. C. McClenaghan will assist the leaders also in instruction in signalling, astronomy, athletics, swimming, team games and leathercraft.

Straw Ticks on Floor Only Beds in Jail

COTS LACKING IN MEN'S CELLS OF COUNTY JAIL

Inspector Orders Certain Improvements to be Made to Jail.

GENERAL CLEAN-UP.

Complete Paint Job on Inside to be Started Immediately.

Recommendations of Provincial Jail Inspector James A. Norris, respecting certain improvements in Peterborough County jail, including the painting of the interior of the jail and the providing of cots for male prisoners, who are at present required to sleep on straw ticks on the floor, are to be carried into effect subject to adoption by Peterborough County Council of recommendation of the Property Committee. Necessary improvements, according to Warden Rork Ferguson's statement to The Examiner, can be made at a total cost not in excess of $200. Painting of the jail it is proposed should be done by prison labour.

The recommendations of the jail inspector, who made his visit to the county jail on June 7 last, are as follows:

Inspector's Recommendations

"That wire screens with small mesh be placed on the two windows of the jailer's residence which looks over the prisoner's exercise yard; also on the upper and lower windows in both men's and women's exercise yards situated next to the jail walls.

"That fire protection be provided by installing stand pipe and hose.

"That a complete paint job be started at once for the entire jail and also a general clean up.

"That beds be provided at once for prisoners to sleep on and that all blankets now in use be thoroughly cleaned".

Under the head of general remarks the inspector expressed the opinion that Turnkey Robert Rae, 78-years-old, having completed 50 years service at the jail should be retired.

Satisfactory Features

The jail was declared satisfactory as a secure place of confinement.

RAINS IMPROVE GARDEN PLOTS

Committee Distributed 400 Bags of Potatoes, 3,000 Packages of Seed.

IN FINE CONDITION.

Recent rains have given the Cunningham gardens an early vitality that promises another ample harvest.

"The Garden Plots Committee distributed 400 bags of potatoes," A. B. Cunningham told The Examiner this morning. "With them were 5,000 tomato and cabbage plants and 3,000 packages of garden seeds, including 500 packages received from the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Our gardens are in excellent condition. In a few instances those who have been working them have let the weeds get a start on them, and we are asking them to do a little better. But most of them are as well kept as any in the city.

We have been getting applications for garden plots right up to this week, but we had no more available."

DOUBLE DUTY

SHARON, Pa., June 23.—(CP)—During an electrical storm in the New Hamburg district, Bert Leisher ran almost two miles to aid in extinguishing a fire which resulted when lightning struck a barn on the farm of his brother, George.

Returning home, Bert discovered his own dwelling had been struck. Neighbors were at work combatting the flames. Bert joined them and succeeded in saving the dwelling.

BOLIVIAN COUP IN GRAN CHACO REAL SLAUGHTER

Thousands of Paraguayans Die Under Massed Artillery Fire.

CLING TO LINE.

Division is Wiped Out as Enemy Ranks Close After Driving Attack.

BUENOS AIRES, June 23.—(AP)—Thousands of Para guayan soldiers were reported today as trapped and slaughtered by Bolivian artillery fire climaxing a seven-day Paraguayan drive against the Bolivian stronghold in the Chaco Boreal, Fort Ballivian.

Communiques issued by both Paraguay and Bolivia indicated that the fighting going on today was the most terrible in the past two years of the jungle war.

As depicted by official and semi-official despatches, the tactics of the past week have been as follows:

The Paraguayans made a headlong thrust with massed infantry and cavalry in an effort to pierce the Bolivian defending line in the Pitcomayo sector.

This drive followed several days of skirmishes and preliminary manoeuvres apparently designed to attract Bolivian attention to the "Canada strongest" and Canada of Carman sectors at the northern end of the Bolivian line.

Bolivians Prepared

The Bolivians, however, were not drawn out on the wing, but instead consolidated their positions at Condado in the Pitcomayo sector.

A Paraguayan division commanded by Colonel Brizuela drove at Condado. They smashed through, indenting the Bolivian defences.

Then they were lost.

Bolivian artillery — light and heavy guns and mortars of both large and small calibre—were ready and in position around the spot of indentation.

They cut loose with the fiercest artillery barrage which the war in the Chaco yet has seen.

The Paraguayans were massed on the spot. It was slaughter. The Paraguayans, however, are reported still doggedly hanging on their line.

FILM BARRED

BERLIN, June 23 (AP)—The official journal Reichs Anzeiger announced to-day that the motion picture "Tarzan and His Mate" has been barred from Germany. The Censor's office refused to state the reason for the action.

A Game Hen

DALTON, Ga., June 23 (CP)—After six months, a little game-hen owned by John Duncan has given up its attempt to hatch a nest of rocks. Shortly before Christmas last year rats destroyed the hen's six eggs. Nearby were several smooth white, egg-like rocks. The hen stayed with the rocks almost constantly until evidently deciding it was no use.

RATE IS STRUCK 12.874 MILLS NEED $129,181

Estimates for the Year Are Adopted by County Council.

RECEIPTS $69,675.

For the purpose of raising an estimated revenue of $129,101.05, the County Council yesterday afternoon set the tax rate for the current year at 12.874 mills, a reduction over the tax rate last year of 2.130 mills.

Brought down by Reeve Robert Tedford, chairman of the Finance Committee earlier in the session and tabled pending further consideration of high school education costs, the estimates were yesterday afternoon formally adopted in open council as follows:

RADIO ARTIST FOUND IN TEXAS KIDNAP VICTIM

Wife of Panama Canal Zone Business Man is Abducted in California.

MISSING WEEK.

Claim Captors Drugged Her, Dyed Hair Red—Woman Involved.

EL PASO, Tex., June 23 (AP) — Mrs. Sibyl Fidanque, 39-year-old San Jose, Calif., radio entertainer, dazed from a harrowing kidnap experience, awaited the arrival today of her 19-year-old son, Jack, from California.

Excited and wild-eyed, the youth sped through the night in a dash to his mother, who was discovered in a hotel here yesterday after being mysteriously absent from her home since June 16.

Mrs. Fidanque, exhausted from shock and drugs she said the kidnappers administered, disclosed her identity to a hotel clerk, who immediately notified authorities.

Mrs. Fidanque, wife of a Panama Canada zone business man, said, "A man with a gun and a woman he called 'Girlie and 'Maizie' kidnapped me."

"I was in my home and my son had just left for a resort," she said. "The door bell rang and I went to the door. A young woman, about 30, stood there looking at me. I asked her if she was looking for my son, and she said 'Yes.'

Shoves Gun in Ribs

"I told her my son had just left. Then the young woman called to a big, tall stranger to come to the porch. She called him 'Jim.' Jim put a gun against my ribs and took me back into the house, where he picked up some of my clothes and put them into a bag. Then they took me out to a luxurious automobile.

"'Is this a kidnapping?' I asked. 'Hell, no, that's not my racket,' the big man answered. 'Have a drink'. He said it was absinthe. Then they made me sniff something. I don't remember very well what happened. They drove out of town.

Mrs. Fidanque's hair was dyed red by the kidnappers. After this, the man said, "Now she's a dead ringer for the guy we bumped off." The woman could not recall anything else about the trip.

Ex-Convict Admits Murdering Dentist

NEW ORLEANS, June 23 (AP)—Arrested here late yesterday with two pistols in a handbag, Harold St Clair, 30-year-old Ohio ex-convict, admitted to police that he killed Dr. Homer L. Myer, 55, wealthy dentist of Eldorado, Ill., last weekend in Illinois.

Illinois officer speculated that the dentist had been tortured before he was shot and killed and described the slaying as without a motive.

St. Clair told Chief of Detectives John J. Grosch here that he would not fight extradition to Illinois.

"I will go to the electric chair, but the reason why I killed Meyer will go with me," he was quoted by the officer as saying.

The killing occurred on the outskirts of Equality, Ill., near Eldorado. The slayer wa straced by police here through information given by an unnamed persons who saw his picture in the paper.

Hardly Big Enough To Push a Lawn Mower Little Chap In West-End Most Industrious

There's a little chap about eight years old somewhere out in the west end of the town who is going to be a millionaire business magnate when he grows up. If not, it will not be because he failed to show early promise.

Despite the fact that he is hardly big enough to push a man-sized lawn mower, this little chap's racket is cutting grass. He's as thin as a slice of ham in a delicatessan store and wouldn't weigh seventy pounds soaking wet with a copy of 'Anthony Adverse' in his arms. But he put everything he's got into his work and manages to get by.

Before he knocks at a door to apply for a job, he has already made an estimate of the house owner's capacity to pay. If the lawn to be cut is of reasonable size and the occupants appear to be people of only average means, his price is likely to be ten cents. If, however, affluence is apparent, the price may be fifteen or even twenty cents.

With an iron-bound agreement reached, he sets to work. If he misses a patch here and there his employer overlooks the omissions, for it is quite apparent that a dozen lads his size would scarcely make a bushel. And he is so conscientious that no one would want to criticize his work anyway. His policy, he explains, is to please his customers.

When the job is done and he reports to collect his money, he asks if and when he will be wanted again. Regardless of the reply, he produces a slip of paper with his telephone number already written on it, hands it to the customer and, with a cheerful "Good-bye!" makes his departure.

Woman's Rights

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y., June 23 (CP)—An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and a slap for a slap may satisfy some people, but City Judge Howard M. Starr has a variation all his own.

In disposing of a family quarrel where a woman accused her nephew of striking her, he declared that a woman is justified in giving a man two slaps for every one he gives her.

"She might even use a flat-iron," he suggested.

BUYING POWER COMING FOR ALL AGNES PREDICTS

Wages For Those Who Work to be Above National Dividend.

CASH WITHOUT INTEREST.

Woman M.P. Lauds Bennett For Drawing $40,000,000 to Ease Unemployment.

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., June 23 (C.P.).—"We are within measurable distance of the time when national credit, buying power or monetized wealth will be issued to all persons and those who work will have their wages over and above the national dividend or what term it may be called," Miss Agnes MacPhail, Canada's only woman member of Parliament, told the Zonta International convention here to-day.

Miss MacPhail predicted the first step in this radical change of the monetary system will be the financing of Government activities by the issue of national or new credit, that is, free money or funds without interest.

"I am filled with gratitude that the Prime Minister has at last drawn on the national credit to the extent of $53,000,000, of which $40,000,000 has been appropriated for his public works program. My only regret is it was not done in 1930. We needed it so much and it would have saved unnecessary suffering," Miss MacPhail declared. "This bill is the first step in the change in our money system. It includes old age pensions, soldiers' pensions and direct relief and inasmuch as these two would be financed by new money, we have begun financing to

HEPBURN FIRM ABOUT DECISION FOR SHAKE-DOWN

Claims Spoils System Automatically Cancelled End of Henry's Regular Term.

"USURPED EXTRA YEAR."

Premier-elect Refers to New Perth Crown Attorney—To Go With Rest.

TORONTO, June 22.—(C. P.) — Political appointments made by the Conservative government in the fifth year of the last legislature will be cancelled, Mitchell F. Hepburn, premier-elect of Ontario, is quoted as saying in a despatch to a Toronto paper from St. Thomas today.

Mr. Hepburn said the appointments were automatically cancelled by his election, the despatch says, adding his statement was made in reference to the appointment of John Murray, new Crown Attorney of Perth County. He was named in an order-in-council dated June 16 and announced after the elections.

"Mr. Hepburn left no possible ambiguity about his intentions and seldom has he, during the past few days, shown such signs of determination," the despatch says. It continues:

"They usurped an extra year of power and every appointment made during that period of the spoils system is automatically cancelled. We will not recognize any of these appointment," was his emphatic pronouncement.

Useless Efforts

"In reference to the Murray appointment the Liberal Leader said: 'They might just as well save their efforts, because all appointments after the expiration of the four years of the five they have been in power will be wiped out by us.

"The Conservative Government was elected for a four-year period; lengthening the life of the Legislature by a year was entirely unconstitutional and irregular. I will do exactly as I said I would do, including the cancellation of every job given defeated Conservative candidates."

The despatch quotes Mr. Hepburn as saying he would revert to the former four-year system for the Legislature.

JESUS, A GERMAN, WAS CRUCIFIED BY JEWS, IS THE CLAIM OF NAZIS

Storm-Troopers Invade Village of Oberammergau—Laud Play.

PEOPLE ARE KIND

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

OBERAMMERGAU, June 23. — Everybody expected Herr Adolf Hitler here to-day. The papers suddenly announced yesterday afternoon that the chancellor would drive over from Munich to witness a representation of the Passion. The news produced great excitement in Oberammergau. Immediately all the streets were scrupulously washed and even the facades of the houses were scrubbed with soap and water, something I have not seen anywhere else in the world except in Holland, where it is done once a week, and then not merely when important visitors are expected, but on general principles. This morning every house in Oberammergau was decorated with the swastika-banner and the church bells of the villages in the valley for miles and miles around began to jeal joyously as soon as the dawn peered over the Bavarian Alps. But Herr Hitler did not come.

Instead there came dozens of auto-cars loaded with Nazi storm-troopers. This part of Bavaria, it should be remembered is the humble birthplace of the Hitler movement which is to-day conquering the German world. I was a little surprised to see so many brown-shirts pour into town but the Nazi boy who sat next to me during the performance explained that he and

One Day Too Many

BROOKLYN, Ill., June 23 (C. P.). — All P. H. Hemingway, negro, wanted was just one more day as Chief of Police of this negro settlement.

Discharged by the City Council, Hemingway refused to surrender his badge until after the annual school picnic. Decked in his uniform and adorned with the chief's badge and revolver, the erstwhile officer took in the picnic only to be arrested by the deputy sheriffs. He was charged with impersonating an officer.

80 TEACHERS ARE AFFECTED BY NEW ORDER

At Least 80 Were Expected to Return Here for Second Year Course.

86 HERE LAST YEAR

Teachers Who Have Taught Two Years Likely Get Their Permanent.

Eighty or more teachers in the Central Ontario region who were planning to return to the Peterborough Normal School this Fall and secure their permanent certificates will be affected by abolition of the second one-year Normal course as announced by Premier-elect Hepburn, it was learned today.

Dr. J. A. Bannister, principal, states that although there had been no registration compiled for the course next term, as large a class as the one which took the course in the past season was expected. Eighty-six completed their required qualifying years last week. No official word has been given out in the matter as yet but it is presumed that all teachers with interim certificates who have successfully completed two years of teaching will be granted permanent certificates in accordance with the old system, he said.

Put In Force In 1927

Under the system which has been in force since 1927, students were granted interim certificates after completing their regular one-year course. After having secured at least two years' experience, they were required to return within four years of their graduation for the

SMITH ENTERS ST. LAWRENCE

Spent Night at Kingston—Left To-day for Brockville.

MONTREAL ON SUNDAY.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 23 (CP)—John Smith, lone canoeist, from Peterborough, who arrived here last night on his paddling trip from Peterborough, Ontario, to Peterborough, England, left here this morning on his way to Montreal. Shortly after nine o'clock, Smith "took off," from the Kingston Yach Club and gracefully glided along the almost glass-like water to Point Frederick, where the narrow part of the river commences. The conditions were ideal for paddling and Smith seemed anxious to get away as quickly as possible.

Mr. Smith had little to say as he prepared to leave this morning, and said that he expected to get to Brockville to-night and Montreal on Sunday night.

VIENNA POLICE PAINT PODERJAY 'SLAVE' OF LOVE

Say Elaborately Equipped Apartment Indicates Sadistic Tendencies.

PROBE CONTINUES.

N. York Asks Scotland Yard to Locate Witnesses to Ferrand Marriage.

VIENNA, June 23.—(A P)—Bruno Barber, head of the International Police organization of Vienna, declared today that sufficient evidence had been discovered to support a charge of murder against Ivan Poderjay in the United States.

(By Wade Werner, A.P. Foreign Staff.)

VIENNA, June 23 (A.P.). —Letters written by Captain Ivan Poderjay and made public to-day by the police paint him as a bizarre "slave"—to use his own word—of love.

The dashing international lover began his 10th day in a Vienna cell to-day while police, who are holding him on suspicion of murder in connection with the disappearance of his American wife, the talented Agnes Tufverson, inquired further into his past.

A glimpse into Poderjay's views of love was gained in the letters police found at the apartment Poderjay occupied before his arrest. The letters referred to women as 'sovereign queens' and to himself as a "slave" of love.

Coupled with the letters was the evidence of the apartment itself, the furnishing of which disclosed its owner as definitely an abnormally erotic, police said. One room of the apartment, police noted, was elaborately equipped and indicated, they said, "sadistic tendencies."

Erotic Books.

In the room police found a library the books of which, hardly without exception, were erotic. Various drawings gave further evidence of the owner's sadistic interests.

It was in this apartment that he lived with Susanne Ferrand, to whom he was married in 1933 in London. Police hinted that she may have known of his efforts to obtain money from other women and encouraged them. He wed Miss Tufverson several months later in New York.

A check of women's clothing found in the apartment developed that many things Mlle. Ferrand claimed as her own really belonged to Miss Tufverson, whose trunk was there.

Call on Scotland Yard.

New York police, who have searched unavailingly for Miss Tufverson's body, asked Scotland Yard to locate the two witnesses to Poderjay's marriage to Mlle. Ferrand.

Should the witnesses consent to appear a charge of perjury will be fyled against Poderjay. This was a move toward his extradition to the United States.

Miss Saly Tufverson, sister of the missing woman, said descriptions of a woman believed to be Miss Tufverson seen in a Boston dry cleaning establishment this month did not tally with the features of her sister.

Loved Women Too Much.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 23 (A.P.).—A sister of Captain Ivan Poderjay, held in Vienna under suspicion of murder, blamed "loving women too much" for his plight.

"Since everybody discusses my brother I sit at home with the children and weep," said despatches from Jubljana, where the sister lives.

"We are desperate and hardly dare to enter the streets. I would stake my life that Ivan is not guilty of murder. His whole misfortune was loving women too much.

Satisfied

NAPA, Calif., June 23 (CP)—Why bother about quintuplets, Joseph Brimhall, rancher, inquired to-day as Mrs. Brimhall presented him with their 17th baby.

Brimhall explained that he and the "Missus" had done pretty well acquiring a family one at a time—except for one set of twins. They've been married 23 years.

Friends Of Newman Hold Huge Reception

LINDSAY, Ont., June 23 (Examiner Correspondence).—Friends of Mr. William Newman, member-elect for Victoria and Haliburton, had planned a reception at his home in Lorneville on Thursday evening to celebrate his victory, but were obliged to change their plans.

The crowd was so great that it was decided to stage the function in the village of Woodville. A procession was formed, headed by the village band, and the victor was borne in triumph to the Community Hall. Congratulatory addresses were delivered by prominent Liberals and ice cream, etc., was served the large gathering.

HAVELOCK SCHOOL ADVANCES INTO GRADE A CLASSIFICATION

Means Pupils Will Not Have to Go to Norwood or Peterboro for Upper Subjects.

PRINCIPAL NEEDED.

HAVELOCK, June 23.—(Examiner Correspondent)—As a result of action taken by the school board at their meeting held in the school room on Thursday evening it will no longer be necessary for Havelock pupils to attend Norwood High School or Peterborough Collegiate Institute for Upper School subjects after they have taken their lower and middle school subjects here. A third teacher will be employed and the grading changed from 'B' to 'A'.

Chairman Bernard Smith presided at the meeting which was attended by all the trustees: Ernest Spencer, Charles Taylor, William Copp, William Bullied, H. W. Roche and David McAdam. A unique feature of the meeting was the absence of ratepayers. With the exception of the members, the caretaker, Miss Whitton and the press not a single ratepayer was present to see this most important stroke of business take place.

Salaries Raised $50

It was moved by Trustee Taylor and seconded by Trustee McAdam that the salaries of the public school teachers be raised $50 to start September 1st and new contracts be drawn for same. H. W. Roche's amendment that they receive a $100, raise was lost for want of a seconder. After a few small accounts were ordered paid it was decided to ask for tenders on a sixty ton car of coal, to be weighed on the C.P.R. scales.

A motion by Ernest Spencer and H. W. Roche that Robert Buchanan caretaker receive a $100 salary increase failed to get the support of the board.

Inspector Randall and Miss Whitton had told the board that if the grading was changed, two and preferably three of the teachers should have their arts degree. N. L. Small the present assistant has his degree but lacks a few months experience to take over the new principal's duties. Miss Whitton lacks one subject of her arts degree; but has the permission of the Inspector to act providing the two assistants hired hold degrees. Miss Edith L. Roberts of the Public school teaching staff is qualified to act as an assistant; but hasn't her Arts written off. She had talked the matter over with some of the members previous to the meeting; but her application was purely verbal as was Miss Whitton's for the position of principal.

Advertise For Principal

A motion by trustees Taylor and Copp carried that the secretary be instructed to advertise for an experienced principal for a grade 'A' school. Some of the members queried as to the sex preferable; but the majority favored leaving this open until the applications arrived.

After considerable estimating on salaries and current expenses a motion by Taylor and Roche carried that the requisition arrived at should be $6240—$3794 for the public school and $2446 for the continuation school.

Some time ago when the board's action in the changing of the grad had not yet been settled they asked Miss Whitton to waive her right to notification by June 1 as her contract calls for. She did this. Trustee Taylor moved that Miss Whitton's contract be cancelled. Trustee Copp moved that she be retained at a salary of $1200. Taylor and McAdam moved that Miss Whitton be retained at $1100. If this is not accepted the secretary was asked to advertise for another assistant. Carried.

Millbrook

This being the season of weddings an Institute branch in a small village decided to consider the subject of 'showers' at its June gathering, as several of these social events were in prospect within the month, or possibly the next six weeks. A visitor in the locality who held the position of hostess in a smart summer boarding house brought a number of suggestions, at the request of the program committee.

As an opening to the practical information to follow, the speaker said that she had often felt sorry for the bride-to-be in her embarrassment on the occasion of a shower, "watching her unwrap parcels, read the cards, and then while the cynosure of all eyes rack her poor brain to think up adjectives of admiration until the last parcel is on the table minus its covering."

"Then, that part being finished, frequently nothing more has been planned, and the guest of honor sits there wondering what more she is expected to do, while everyone else looks embarrassed, too. If you want to 'say it with showers' try to plan that there will be plenty of bright sunshine after the 'shower' is over, and wipe out altogether the unpleasant pauses."

"Suppose you are planning, say, a 'towel shower,' or a 'handkerchief shower,' have them concealed some place overhead; in a happy manner manage to seat the bride-to-be underneath, and give her some ribbon streamers to pull that will bring down the deluge of gifts—not to bang her on the head as I have seen it done sometimes, but to fall into her lap and about her on the floor. Perhaps you are thinking that I ought to tell you specifically how to arrange the 'overhead?' Well, a large bell, prettily decorated, and suspended in a doorway is a nice way to hold the surprise; fasten the articles to the ribbon so that they may be brought down when these are pulled and just tell the bride to ring the bell.

"Be careful, however, not to overload your bell; better to let it hold what it will nicely and then bring in the overflow on a big trimmed-up tray or basket, than to spoil the whole effect by making the 'overhead do too heavy duty. Let us think of a "kitchen shower"; recently I saw this done successfully by means of a broom dressed up and stood in one corner of a big cream and green enamel dish-pan—both of course are part of the shower.

"On the broom's top fasten a tin pie plate that has a face painted on its back; a dish mop makes hair, and naturally you will have a dust cap, daintily made, to cover the back of the head. A clothes hanger makes arms and body, on which you place your dish cloths, and nicely-embroidered cup towels, while a bungalow apron covers all. Surplus gifts go in the dish pan, and the kitchen knives, forks and spoons may be tied at the end of the 'arms. Each gift must have a rhyme attached and for the pan I give you this one:

"Sally and I will stay by your side,
Well never forsake our dear little bride.'

For the broom I saw this couplet and copied it down:

"I'll brush the cobwebs, and sweep the floor,
And chase the peddlers from your door."

"Now for some of the trimmings for the shower: the wedding march as the guest of honor is brought in and seated beneath the bell, or use an umbrella nicely trimmed, if you prefer. 'She's a Jolly Good Fellow," after the cards have been read, the gifts unwrapped, and the thanks spoken. But here is the moment of embarrassment; don't let it be just a dead pause, but have your committee act promptly either with some program numbers in the way of music or recitations, or proceed with games and contests. Or a one-act play may be prepared that will create fun and laughter, taking attention away from the bride-to-be, but not being of a character to focus all eyes upon her with its suggestiveness on some aspect of the married state. I have been furiously angry more than once with the bad taste exhibited in the choice of program material that all reflected on the change in the mode of life shortly to take place." Questions and answers completed a most helpful afternoon.

MASS BUYING INQUIRY ENDS FOR SESSION

Scheme to Ensure Better Returns for Coast Fishermen is Discussed.

OTTAWA, June 23 (C.P.).—After more than four months of almost daily sittings, the House of Commons committee on price spreads and mass buying has completed taking evidence for this session. It has covered a wide variety of business and industrial affairs, tobacco growing, retail merchandizing, livestock marketing, dairying, fishing, department and chain store operations and factory wages and yet a large part of its field has not been touched.

The committee will meet in executive session Monday to consider a report to the House and the question of further investigations. The suggestion has been dropped that it be turned into a Royal commission to continue its inquiries after Parliament prorogues, and this may be considered Monday.

Yesterday the committee received a report from an investigator on the Atlantic fishing industry which urged further study of the fishing question with a view to working out a marketing scheme which would bring the fishermen a better return.

Returns Fall Off.

In the last few years returns from fishing have been steadily dropping the committee was told, and industry was now in a precarious position. Some fishermen earned as little as $75 a year from their

OPEN VERDICT IS RETURNED WEST INQUEST

Five Year Old Campbellford Youngster Fatally Injured in June 15th Accident.

MANY WITNESSES HEARD.

Oscar Campbell Charged With Unlawfully Causing Grievous Bodily Harm to Deceased.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 23 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — An open verdict was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon, when it met in the Campbellford Public Library to inquire into the death of Elizabeth West, five-year-old Campbellford child, who died in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on June 16, following an accident on June 15, when she is alleged to have been struck by a car while playing on the gravel between the sidewalk and pavement near her home on Front Street. The verdict read: "We, the jury beg to submit these records in finding as follows: In the case of the death of Elizabeth West, it is that the deceased met her death in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on June 16, 1934, from an injury caused on June 15, 1934, about six o'clock in the evening, on North Front Street, Campbellford, about two feet outside of the pavement on the east side of the street, by some unknown force that caused compound fracture of the skull."

The court was presided over by the coroner, Dr. W. F. Loucks, the Crown Attorney, Colonel W. D. Boggs, K.C., of Cobourg, acting for the Crown. The interests of Oscar Campbell, driver of the car alleged to have been involved in the accident, were looked after by Ross Douglas, Campbellford barrister. The jury consisted of J. A. Anderson, foreman, John Gay, T. S. Baker, N. H. Baker, N. H. Morrison, J. R. Battisby, W. R. Phillips, Percy Morgan and Leslie Blake.

First On Scene.

Robert MacDonald was the first witness called to the stand, and examined by the Crown told of his connection with the accident. Having tea in his home, which is located about one hundred feet from the scene of the accident, at about six in the evening, he stated he heard an unusual sound on the road and went out to see what was the matter, finding a child lying off the

COUNTY SEEKS REDUCTION IN SCHOOL COSTS

To Enlist Co-operation of Other Counties in Department Appeal.

DEBATE IN COUNCIL

Reeve Wood, North Monaghan, Says Reeves Consult Local Interests.

In a lively debate on the excessive cost of High School education in committee on schools yesterday, Reeve Harry Wood and Deputy Reeve James Milby of North Monaghan jointly charged that the council was not working for the good of the county as a whole, but that the reeves were working for the sole benefit of their respective municipalities.

Reeve Robert Tedford of Norwood stating his objection to the insinuation, remarked that it was not fair that one township should have to pay the education costs of children from another township.

The reeve of North Monaghan contended that if such was the case, it was equally unfair that one township should have to pay for the roads in another township. The township he represented, he argued, was paying more proportionately to county roads than were other townships in the county.

On motion of Warden Rork Ferguson, seconded by Reeve Robert Tedford, the committee named Reeves Anderson, Burrows and Leahy and Deputy Reeve Milby as a special committee to draw up a resolution, to be approved by the council, in which all county councils in the province are to be memorialized to petition the government in regard to excessive High School costs.

Motion Defeated

The committee turned down a motion moved by Reeve Wood and seconded by Reeve Mann asking that the county revert to section 35 of the High Schools Act by which the county assumes the full cost (less government grants) of the cost of county pupils attending collegiate institutes and high schools in the county. The only other sup-

Luke 1, 33: "Of his kingdom there shall be no end."

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City.

By REV. J. C. ROBINSON, of Campbellford.

WEN and women, in these days, are bearing heavy loads, or burdens. They have many difficulties, serious cares, many anxieties, and maybe in many instances, thinking seriously and wondering where they are going to land.

At times we wonder if the other one has not a better place. There may be a tendency to envy; we are apt to think our lot very difficult. Years ago we knew a man, excellent in many ways—clean, moral, a reader, genial, plenty of this world's goods, a lovely family—yet under all we could see he was not happy. He was carrying a burden, and very few knew it.

These unseen burdens may be the heaviest to carry. They provoke no sympathy. The visible burden—whatever it is—gets some sympathy. Some one comes to us and says a kind word. Then we pick up courage—go on. We cannot exchange our lot for that of another—no. It is because we do not know or see all that we are apt to think the other fellow's place in life is easier than ours. Each one has a burden of some kind.

Think of three words as suggestions:

(1) We are told, "Every man shall bear his own burden." Not even the Master can bear some of them. We must bear them ourselves. That is true of duty and personal responsibility—no man can live your life for you.

Friends may do much to help—encourage us, by good cheer, sympathy, kind words, by love's inspirations, by good counsel, by guidance—but in the end you and I must live life alone and for ourself.

No one can make your choices; no one can have faith in God or the Master for you or me; no one can meet your obligations of the moral law but you; no one can get your sins forgiven but you. You must do your own duty. Come to Him—meet your own responsibility! Other people may be good and faithful, but that avails naught for you. No one can take your lot or place in life; no one can carry your load or your burden. "Every man shall bear his own burden."

(2) The next word is—it looks like a contradiction of the first one above, but no—"Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfil the law of Christ."

We do receive and can be helped. It is fine when some one draws near with a big kind heart, speaks lovingly, and we are picked up, take courage and go on. Principal Patrick said to me once, "Go on! Go on! Go on!" In suffering it is fine to have true friendship—it puts iron into the blood, sympathy nerves to be true, faithful. To be yourself and heroic in duty, sympathy or love does not take away the pain, never removes the sorrow, nor brings back the love done gone. No, it does not even lighten the load, but it gives to us a kind of comradeship by which we see and feel there is another shoulder at the wheel.

One summer evening, standing on the wharf at Port Arthur, Rev. Dr. Murray and myself were chatting. We heard a little tug puffing in the distance. We could not see it. It was pulling a large barge of timber. In a second or so we caught sight of it. We waited till it came near where we stood. He said, "What does it suggest to you?" And after a little he again said, "It reminds me of the beautiful thought: How good it is to go through life having some one hanging on to our skirts!" It struck deep into my heart. To help some one to live a better life, to get the "Great Prop" under the life, so that the soul sings the Great New Song and the feet stand on the "Rock of Ages."

We need each other, we need friends, we cannot get on without our neighbors, to share with them the loads and help to lift each other's burdens—that is not some faint way. Beginning to fulfil the law of Christ, thus we grow like Him, thus we make it easier for some one, and that is being like Miss Dixon's idea when she says: "If I can stop one heart from breaking, I shall not live in vain, or help one fainting robin into its nest again, I shall not live in vain."

(3) Now the third word is most comforting. It is, "Cast thy burden upon the Lord and He shall sustain thee." Some burdens we carry alone, we do receive help with others, some burdens only God can carry for us. Think of these lines:

"Put any burden upon me, only sustain me;
Send me anywhere, only go with me;
Sever any tie save the one that binds me
To Thyself and to Thy service."

On the margin of your Bible, Ps. 55, the word "burden" is "gift," and "gift" may be again translated, "It is that He hath given thee."

It may be our duty, our work, our place in life, and the heart aches these days, yet there is the joy and the glory unusual. It is heavy for mothers in training. Fathers have their hands full. The mother does all in human power for her family, the father finding the "where-withall." Business men have worries, burdens, interests; they endeavor to manage faithfully, wisely. Oh, the burden is heavy for ministers, who labor, watch and pray for souls.

Duty is heavy, going second mile is a joy, the hands are full, the heart is filled, and at times it is almost too much. But it is "That He hath given thee." He is at the right hand in our lot. Our duty, in every battle, every struggle—life is never easy, the conflict increases, it is not for to-day merely but to the end—is to do what is right, to be noble, honest, kind, and to find that little thing "sin" is never far from us, contesting our advance. Because we wish to live a good life, to stamp out selfishness, resist the hateful, to live purely, at the same time dark streams of one thing and another stain our pathway, thwart our progress. Just remember, "It is that He hath given thee." Therefore we can bring everything to Him and He may say, "Cast it that hath been given thee back upon Me."

"I will carry your burden. Be with thee in deep waters. Even when we pass through the fires, we shall not be burned."

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered
By DR. WYLIE CLARK

I am a father whose two sons were killed in the war. At the time we were willing to have them go, and when they died fighting we felt honored that they had done so. Now we are not sure if it were not all wrong and we feel ourselves growing bitter. Can you give us any comfort?—G.W.S.

When the war was once started there seemed nothing to do but fight it through. To do this our men — so many of them just boys — had to go and, of course, as it was a great war they were killed by the thousands. Looking back, it was all a big mistake—an awful blunder—an avalanche of destruction. It never should have happened. We know now the folly of it all. The "too late" is a tremendous "too late."

Dr. Wylie Clark

However, there is no use crying over what might have been. It is ours to face things as they are and to see that it never happens again.

We have to continue to bear the losses as best we can and let them daily warn us to seek peace.

Our comfort is two-fold, we and our boys did what seemed ought to be done at the time and the hope that the sacrifice will not be in vain.

My father and I had a violent quarrel over going to Sunday School. I didn't want to go because the teacher was no good and I disliked him. Although I was fifteen at the time, my father would not listen to me. He finally struck me and ordered me out. I went. That is thirty-one years ago and during all that time they have never heard of me and do not know if I am living or dead. My father and mother are now old; should I go home or is it better to leave things as they are? I may say, I have done well in life and, strange to say, teach a class in Sunday School.—J. McD.

Yours is rather an odd story, but very true to life. We do get some strange mix-ups and unexpected endings. If you had had a good Sunday School teacher how different things would have been, but who can say whether they would have been better? Perhaps the independence of thought and action in your conflict with your father were the makings of you.

One thing you lack—forgiveness. Those thirty-one years have rested heavily on the hearts of your father and mother. Many are the hours of misery your mother has spent and she is yet hoping to see you before she dies.

Make haste to the old home. You will find in the reconciliation that which will wipe out the years between.

We had two children—a boy and a girl. At the age of three the girl died. The boy is now twelve and is a fine lad, but rather inclined to see the sad side of things. As we have never recovered from the death of our girl our home is far from bright. could you suggest anything to help us?—S.B.

The trouble lies in the second word of your question, the word "had." You still "have" two children—one on earth and one in heaven. You have been and still are grudging your girlie her promotion to be with Jesus, where she has missed and will continue to miss all the sorrows and troubles of earth.

You have been thinking about yourselves and a tiny grave instead of freely talking about your dear one in heaven. The gloom of your hearts has fallen upon your home and boy until you are all living in the shadows and missing the sunshine of life.

Do not forget that no matter how well you might have cared for your child she is far better off where she is. God knew what was best for her.

Cast aside your mourning and give your boy a chance.

PROPOSE CHURCH IN OLD BAGHDAD

British Leaders Move to Erect Memorial to Soldier Dead in Mesopotamia.

LONDON, June 23.—(CP). — An appeal for $20,000 to build a "Mesopotamian Memorial Church" in Baghdad is signed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Sir Francis Humphrys, British Ambassador in Baghdad, and others.

The building which has been used as a church since 1921 was originally a Turkish guardhouse, and will shortly have to be demolished, owing to town-planning developments, and the construction of a steel bridge across the River Tigris. The British community in Baghdad, numbering some 400, is anxious for a permanent church, and a site has been acquired.

It is suggested the new church should be built as a memorial to the 41,115 British lives sacrificed in Mesopotamia during the war, and to those killed in Iraq. The building would include a memorial shrine containing a book inscribed with the names of those British men and women who gave their lives on Mesopotamian soil.

Quarterly Review Lesson — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Matthew 16:13-28:20.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Jesus' whole life was lived in a spirit of willingness to give himself in loving service to others. In this spirit he found time to serve even the little children who were brought to him. He took them up in his arms and blessed them.

In the case of the rich young ruler he applied to the use of money this spirit of service for which the cross stands. He taught that our possessions are not to be held for selfish enjoyment but to be used in loving service of the poor about us.

After giving his whole life in teaching and in deeds of serving love, Jesus gave up his life upon the cross. Even here his thoughts were for others rather than for himself, as he "gave his life a ransom for many".

Three days after his crucifixion Jesus rose triumphant over death and the grave and showed himself to his disciples on various occasions for 40 days, when he ascended into heaven, commanding his disciples to establish his kingdom.

(GOLDEN TEXT—Luke 1:33)

When Christ said, "Your Father knows," He meant, "Your Father cares."

• • •

Sublime living stamps beauty upon the face.

I hardly know so true a mark of a little mind as the servile imitation of others.

• • •

There is nothing against which our Lord warns us so terribly as hypocrisy.

• • •

Love makes all gifts equal, and the King values love above all gifts.

• • •

He who cannot give a penny may yet flood another's life with sunshine.

Never part without loving words.

This world is given as the prize of men in earnest, and this is truer of the world to come.

• • •

Character must stand behind and support everything, the sermon, poem, picture, play.

We should not fret about things essential because God knows we have need of these things.

• • •

An absolute surrender to all that is better, purer, truer is the secret of character-building.

• • •

By being happy we sow anonymous benefits upon the world which remain unknown even to ourselves.

SATURDAY, JUNE 23, 1934

A FINE ANNIVERSARY NUMBER.

A journalistic effort that is earning the hearty commendation of newspapers everywhere is the 60-page special number issued by the Owen Sound Sun-Times to celebrate the 80th anniversary of its founding.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the parent paper was the Times, which made is first appearance in 1854. The Owen Sound Sun was established in 1890 as a tri-weekly and weekly, and fourteen years after was taken over by C. A. and Howard Fleming of the Fleming Publishing, Ltd. Almost at the end of the World War, on November 1, 1918, to be exact, the Sun and Times were amalgamated.

The time, effort and expense involved in this anniversary number will be realized fully by other newspaper men, who understand the amount of research work, of digging out the information and preparing the special stories that was required to turn out such a wealth of information in regard to Owen Sound, its prominent citizens, its history, its industries, its schools and other public institutions, and every other phase of activity in the community.

It is an issue of which any newspaper staff might well be proud, and reflects the greatest credit upon the management and the editorial and mechanical forces of the Sun-Times, who have succeeded in producing an anniversary edition that a much bigger plant is likely to look upon with much admiration—and not a little envy.

The Examiner in congratulating the Sun-Times hopes that the next eighty years of its existence will bring it still greater expansion and prosperity.

MANUFACTURING STATISTICS.

The extent to which manufacturing decreased in Ontario at the peak of the depression is seen in figures released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics; incidentally the same statistics show how highly industrialized this province has become in recent years.

In 1932 reports were received from 9,844 manufacturing establishments in the province, a decrease of 296 from the number reporting the previous year, and these revealed the fact that the value of merchandise produced by these establishments amounted to $1,028,397,654, a decrease of $284,003,174, or 21.6 per cent., from the value in 1931.

The amount of capital invested also declined, having dropped to $2,144,008,857; this represents a decline of $141,352,584, or 6.2 per cent.

Similarly the number of employees and the wages paid them were also lower.

In 1931, 269,739 persons were given employment, while the following year this number dropped to 239,231, a decline of 305,008.

The salaries and wages paid in 1931 amounted to $313,676,300, while in 1932 this had decreased by $57,469,068 to $256,207,232.

The cost of materials used amounted to $459,910,999, a decrease of $137,968,793 from the 1931 figures, while the value added by manufacture also declined from $714,521,036 in 1931 to $568,486,655, a decline of $146,034,381.

MR. SINCLAIR AND THE CABINET.

The Examiner would not presume for a moment to advise Mr. Hepburn as to the personnel of his Cabinet; the selection of his ministry is the prerogative of the Premier, and in any event he is doubtless being showered with advice, suggestions, petitions and "demands" from every quarter.

Nevertheless we cannot help saying that among the people of this section of Ontario—and this applies alike to Conservatives and Liberals—the prestige of the new administration would be materially and immediately enhanced by the inclusion of Mr. Sinclair in the Cabinet.

True, during the heat of the campaign Mr. Hepburn said something about not inviting into his Cabinet any person who did not hold the same views as he did on the beer question—and Mr. Sinclair does not—but we are certain that the Premier-elect would be readily forgiven for forgetting that particular promise to call upon the former Liberal leader to serve in his administration.

Mr. Sinclair possesses the training and experience and the grasp of provincial affairs that fit him admirably for the administration of a department; moreover he is dependable, not easily swayed, and reliable, and people of all shades of political faith have faith in his squareness and honesty.

The Premier-elect has a chance to solidify his position and strengthen his Cabinet by the inclusion of the member for Ontario, and the constituencies of Central Ontario are unanimous in hoping that after his many years in opposition Mr. Sinclair will at least receive the reward that he has so richly earned.

THE WHEAT SITUATION.

In a most informative article on the relationship between the demand and supply of wheat, the current monthly review of the Canadian Bank of Commerce calls attention to the extraordinary vagaries of the wheat market during the past ten years.

The world's visible supply (reported by Broomhall) has varied from 134,000,000 bushels in September, 1925, to 644,000,000 bushels in February, 1933.

The price per bushel of No. 1 Manitoba Northern in Winnipeg, reckoned on an average monthly basis, has varied from 1.96½ in February, 1926, to 42½ in December, 1932.

There have been times, during the past decade, when the purchasing power of the farmer was a strong influence—perhaps the strongest and healthiest of all influences—making for all round prosperity.

There have been other times, as the bank's statement points out, when his purchasing power was so restricted by low prices, by local harvest failures, by growing tax burdens, and by the burden of debts contracted in prosperity, as not only to narrow his own circumstances very severely, but also to cripple whole industries to whose continued activity the demand of the farmer for their product was essential.

Diagrams illustrating the monthly review show that about 310,000,000 bushels represents the normal average world's visible supply, while during the past year the world supply has averaged about 512,000,000 bushels, or some 202,000,000 bushels above normal.

The latest monthly figure for May, 1934, is 495,000,000 bushels, while at the time of writing the cash price of No. 1 Manitoba Northern in Winnipeg was 77⅞c.

Thus, says the statement, if the drought were only to reduce the world's visible supply by 200,000,000 bushels or there about, and if it were only to raise the price of No. 1 Northern by 11c or 12c per bushel, its influence might fairly be described, on the whole, a corrective of the present abnormal situation.

This would be cold comfort for the farmer whose own harvest has been ruined, but considered market-wise, it would make for healthier conditions in agriculture.

A REPORT OF CULTURE.

To provide for report on cultural conditions in Canada (literature, art, drama, education, etc.) $2,500.

This item from the supplementary estimates seems to indicate that somebody is worrying about our cultural state, finds it deplorable, wants something done about it.

Periodically there arise in the land persons overflowing with culture who tell us we have no Canadian literature, no native arts and drama, that our Canadian poets are not appreciated. They tell us about the great epics of the soil which come out of little Scandinavia, review the glories of culture which were part of Greece and Rome, shudder violently at the thought that Canadian writers seek a market in the United States. Subjected to these blasts of condemnation we register proper horror, and go on placidly about the business of paying the grocer and the landlord.

The fact is there seems to be an idea among the uncultured that such matters as literature, art and drama can't be forced into extraordinary growth by campaigns or petitions or associations or even "book weeks." They feel, too, that on the whole we haven't done so badly, in intervals between building railroads and opening up half a continent; point to a list forty pages long of books written last year about Canada and by Canadians and declare that in so much wordage there must be at least a little literature. There is plenty of evidence, too, that we are doing something about the drama, about painting, while as for education we are spending enough money to corner all the culture of North America—if such a thing could be bought over the counter.

But everything will come right when we get a report on the whole question. We shall know on official authority just what we have done and how we are undone, and it will all be set out for our guidance. Perhaps we shall be able to look back upon it as a cultural milestone.—Ottawa Journal.

ELEPHANTS' TEETH, DAGGERS AND DIRKS.

The latest acquisition to the Editor's collection of old Customs books and papers is a small volume published in Nova Scotia three years before Confederation, says the National Revenue Review. It bears the voluminous title: "Laws of Nova Scotia relating to Customs and Excise Duties and for the Prevention of Smuggling, as amended. Rates of Duties Payable on Goods, Wares and Merchandise, Imported into the Province, with Forms used for Entering, Warehousing or Exporting, as sanctioned by the Board of Revenue. Arranged by Thomas R. DeWolf, Clerk in the Financial Secretary's Office, Halifax, N. S. Printed by A. Grant, Printer to the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, 1864."

The old volume comprises 204 pages, about one-third of which are devoted to the tariff, which included such unfamiliar objects as elephants' teeth, crinoline, sanglier cols (cravat stiffeners), hoops and marina, brodequins, brucine, caliminaris lapis, cinchona, concans, divi divi, elecampane, fids, jallalpore, mamoody and kirschenwasser. Daggers and dirks, also, are listed, with the proviso, however, that they cannot be imported from foreign countries.

A large percentage of the items are rated at 10 per cent. The few exceptions include the following: absynth, rated at 50 cents a gallon; whiskey, 70 cents a gallon; rum, 40 cents a gallon; ale, beer and porter, 6 cents a gallon; spirits, 90 cents a gallon; wine, $2.50, $1.50, 60 cents or 25 cents a gallon, according to kind; cigars, snuff and cigarettes, and patent medicines, 26 per cent.; machinery of all kinds, and nearly all iron, 5 per cent.

Following the dutiable goods is a five-page table of exemptions. This table is divided into sections, one of which is headed "Exemptions from the United States of America under the Reciprocity Treaty." Another section is headed "Exemptions from Canada, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland by Proclamation." Each of these sections includes about one page of items.

Excise duties were light in those days. Under the Revised Statutes of Excise Duties the following rates are set forth:

All ale, porter and other malt liquors, brewed or manufactured in this province, shall pay a duty of two cents a gallon.

All tobacco leaf manufactured into tobacco, cigars or snuff, within this province, shall pay a duty of one cent per pound.

One chapter of the old book is devoted to statutes relative to the prevention of smuggling and is subdivided under 14 headings. One subdivision reads:

Every collector may at any time between sunrise and sunset enter into any building of any person dealing in dutiable goods and take an account of his stock, and if he shall refuse to open the door or shall obstruct the officer, he shall forfeit four hundred dollars.

Proceeds from seizures were to be applied as follows:

The collector, out of the net proceeds of the sale, after paying the expense of the proceedings, shall pay one-half part of the seizor and the remainder as the board shall direct, and the board may thereout grant a further sum to the seizor, or may recompense the informer, or any person assisting in the seizure.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

One of Mr. Hepburn's first difficulties will be to endeavor to please all the constituencies that believe their favorite sons should be given Cabinet jobs.

C.C.F. leaders claim they will have a candidate in every constituency in the next federal election. Well, they can't do anything to anybody for trying.

Those Blackstock bank robbers were doubtless encouraged by Tuesday's election results to try a little cleaning-up on their own account.

The Premier-elect will probably discover before long that a story a day won't keep the newspaper men away.

If the present trend in politics continues, Conservatives will attain new value as museum pieces.

CHACO

Better late than never. Two years late is too long to wait. The belated action of the League of Nations in invoking an embargo on arms to end the war between Paraguay and Bolivia ought to be criticized severely. A step in the right direction was made. But why wait two years to take the step? The embargo was a peace move. Why has the church failed to take more vigorous action? Christianity ought never to be hesitant. Jesus was never caught in a hesitating mood. Right seen clearly ought to be prompt in action. Right does not wait to hear what prudence has to say. Prudence is calculating. Right is never.

The Arms Embargo

The embargo action taken in time might have ended the war before the outbreaking of hostilities. Embargo action at this two-year-late date will not end the war. With lessened munition supplies the battles will be indecisive. Like feuds in the Kentucky mountains the war will be a long drawn out affair. This age moves swiftly. Paraguay and Bolivia cannot well afford to be wasting time and life and resources. To keep up with the world's pace both nations must cultivate peace. The war spirit is not the dominant force, even now, throughout the world. The peace mind and will, hold in check the utmost of war propaganda and intrigue.

The great munition companies of the arms producing nations—the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Russia have sold nearly a billion dollars worth of war materials to these two nations. The most up-to-date death dealing machines and airplanes, and combustibles, and flame throwers. This war device is a terrible method of blotting out in a few minutes whole towns, and homes, and public buildings. It is hell. Inconceivable that civilized nations can have the heart to sell to peoples of two nations, such death dealing missives, to whom they have sent missionaries, who have endured hardness, and privation, for a quarter of a century and more. War more than any other one thing will undo by hate what has been accomplished by self denial of missionary and teacher.

It is criminal to sell arms supplies to Paraguay and Bolivia. A World Supreme Court with the most civilized judges obtainable would mete out the death penalty to the guilty. We have no such World Court. But there is a Supreme Judge who will not let the guilty escape. Judgment will fall upon nations as it does upon individuals. This is an age in which the Judgments from above are evident to him who has eyes to see.

President Roosevelt sent to Congress a stern message to embargo arms from Paraguay and Bolivia. Denunciation is not too strong a word to use in reporting his message as he spoke of the calousness and greed of munition makers and merchants whose activities have laid such a heavy burden of taxation on the South American nations, and on all nations.

Has Roosevelt changed his viewpoint touching armies and navies? He has been rated the most pronounced navalist ever to live as president in the White House. He new proposes to cut off $1,500,000 a year from the traffic of the munition makers. Well, well, at the same time he urges Congress to adopt naval plans which will add one billion dollars to the business of the arms makers.

Whether the president is venturing to please the masses of the people by his denunciation of the munitions makers, and also the war minded is not clear. He has in a recent message characterized the armaments as unproductive nationalistic expenditures. He is in the hesitation mood. Fundamental principles demand positive pronouncements and action. President Roosevelt has not yet insisted that the House of Representatives pass the general embargo act which the Senate has accepted. This is his opportunity to settle the mind of the people on a positive policy about the general embargo of arms. If the United States means business and takes the lead in setting up a standard in harmony with the President's message in denunciation of the munition makers and salesmen activities there will be a tremendous response of a favorable kind coming up from the masses of the people of the whole civilized world.

Good has been accomplished by the embargo in slowing up the cruelty and the killing of the half civilized natives of both countries involved in the Chaco dispute.

The home market for army and navy equipment is perhaps the most expensive of any of the nations. The activity of this market surpasses that any other home market. The technique of the salesmen is of the most perfect. Cut down the military and naval budgets. That would cripple the business of the arms makers. It would do more to prevent war than an embargo. Let the nations reduce the home market of the arms industry, and the life will be taken out of war propaganda. Cripple the market, and the whole arms business will be crippled.

What's in The NAME of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

BRANDON, MANITOBA

The Wheat City traces its origin back to 1794 to a trading post of the Hudson's Bay company on the Assiniboine river, 17 miles below the present site. Several years before Brandon House was named, the head of the Douglases, the eighth Duke of Hamilton, had taken his seat in the House of Lords as Duke of Brandon, and the name of the trading post probably commemorates the family's connection with the Hudson's Bay company.

In 1811, Thomas Douglas, fifth Earl of Selkirk, and a number of associates, purchased 116,000 square miles of land from the Hudson's Bay company in the vicinity, so that if the decision to name the city of Brandon had not already been made, it was made soon after.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

GLOOMY GUS

In a dark and gloomy wood, I came upon a monstrous fellow who lay sprawled at the foot of a tree and he scowled at me as I came by. I was whistling at the time and perhaps it was because I was cheerful and perhaps I did it to keep my courage....He had great bushy eyebrows and a petulant mouth, and when I asked him who he was he growled at me: "If it's any of your business, which it isn't, 'Im Pessimism', and I'm cold."

"Why don't you put on your cloak?" said I. "It's lying right there beside you."...."What would be the use of that?" said he, "this terrible wind would blow it off my shoulders—and, besides, I'm hungry"...."There's an inn down the road apiece and I smelled a roast cooking on a spit as I went by."...."It'd be all gone by the time I got there, and probably tough. I'd rather be hungry than wrestle with that kind of food. It's awfully cold sleeping outdoors...And the coyotes yell and the mountain lions scream most terrible in the night, and there's an ant around here that bites."....Said I, "Then why don't you get a room in that inn? It looks clean and neat."...."I would," said he, "but the walls are probably thin and people would be talking all night and I wouldnt get a wink of sleep and I'd have a headache tomorrow—and I know who YOU are, you're one of those silly optimists who are always trying to look on the bright side of things and find the silver linings and if you lose all your money you say, well, at least, you have your health."

"I am not!" said I, indignantly. "I can see the dark side as well as you or anybody else can, but what's the use of making yourself unhappy over it. This life we have isn't the best there is, by any means, but something OAN be said in its favor. Human beings aren't perfect, either, but they have their good points, too....And I'd rather get my fun out of enjoying what I can in life and at least hoping for a little fun than doing as you are, lying under a tree in a dark and gloomy wood and grouching because life isn't sweet and gay—and happy because you're so miserable. What kind of life is THAT, anyway?"

"Get out of here!" yowled the Pessimist. "I KNEW you were an Optimist! You make me sick—get out before I'm sicker!"

So I went, more cheerful than before.

ON THIS DATE
A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY
By Red Williams

A POLITICAL REVOLUTION

On this date in 1896 a political revolution took place in Canada. The people of Canada went to the polls to elect members of the House of Commons for the eight parliament of Canada. The Conservatives, although badly disorganized over the Manitoba school issue and the "nest of traitors" incident of the Bowell administration and staggered by the irreparable loss of Sir John Thompson, were confident that they would retain office. Had they not the great Sir Charles Tupper at their head? Was he not invincible? The Liberals, on the contrary, were hopeful. Not many of them thought they would win. There was a chance, of course, that Laurier might attain victory if Quebec disregarded the counsels of the bishops and voted for the French-Canadian leader and if there was enough gains in the English provinces: but it was a very slight "if". Probably the only man who really was sure that Laurier would win was J. Israel Tarte. He had told Laurier that if he (the chief) looked after the other provinces, he (Tarte), would look after Quebec. And he did:

When the returns came in, it was found that Tarte was right. Laurier won. Nova Scotia, which had 16 Conservatives and 5 Liberals in 1891, had divided equally; New Brunswick, which had sent 13 Conservatives and 3 Liberals in 1891 had elected 9 Conservatives and 5 Liberals; Prince Edward Island, which had in 1891 elected 4 Liberals and 2 Conservatives, but which had lost a member in the decade, returned 3 Conservatives and 2 Liberals; Quebec had elected 49 Liberals as against 35 in 1891, and only 16 Conservatives as against 30; in Ontario the Liberals elected 44, a loss of 1, but the Conservatives had only 44 elected as against 48 in 1891, with 5 independents; Manitoba, for the minority of which the Conservatives had risked so much, and which had sent 4 Conservatives and 1 Liberal in 1891, returned 4 Conservatives and 2 Liberals, with 1 independent; British Columbia, which had elected a solid six Conservatives in 1891, swung to the Liberals electing 4 and only 2 Conservatives; while the Territories, which were solidly Conservative in 1891, split evenly.

There was great rejoicing in Montreal; there was gloom in Toronto, except around the Globe office, where the revolution was as much a surprise as it was in the office of the Mail and Empire, where a large stock of fire works provided to celebrate the victory had to be returned to the maker. There were no Tory fireworks that night!

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Mary K. Brown,
265 Park St., City.

Your writing with its rounded 'i' dots tells of a spirit of courage and excellent humour. I am so sorry to hear of your recent illness, and do hope you are well on the way to recovery. It does take a great deal of courage to face surgical operations, so your writing speaks the truth. However — take good care of yourself, and I feel sure you will gain health and strength during the summer months. Your capital letters all show artistic tendencies, and the main body of the writing reveals teaching ability, though nursing as a profession would have suited you too. Your open letter 'a' in the word 'am' illustrates the fact that you enjoy a really interesting conversation, but in order to be interesting you will find that people must be as mentally efficient as yourself; for you are so keenly alive mentally. In home life, one of your type, would enjoy delving into new recipes for intricate and nourishing dishes. You would prefer your home to reflect your personality, as to drapes, cushions, etc., and I am sure it does. Here's wishing you the best of health in the future and my apologies for not delineating your writing sooner.

Miss Minnie McElwain,
34 Fair Ave., Lindsay, Ont.

Thank you so much for your confidence in my ability to decipher your writing especially as you have asked for the good and bad. Your type as a rule resent being told of their faults, so I shall commence with yours and leave the good till last. You could be very jealous and quick-tempered, and so it is advisable for you to acquire a mental vocation wherein you could learn your own abilities and patience which at present is rather sadly lacking, would follow as a natural sequence. If you had the wherewithal, you would be a spendthrift, though I am inclined to believe that you have curbed that instinct through habit; or environment. You should enjoy music, but it is not necessary for you to play an instrument. Your capital 'M' shows that you are generous in some ways, but you usually manage to make your generosity revert back to yourself. Your imagination is visionary, but not at all practical. Your health requires nerve foods, in order to overcome the strain and tension noted in some of the letter formations. You can be very critical when your nerves are taut. Your number is 3. Your birthsign Aries the Ram—you are ruled by Mars. June and July are your most fortunate months, Tuesday your lucky day. Many nurses and doctors are found under your birthpath number three.

Violet McLean,
54 Kenneth Ave., Oshawa, Ont.

Your handwriting illustrates rather a nervous disposition and I am afraid that you will have to exercise great care if you wish to retain your health. Your disposition is fairly even, but you are inclined to lean upon the judgment of others rather than act upon your own initiative. There is impulse noted in the forward leaning letter formations, and I think you will find that nearly anything you undertake is led by your genuine desire to 'get it over with.' Your 't' bars reveal normal will-power but I am afraid at times your patience is sadly tried though you do really endeavor to hide this fact. Don't try to repress your emotions too much, for if you do, nervousness will ensue. You are rather too generous, aren't you? Could you not try to spare a few rest hours for yourself? Do only the thing or things that you would really like to do. Don't sink your personality entirely to that of others, for you deserve much more happiness than that which is indicated in your writing.

CANADIAN HEAD AVAILABLE FOR CENTRAL BANK—AIRD

TORONTO, June 22.—(C.P.) — Sir John Aird, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, took exception to-day to Premier R. B. Bennett's statement in the House of Commons yesterday that Canadian bankers were of the opinion there was not a man among them capable of taking over control of the new Central Bank.

"I think Mr. Bennett could find a suitable man if he really wanted to," Sir John said. "It is not such a difficult thing to run a Central Bank. I certainly think a Canadian banker who understands Canadian banking and Canadian institutions would be a far better choice than anyone from England."

BUYING POWER

a degree the consumption of goods. Up until now we have only thought of financing production."

The Alternative.

"The machine with the power to drive it will continue to displace man-power, and that includes woman-power, and we must face the fact that if only work brings sustenance, then increasing numbers of people must die. We can't allow that, the only alternative is to finance consumption direct, allowing them to secure food, clothing and shelter, at least," Miss MacPhail stated.

"Wealth and money are two different things. We have an abundance of wealth to supply us with necessities and luxuries, that's a self-evident fact, and we have the plant and equipment to produce much more. We are short only of money due to an antiquated money system designed for an age of scarcity. Of all money 96 per cent. is issued at the will of the chartered banks, but since the issue is against the general wealth of the people it is nonsensical to allow any private group to issue credit instruments against the people's wealth. It should be issued by the Federal Government.

"All reformers might do well to concentrate on the money question until we have that solved," Miss MacPhail concluded.

HALFBREED GETS DEATH SENTENCE

Murdered Sweetheart's Father —Says Girl Invited Him to Deed.

FIRED FATAL SHOT.

PEACE RIVER, Alta., June 23.—(C.P.)—Facing execution on August 6 next, John Ferguson, 25 year old half breed was en route to Fort Saskatchewan jail to-day, sentenced to death for the murder of Louis Jobin, father of his sweetheart Marcella, last March.

With stoic calm, Ferguson yesterday listened to Mr. Justice J. C. Boyle pronounce sentence in Boyd theatre, Peace River, tiny settlement about 200 miles northwest of Edmonton, is without a Supreme Court room and the trial was held in the theatre. The little picture house, in which the populace of this northland town is wont to see melodramatice make-believe trials was filled to capacity for the real-life drama. An unusual feature was that the clerk of the court was a woman, Mrs. F. E. Carlisle.

The jury deliberated for an hour and 45 minutes before the verdict was announced. The latest evidence was the claim of the accused that his sweetheart, Marcella Jobin fired the fatal shot. He accused the girl of inviting him to "come over any time and we will kill my mother or my father."

The jury added a rider, recommending mercy but Mr. Justice Boyle told the accused: "I hold no hope for you, so I would advise you to prepare for the end.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Support arrived for the recently depressed stock market to-day and many issues, led by the metals, rallied fractionally to 2 or more points. The reversal of trend was attributed largely to technical influences. Trading was again rather dull, transfers approximating 400,000 shares. The close was firm.

TORONTO MINING.

TORONTO, June 23 (C.P.).—The buying demand was very thin on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange to-day, the trade being concentrated largely in a group of penny shares, including Buffalo-Canadian, Bagamac, Chibougamau and Wayside.

Only a few of the high-priced gold shares came out and these were firm. Dome gained 35 cents, Bralorne 15 and Teck was unchanged, while Wright Hargreaves was down a little. Little Long Lac retained Friday's substantial advance and San Antonio, Pickle Crow, God's Lake, Gunnar Gold and BRX were firm to strong.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

TORONTO, June 23. (CP). — Dullness reigned over the industrial section of the Toronto exchange in the closing session of the week but despite the absence of buyers, prices were able to hold even with Friday's close. Buying was fair in Walkers Common and the price advanced a full point while Distillers Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol was unchanged.

The interlisted leaders were firm on very slim business. Nickel closed 10 cents down and Ford A weakened ¼ while the others including C.P.R. and Brazilian were unchanged.

As in previous sesions this week the oils produced a substantial share of the turnover with Imperial and International Pete closed narrowly higher. McColl pfd. lost ⅝ and Canadian Oil weakened ½.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, June 23. (CP). Bacon hog prices were unchanged today at $8.50 a hundredweight, f. o.b. shipping point with $1 premium for extras. To-day's prices: Hull, Que., $9 off truck; London, $8.50; Brantford, $8.50; Stratford, $8.50; Barie, $8.50; Kitchener, $8.50; peterborough, $8.50.

The Weather

TORONTO, June 23 (C.P.). — Synopsis: The disturbance which was over the Gulf of St. Lawrence yesterday has moved eastward to Belle Isle, centre about 29.30 inches, and another low area covers the Western provinces, while pressure is relatively high over Hudson Bay and on the Pacific coast. The weather is now cool in the Western provinces and showers have occurred in many districts, while over Eastern Canada it has been generally fair with moderate temperature.

Georgian Bay—Moderate winds; fair and warm. Sunday—Moderate to fresh south-west winds; mostly fair and warm; probably followed by local thundershowers.

Northern Ontario—Partly cloudy to-night and Sunday, with scattered showers; not much change in temperature.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley—Light to moderate winds; fair and warm. Sunday—Moderate to fresh south-west winds; mostly fair and warm, probably followed by local thundershowers towards night.

California Woman To Hang For Murder

LOS ANGELES, June 23 (AP)—Nellie Madison, 39-year-old brunette, was told to-day by a Superior Court jury that she must hang for the murder of her 45-year-old husband, Eric, film studio auditor, slain last March 24 by five bullets fired into his back while he was in bed in their apartment.

Mrs. Madison is the second woman in the history of California jurisprudence to face a death sentence, but no woman ever has been legally hanged in this state, the previous sentence having been commuted to life imprisonment.

When the verdict was read, Mrs. Madison sat unmoved. Asked whether she had anything to say, she replied: "Just say I'm innocent; that's all."

Mrs. Madison testified she was not at home when the killing occurred. The State contended she shot her husband as he was retiring and sat beside his body eight hours, smoking and drinking, before fleeing.

PLOWMEN GET REDUCED GRANT

Council Cut Grant January, Turned it Down Yesterday, Reconsidered To-day.

SUBJECT OF DEBATE.

The annual grant to Peterborough County Plowmen's Association which was out out at the January sessions was to-day reinstated upon reconsideration by Peterborough County Council, on a reduced basis. The grant was set at $75.

J. J. Duffus, president and other officers of the Association, yesterday afternoon urged upon the council the value of the grant in the interests of agriculture in general, and asked for reconsideration of the matter. They pointed out that the holding of a plowing match in the county this year rested entirely upon the decision of the council. If there was no grant there could be no match.

Subsequently Reeve Allan Mann moved that a grant of $100 be given the Association, Reeve W. A. Anderson sticking to his former stand on the question, moved an amendment that "we adhere to our former policy."

A lively debate ensued, after which the vote resulted in a tie. The vote was divided as follows: For the amendment — Anderson, Sanderson, Richard Tedford, Jackson, Given, Brown, Hales and Robert Tedford.

For the motion—Burrows, Davidson, Milby, Wood, Leahy, Mullen, Mann, and Steenburgh. The Warden cast the deciding ballot in favor of the amendment, after Reeve Gifford had declined to vote, stating that he had originally opposed the grant, and that he did not wish to appear inconsistent.

That is the way matters stood when the Council adjourned last evening. This morning the uestion was re-opened by Reeve Leahy, when the minutes of the previous meeting had been read.

Reeve Anderson moved adoption of the minutes without amendment. Reeve Leahy moved an amendment that the minutes be adopted subject to amendment respecting the plowmen's grant. Reeve Mann moved an amendment to the amendment that the Plowmen's Association be granted $75.

The amendment carried in favor of the $75 grant. Those in favor were as follows: Robert Tedford, Brown, Richard Tedford, Gifford, Anderson, Davidson, Wood, Milby, Steenburgh and Mann.

Local Strawberries, Two Quarts For 35

Local strawberries were selling at two quart boxes for 35 cents on the farmers' market this morng.

Butter was priced from 20 to 22 cents a pound, eggs from 18 to 20 cents a dozen, and broiling chickens from 21 to 25 cents a pound, with year-old birds at 15 cents. A lone turkey was offered at 17 cents a pound.

Potatoes were $1.25 a bag and scarce, and little pigs came to market to be sold at $10 a pair.

Tiny bright yellow Pekin ducklings with long bills and a loud cackle drew the attention in the lower entry where their owner, a lad, sat at the lower step of the stairs with his energetic charges. Next him was a small boy with a dog that he was willing to part with for a dollar. It was part collie and whatever else you would like to guess.

FIVE ADDINGTON POLLS DELAYED IN NORTH AREAS

KINGSTON, Ont., June 23.—(C.P.)—Failure of five deputies in the riding of Addington, to return their ballot boxes to L. B. Cronk, Parham, returning officer for the riding, has held up the official count, in this constituency where Hon. W. D. Black, Conservative, was elected over Colin Campbell, Lib.

At 11 o'clock this morning, Mr. Cronk said that he was starting the official count, but that the five outstanding polls had not been heard from and unless the boxes arrive at his home to-day Mr. Cronk said he would have to make a trip into the northern part of the county to get the official returns.

Without these polls Mr. Black's majority is 1,206.

DEATH CLIMAXES FAMILY QUARREL

Calgary Woman Charged With Murder After Husband Found Dead.

BATTERED WITH AXE.

CALGARY, June 23 (CP)—Grim sequel to a quarrel over disposition of relief money, Peter Henderson, 53, unemployed carpenter, lay dead to-day and his wife, Mary Maude, faced a charge of murder.

Wounds on the head and face which police said were caused by a hatchet caused the death of Henderson. No date has yet been set for an inquest.

Henderson had been on relief since last September. He had been out of work for several years. Some hours after he had received a relief cheque, neighbors heard a violent disturbance in the apartment block. Mrs. Henderson rushed from the building calling for police.

Police arrived to find Henderson lying in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor. Mrs. Henderson screamed hysterically: "He's not dead—he's not dead."

An untouched meal was still on the table.

The woman wa staken into custody on a charge of murder.

REGULAR SCHOOL YEAR COLCLUDED

Students of Collegiate and St. Peter's Preparing for Departmental Examinations.

Classes ended yesterday and students at the Collegiate and St. Peter's School are now preparing for the departmental examinations which begin Monday morning and continue until July 11. Local high school entrance candidates will not take their first test until Tuesday, July 3.

At the Collegiate, 100 are registered to write upper school examinations and 225 will write one or more of the middle school papers. Under the system in force, a few have been excused entirely from taking the tests on the basis of their records in local examinations during the year. The number who will be required to take lower school tests at the Collegiate has not yet been announced. Seventy-one students at St. Peter's will write upper school examinations and 99 are to take middle school papers.

More than 135 pupils of the public and separate schools are to write entrance examinations. Of 250 candidates in the public schools, about sixty percent were recommended for promotion without taking the tests.

Students taking the departmental examinaions are reminded by Inspector A. Mowat to have the required one-dollar fee on hand for each paper. The examinations will be be conducted according to standard time.

40 Villages Swept By Bengal Floods

CALCUTTA, June 23. — (AP) — More than 40 villages were completely submerged in the Gobindganj area of Eastern Bengal by floods sweeping down the Prahamputra valley, it was reported today.

A heavy loss of life was feared. Authorities of the region, which was recently subjected to an earthquake, sent urgent appeals to the government for relief.

Floods destroyed crops, washed away homes and drowned cattle. Details of casualties were lacking.

COTS LACKING IN MEN'S CELLS

and also from the standpoint of food, clothing, health and discipline.

The committees decision to put the recommendations of the inspector into effect, was made following some discussion of the report, on motion of Reeve Harry Wood, seconded by Deputy Reeve James Milby of North Monaghan.

Colonel T. D. Johnson, the jailer told the committee, that no painting had been done at the jail since he was appointed to office in 1928, and that no redecoration had been done some years prior to that date. He readily agreed with the committee that the painting could be done by prison labor, providing that prepared paint was used.

While there had been some cots in the men's quarters, when he first accepted his appointment as jailer, Colonel Johnson stated, the cots were in a broken down condition and pieces of metal provided handy weapons for prisoners who might feel inclined to use them as such. As the cots became broken, they were removed from the jail, he said, and replaced with straw ticks. He expressed the opinion, "straw ticks now in use are the most sanitary think I know, but the Department does not thinks so".

Food Wholesome

In his report the inspector notes that on the day of his visit to the jail there were nine male prisoners in custody. The food served, he states, was in accordance with the regulations and was wholesome. The cost per day per prisoner for the last quarter was 12½ cents. Supplies are purchased by tender. "No complaints", the inspector reports, "were made by any prisoner on being asked as to the quality or quantity of food received".

The report however contained complaint about the present state of blankets supplied to the prisoners.

Keen Competition In Y.W. Swim Meet

The various races in connection with the Y.W.C.A. Swimming Meet last evening were keenly contested. Central School won from Queen Alexandra, King Edward School won from King George School by default, Queen Mary from Confederation, Prince of Wales from St. Mary's, and P.C.I. from All Star Public School team.

In the diving contests P.C.I. took first place, Queen Mary School second, Confedehration third, King Edward and Central tied for fourth place, Queen Alexandra fifth and St. Mary's sixth.

During the past week many have learned to swim and more are joining every day in order to learn. The 'Y' pool offers a wonderful opportunity for everyone to learn to swim. The classes in life saving, stunts and advanced swimming are also very popular and real progress is being shown. Those who can swim are advised to join one of these classes and become proficient.

SCHOOL PUPILS HOLD OUTING ON GROUNDS

Ideal Weather Favors Annual Event at Confederation School.

Ideal weather favoured the annual picnic of Confederation School, which was held on the school grounds yesterday afternoon.

A booth in charge of members of the Home and School Association did good business in the sale of candy, ice cream and soft drinks while the children each received a free cone of ice cream. Mrs. J. Milby (president) was general convenor.

A baseball game between the boys of Mrs. Jackson's room and Miss Garbutt's room resulted in the former being declared the winners.

A program of races was an attractive feature of the afternoon, with Mr. W. R. Potter as started and Mr. Wedlock and Doleman at the wining rope. An enjoyable tea consisting of sandwiches and cake with lemonade for the scholars and tea for the mothers was served, Mrs. Jackson and the teachers, also a number of scholars, assisting the ladies in scoring.

Rev. J. L. Hughes presented the prizes to the following winners:

Girls, 7 and under—Betty Cooper, Edna McCormick.

Boys, 7 and under—Jimmy Shields, Kenneth Hopkins.

Girls, 8 and 9 — Ruby Tripp, Betty Freeman.

Boys, 8 and 9—Jackie White, Harry Wilford.

MEDICAL SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick is Elected President of Local Society.

The Peterborough Medical Society concluded its activities for the year 1933-34 on Monday evening, June 18, when the annual meeting was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. In spite of inclement weather there was a good attendance, and the business of the society was dealt with expeditiously.

In reviewing the activities of the past year, the retiring president, Dr. H. V. Dobson, made some suggestions which he considered applicable in the conduct of future programs, and thanked the members of the society, particularly those of the Executive Committee, for co-operation. The officers elected for the year 1934-35 are:

Hon. president, Dr. F. C. Neal
President, Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick.
1 Vice-president, Dr. S. Y. Walsh.
2 Vice-president, Dr. J. A. Morgan.
Secretary, Dr. C. M. Scott.
Treasurer, Dr. H. V. Dobson.
Executive Committee, Drs. Dobson, Yelland, and Hammond.
Library Committee, Drs Buchanan, Howson, and J. M. McCulloch
Inter-relations Committee, Drs. Neal and Cameron.
Nominating Committee, Drs. Clark, Moir, and McNulty.
Auditors, Drs. Fraser and Waite.

Following the business meeting, the members and their wives spent a pleasant evening punctuated by cards, lunch, and dancing.

PARIS BOMBINGS BELIEVED WORK POLITICAL RING

Police Comb Ranks of Extremists Seeking "Three Judges of Hell."

NO CLUE FOUND.

Explosive Machines Dropped in Letter Boxes—Guarding Post Offices Useless.

PARIS, June 23 (C.P.). — A terrorist band within one of France's many political groups was sought by police to-day as the bomb-posting "Three Judges of Hell."

Inspector Jean Besjobert, in charge of the case, said he suspects that the phantom author of the infernal machines which have wounded four persons and thrown Paris into a panic, may not be the madman which theorizers have looked for, but a fanatical gang of political Extremists.

Ignoring the fates perpetrated by jokesters during the last week, Inspector Desjobert's investigators are discreetly combing the tipsters in both the right and left political wings in an effort to find who mailed 10 explosive packages last week and two more this week.

"We haven't the slightest clue," said the Inspector, "but we are determined to find our man or men.

"Whoever sent the explosive machines deliberately fixed them to maim but not to kill. They are methodically made.

No Fingerprints.

"Furthermore, the sender must have taken the precaution to wear gloves, for none of the exploded tubes bore fingerprints other than a few found to be those of the official handlers.

"Hence, we have the theory that Terrorists fabricated the machines in some clandestine laboratory, and they were not made by a mere crank, although that possibility has not definitely been discarded.

"It is impossible to trace the packages through their post-marks, because they were mailed in widely scattered sub-stations of Paris and the suburbs. Neither was it possible to intercept them even by posting policemen in more than 100 branch post offices in Paris because each small tube was wrapped in an arms manufacturer's catalogue resembling hundreds of other similarly rolled newspapers and catalogues which are posted daily.

"The explosive packages, with the regulation 40 centimes in stamps affixed, were dropped into boxes for printed matter before passing through the hands of the postal clerks.

"Our search, aside from questioning political tipsters, is therefore necessarily confined to chemical shops which, thus far, have yielded nothing."

Prince Spends 40th Birthday Quietly

LONDON, June 23. (C.P. Cable). The Prince of Wales, 40 years old to-day, spent his birthday quietly at Fort Belvedere, his country home near Sunningdale.

His Royal Highness kept the whole day clear of public and official engagments. Part of the day he spent alone in his garden, to which he has devoted much time of late.

Thousands of congratulatory telegrams, official and personal, from all parts of the world, were sent to him at Fort Belvedere and also to York House and St. James Palace, where the Prince maintains a modest bachelor apartment.

Later in the day, the Prince motored to Windsor Castle to receive his parents' congratulations.

Reorganization Of Tory Party Is Predicted

New Chief May Undertake Work

Another Leader May Be Selected As Result Of Tuesday's Debacle; Road Back Is Usually Long—Revamping Of The Party Assured.

VERY DOUBTFUL IF HON. CHARLES McCREA WILL EVER RETURN TO PUBLIC LIFE.

Hon. Leopold Macaulay Is The Most Logical Successor To Premier George S. Henry—Young, Militant And Man Of Ability.

TORONTO, June 23.—What will happen to the great Conservative Party, which for the last 30 years with the exception of four, has dominated the provincial affairs of this province? What caused its downfall?

These were two of the questions asked in political circles yesterday and today and many and varying were the answers.

While Conservative workers believe that the set-back is purely a temporary one, there is no assurance that this is so. Because the history of Ontario indicates that once a party is put into oblivion, it is apt to stay there for many years.

Before Whitney

Conservatives were in the background politically for more than a quarter of a century prior to 1905, when came the rise of Sir James Whitney. Since that time, until Tuesday, the Liberal Party appealed without success to the electorate.

That there will be a revamping of the party, with a possible change of leadership, seems inevitable. Because if the Conservatives hope to come back they must start their work now and keep at it unremittingly for the next five years.

Premier Henry has made no statement with respect to whether or not he intends to remain as head of the party. It is quite probable that, shocked by the heavy blow to himself and his party, he has not given the matter mature consideration. But Conservatives are discussing the subject, though they do not know whether a change of leadership would be advisable or not.

They do not know who would succeed Mr. Henry if he dropped out of public life. Attorney-General Price is next in line in point of seniority. He is personally popular and the logical choice.

It is very doubtful if Hon. Charles McCrea, former minister of mines, will ever return to public life and public life will be the poorer without him. He has expressed, long before the election, a desire to return to his law practise. And there are reasons why Mr. McCrea would have difficulty getting the leadership even if he did want it, in spite of the respect held for his character, ability and service to his province.

Hon. William Finlayson, who was once mooted as a possible leader, seems definitely out of the picture. He has slipped back in the public estimation during the past few years and it not now the strong man he once was He might have difficulty re-entering provincial affairs.

Mr. Justice Price?

These are the three senior members of the late cabinet. The rumor again crops up that Col. Price might accept an appointment to the bench and that, even if he was offered the leadership, he would not be anxious to take the job during the years of opposition in the hope that the party would be returned to power in 1939.

Hon Leopold Macaulay is the most logical successor to Premier Henry, should he step out and Col. Price not wish the honor. Mr. Macaulay is young and militant and a man of ability. It has been stated that he is too young. But the people of Ontario have chosen an even younger man as their premier for the next five years.

If a new leader is to be had, then he must be one who will be able to enthuse the people, catch their fancy and raise their hopes. There are still probably more Conservatives in the province than there are Liberals, but many of them appear to have bolted. It will be necessary to wean them back to the party.

For Premier Henry there is genuine and widespread sympathy. He may not have possessed the attriutes necessary to make him a popular leader. But there is no doubt that he is sincere. Mistakes he did make, but they were honest mistakes and he did what he thought was in the best interests of the province.

That he should be rejected so decisively after having spent the best part of his life in the public service and having according to his own dictates, done his best for the people of the province, has caused even many of those who voted and worked against him to feel sympathetic.

There must be a complete rejuvenation of the whole party organization. This is admitted. To use Mr. Hepburn's expression it has become barnacled. Too many of his supporters had become merely hangers-on, a drag instead of a support of the party.

This is particulary true of the organization in Toronto. There is no doubt that many Toronto voters cast their ballots against the system of ward politics as well as against the Henry administration.

But apart from this, what caused the debacle? The second-guessers and the "I-told-you-so" people have plenty of explanations, most of which were not thought of prior to Tuesday

There is little doubt that there was a real anti-government swing, accelerated by the depression. Whether that swing would have existed, or in what proportions, if there had been no depression, it is impossible to suggest. But even if there had been no deprtssion, there would have been those who felt that it was time for a change.

So, Mr. Henry, and his government were victims of the times. But also he and his government were the victims of their own actions or lack of actions.

The great increase in the provincial debt registered in the public mind. The fact that a large portion of this was due to the promise that no one should starve in Ontario during the depression did not counteract the general impression. The public did not forget that even in good times the debt was increased.

And there is little doubt, no matter how good the deal turns out for the province, that the Ablitibi power purchase was a millstone around the administration's neck. Premier Henry honestly felt that he wos guilty of no crime, moral or political, in hoding some of the bonds. But apparently the majority of the people do not hold the same opinion.

Beer Issue a Fizzle

Even in Conservative circles here it is felt that the beer and wine legislation hurt the government more than it aided it. As an election issue this was the biggest fizzle of them all. Not that the majority of the people were not in favor of the legislation, but those most in favor of it could resent it having been delayed so long and being given just before an election when votes were needed.

Mr. Hepburn took the issue neatly out of politics by accepting the legislation. And he could not be blamed for freer sale of beer and wine not having been allowed before, as the government could be blamed.

This, so the second-guessers say, like practically all of the rest of the government's election policies, turned out to be a boomerang. Some of the other policies were even greater boomerangs.

Probably no more effective argument was put up on any matter during the campaign, by Liberal platform men such as Mr. Hepburn, Arthur Slaght, Hon. Duncan Marshall and other, than that offered against the government's road policy. Irrespective of the need of the filling in of ditches and the widening of the road shoulders, it does appear now that the government went too far in this connection.

"Trying to buy our votes with our own money," was a statement applauded by many audiences in all parts of the province.

It is true that the government did it to provide work, even if it had the election in view. But it was hard to refute the argument that if such work is needed now it was needed in other years when the government was in power.

Social Services

The same argument was used in connection with the increase by 25 per cent. in the mothers' allowances; the promise to give deserving widows with one child a mother's allowance, and the increasing the pay to the men in the Northern road camps.

If such things were proper, why were they not done long before? was the logical question and it was a hard one to answer.

The promise of a minimum wage for men and that of furthering an unemployment relief plan here were in the same category. Opposition speakers drove these questions home at every opportunity and with apparent telling effect.

Other matters advanced by government speakers as to why it should be returned apparently fell on deaf ears. Take for example, the plan to reduce the contract for rural Hydro users from 20 to five years. It looked important when it was announced, but it is very doubtful if many voters paid any attention to it.

Apparently, also, the public was in no way disturbed by the charges that Mr. Hepburn was linked up with private power interests, or was allying himself with the radical elements in the country. The people felt these were red herrings drawn across the political trail.

But probably the major reason for the overthrow of the government was that the people, just beginning to rise from a depression, wanted a change. They got what they wanted and they were quite willing to swap horses while crossing the stream.

By WORTH L. CHENEY
Central Press Canadian Staff Writer

CORBEIL, Ont., June 23. — A short and stocky man, his kind gray eyes twinkling and the creases around his mouth deepened into a grin, sat smoking in his swivel chair, his chunky legs missing the floor by inches.

Musing to himself, as if ridiculing his own importance, he pulled the pipestem from his lips and said, stuttering slightly on his "r's" and "s":

"Why should all this make me famous?"

It was Dr. A. R. Dafoe talking—Dr. Dafoe, the country medico who attended the birth of the Dionne quintuplets, an achivement that has left the world of science agog with excited interest.

The doctor stopped talking for an instant. The smoke from the bowl of his pipe wreathed around his gray, curly hair, forming a haze against the background of a spotlessly clean office, finished entirely in white.

Excited? No!

"Phoole," he added, "of course I wasn't excited when they were born. I didn't think they'd live anyway. I'm not too optimistic right now. But I'm just telling you!"

A characteristic habit of Dr. Dafoe is that last phrase. He belittles the part he played in bringing into the world a set of quintuplets, rarer than Siamese twins in the medical world, and then confides, with modest apology, that "I'm just telling you!"

This mild-mannered physician must realize, but evidently does not, the importance of his own efforts in the unusual birth of those five babies at the same time.

It is a feat of which any obstetrician in the world would be justly proud—to keep a set of quintuplets alive even for more than one hour. Dr. Dafoe did that, and what's more he pulled them through the colic and jaundice during the first week of their lives.

Here is a man who is the exact replica of the type you always have pictured as a country doctor. He would, as a matter of fact, fill the role of a country doctor in a movie to perfection, and he would need little makeup and no equipment from the studio wardrobe.

No Fashionplate

His clothes are those of a pyhsician who plies his trade in the rural communities. An ill-fitting black suit, baggy and wrinkled from lack of contact with a pressing iron, covers his chubby body. A pair of bulldog oxfords, with raised toes, protects his feet, while an old and battered felt hat rests upon his head.

His manner is gentle, as one would expect of a public servant of his type. A man of simple tastes, he has no ambition or desire to becoming wealthy through his medical practice. His only aim seemingly is serving the people in his charge.

It is evident that the rates he has established for medical services will never make him rich. For the birth of a baby, for example, including all the attention he gives the mother before and after the child's arrival, is just $3.

Dionne Bill $15

Oliva Dionne, the French-Canadian farmer who is the father of the quintuplets, will be charged on this basis. The bill Dr. Dafoe intends to submit for the long and untiring attention he still is giving the Dionne babies, is $15, or $3 for each of the infants.

This rate is a sharp contrast to the prices of big city obstetricians, who frequently demand from $500 to $1,000 for the delivery of a single baby.

In the city, of course, there are the matters of hospital care and anaesthetics, or twilight sleep, which are costly. But Dr. Dafoe clings to the old-fashioned notions concerning childbirth.

"The natural way is the best way," he maintains. "Women are all the better for being treated that way. But I'm just telling you!"

An Old Hand

Dr. Dafoe isn't a new hand at obstetrical work. During his 28 years of practice in the country near Corbeil, he has delivered between 1,500 and 1,600 babies.

He came into this section following his graduation from the University of Toronto in 1908, and has been here ever since. He now lives in a small brick house, about two and a half miles from the Dionne farm home.

He has a brother, Dr William Dafoe, who is a noted obstetrician in Toronto, and who marvels at the country doctor's work in keeping the infants alive.

While on obstetrical cases, Dr. Dafoe also performs the duties of a priest, and baptizes newborn babies immediately, lest they die before the priest arrives.

"When the priest comes, he does it over again. But I make sure they are baptized in case they should die."

Provincial

Dr. Dafoe knows little of the ways of the outside world, and is content to go through life without them. In the matter of judging events for their news value, he is something like the Dionnes.

After the birth of the quintuplets, a brother of the babies' father telephoned a newspaper at North Bay, Ontario, near their home, and asked the editor how much it would cost to have an item published about his sister-in-law giving birth to five babies—one of the biggest news stories of the year!

80 TEACHERS ARE AFFECTED BY NEW ORDER

extra year. The class just graduated was the first to take the extra year at the Peterborough School.

Commenting on the proposed abolition of the extra year, Dr. Bannister said, "There is no question at all that an extra year of training after two years' experience has advantages. But there was one feature of the system which is unfortunate. Teachers' salaries were good at the time the plan was introduced and it was no hardship for a teacher to return for the final year. Now, however, teachers who give up their work to take the year return to teaching to find they must begin all over again at salaries smaller than they were receiving when they left."

Pleased With Year

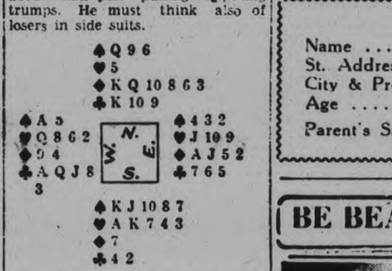
A few of the student-teachers regarded the extra year as an imposition, Dr. Bannister said, but on the whole they were pleased with it. Some who graduated before the regulation went into effect have returned voluntarily. Regarding Mr. Hepburn's contention that the extra year has resulted in overcrowding, he agreed that the facilities of the Peterborough school have been considerably over-taxed during the past year.

Inspector A. Mowat reports that only one teacher of the city public school staff lacks a permanent certificate. If the change is carried out, that teacher will be allowed to continue her position without interruption, he said.

CONTRACT BRIDGE
WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS
By E. V. SHEPARD

ESTABLISHING DUMMY'S LONG SUIT

Sometimes the only possible way to fulfill a contract is through the establishment of dummy's long suit. The declarer has more to think about than just pulling opposing trumps. He must think also of losers in side suits.



Bidding went: South, 1-spade; West, 2-clubs; North, 2-diamonds; South, 2-hearts; North, 3-spades; South, 4-spades.

Of course West did not like to open his own club suit. As opponents had bid diffeernt suits before agreeing upon spades, he thought there would be cross ruffing, to rid the declarer's hand of hearts. West felt his proper opening lead was a trump. He led the ace and 5 of spades. Dummy held the last lead with the 9.

The K of diamonds was led, to establish that suit before losing dummy's two cards of entry (the Q of spades and the K of clubs). East's ace won the trick. He led his last trump, taking the last trump from dummy, but leaving the North hand in the lead. The Q of diamonds was led. South discarded his lowest heart. The 10 of diamonds was overplayed with East's J, forcing the declarer to ruff, but leaving 3 good diamonds in dummy upon which to discard hearts, provided he could enter dummy with a club.

The declarer led a club. West could gain nothing by waiting. It was not impossible, even if improbable that South held a lone club. West won the trick with his ace. He led back a low heart. This appeared crazy, but he did not want to put dummy in the lead with a club. East's 9 forced the K of hearts from the declarer, who led his last club, and dummy was in with the K.

South spread his hand for game, having lost a single trick in each of these suits: Spades, diamonds and clubs.

West's defensive opening leads of two trumps was perfectly sound, but this defence gave the declarer an easy game, chiefly because dummy's long suit of diamonds was establishable. South never would have attempted to cross-ruff the hands, as West feared. The only opening lead which might have given trouble was the one of which West never would have thought—leading hearts, and repeating heart leads whenever possible. Such defence might have bothered South.

STAMP CORNER
By M. A. BESSEY

This week we illustrate just a few of the various new issues which have been appearing lately, from about every corner of the world.

The Albert Mourning stamps of Ruanda and the Belgian Congo, mentioned some weeks ago, have been received. Both are printed by photogravure, and are the same in design, except for the borders.

Two rather neat portrait designs have been issued by the Netherlands. The 5c depicts Queen Wilhelmina, color dark ivolet; while the 6c portrays Princess Juliana, color blue.

These are semi-postal stamps, there being a surtax of 4 and 5c respectively, for the benefit of the anti-depression fund.

The new series of Sarawak, portraying Rajah Sir Charles Vyner Brookes were released on May 1st.

The set comprises 20 different denominations, from one cent to ten dollars, the eleven low values are each printed in a single color, all of the balance being bi-colored, the designs throughout are the same.

A new permanent series of air mail stamps has been issued by Costa Rica. The design shows a mail-plane about to land at San Jose flying field. The high color, values show a figure indicating "Flight." All values are printed in single colors.

An attractive little issue appears from Ecuador. The stamps are somewhat smaller than those ordinarily used, and the designs are quite clear-cut as to minor details.

There is a 5c denomination, as well as a ten cent, of the latter we have four separate stamps, each printed in a different color.

BE BEAUTIFUL

Miriam Hopkins

By GLADYS GLAD

Back in the days when Rome was in its prime, it is said, Roman women considered gilt a most important cosmetic. In those days, the belles of the patrician classes used to gild their tresses by scattering gold dust through them. And this, they thought, was a most effective method of enhancing their charm and allure.

It certainly seems that the sage who cracked: "There is no new thing under the sun", knew what he was talking about. For now, it seems, the modern belle is also going to go in for hair gilding. The modern method of application, of course, is different. But the idea is basically the same.

This idea of adding splashes of metallic coloring to the coiffure for evening wear recently was introduced by a well krfown hair stylist at a New York beauty show. During the past few seasons some women have used colored lacquers on their locks for formal occasions. But the effect was too harsh and the whole idea too impractical to capture the public fancy. However, a new method has now been devised whereby metallic tints may be used to outline ringlets and waves for evening, yet may be brushed from the hair the next morning without any damage to the hairs, waves or ringlets.

If you wish to try this new method of enhancing your coiffure for evening wear, the best course is to have the painting done by an expert in a reliable beauty shop. However, if you can't afford this, you might try doing it yourself. First shampoo your hair and rinse it well. Then set it in wide, loose waves, and twist the ends up into flat ringlets.

After this, mix together the whites of two eggs, a tablespoon of water and two drops of vinegar. Beat it slightly and then allow it to stand. When the froth has settled, pour a little of the mixture into a dish and mix it with enough of the powdered coloring to make a fairly thin paste. Then, with a fine paint brush, use the mixture to outline your ringlets and waves. You might have you own ideas of design on this subject. Let your hair dry thoroughly, then, and when dry, merely slightly loosen the waves and ringlets. And the next morning, after your gala night, all you need to do is to brush your hair thoroughly to remove the coloring.

Increased Sales Is Recovery Sign Says Chrysler Pres.

Shipments of Chrysler Motors cars from the Corporation's Plants at Windsor u pto May 30th, 1934, exceeded the total shipments for the entire year of 1933, according to Jno. D. Mansfield, President of The Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited.

"Our business for the first five months of this year was 218 per cent. of the same period of 1933. This means that our Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto and Plymouth sales up to May 30th, were substantially more than double our sales up to May 30th, 1933. Our truck and commercial car sales for the same period were four times last year."

"This increase in business is especially encouraging as we believe it to be a result of a natural demand for our products. There are no signs of artificially stimulated business in Canada. The definite progress made towards recovery so far appears to be fundamental," concluded Mr. Mansfeld.

Your Health
by DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Whatever else is included in the diet, there is one chemical element which is an absolute necessity, and which has to be reckoned first. This is protein. In fact, when the name was first given to it by Chemist Mulder, in 1838, he selected the name because it means "to take the first place."

Although it is true that no one can subsist without water, it must be remembered that water is a part of all foodstuffs and is included anyway. With water alone the individual would not live very much longer than with nothing, but with water and protein or, since protein foodstuffs contain water, with protein alone, he can live.

Protein is the chemical substance of which most of our bodily tissue is composed. The muscles, skin, internal organs, blood, etc., are almost entirely protein. Inasmuch as this tissue breaks down, continually, it must be replaced, and according to pretty general agreement, the minimum amount which must be replaced is about one gram per kilogram of body weight, or about two and one-half ounces for a man of 150 pounds.

So much for the total amount of protein which is necessary. Whether this minimum is entirely healthful will be discussed tomorrow.

But there is another equally important feature about protein, which is the quality of the protein used—whether or not, in short, one uses a complete protein.

What is meant by a complete protein? Any protein foodstuff is made up of a very large number of chemical substances, which are known as amino acids. There is a large series of these amino acids, such as lysine, cystine, etc. The protein molecule as found in nature is an extremely complex chemical structure, consisting of usually 10, 15 or 20 amino acids.

Of all of the amino acids it has been found that four, viz: cystine, histidine, lysine and tryptophane, are essential for animal growth and health. The others can be utilized for tissue replacement and for energy, but unless a foodstuff contains these essential elements, it will not be a complete protein, and life cannot be sustained upon it as the basis of the protein intake.

The proof of this is very complete. One of the earliest experiments was the historic example of what occurred during the French Revolution, when deVaux attempted to substitute gelatin for beef in the popular ration during the food shortage. Widespread nutritional disease resulted in a very short time, and is now known, the fatal lack lay in the fact that gelatin contains no tryptophane.

What foods contain complete proteins will be described tomorrow.

ONTARIO SALAD WEEK

Streaming rains of the past two weeks, accompanied by the finest brand of June sunshine, have given a cheerful appearance to garden crops throughout Ontario. So much so that the growers are today faced with their annual problem—the disposal of great quantities of perishable green crops—lettuce, cabbage, green onions, green beans, radish, etc.

This year an organized effort is being made to move the early green crops into quick consumption by staging Ontario Salad Week, June 25th to 30th. During the week, Ontario women are urged to "serve a salad every day"—made, of course, from the succulent products of Ontario's gardens.

Ontario Salad Week has the hearty endorsement and co-operation of the Provincial Depatment of Agriculture and of the Ontario Growers Markets Council. Fruit and vegetable dealers, both wholesale and retail, are joining in, planning displays of local green vegetables and various salad accessories, also advertising Salad Week to their customers.

Ontario-grown hothouse tomatoes and cucumbers, will also share in the displays. Dominion Day picnickers are urged to include the old-fashioned salad bowl in their preparations, for with a supply of fresh vegetables and prepared dressing, it is easy to prepare a crisp, tasty salad right when the sandwiches are unpacked.

Lillico To Handle G.E. Refrigerators

Announcement has been made by the Canadian General Electric Co. Limited of the appointment of another dealer handling G.E. Refrigerators. Lillico Motors, 363-385 Water St. have in their show rooms several of the new and very popular Flat Top refrigerators with the Stor-A-Dor and other exclusive features preferred by discriminating housewives. This new design is a departure this year from the now famous Monitor Top Model and rounds out the G.E. line so that now there is a General Electric Refrigerator to meet the needs of every home. A selection may be made from four models in the flat top series and each represents the latest and proven results in the perfection of Electric Refrigeration. Neat in appearance and accessibility they should be considered by prospective purchasers. Your attention is called to an advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

CONVENT PUPILS GIVE CONCERT

Delightful Musical Program Given by Pupils of St. Mary's Convent.

TRAINING OF HIGH TYPE

The annual concert by music pupils of St. Mary's Convent was a largely-attended event of Thursday evening in the hall of St. Alphonsus Lyceum. There was a splendid attendance of appreciative parents and friends of those taking part, and an exceptionally fine program was rendered, demonstrating the high type of musical training imparted by the Sisters.

Assisting in the program were Miss Helen Ross, elocutionist, and the orchestra of St. Peter's High School, also several of the Senior pupils of the Convent; Mrs. Leo Picard, vocalist; Miss Eleanor Grisdale, L.D.C.M. and Miss Josephine Lynch, B.A.

Accompanists of the evening were Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M., Miss Josephine Lynch, Miss Marion Best and Miss Alma Duffy.

During the evening, the distribution of diplomas awarded in the examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, early in this year, and of other prizes, took place, as follows:

Associateship Piano (written examination), with honors, also History of Music with first-class honors, and Form in Composition, with honors, to Miss Josephine Lynch; Intermediate Harmony, Miss Marion Best and Miss Alma Duffy; Intermediate Piano, Miss Alma Duffy; Junior Piano, Miss Madonna Hurtubise, Miss Ella Meagher and Miss Doris Strickland; Primary Theory, Miss Helen Ross (first-class honors), and Miss Agnes Maycock; Primary Piano, Miss Catherine Cherney and Miss Jean DeMaio; Elementary Piano, Miss Catherine Boyle.

The following prizes were awarded for regular attendance and improvement: Miss Rosamond Collins, Miss Vivian Sullivan, Mulhern Collins, Jack McNulty, Edward Geraghty, Francis Crowley, Mercedes Crowley, Margaret Doran, Marion Downer, Patricia Eggleston, Mary Nelson and Betty Daly.

Musical Program

The piano solo program was as follows: "Ave Maria" and "Robin Redbreast," by June Stewart; "Minou," by Francis Perdue; Boy Scouts March by Francis Crowley; "Santa Claus Guards" by Betty Daly; "The Drummer Boy" by Mercedes Crowley; "Evening Breezes" by Helen Riley; "Narcissus" by Mary Nelson; "The Patriot" by Grace Bell; "The Rose's Dream" by Jimmie Doran; "Pink" by Patricia Eggleton; "Invitation a la Danse" by Margaret Doran; "Intermezzo Caprice" by Marion Downer; "Merry Companions" by Edward Geraghty; "The Robins' Lullaby" by Mary Hickey; "Arpeggo Waltz" by Jack McNulty; "The Swallow" by Reta Condon; "In Hanging Gardens" by Betty Richardson; "Humoresque" by Mulhern Collins; "Woodland Songsters" by Miss Rosamond Collins; "L'Avalanche" by Miss Vivian Sullivan; "Danse Tzigane" by Agnes Mayock; "Nocturne" by Doris Strickland; "Cadiz" by Madonna Hurtubise; "Valse in E Minor" by Miss Marion Best; "Temps Pluvieux" by Teresa Perdue; "Valse Opus 34 No. 1" (Chopin) by Miss Alma Duffy; "Pastorale Varie" (Mozart) by Miss Eleanor Grisdale, L.D.C.M.; "Fantasie Impromptu" (Chopin) by Miss Josephine Lynch, B.A. A piano duet entitled "Czardas," was played by Mary and Patricia Scollard.

Violin selections were played by Francis Strano in Toselli's "Serenade," and Gerald Hutchinson, playing Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" and Nevin's "The Rosary."

Edward Geraghty and Gregory Curtin had a guitar duet of Hawaiian melodies.

Mrs. Leo Picard sang "A Thought Like Music" (Brahams), and Henschel's "Morning Hymn," and Miss Helen Ross recited.

The orchestra of St. Peter's High School played Gillette's March, and the Rhythm Band of Junior pupils also played. Members of this Band are Betty Daly, Mary Nelson, Marcelle Doris, Teresa Gallivan, Grace Bell, Margaret Doran, Marion Downer, Joan Reid, Mary Sullivan, June Stewart, Helen Riley and Helen Strano.

ATHLETES FOOT

This is an ailment not only common to golfers, swimmers, tennis and ball players but also among all who do much walking. It is really a sort of ringworm which attacks the skin on the sides of the toes. Inflammation is set up and there is itching and burning which causes much discomfort. By bathing the feet thoroughly in hot water and applying Dr. Chase's Ointment freely, you can soon entirely overcome this trouble.

6 CHILDREN BURIED.

CHICAGO. — At least six children were buried, two of them seriously injured, when an unoccupied frame house in which they were playing collapsed to-day.

Five Fire Department squads rushed to the rescue and dug into the snarl of debris in search of the victims.

Six were taken from the wreckage within an hour and treated at a hospital.

Anton Lang Revered By Fellow-Villagers

The most famous and revered family in Oberammergau, scene of the magnificent Passion Play, or story of the life of Christ, are the Langs. Here is Anton Lang, who played the part of Christ on three occasions. His son Alois is playing it this year. Anton Lang is looked upon in the village as almost a saint.

JESUS, A GERMAN, WAS CRUCIFIED BY JEWS, IS THE CLAIM OF NAZIS

his friends considered the Passion play one of the finest pieces of anti-Jewish propaganda that can be imagined. "Since Jesus was not a Jew," my 'Ortsgruppefuehrer' (district troop leader) explained (a little in the well-known German schoolmaster fashion, I thought), "but the son of a German soldier in the Roman legions, who happened to be on duty in Palestine, the Passion Play shows how bloodthirsty the Jews were even 2,000 years ago and how they hated the Germans."

Jews Again Blamed

I offered him a candy for his bright observation. "So Jesus was a German who was killed by the Jews in Palestine because he was a Nazi propagandist?" I asked. At this he had to laugh himself. "No," replied the Ortegruppefuehrer, "he was killed because he wanted to do right. The Jews won't let anyone do right."

Well, I did not pursue this silly conversation because to me personally all those religious arguments border on the incoherent. If the Jews really killed Christ, which is not so sure, Christians ought to be eternally grateful to them because without the death of Christ, we are told there could have been no redemption. But even that argument or any other argument won't help to save the Jews from persecution. I hate wasting my time, so I gave the brown-shirt and his companion another candy.

The majority of the spectators to-day were Anglo-Saxons, Scandinavians, Hollanders and of course Germans. Inhabitants of Protestant countries. No Spaniards, French or Italians, in spite of a tremendous publicity campaign in connection with the Passion Play by the German state railways in Catholic lands. But then Frenchmen do not travel abroad and never did. Spaniards are perhaps too far away and they scarcely need to come here to see a procession, whereas Italians are not allowed to leave the confines of their own land by sweet Boss Mussolini, who has decreed that Italian money must stay in Italy.

Lasts All Day

The representation of the tragedy of Calvary lasts from eight in the morning till six in the evening with a short intermission for lunch at noon. By six in the morning all Oberammergau is astir. Houses are closed for the day because 700 out of the 2,600 inhabitants, which practically means the whole adult population, takes part in the performance. Half-past six people began to walk in the direction of the theatre. They moved along sedately, talking in subdued voices, as if they were going to church. In spite of the gaily decorated streets, I thought it was very solemn.

There were 2,000 German journalists to-day in the audience of 6,000. They will leave this evening for their home cities and begin a campaign to make the Oberammergau plays the greatest success ever this year. The representations go on till September, there will be 33 in all, so that Oberammergau expects around a quarter-million visitors this year. The railways have accorded 25 per cent reduction on fares to Oberammergau, for groups the reductions go as far as 60 per cent on the regular fare. Since the whole village of Oberammergau is a big hotel, a boarding house during the show days, it is expected that tens of millions of marks and shillings and florins and francs will pour into the coffers here. In that sense Oberammergau is a big commercial undertaking, of course.

People Are Kind.

Because I bought a little pullover in the shop run by "Mary Magdalene" yesterday, I got a gracious nod from this lady when she recognized me in the crowds this morning on our way to the theatre which is on the outskirts of the village. I must add that the Oberammergauer are the kindest of Bavarians and what this may mean everyone knows who has ever visited South Germany.

The burgomaster, Dr. Rutz, father of the artist who plays the role of Mary, was also in the crowd. He shook hands and declared that I would be greatly impressed with the show. "The scenes, the clothes, the actors wear everything, everything is exactly as it was in Jerusalem 2,000 years ago," he said. "Except the headdress of the women," I said. "Jewish women were not supposed to show the tiniest bit of their hair in public, according to the Mosaic law and I see that here they go bare headed—and all are blondes."

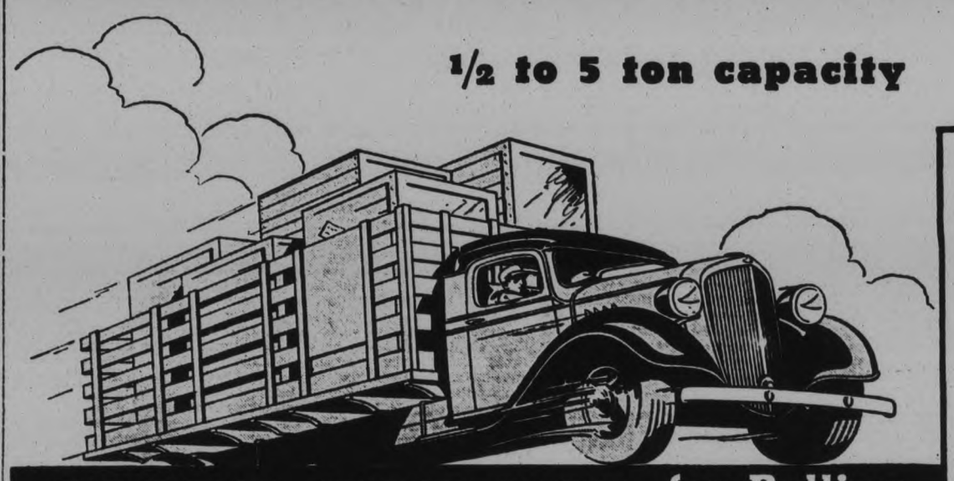
Stage is in Open

"Don't you think it more beautiful?" he asked and that put an end to my argument, for he was certainly right.

The theatre is a very simple affair. It looks like a big aeroplane hangar. Seats in an enclosure, but in the open-air, that's all. The background of the stage is the vast panorama of the Bavarian mountains and the picturesque valleys. Through a pair of field-glasses, which may be rented here, I could see the cattle in the Alpine meadows. At the moment during the performance when the high-priest, Annas, filled the air with his furious imprecations against Jesus, I heard the soft tinkle of the cowbells. But the cows themselves were no longer visible. For the high-priest came on the scene late in the afternoon and by that time a soft haze hung over the mountains like a veil of lace.

FEATURES of the NEW CHEVROLET TRUCKS

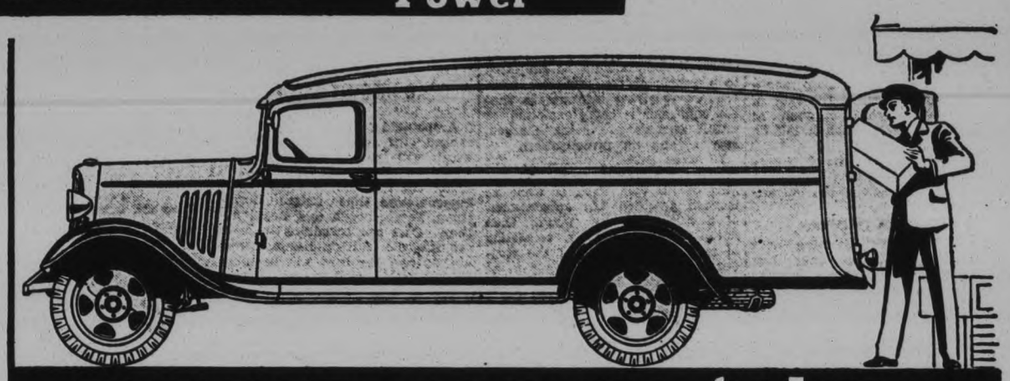
½ to 5 ton capacity



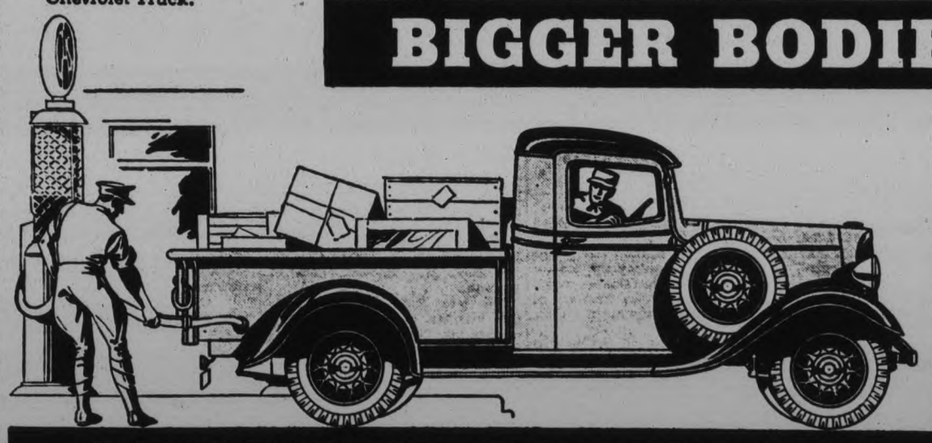
MORE TORQUE for Pulling Power

Horsepower is important in the truck you buy, of course. And remember, Chevrolet Trucks for 1934 give you greater horsepower than ever. But do not overlook this fact: It's TORQUE that makes a truck pull big loads. And Chevrolet gives you more torque than any other low-priced truck. It's all due to the advanced new engine design—with the new Marine Type cylinder head that increases engine efficiency and at the same time cuts down cost for gasoline and oil!

Here's another important feature of the new Chevrolet Trucks. Throughout the line—from the sturdy ½-ton to the 2-ton Maple Leaf heavy duty models—you now get bigger Chevrolet-built bodies and larger load space. Get the specifications and dimensions of these new trucks. Compare them. Convince yourself that for economical transportation of big loads it's wise to choose a Chevrolet Truck.



BIGGER BODIES for Larger Pay Loads



Chevrolet Trucks are now selling at reduced prices, and a Chevrolet is the most economical truck on gas and oil that you can buy. It costs less for tires. Less for maintenance. Less for repairs. In fact Chevrolet has won its overwhelming sales leadership in the truck field by its ability to do big hauling jobs at smaller expense . . . and to stay on the job dependably. Drop in at our showrooms; see the new Chevrolet Trucks for yourself, and learn the new reduced price.

Political Critics Denounce Act As "Naked Fascism"

LEGALIZING LARGE MONOPOLIES SETTING UP OF BUREAUCRACY ARE CHARGED NEW MARKETING ACT

Liberals Claim Gross Violation of Individual Freedom.

BY REGISTER SYSTEM

Charge Consumer "Will Pay the Shot" in New Legislation.

By WILFRID EGGLESTON,
(Central Press Canadian Staff Writer. Copyright, 1934)

OTTAWA, June 23.—Salvation for the farmer—or "naked Fascism?"

Which is it, this new revolutionary Marketing Bill, which will be law in a few day, and will begin to make its imprint on the economic and industrial pattern of Canada

Seldom has a measure been so extravagantly praised or so scathingly denounced. About all that can be done for the man in the street is to set forth these antagonistic views, and let him decide for himself.

1. "A further restriction on trade,' say the Liberals. "External commerce has been strangulated by high tariffs. The medicine hasnt worked. Now internal trade is to be choked down into narrow channels, in a similarly artificial effort to create prosperity."

2. It creates a bureaucracy of marketing boards, Dominion and local, further assert the critics. The farmers and other primary producers will no longer have the direction of their own marketing, but a group of men at the Capital, who may know little of individual cases or conditions, will run the show.

3. Impractical—cannot be operated in a country geographically constituted as is Canada, so vast and sparsely settled. Certainly not without much more experiment and preparation than is proposed.

Violates Liberal Ideals

4. The whole act is a gross violation of the personal rights for which Liberals have battled since the beginning of time, say Mackenzie King and his colleagues. The proposal is to make every farmer register, obtain a license, submit to regulation concerning the most minute activities. It is an obnoxious regimentation of industry, they charge.

5. It will invite and provoke reprisals from other countries, in that it proposes the bonusing of exports (or "dumping") and the artificial raising of prices.

6. The consumer will pay the shot. His purchasing power will be thus limited, and this will react on other internal and external markets. There is nothing in the act to protect the consumer.

7. It creates and legalizes monopolies of producers, in the face of anti-monopoly legislation, such as the Combines Act, which is left on the statutes.

The above comprise the chief criticisms of the marketing legislation. How do the friends of the bill answer them?

Answers to Criticisms

Regulation and planning have come to be inevitable, they say. Laissez-faire may have worked once, but has now been abandoned all over the world in favor of planning and regulation. England, the stronghold of free trade and the home of personal liberty has not only adopted protection for its international commerce but has preceded Canada by three years in the introduction of a similar marketing bill.

The farmer has it in his own power to set up the kind of scheme he likes, further reply the admirers of the new act. He will not be dominated by Ottawa any more than he insists. The Dominion Marketing Board will be a supervisory group acting in the best interests of all sections of the country.

Since there are already some 800 farmer co-operative schemes of one sort or another in operation in Canada, it cannot be said that some ground has not been prepared for a Marketing Act. In the past these schemes have been handicapped because of the unfair competition of the non-co-operator. Now they are to be given an opportunity to show what can be done when there is 100 per cent. co-operation of groups of producers.

Charge Consumer Pays

Such are the answers of the legislators who favor this marketing act as paraphrased from Hansard. There still remains the charge that the consumer will pay the shot.

The act provides for investigations into any apparent exploitation of the consumer, unfair restraint of trade, undue spread between wholesale and retail prices. Part two of the act is completely devoted to such provision.

The board may suggest to the minister who is directing the legislation (either Hon. Arthur Weir or Hon. H. H. Stevens) that any given industry should be subjected to a probe, or the minister himself, on receiving information that the consumer is being exploited, or unfair spreads are being charged, may set up an investigation.

In most cases, presumably, the minister would do a little quiet digging of his own first. If what he learned justified the appointment of a committee, he would then nominate such a body, consisting of men representative of the various branches of the industry to be investigated (if bread, there would be a representative of the wheat grower, another of the elevator company, another of the millers, and one for the bakers) headed by a chairman who would act as his own personal representative.

Enter Stevens Probe

The Stevens committee on mass-buying and price spreads, while never intimately connected with the creation of a Marketing Act (which has been growing up for a year or more), illustrates very admirably the kind of investigating committee which can be set up under the Marketing Act, and which will have power to lay bare the commercial and trading secrets of the most powerful organizations.

The Stevens committee is handicapped by the fact that beyond the salutary effect of publicity, it has so far been unable to find reformatory measures to apply to the offending interests.

The committee of investigation, under the new Marketing Act will however, be able to point to a new weapon. The act provides that fines up to five thousand dollars (in the case of corporations up to ten thousand) and imprisonment up to two years, may be imposed upon persons found guilty (a) of charges of undue price spreads, (b) unduly enhancing prices, or (c) unduly restraining or injuring trade.

HON. H. H. STEVENS

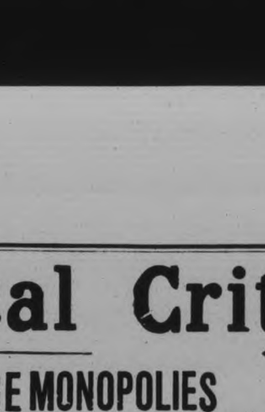
It is freely rumored that Hon. H. H. Stevens may head the new marketing board after his work on the Price probe committee.

What Does West Think of New Act?

Western Canada with its many natural products is bound to be materially affected by the Natural Products Marketing Act.

How does Western Canada feel about this? Do the farmers welcome or resent anyone meddling in their affairs Do they want co-operatives or would they rather take their chances as individuals?

How the West feels will be told in a supplementary article to this series Monday, written by a Westerner in close touch with opinion among farmers and cattle-ranchers.



HON ROBT. WEIR

as Minister of Agriculture is father of the new Marketing Act and is also seen as possible head of the board when act made law.

Jean Ruth Shop Place To Stop In Bewdley

Bewdley on the west shore of Rice Lake has become quite a busy summer centre, and a good deal of business is transacted for the three or four months comprising the summer season. Thomas Dawson, proprietor of the Jean Ruth Shops in Peterborough, acquired a good site and last year erected a fine building to be used as a tea and luncheon room and the sale of general summer goods, including the well-known products of his own baking. The tea-room has been appropriately fitted up and completely stocked up with everything required at a summer resort centre and Mr. Dawson cordially invites Peterborough citizens to drop in while passing through this pretty little summer town.

Obituary

ARNOLD EUGENE NORTHEY.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, June 22. — The funeral of Arnold Eugene, twenty months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Northey of Smith, took place on Sunday afternoon at 3.30, from the family residence, and was attended by a large number of friends and neighbors. Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., of the Lakefield United church, officiated and spoke words of comfort to the bereaved parents, who mourned the loss of a bright little son after an illness of only three weeks.

Two favorite hymns were sung, and four little boys acted as pall-bearers: Gordon Carveth, Orville Elliott, Glenford Murphy and Alvin Northey.

Six little girls carried flowers: Elda Bulmer, Dorothy Elliott, Leona Murphy, Shirley McKee, Hazel and Doreen Northey. Interment was made in the Lakefield Cemetery.

Besides the parents, three sisters, Velma, Hilda and Verna, and one brother, Melvin, mourn the loss of Arnold Northey.

WILLIAM BERDELL ALEXANDER

TWEED, Jule 23 (Examiner Correspondence). — The late William Berdell Alexander was laid to rest in St. James' Anglican Cemetery on Friday afternoon. Deceased met an untimely death in the swirling waters of the Moira River near the Tweed Milling Company dam about seven o'clock on Wednesday evening.

The late Mr. Alexander was born in Brooklyn, New York, thirty-seven years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander When eleven years of age, he came to Tweed, and with the exception of a few years spent in Western Canada, had resided here all his life. He made his home with his uncle, Arthur Alexander, and was employed on the latter's farm although lately he had been working on the highway.

He was a member of the Anglican Church and was held in high regard by all who knew him. He is survived by one brother, Albert of New York. The deceased was a nephew of Mrs. Edith Hammett and Arthur Alexander of Tweed.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Fred Freeman, Harry Grier, Earl Graham, Clancy Carelton Wilfred LeSage, and Charlie Poirit' The large attendance and the many floral tributes showed the high esteem with which he was held by his fellow-citizens.

MASONIC PICNIC ON WEDNESDAY

Annual Picnic Will be Held at the Rotary Boys' Camp.

GOING BY BOAT

A splendid program has been arranged for the Masonic picnic which will be held on Wednesday afternoon, June 27. The picnic is under the auspices of the three Peterborough Blue lodges Corinthian, Peterborough and Royal Arthur. Cars are scheduled to leave the Masonic Hall on Hunter street at 1.30 and the boat will be taken at Lakefield at 2.30 or Young's Point at 3.30. The trip will then be made to the Rotary Boys' Camp where a program of sports will be run off, supper served and prizes presented. Following this there will be a sail around the lake. Masonic brethren from sister lodges in the district are invited. The transportation committee requests that all those having room in their cars to call at the hall before leaving for Lakefield or Young's Point.

MASS BUYING

operations and their income ranged from that up to $300. In many cases the reward of their efforts was not sufficient to defray the cost of fish and bait. The smaller catch was partly due to the inability of the fishermen to maintain their boats and gear.

Unsasisfactory conditions in the furniture manufacturing industry were also revealed. Manufacturers were forced to sell their goods at a low margin of profit or at a loss and department stores which handled them reaped handsome profits. This meant low wages and instability.

Disclosures Monday?

The question of whether the names of the firms paying low wages in the clothing and shoe manufacturing industries revealed earlier in the week should be made public will be decided Monday. So far the sweatshop firms have been designated "A," "B," "C," and so forth. An objection to publishing the names suggested was that it might be unfair to single out those investigated as many other firms escaped the scrutiny of the committee.

Arguments against the operations of department and chain stores were presented yesterday by R. P. Sparks of the Fair Trade Council on behalf of independent retailers. He urged an amendment to the Combines Act which would permit of regulation of business practices to maintain certain standards.

GRACE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CELEBRATES 100TH ANNIVERSARY

Rev. S. H. Hall, of Hastings is Special Preacher for Occasion at Millbrook.

INTERESTING HISTORY.

MILLBROOK, June 23. (Examiner Correspondence).—Linked up with pioneer days in the community, having made an invaluable contribution to its religious life and spiritual development, and having intimately shared in its every phase of progress and history, Grace Presbyterian Church attains this year its full century of service and experience and on Sunday, June 24, celebrated its one hundredth anniversary, the Rev. S. H. Hall, B.A., B.D., of Hastings, being the special preacher for the day.

Presbyterianism in Monaghan, Cavan, and Millbrook has had a long and eventful history, the first missionaries coming into the district in 1833, though unfortunately no record has been kept of their labors. However from the oldest residents it is known that Mr. Gordon and Mr. McAlpine labored for a few years, and during their ministry the first elders were ordained by the Rev. Mr. Jenkins, their names being: David Armstrong, David Huggins, Joseph Sharpe, and James Holmes. In connection with the first named it is a matter of interest that his his son, J. D. Armstrong, and his grandson, David H. Armstrong, completed three generations of elders in this family.

United in 1890

Centreville and Milbrook were joined under one pastorate until 1890, the separation taking place during the ministry of Rev. James Cameron. The first minister on the charge, Rev. James Douglas, was inducted in 1834 by the Rev. James Rogers of Hallowell, his circuit including South Monaghan, Cavan, Port Hope and Cobourg. At that time the congregation in Millbrook worshipped in a frame church which stood in the Presbyterian cemetery at the top of Dawson's hill. In 1866 Rev. Mr. Douglas, after thirty-four years of faithful labor during which time three churches had been built and strong congregations established, and having attained the age of seventy-six years, resigned, his death occurring the following year.

He was succeeded by Rev. William Mitchel who was inducted in work of the Presbyterian Church in this district, being followed by Rev. James Cameron, whose induction took place on February 29, 1876. The red brick church which stood north on Tupper street, almost opposite I. H. Nattress' present home, had been built meanwhile, replacing the frame church which apparently was either torn down or otherwise destroyed, the walk up the hill proving too strenuous for older folk, particularly. Rev. Mr. Cameron's pastorate extended over fourteen years, Centreville and Millbrook separating the year of his resignation which event took place on July 1, 1890.

Church is Burned

The red brick church was burned late at night in the summer of 1896; the choir had been practising earlier in the evening and it was thought that a lamp, supposedly turned out but in reality not enirely extinguished, finally exploded causing he fire of which no one had any knowledge, owing to the practically isolated situation of the church, until the next morning.

The local Presbyterians, however, at once set about providing themselves with a new and up-to-date place of worship, and in January of the next year the present red-brick, artistically designed, well furnished, and well kept church was opened. The land on which it is built, King street centre, was the gift of the late Miss Elizabeth O'Brian, and the corner stone was laid by the late Mrs. Hugh Waddell, of Peterborough, while the ministers who preached on the two opening Sundays were Rev. John Patterson, of Cooke's Church, and Rev. Mr. Hossack, both of Toronto.

The late Rev. William Johnston was Mr. Cameron's successor, ministering to the congregations here and at Garden Hill, which had become one circuit, for twenty-two years. Three years of service were iven by Rev. Mr. Bloodsworth who came after Mr. Johnston's removal, and he was followed by Rev. Dr. William Lee, who went from here to Thorold, and during whose pastorate the two churches were given their distinctive names, Grace and St. Enoch's. Dr. Lee's pastorate extended over six years, and his successor was Rev. G. S. Gervan who entered the ministry of the United Church when it came into being in 1925.

Two Stay Out of Union

Millbrook and Centreville, having each voted to remain out of the union, again became one pastoral charge, the Rev. John Riddell, now of St. Mary's Ontario, being inducted as minister in 1926. After five years of successful service here Mr. Riddell resigned, and the present minister, Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., accepted the invitation to become pastor, and was inducted in 1931 the impressive service taking place in Grace Church, Millbrook, with both congregations present in large numbers.

Mr. Taylor, an early resident of this community, filled the office of precentor in the first church, and Josiah Ball followed at a later date. Another pioneer resident, and a stalwart supporter of Presbyterianism, the late Thomas Gillott, also acted as precentor, and according to recollections of some of the oldest residenes, he and Mr. Ball did not always agree as to which met the requirements of office in the most approved manner, each of course insisting that his own method was the best. The strong controversy which arose over the purchase of the first organ, in Josiah Ball's time, lives still in the memory of a few of the oldest of the church members, or the story of it has been handed down from parents since deceased to their children, and children's children, the opposition to the replacing the precentor's box with the 'kist o' whustles' as it was contemptuously called, waxing very bitter. The pipe-organ installed in Grace church when it was built is a far call from the precentor's tuning fork, and even from the reed organ the use of which caused such a disturbance during Rev. Mr. Cameron's pastorate.

First Manse

The manse first in use at Millbrook, a white roughcast house, was built on the lot where Mrs. (Dr.) L. H. Rae's residence now stands. It was destroyed by fire during the time Rev. James Cameron was minister. For some time the ministers occupied a rented house at Centreville, until the comfortable white brick manse on Provincial Highway No. 28 was erected in 1894. After the two congregations united again as one circuit the minister's home has been at Millbrook, the good roads making it practicable almost the year round for him to use his car in going from one place to the other whether for the Sunday and week night services, or in otherwise fulfilling his pastoral duties.

Unfortunately the records of the Presbyterian Church locally were destroyed when the red brick place of worship was burned, hence the names of officials who served through the years, and many other items of vital interest, are not available in this Centennial year. In the earlier days Sunday School was held in the church auditorium, and was followed by afternoon preaching service in the red brick house of worship, the minister frequently arriving before the school had been dismissed. It was his custom then to question the scholars on the day's lesson, and older people recall with a smile some of the replies given, showing that "Little pitchers had big ears" for items of current gossip talked over in the homes, and related somehow, as only childish minds can to the information requested from the sacred desk.

When Grace church was built the basement was suitably planned and furnished as a bright and cheerful meeting-place for the Sunday School, with curtains and screens separating the several classes for the lesson period. It also has a well-filled kitchen, and is supplied with tables, and other accessories needful when church suppers and like events are in progress.

Lively W.M.A.

An active Woman's Missionary Auxiliary carries on Successfully from year to year, the president and secretary this Centennial year being Mrs. William Deyell and Mrs. J. R. Thompson. The Women's League is another live organization, proving a tower of strength financially to the church officials in the help it supplies along this important line, the president being Mrs. Charles Thorndyke, and the secretary Miss Ethel McKnight. The League is sponsoring the garden party on Tuesday, June 26, which is part of the Centennary celebration, the event to be held at the home of the president, with a big birthday cake as a feature of the tea menu.

The Sunday School, under the superintendency of J. H. McKnight and an able corps of teachers and officers, increases in efficiency and membership each year, and the Young People's Society, with F. J. Deyell as president and pick Williams secretary, continues a potent factor for interesting, setting to work, and developing the young people of the congregation.

Miss Agnes Chambers, now married and residing in the West, was the organist when the church opened, and the present incumbent of this office is Miss Grace Johnston. A.T.C.M., while the choir, under the leadership of Chas. Thorndyke, includes in its membership Misses Ruth Thorndyke, Vanita Ingram, Lillian Syer, Jean Bothwell, Mrs. J. R. Thompson, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Margaret Armstrong, Stanley Theobald, V. R. Hunter, Richard Williams, Joe Thorndyke and Jas. Chalmers.

Session Members

Members of the Session in this one hundredth anniversary year are Rev. H. R. Williams, Jas. Kennedy, William Maitland, C. C. Gardiner and T. W. Belch. Charles Thorndyke is chairman of the Board of Managers; the other members being J. H. Paul, Charles Gardiner, R. J. McKnight, E. L. Armstrong, H. W. Hall and William Belch.

The congregational secretary is Mr. C. Thorndyke and the treasurer H. A. Kerr.

Looking backward, after one hundred years of service in the community, the congregation of Grace Presbyterian Church can truly say: "The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad."

OPEN INQUEST IS RETURNED

pavement, about three feet from the concrete road surface. She was lying on her left side, unconscious. When he came out he said there was a car at about the end of the pavement, going north, away from the scene of the accident. He did not know whose car it was. The door of the house was open at the time of hearing the noise.

Crossing the road with his daughter, Miss MacDonald turned the child over, and then he picked her up and carried her into the house, his daughter phoning for the doctor, who arrived shortly after. The child was alive, he stated, but unconscious. There were blood marks on her head and her dress was torn. He saw car marks there, he told Col. Boggs, one wheel mark being off the pavement about two feet. To his knowledge, the car did not return. He was there until the child was taken to Peterborough.

Russell Emmons told the court that he was not at the scene of the accident when it occurred, but was down the street at his home when he heard of it. He came to the door but saw nothing only a car going north, which he told the court was a touring model. The car he said was across from his house, about forty or fifty feet from the scene of the accident. He had viewed the scene of the accident about half an hour after and had been the car tracks and a spot of blood on the ground.

James Doupe told of being with his wife at the side of his house at time, which is about fifty feet away. He heard a noise, and then saw a car go by, going north, on the right side of the road. He went out and saw Mr. MacDonald carrying the child into the house.

He afterward went with Chief Constable George Hardy of Campbellford, to the home of Campbell, and there saw a car. He did not get out of the car, but the Chief went into the barn to see Campbell and later returned with him. Campbell carrying two pails of milk. He got into the car and came to the Police Station with them. On the way into Campbellford Doupe stated that Campbell told them "he felt a little bump but throught it was a stone he went over."

Compound Fracture

Dr. C. H. MacNeil gave evidence of being called to the scene of the accident at about six o'clock and finding child unconscious, with one wound on the front left side of the head, and a definite compound fracture at the back of the skull on the right hand side. The injury was serious enough to cause death he stated. The child was taken to Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, and to his knowledge was living at ten o'clock that evening, although he had seen and identified the child on the day of the funeral.

Chief Constable George Hardy stated that he had arrived on the scene a few minutes after the accident and saw the tracks where the car had left the pavement, and the spot of blood. The car had run off the shoulder of the pavement for twenty-one feet to the blood spot, and then on again for another forty feet before going on to the pavement.

He had been told the make of the car and that it might belong to one, Oscar Campbell, and he went to the Campbell home and saw the same make of car in the yard. He questioned Campbell and he admitted that he had driven through town and that he had left the pavement and struck something, but thought it was a stone. He was looking back at McConnell's house and that had put him off the road. Chief Hardy said he was told by Campbell. He had arrested Campbell and taken him to the police station, and then gone and measured the car tracks. There was quite a crowd there at the time, and he did not remember who it was who had told him it was Campbell's car.

Objection Raised

Oscar Campbell was brought to the stand, but Mr. Douglas raised an objection, pointing out that a serious charge faced the witness and he felt that he should not be called, although he know the Crown had the right to do so. Col. Boggs however, conceeded to request and Campbell stood down.

Mrs. Ruth West, mother of the deceased child, said that Betty was taken to Peterborough and died there on the morning of June 16, and was brought to Campbelford early the same morning. She would have been five years old in October, was in the best of health, her death being caused by the injuries she sustained.

Following the inquest, Oscar Campbell appeared before Magistrate J. M. Bygott in Police Court, charged with unlawfully causing grievous bodily harm to Betty West, at the request of the Crown, the case being adjourned for one week. Bail of $2,000 was renewed, one thousand of his own and one thousand on the surety of Stuart Carr.

Terrorized by the peculiar actions of an elk, people of the little island in Lake Malar have asked the Government of Sweden for special permission to kill it although now is the closed season for such animals.

CHEMONG LAKE SAILING CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Gordon Matthews is Elected Provisional Chairman of the Peterborough Club.

HAVE FOUR BOATS

Premises of Peterborough Canoe Company at Chemong Been Secured.

Recently organized under provisional chairmanship of Gordon S. Matthews, Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club has acquired the use of the Peterborough Canoe Company's premises at Chemong as their summer headquarters. In addition the club has entered into an agreement with the Canoe Company for the use of four sloop rigged dinghys on a charter basis. Weather permitting the activities of the new organization which has for its object the stimulating of all kinds of sailing, boating and aquatic sports, is to get under way with a big meet in Chemong on Sunday morning.

Proposed plans suggest the possibility of construction of a dock adjacent to the Canoe Company's premises at Chemong, which it is expected will be undertaken almost immediately. Membership fees have been set and a constitution adopted, providing the nucleus for a live organization that it is hoped will do much towards increasing interest in water sports generally.

The executive committee of the club, is composed of the following: Gordon Matthews, chairman; R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, B. D. Hall, Dr. G. R. Scott, T. McKay; Lionel W. Scott, secretary; sailing committee: Messrs. Ross Thompson, Carl Duffus, Graham Eastwood.

The name of the organization was formally adopted at a meeting of the executive held at the residence of Claude Rogers on Saturday last. With the necessary changes the constitution of the Corinthian Sailing Club was considered suitable to the needs of the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club, while the Great Lakes Dinghy Sailing Association rules are also to be incorporated in the club's constitution.

The following are the rules and regulations approved, and which are to be posted at the clubs Chemong headquarters:

1—Any member using a club boat must sign a log book, to be provided by the club and kept at headquarters listing the names of those accompanying the member and the hour of departure.

2—Junior sailing members will have the privilege of using the club boats on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays till 4 p.m., and on Wednesdays and Saturdays till 1 p.m. excepting holidays. They may, however, use any club boats if they are unlikely to be in demand for senior members.

3—Senior members may use the club boats at any hour they are available, also having equal rights with junior members during the hours reserved for them.

4—All boats provided by the club must return to club headquarters hourly and members must release such boat on demand of any other member or the authorized representative of the club.

5—Members must unrig their boats, remove sails and store them in the clubhouse, bail boat and leave it in good usable condition properly moored unless the club representative advises them it is likely to be used again during that day.

6—A sailing member using a club boat and in charge of same will be held responsible for any damage, while the boat is in his possession.

7—Sailing members will have the privilege of reserving a boat by advising authorized representative of the club at Chemong at least one hour prior to the time requested, but boats will not be held beyond the time stated.

8—Any member of the executive or sailing committee and in their absence the authorized representative of the club at Chemong has the right to refuse the use of any club boat if he deems it advisable.

9—The use of the club boats will be under control of the Sailing Committee on regatta days.

COUNTY SEEKS

port the motion received was from Deputies Milby and Mullen.

In turning down the motion the committee recommended to the council that the council stand by its decision made last year by which under Section 34 of the High School Act the townships pay an equal share with the county towards education costs of county high school pupils.

Reeve Wood was named by the Warden as a member of the special committee appointed to draw up the resolution memorializing other county councils in the province, but he declined to act. Stating his reason, North Monaghan's reeve remarked, "every member of the council is looking to the interests of his own township and not to the interests of the county as a whole."

Warden's Comment

"Of course, Mr. Wood, everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but so far as my township is concerned I am not making anything out of it. I am not looking mainly to my own interests." Warden Ferguson observed.

As Reeve Roy Brown, the chairman was presenting some comparative figures on education costs, Deputy Milby said, "There is the proof that each township is working for itself."

Reeve Robert Tedford stated his objection to the "insinuation," but was told by Deputy Milby, "It is not an insinuation, it is a fact."

"Everybody is getting edged up," Reeve Robert Tedford said in urging that it was time to adjourn for lunch.

HOUSE IS GIVEN LIVELY DEBATES BY OPPOSITION

Explosive Mood Follows Liberal Victories in Two Provincial Elections.

BANK KEY TOPIC.

Bennett Sticks to Claim Provisions Give Gov't Adequate Control.

OTTAWA, June 23 (CP)—After pursuing a serene course for a week or two the House of Commons appears to have taken on an explosive mood since the provincial elections brught the overthrow of Conservative governments in Ontario and Saskatchewan. Opposition members appear more inclined to oppose the government at every turn and violent turns are taken by discussions which a week ago would have been harmonious.

Two such incidents occurred yesterday; one in connection with the Franchise Bill and the other on the Bank of Canada Bill. The former was given second reading and sent to a special committee, but not before Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King clashed with Speaker George Black over a point of order and accused the Government of seeking to disfranchise people rather than franchise them. He claimed the provision that electors must sign an application form to get on the lists would keep people off because of the fear of many people of signing things.

The clash over the Bank of Canada Bill came when Hon. Ernest Lapointe (Lib., Quebec East) moved an amendment to the clause dealing with the issue of currency. He proposed the banks notes should be bilingual, printed in both English and French, whereas the bill provides they may be printed wholly in either language and available in whatever laguage required.

Amendment Is Lost

This amendment was voted down in the committee stage after Prime Minister R. B. Bennett suggested the question was raised for political purposes and Mr. Lapoint entered an indignant denial. He said the charge was an "infamous lie" but was compelled to retract.

The Franchise Bill received its second reading and was referred to a special committee which will meet Monday.

Progress was made in moving the Bank of Canada Bill through committee stage and the discussion over public or private control was renewed. Mr. Bennett's view is that the provisions of the bill give as wide a measure of Government control over the proposed Central Bank as prevails in any other country. At the same time they guard against bank matters and bank policy being made subject to the political exigencies in which the government of the day may find itself.

Liberals pressed for more definite control and an amendment proposed by Hon. J. L. Ralston (Lib., Yarmouth-Shelburne) to empower the Government to appoint a majority of the directors was discussed at length and voted down. Another change which would give the Deputy Minister of Finance a sort of veto power over the decisions of the bank's directors by enabling him to lodge a protest with the Minister, which would have the effect of suspending the action for the time being was thrown out.

The Goverior.

The question of the nationality of the governor of the bank cropped out again as Mr. Ralston expressed the opinion a suitable man could be found in Canada. If such were the case he would be appointed, said Mr. Bennett, but he understood there was no one with the necessary experience of central banks.

Furthermore, said the Prime Minister, he was not going to appoint a man who was not in sympathy with the principle of the Central Bank. It was well known, he said, that Canadian banks were strongly opposed to the creation of a Central Bank. Officials and employees of Canadian banks with that frame of mind would not be the best class from which to select a governor for the new bank.

Fears entertained by Mr. King of a possible clash between the Government and the bank on matters of policy were not borne out by the experience of other countries, particularly Great Britain, said Mr. Bennett. Generally central banks had carried out the financial policies of their governments. The relation between the government and the bank would necessarily be very intimate as the bank must act as the government's fiscal agent.

King, Black Clash

Mr. King, Liberal Leader, was the storm centre of the afternoon clashing with Speaker George Black Premier R. B. Bennett and one or two back-bench Conservatives, while his followers roared encouragement and pounded their desks in noisy endorsation. Among other things, he charged the government with drafting a bill which originally would have disfranchised men and women unable to read and write either French or English, but the Prime Minister denied this clause ever had been inserted in a bill.

Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers embraced the occasion to make a plea for the Proportional Representation System of election and the alternative vote. He had the endorsation of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, but there was no reply from Government benches.

An echo of the recent Ontario campaign was sounded by J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. Leader, who said someone, he was unable to get the facts behind it, had printed a paper called "The Commonwealth," giving the erroneous idea it was the publication of his party. Mitchell F. Hepburn had quoted from the paper on the eve of an election, exorting C.C.F. followers not to split the anti-government vote, but to support the Liberals, said Mr. Woodsworth; adding, "I would rather lose an election than win it through such tactics as that."

Conservatives will have a majority on the committee over all parties. It will consist of the Minister of Justice, Hon. Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine; R. B. Hanson, Cons., York-Sunbury; Errick Willis, Cons., Souris; E. E. Perley, Con., Qu'Appelle; Hon. Earnest Lapointe, Lib. Quebec East; Hon. Charles Stewart, Lib., Edmonton West; C. G. Power, Lib., Quebec South, and William Irvine, U.F.A., Wetaskiwin.

By special permission of the House a companion measure, Bill 115, respecting the election of representatives to the House of Commons, was also given second reading and referred to the same committee.

HEPBURN HEADS TOWARD OTTAWA TALK WITH KING

Dr. J. A. Faulkner, W. Hastings, Expected to Get Health or Education Post.

LEADER SILENT.

Rumor Education Portfolio May Possibly Go Outside Party.

TORONTO, June 23. (CP). — Mitchell F. Hepburn came to Toronto to-day for the first time since he was designated Ontario's next Premier in last Tuesday's Liberal landslide election.

The Premier-elect side-tracked questions regarding the make-up of his cabinet and said he would make no definite announcements until after the resignation of Premier George S. Henry, expected some time around July 1. Mr. Hepburn will go to Ottawa tonight to consult with Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Dominion Liberal leader.

Despite Mr. Hepburn's silence, tion on the personnel of the cabinet continued. Some sources professed to see Dr. L. J. Simpson, member-elect for Simcoe Centre would assume the health portfolio.

A Toss-up

Others suggested the health ministry would be a toss-up between Dr. Simpson and Dr. J. A. Faulkner of Belleville who defeated W. H. Ireland, Conservative whip, in Hastings West. These persons believed one or other, whichever is left out of the health portfolio will become Minister of Education.

Beyond saying he would not take the education department under his own wing Mr. Hepburn last night declined to discuss the situation. In some quarters he was said to believe there was not a man in his party sufficiently expert to take the position. These persons suggested somemone outside the party would get the education assignment.

Those who recalled the promise of the premier that a French-Canadian would be given a portfolio suggested E. A. LaPierre, successful in Sudbury against Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, or Paul Leduc of Ottawa might be appointed to a cabinet post.

GOOD PROGRAM SUMMER GARDENS

Special Week End Program, Including 10 New Song Hits Gordon Braund Guest Trumpet Soloist.

There is probably no band in the province that has a more complete and up-to-date music library than that of Mose Yokom and his orchestra, for to-night there are ten new song-hits, and nine more came in to-day for next week. Those being played to-night are:

1—"Moon-Glow."
2—"Little Man, You Had a Busy Day."
3—"Don't Say Good-night" from Al Jolson's late picture, "Wonder Bar."
4—"Unless Your Heart is Mine," waltz, latest.
5—"Rocking in Rhythm," featured by Duke Ellington and his famous orchestra.
6—Blue Jazz, Casa Loma Orchestra arrangement.
7—"What Are Your Intentions," from 'Twenty Million Sweethearts'
8—"As Long as I Live," arranged for Dan Healy's Cotton Club Band.
9—You're in My Power," a novelty fox trot.
10—"Pretty Polly Perkins"

Brock Street Summer Gardens are doing everything possible to make this modern place of entertainment up-to-date in every respect, something different each week, and appreciation is being shown by the dancing public in the fine nightly attendances.

Gordon Braund of Ferde Mowry's Orchestra, will be guest soloist on the trumpet to-night, and he and Emmett McGrath will play by request, "Dinah." 1d

PUBLIC APPROVES OF NEW TIRE TERM

An Innovaton That Has Caught On With Car and Truck Owners.

KITCHENER, Ont., June 23.—To the Dominion Tire Factory in this city goes the credit for an innovation in terminology that has 'caught on' with car and truck owners throughout Canada. From passenger car and fleet owners in many cities of the Dominion letters have recently been received endorsing "M.P.T." (Miles Per Tire) as a term expressing the ultimate test of tire values. Incidentally, these letters bear out the advertised claims that even after 20,000 miles Dominions still have plenty of safe anti-skid tread left.

Tires still in operation with a surprising amount of tread left after 51,000 miles of travel are described in a letter from Union Storage and Transfer, Limited, Winnipeg. This Company cited the record of the new design Dominion Royal bus balloon tires used on their large tractor running between Winnipeg and Regina during the past year under trying conditions. The tractor was on the road night and day with a relief driver sleeping in the cab. Running over gravel highways, in all kinds of temperatures, these tires rolled up their 51,000 miles with minimum delay in the service schedule.

Rivalling this record is the one instanced by the W. H. Malkin Company of Vancouver. They write the Dominion Company here to tell of the 43,000 M.P.T. scored by three of their trucks equipped with Dominion Royal heavy service balloon tires. In constant service for four years with heavily loaded four-ton vehicles, only one tire of the 18 had to be repaired, and that was due to an accident. More important still, there is good tread left.

The Dominions referred to are all made with the exclusive tempered rubber tread—toughest tread rubber that Science has yet discovered.

GRAND STAND ATTRACTIONS

After considering many, the directors have finally arranged for these outstanding attractions to appear in front of the Grand Stand each afternoon and evening this year.

Bebney's Revue

The "Winter Garden" Revue of Talented Broadway Dancers and Stage Folk. Something new and proving very popular at outside entertainments. A galaxy of Precision Dancers in lovely routines.

Royal Buccaneers

Seven clever Acrobats performing seemingly impossible feats of daring. This is one of the world's most thrilling features in the field of athletic endeavor.

Joe Mandis' Troupe

Three men and a maid in a hilarious act of gymnastics and side-splitting comedy. You'll laugh with amazement at this equilibristric offering.

Mary Palmers' Circus

Enjoyment for the children, but for grown-ups too. Mary Palmer and Mr. Palmer have assembled an exceptional collection of cleverly trained Dogs and Ponies—one pony dances and plays a saxaphone.

Bob Eugene Troupe

One of the sensations of this year's grand stand show. A quartette of lightning fast horizontal performers—an original and miraculous display on the bars—formerly headlining Barnum and Bailey's Circus.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stewart, of Otonabee, announce the engagement of their daughter, Grace Madeline to William James, son of Mrs. Howden and the late James Howden of Cavan, the wedding to take place quietly the latter part of June.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Doxsee of Simcoe street celebrate quietly today the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

About forty of the members and friends of the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church enjoyed a very jolly picnic yesterday when they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hopwood at Chemong Park. The weather was ideal. A sumptuous supper was served under supervision of Mrs. J. Marshall, assisted by Mrs. A. C. Simmons, Mrs. G. F. Collis and Mrs. H. Bassett. During the supper hour, the president of the class, Mrs. G. Pakenham, with a neat little speech, presented the class teacher, Miss M. A. Tamkin, with a small gift, in a pretty necklace of amethysts set in silver. Miss Tamkin made a very appreciative acknowledgment, assuring the members of the joy and pleasure experienced in being of some use to the class. A hearty vote of thanks was moved also to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hopwood, by Mrs. Pakenham, while Mrs. J. Bacon seconded the motion and presented Mrs. Hopwood with a pretty piece of china, for which a suitable acknowledgment was made. The Ven. Archdeacon Blagrave and the Rev. E. R. James made brief speeches, noting the fact that two of the members were celebrating wedding anniversaries; Mrs. C. Barton having her thirtieth anniversary and Mrs. C. Willison her twenty-fourth, and that yesterday was also the birthday anniversary of the president, Mrs. G. Pakenham. In honor of these anniversaries, all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," finishing with three cheers and a tiger. During the afternoon, a number of the guests enjoyed a swim in the lake, and, after watching a glorious sunset, the company adjourned to the living room and sat around a big fire kindled in the grate, for a sing-song which closed with the class hymn and the Doxology. The Rev. Mr. James pronounced the Benediction. Included in the guest list of the afternoon were the Ven. Archdeacon Blagrave, the Rev. and Mrs. E. R. James, Mrs. R. Ford and Miss M. A. Tamkin.

Last evening, a number of the graduates and Alumnae of the Training School for Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital gathered at the home of Miss Agnes Gainey, Cricket Place, to present her with gifts from the graduates and Alumnae, in the form of a silver casserole and a silver tray with silver creamer and sugar bowl. The affair, which was in the form of a surprise, was attended by the Misses Olive Cowie, Mary McGuire, Anastasia Heffernan, Kathleen Hickey, Margaret Grady, Loraine Masterson, Rita McMurray and Blanche Kelly. The marriage of Miss Gainey to Mr. Oswald Moher takes place on Tuesday of next week.

Mrs. F. N. Biddle of 2 Benson avenue lent her home this week for the first in a series of small informal teas to be held by members of the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church, to raise funds to purchase equipment for a Bowling club to be started in the Fall by the members. The next tea will be held at the home of Mrs. W. S. Hake of 4 Benson avenue, with arangements in charge of Mrs. G. F. Collis and Mrs. J. Bacon.

The Ladies' Parlor at St. Andrew's United Church was the scene of a happy gathering this week, when the Women's Missionary Society honored those who had been Missionary Society members for more than forty years. There was a brief, impressive program in which all took part. The Bible lesson was read by Mrs. W. G. Henderson of Cobourg, whose mother, Mrs. E. A. Mathieson, is a long-service member. Prayers were offered by Mrs. T. Leslie, representing the older group, and Mrs. W. A. Nelson, for the younger group. An interesting feature was the reading of a poem entitled "These Forty Years," written some months ago for this especial occasion, by the late Miss Annie Lancaster, and read by Mrs. F. H. Dearborn. Re-consecration vows were made by Mrs. M. Kerr, a W.M.S. member for the past fifty-one years, and by Mrs. W. Zeihr, a younger member. Miss Mima Ferguson made the presentation of an American Beauty rose to each one of the long-service members, together with a copy of Miss Lancaster's poem and an appropriate Bible verse read by the president, Mrs. B. L. Barns. Then afternoon tea was served, with Mrs. G. A. Gillespie pouring, assisted by Mesdames W. Zeihr, W. Henry, W. A. Nelson, B. Stacey. Later, on behalf of the group and the executive Miss Elizabeth Ferguson presented Mrs. T. Leslie, who is leaving next week with her husband to reside in Queesboro, Ontario, with a handsome Mossfield blanket.

Weddings

BLACK—LA BRASH.

The marriage took place this morning in St. Cecilia's Church, Toronto, of Catherine Violet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joseph La Brash, to Mr. John Francis Black, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black, of Peterborough. Rev. Father Harry Black, brother of the groom, officiated, and Mr. Norbert J. Brown sang an Ave Maria, accompanied by Miss Josephine Quinn, violinist, with Dr. Fannon at the organ. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of white point d'esprit over satin. Ruffle-trimmed godets at the back suggested a slight train, and a wide collar formed a cascade across the shoulders. Her halo hat was of stiffened point d'esprit, and she carried a sheaf of orchids and lily-of-the-valley. The maid of honor, Miss Marie La Brash, sister of the bride, wore dawn pink peau d'ange lace, and the bridesmaid, Miss Helen McConvey, was frocked in acquamarine lace. Their frocks were made on princess lines with tiny fish-tail trains, and their large cartwheel stitched hats and gloves were made of cascade crepe to match the frocks. They carried bouquets of Johanna Hill roses and love-in-a-mist. The best man was Mr. Alec Black, brother of the groom, and the ushers, Mr. Rolly Conacher and Mr. Bertram McGuinn. The reception afterward was held at the Old Mill, and Mrs. La Brash received wearing a gown of wine-beige cossack crepe with picture hat and corsage of orchids and lily-of-the-valley. Mrs. Ernest Connelly, sister of the groom, also received, in a frock of shell-pink lace with matching hat and corsage of Sweetheart roses. Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Lake of Bays, the bride travelling in an ensemble of gold, brown and white, with matching hat.

SEXSMITH—HILL

The wedding took place very quietly at one o'clock this afternoon, of Florence MacLean Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill of King street, and Mr. Percy James Sexsmith, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sexsmith of Chamberlain street. The Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr performed the ceremony at the Manse of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

The bride wore a smart ensemble of white silk linen and white hat and accessories and corsage of deep pink roses.

Her sister, Miss Margaret Hill, was bridesmaid, wearing a frock of pale pink triple sheer crepe with white hat and accessories and corsage of pale pink roses.

Mr. George Wensley acted as best man.

After the ceremony, the bridal party had a dainty repast at the Gingham Dog Tea Room. Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith left later by motor for North Bay and Ottawa, the bride travelling in a grey silk ensemble with black hat, shoes and gloves. On their return, they will live at 192 Dalhousie street.

FOWLER—RAMSAY.

Wide interest centered in the marriage to-day at St. James's Cathedral, Toronto, at 3 o'clock of Sheila Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ramsay, of Toronto, to Robert McLaren Fowler, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fowler of Peterborough. Canon Plumptre officiated at the ceremony, which had impressive background of peonies, which banked the chancel. Yellow daisies and peonies tied with yellow ribbon designated the guest pews. Dr. Alexander Davies presided at the organ, and the service was fully choral. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful French period gown of white satin. Rosepoint lace fashioned the high whale-boned collar. The bodice was very high, the skirt very full, sweeping into a long, graceful train. The veil of silk tulle was caught in a coronet of orang eblossoms and her flowers were lily-of-the-valley and pale yellow roses. The bridal attendants were Miss Margot Clarkson, maid of honor; Miss Guen Jones, Miss Janet Baldwin and Miss Genevieve Fowler of Peterborough, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. Their gowns were of white taffeta cut similarly to that of the bride. The ruffs around the low Elizabethan neckline were lined with yellow taffeta. Their tiny white Romance hats, high at the back and dipping over the brow, were massed with daisies at the back. Their bouquets were of field daisies. Mr. David Guest was groomsman, and the ushers: Mr. Hugh Jones, Mr. Allistair Walker, Mr. John Guest, Mr. George Powell and Mr. Allan Coventry. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 15 Warren Road. Mrs. Ramsay wore a handsome gown of chiffon, fashioned with a train. Her hat was of chiffon straw to match, a wide-brimmed model, and her flowers were tawny orchids and pansies. Mrs. Fowler, mother of the groom, was in powder blue lace, with hat to match, and her corsage was of Sweetheart roses. Later, the couple left for Yama Farms, the bride travelling in a French blue hare cloth ensemble, with shell pink satin blouse matching hat, with touches of pink, corsage of cornflowers and pink roses. Upon their return they will live in Toronto.

HAMMOND—HANN

A pretty wedding was solemnized at three o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. C. D. Daniel, at the parsonage of Mark street United Church, when Matilda R. Hann of 217 Braidwood avenue became the bride of Mr. Peter S. Hammond of Kemptville, Ontario.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Richard L. Hann of Rochester, N.Y., was prettily attired in white. Her gown of white silk crepe had a yoke of embroidered lace net with matching sleeves. She wore a large picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink Butterfly roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Moscrop, niece of the bride, was in a daffodil yellow and white ensemble with matching slippers and hose, and yellow picture hat. Her bouquet was of yellow Talisman roses.

Mr. Arthur Moscrop was best man.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. R. L. Hann of Rochester, N.Y.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Moscrop, sister of the bride. The house was prettily decorated in pink and white and delicious refreshments were served to twenty-five guests.

The gift of the bride to her bridesmaid was a silver and amethyst necklace and the bridegroom's gift to the best man was a silver cigarette case.

The bride was formerly employed at the Bonner Worth Mills and the bridegroom is in the shoe business. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, who will make their future home in Maxville, Ontario, left later for a honeymoon trip, the bride travelling in a tan swagger suit with white silk blouse and matching accessories.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

After a lapse of two generations, or perhaps it is wiser to say three generations, rope springs are again in use. This certainly proves that styles return after intervals, some of long duration, others of shorter, but return the fashions surely do, as instanced in this new vogue. The springs are not used in beds. It was on them that they found favor in the past era. It is said that rope springs were a luxury of their day. By gradual transitions including springs of leather tipped wooden slats slung on sturdy steel wire, and woven wire springs, we have come to coiled wire springs. And sometimes mattresses have coiled wire springs in them. What would the old folk think of our downy couches when they believed that roped springs were luxurious.

* * * * * * *

The rope springs of today have graduated from beds where they were discreetly concealed. They appear today in chairs and settees where they may or may not be covered. Nor do they consider themselves exactly in the light of springs. They are a sort of unique fitting, one over which cushions are apt to be placed it is true, but yet such additions are not imperative necessities.

* * * * * * *

Today the rope is heavier than formerly and is used more as a coarse medium for weaving than in the latticed openwork in bed springs. The elements of decoration are not lacking in this ultra-modern use of rope, which may be left as it is or be treated with a preparation to deepen the color and bind the filaments.

* * * * * * *

The chairs may have a curved shape resembling the old time sleepy hollow chairs, in which the rope extends from top of the high back to the front edge of the chair seat, forming one uninterrupted surface. Or the chair may have back and seat each with the woven rope fitting.

* * * * * * *

The rope is satisfactory in two ways for summertime. It gives sufficiently for comfort such as found in wicker furniture which is not upholstered, or as in cane-seated furniture without the upholstery. It is loosely woven enough to be cool. By omitting the pillows and cushion upholstery, the chairs are cooler although with them they are given added comfortable softness.

* * * * * * *

Rope furniture has wooden frames, and it is the sort which can be left out of doors without seriously impairing it. The fact that removable fitted cushions are now a vogue for out-door furniture since they can be taken in easily and replaced as wanted, it will be seen that this distinctive furniture has a quaint appeal.

PITCHERS' WILDNESS PLAYS BIG PART IN ONE-SIDED WIN

Vannest and Masterson Hurl Masterful Ball on Clubmen's Mound.

UNINTERESTING CONTEST.

Cogs shutout Fosters, 12-0, in last night's E.P.L. game to continue their winning streak, which has gone four games now—as well as a tie—before a small crowd at the Exhibition Grounds. Wildness by two Foster flingers, Dinesen and Smith, had a lot to do with the one-sided win, while excellent hurling and good support on the part of Cogs accounted for the coat of whitewash. It was an uninteresting ball game after the second inning.

Percy Vannest, making his '34 debut on the Cog slab, pitched hitless ball and fanned five for the three frames he worked. Masterson finished the game, allowing four hits, one to an inning and fanning two. Both twirlers had fine defensive work behind them. Walter Dinesen started for Fosters but left in the third. He had allowed five hits till then and issued four walks besides hitting a batter and throwing a wild pitch. He fanned two. Lefty Smith finished, giving five hits, six free tickets to first, throwing a wild pitch and striking three out. Their support was shaky in critical spots.

Padgett and Cadd led the victors at bat with two hits each in three times, one of Cadd's being a two-baser. Masterson got two in four and most of the others got one safe hit. The only Foster hitters, with one apiece, were McCarroll, Dinesen, B. Bailey and H. Smith. Some nice catches were made by Cadd and Rogers of Cogs, and H. Smith of the losers.

Cogs were blanked in the first but broke through for three runs in the second on an error, walk, wild pitch, hit batsman, two steals and singles by Masterson and Wilson. Two more were counted in the second on Cadd's double, two walks, a sacrifice and Masterson's single. Rooke's safety, two walks, an error and an out sent across two more markers in the fourth. Nothing happened in the fifth, but in the next canto, Cadd singled, went to third on Rogers' bingle and tallied on an out. They got their last three in the seventh on three walks, two errors and hits by Padgett and Kitchen. Fosters did not get a man to third till the seventh and only five reached second. Vannest fanned three in a row in the second.

Lefty Ostermueller, Red Sox—Hurled effectively against White Sox.

Chuck Klein, Cubs—Poled out 18th homer, double and single, accounting for five runs.

Freddie Lindstrom, Pirates—Hit safely four times out of four trips to plate.

Ray Pepper, Browns — Hit homer with man on base to even score against Athletics.

Irvine Jeffries, Phillies—Hits single in 10th, driving in two runs, gave Phillies victory over Reds.

Jim Collins, Cardinals—Rapped out 16th homer of campaign.

Hank Greenberg, Tigers — Heavy hitting featured nine-run rally that defeated Senators.

RED WINGS CUT LEAFS' MARGIN TO HALF GAME

Red Birds Defeat Lowly Baltimore Orioles for Third Time 9 to 6.

EASY WIN FOR ALBANY.

(By The Associated Press)

The inability of the Montreal Royals to get far above the .500 mark in the International League this season has left them in considerable danger of being ousted from the first division.

Never more than a game or two on the right side of the ledger, the Royals climbed about the .500 level by taking their opening doubleheader from the Syracuse Chiefs, then slipped back yesterday when Syracuse staged a late rally to win 7 to 5. The Albany Senators meanwhile put themselves only a game and a half behind by trimming Buffalo, 6 to 3, for their third victory in four games with the Bisons.

The Montreal-Syracuse clash provided one of the day's oddities. For seven innings it was a mound duel between Clarence Pickrel, who was just sent to the Chiefs by the Boston Braves, and big Chad Himsey, with Syracuse leading 2-1. In the eighth the Chiefs opened up suddenly and batted clear around. Montreal staged a quick comeback and Pickrel, who had pitched five-hit ball up to that time, couldn't finish the inning. The Royals had four runs in and the tying counters on base when Bobby Coombs stepped in and whiffed Hal King to end the rally.

Albany had a comparatively easy victory over Buffalo, clinching the decision with a four-run rally in the seventh as Art Jones and Ray Prim combined in a five-hit hurling job. Jones got into trouble in the ninth and had to be removed.

Leafs Have Day Off

With the two top teams, Newark and Toronto, enjoying a day off, the Rochester Red Wings reduced the Maple Leafs' second-place margin to a half game by sinking the lowly Baltimore Orioles for the third time, 9 to 6. Seven pitchers saw action although the teams made only 10 hits apiece. The Red Birds knocked Chris Pickering, Baltimore newcomer, out with four runs in the first and scored five more in the fifth, while Baltimore had only one good inning.

The Orioles had 12 men left stranded on the sacks and someone figured out that made it 502 left so far this season.

U.S. Players Lose In Tennis Doubles

LONDON, June 23.— (A.P.)—In what amounted to a practise session for the Wimbledon and the interzone Davis Cup play, Ian G. Collins and F. D. H. Wilde of Great Britain decisively swept away George M. Lott, Jr., and Lester Stofen of the United States in the semi-finals of the Queen's Club tournament yesterday. The scores were 6-0, 11-9.

Previously Wilde and Collins had put out Frank Shields and Dave Jones, former Columbia University star, 6-3, 6-2. Dick Williams and Wood won a quarter-final match from the Japanese players, Jiro Yamagishi and Jino Fujikura, 8-6, 6-3, 6-1.

THREE CLUBS VIRTUAL TIE FOR 3RD PLACE

Mickey Cochrane's Tigers Wrest American League Lead From Yankees.

GIANTS LEAD CUT.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., A.P. Sports Writer)

For the third time this season the "dark horses" of the American League, Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Tigers, were at the head of the standing to-day and to make the race more exciting three clubs had tangled themselves into a virtual tie for third place.

These developments in the junior circuit overshadowed the exciting affairs in the National League, where the New York Giants' lead was reduced to three games and the Pittsburgh Pirates showed their eagerness to get back into the race by battling the umpires as well as the opposition in a game which brought them a 7 to 6 victory over the Boston Braves.

The Tigers sank their claws into the Washington Senators for an 11 to 3 victory that carried them back to the lead. Held in check by Bob Burke for seven innings they cut loose with a rally in the eighth in which everybody but the bat boy hit. They scored nine runs before Johnny Milligan, rookie southpaw, got them out.

Meanwhile the Cleveland Indians defied the power of Lefty Gomez and downed the Yankees, 4 to 1. Instead of his 13th victory of the season, Gomez got his second defeat when the tribe touched him for hits when they counted. Monte Pearson limited the Yanks to seven blows.

Gain Third Place

The victorious Cleveland club went into third place in the standing, while Boston's Red Sox trailed along to fourth and Washington dropped to fifth, only four percentage points separated the trio, however. The Red Sox defeated the White Hose club from Chicago, 11 to 1, when they collected 18 blows, at least one for every player, while Fritz Ostermueller gave only nine.

The Browns and Athletics wound up in a 3-3 tie when rain ended their encounter after seven innings of a scrap which brought only three hits for each team. Al Benton worked for the A's and Ivy Andrews and Bill McAffee for St. Louis.

Pittsburgh furnished most of the National League excitement despite its comparatively lowly position. The argument with Umpires Rigler and Magerkurth started during Boston's five-run rally in the fourth on a drive which Cookie Lavagetto trapped.

After 15 minutes' delay Magerkurth decided to allow the double play. He got in hot water later by refusing to count Fred Lindstrom's run when Gus Suhr was thrown out trying to stretch a hit to a double.

The Giants took their worst licking of the season at Chicago when the Cubs lashed out with an 18-hit attack on Watson Clark and Clyde Castleman and won 15 to 2. Chuck Klein socked his 18th homer with the bases full as the big blow of the game. Mel Ott also hit homer No. 18 after the damage had been done.

Dodgers Fall Easily

The second-place Cardinals disposed of Brooklyn easily enough, 7 to 2, when Paul Dean pitched 8-hit ball for his ninth victory of the season. Manager Frank Frisch hit five for five, and Jim Collins bounced his 16th homer into the stands.

The Phillies squared their private argument with the Reds by winning 4 to 2 in 10 innings, as young Irvine Jeffries singled home the winning runs.

SIXTH-FRAME RUN WINS FOR HAWKS

Maple Leafs Beaten 5-4 in City League Bantam Fixture.

Scoring a run in the sixth inning in Armour Field last night, the Hawks—new bantam entry—nosed out a 5-4 win over Maple Leafs. The game was called in the sixth because of darkness. It was a close, exciting struggle between well-matched outfits. The Hawks got one run each in the first, second, fourth, fifth and sixth frames. The Leafs scored one in the second, another in the fifth and two in the first part of the sixth. Copperthwaite hit a homer, while a Robson-to-Baxter double-play featured the fielding.

Both Copperthwaite and Pammett showed some smart mound work, the latter holding his opponents to three safe hits, while the Hawk hurler allowed just six. Their support was good. The winning counter came with none out in the last half of the sixth inning. Heffernan got on, moved up when Menogue got to first, and stole third. Menogue got trapped off first, but Heffernan, cf; Melogue, rf; Gartie. The teams:

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, since my last our ball team has win 1 and lost 1, they taking the cocky Kingston Ponies into camp easily last Sat., and lose out a tough 1 in Belleville Mon. 4 to 3. In the Kingston battle the boys was in the driver's seat all through the engagement. This speedy St. Louis guy started on the rubber for the invaders and he looked like everybody's cozen, while Mister Y. Jamieson, who took over the pitching burden ½ way home, was also cuffed about a little. Meanwhile our Mister Scriver, assisted by some snappy fielding, was holding the Ponies nicely, and the Petes win about as easy as Mitch Hepburn tossed Honest George Henry into the discard last Tues.

Down in Belleville Mon. it was something else again. The left-handed brave, Mister Jack Williams, was doing the gunning for Belleville, and he sent no fewer than 12 of Knotyy Lee's hitters back to the bench for a drink, while up to the final frame they had only bust through for 3 hits and 1 counter. In the 9th they come through with 3 timely blows, drove home 2 runs and had the tying marker on the 3rd cushion when Mister Williams shot down the rally by fanning the last batter. It was a eyelash finish.

Mister Willie Calladine, who has been bothered with a lame fin, did the heaving in our interest, and made a nice job of it, too; in fact, his showing was very encouraging to all and sundry.

This Central loop race promises to contribute a lotta excitement before Labor Day drifts around, Mac. Oshawa served notice that they ain't going to be no set-up for nobody by dropping Belleville for a loss last Sat., the Ponies is always dangerous, the Nats (especially with Williams pitching) will take a lot of beating, and the Petes, when Mister Deyell gets back into the game, will be able to go in there any time and trade bows with all and sundry.

Well, old-timer, the election is all over and mebbe with a new Govt. the Petes won't have so many men left on bases. Who can tell?

Time to sign off, so cherrio.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

PETHERICKS TIE MENIE FOR LEAD

Take 9-7 Victory in Seymour League Fixture on Wednesday Evening.

BURNBRAE, June 22.—(Examiner Correspondence)—Petherick's tied Menie for first place in the league standing by a 9 to 7 win in Wednesday evening's Seymour League game. The encounter lived up to advance notices and was one of the closest and most exciting games staged in some time.

Both pitchers were in good form. Kerr only allowing five hits, with two walks and one wild pitch, all of which figured in the scoring. He struck out eight, seven of these in the first three frames. Eagleson, with the handicap of a lame wrist, did not register any strike-outs but kept the hits fairly well scattered after the first inning. His support wobbled in both the first and fourth to help along the Petherick's victory.

Menie: Eagleson, p; Jeffs, c; Craighead, 1b; Parr, 2b; R. Oddie, 3b; K. Oddie, ss; Rannie, lf; Wallace, cf; Hutcheon, rf.

Petherick's: G. Kerr, p; A. Petherick, c; Barnum, 1b; G. Petherick, 2b; Ewing, 3b; L. Watson, 3b; D. Watson, ss; R. Fry, lf; D. Kerr, cf; F. Fry, rf.

By innings:
Menie ..... 203 200 0—7 5 5
Petherick's ..... 301 221 x—9 14 4
Umpires—Tinney, McComb, Farrell.

The league officials have decided to adopt a double schedule. The games for the next week are:

June 23—Petherick's vs Seymour West.
June 27—Petherick's vs Menie.
June 30—Menie vs Seymour West.

RACING BODY TO CONSIDER GENTRY CASE NEXT FRIDAY

Follows Series of Disputes Between Trainer and I.C.R.A. Officials Last Fall.

DISPOSES OF STRING.

TORONTO, June 23. (CP). — A dispute between the Inc. Canadian Racing Association and H. C. Hatch, Toronto sportsman and his trainer, Lloyd Gentry, is to be settled—or at least discussed—at a meeting in Hamilton next Friday. Hatch horses have not competed on I.C.R.A. tracks this season.

Gentry was refused a license to enter horses in I.C.R.A. races this spring, apparently the outcome of a series of disputes between the trainer and Racing Association officials the previous fall. It was said Mr. Hatch was recently invited to send his horses to Hamilton on the Understanding that Gentry could train but not saddle horses in the paddock. The offer was refused.

During the last week Gentry sold six of the Hatch horses at Dufferin track. Concern was felt that the Toronto sportsman intended closing his Agincourt, Ont., breeding establishment and perhaps moving to the United States. The stable is being shipped to Detroit Sunday.

Gentry's recent query to the I.C.R.A. as to why he was refused a license this spring has resulted in the calling of a meeting to discuss the case. No reason for the refusal has ever been made public.

Going Down

All members of baseball's Big Six, from the leader, Heinie Manush of the Senators, down to sixth-place Bill Terry of the Giants, lost ground yesterday.

Manush failed to get a hit out of four times at bat against the Detroit Tigers, and his average fell from .417 to .410, while the other place-holders did little better.

MISS KYER WINS WINDSOR TOURNEY

Ann Arbor Player Cards 81 at Essex County to Equal Record.

WINDSOR, June 23 (CP)—Sweeping the fairways and mastering the greens at the Essex County Club in the finest competitive display ever recorded by a woman player in the history of the course, Miss Jean Kyer, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was the predominating figure in the third annual invitation tournament yesterday. Miss Kyer, representing Barton Hills Club, Ann Arbor, paced a field of 110 golfers from all parts of Western Ontario and Michigan with a score of 81 that equalled the course record established back in 1929 by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, celebrated international links star. An unfortunate seven at the tenth hole cost Miss Kyer a new record for the Essex layout.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

'Twas field night for the Cogs down at the Exhibition Grounds last night as they walloped Fosters, 12 to 0. They not only shut them out, hung a horse-collar on them and blanked them, but they also slapped a liberal coat of whitewash on, just for luck. Naturally, the luck wasn't for Fosters. The Clubmen are coming along nice, and look like a smart team, whereas Fosters are weak at bat and on the mound. Outside of these few differences, it was a close ball game.

• • • • • • •

Percy Vannest, who was one of the original E.P.L. flingers, returned to the hilltop for Cogs last eve and did some fancy gunning. He held 'em hitless the three stanzas he hummed through, and struck out five for luck. Again, the luck wasn't Fosters'. Yeah, Percy was whistling them over with that crack-the-whip motion of his and the batters were taking 'em just like old Dobbin used to take the gad on a fine Sunday afternoon when our folks used to go a-courtin'. Them were the days. Oh, yes, we were talking about the ball game. Well, Vannest was so good that they hoisted him after three innings. No use wasting all that fine hurling on a small crowd. Casey Masterson finished in his usual efficient style.

• • • • • • •

Both Dinesen and Smith, Foster pitchers, were wilder than frightened colts. They didn't give so many hits and both had several strikeouts, but the mess of Annie Oakleys they handed Cogs cost them plenty. Their support wasn't stifling hot, either, not nearly as warm as that given the opposing moundsmen. Padgett, Masterson and Cadd were the top hitters, each snaring a couple just for—oh, well, let's forget this luck business. You can't convince Fosters that there is such a thing as luck, particularly good luck. Lefty Dunkerley, their ace southpaw, is out for another week with a broken nose, suffered at work. And that's only one of the tough breaks that have been hampering this squad so far this season.

• • • • • • •

C.G.E. men softballers—now run by the loop with Fred Scates and Percy Harrison co-managers—started off on the right foot by squelching Fashion-Crafts, 15-10, yester gloaming. The Electrics had a better looking team than they've had so far this year, and we understand they'll be improved still more. Max Board was a big help at first, and the pitching should be heaps better—and these were two weak spots in the former C.G.E. entry. Anyway, they knocked off the Clothiers in a fair sort of contest. No doubt, the losers will field a stronger team the second half, too. Johnny Russell has withdrawn his protest over that game with Johnston's since it could have no bearing on the first half.

• • • • • • •

Neither Naish nor old Bill Simmons could stem the tide of base-hits that swept over them with the electrified Electrics up there smearing everything that came near the platter. Price, Heffernan and finally the old maestro, Scates, took a whirl on the winners' rubber. It was raids by other managers on the old C.G.E. players that finally wrecked that team, so now watch out that the new outfit doesn't do a bit of raiding in turn. We'd laugh right out loud if this happened. And when you get two dudes like Messrs. Harrison and Scates out with a lantern some dark night looking for prospects—well, the smarter ones of the rival managers will hustle their players indoors and send for the police!

• • • • • • •

We are accused by the Belleville scribe of being asleep on the job, the Quinte scribbler yesterday bursting out wtih a huge 'scoop'—that is that Frank Boucher N'Yawk Rangers' puck star was in Peterborough last week "without" the Belleville guy says "the sports-writer there knowing what it was all about, proving that none of us are infallible." Tut, tut, me good man, must you always be two weeks behind? The account of Mister Boucher's presence was written in The Examiner(not necessarily in the sport column) early last week when he accompanied the Ottawa Cricket Club to play Grove school team at Lakefield. However, no apologies expected. Furthermore, we can't see the "scoop" angle to it, as there is nothing less exciting—it seems to us—than a hockey player in June.

• • • • • • •

The Ulster Stadium Baseball League last night, after a hot session, decided to start from scratch again. They will thus be tossing overboard seven weeks of play, thirty-one games, just because a new fourth team has entered. Naturally, the classy Riverdale Grads, who have copped most of their contests, kicked harder than a bee-stung mule, but it did no good. It seems kind of screwy to us, too, but it's none of our business. The whole trouble was caused by Oshawa dropping out of the loop long after the schedule had been started. Naturally, Toronto won't forget that, nor forgive Oshawa, for a while.

• • • • • • •

There's a lot of heavy Irish brogue mixed up in that East Peterborough Softball League, which embraces several teams around Douro and Indian River. The teams are liberally sprinkled with Garveys, Condons, Leahys, Allens, O'Connors, Walshs, Mohers and Delaneys. We've never seen any of their games, but write up the accounts as sent in. And they do be after saying that the lads have some wicked old arguments about this, that and the other thing. P. G. Towns of Douro has donated a silver cup and the boys are battling away hard for the mug.

FULL HOUSE IS PROMISED FOR GRAPPLE MATCH

30,000 Persons Will Likely See Rasslin' Giants in Action Next Monday.

N.Y.A.C. RECOGNIZE TITLE.

NEW YORK, June 23. (CP). — James Orville Browning, connoisseur of the western piggeries, and James "Jeems" Londos, the grappling games' ranking judge of the strumberry pie, to-day were assured that their forthcoming wrestling match will be for the world's heavyweigh, championship.

Signs of another oversize "gate" at Madison Square Garden bowl on Long Island were apparent yesterday about the same time the New York State Athletic Commission extended recognition as a 'championship contest' to the bout.

The pair will pit their slightly differing versions of the aeroplane spin against one another at the bowl Monday night with the prospects of well over 30,000 persons paying to see and hear the rasslin' giants in action.

Nothing like the $428,000 which Primo Carnera and Max Baer drew in at the box office of the same bowl was expected but promoters asserted that they were looking for the largest gate since 1911, when Frank Gotch and George Hackenschmidt drew $94,000.

ST. PAUL'S TIE BANTAM FINALS

Saints Defeat Mark St. 14-10 by Scoring Four Runs in Ninth Inning.

POOR SUPPORT.

St. Paul's tied up the Church Softball League bantam finals last evening by defeating Mark Street, 14 to 10, a close tilt 'till the ninth inning. In this frame, two dropped flies and some timely hitting combined to give the Saints four runs. Sid Craig on the Mark Street mound pitched a fine game, but his support cost him the contest. Williamson hurled seven innings for St. Paul and was hit hard but had brilliant backing by his catcher and infield. Mackness finished and gave Mark St. one run. J. McMillian, Rutherford and King were St. Paul's top hitters, while V. Ferguson, Scriver and Clark led the other side. Deciding game of the series will be next week. The teams:

St. Paul—Mackness, ss. p; T. McMillian, 2b; Sedgewick, c; J. McMillian, 1b; King, 3b; Rutherford, lf; Williamson, p, ss; Morrow, cf; Steer, rf.

Douro Elmwoods Win From Centre Smith

At the United Farmers picnic in Nicholls Oval Thursday last, the crowd was entertained by a softball game between Centre Smith and Douro Elmwoods, the latter winning out, 28-11. The game was closer than the score indicates. Both sides had a good following. Hunter, of the Southend League, pitched fair ball, but was hit freely. Walsh, on the other mound, twirled in fine style and had good support. The winners received a nice bat donated by the Pratten Hardware Store. The teams:

Centre Smith.—Dawson, Darling, Tully, Hancock, Telford, Irwin, Howden, Hunter, McGregor.

Eldwoods.—E. Allen, J. Walsh, Garven, H. Allen, R. Walsh, Moher, Guerin, Towns, and O'Connor.

JUDD GOES TO SPRINGFIELD

INGERSOLL, June 23.—(Special)—It has been learned here that Oscar ("Lefty") Judd former pitching ace of the Ingersoll intermediates, and later with the Guelph Leafs has been added to the staff of the Springfield Cardinals, following the break-up of the circuit in which Peoria played and with which team Judd was associated.

NET TOURNEY POSTPONED

CHICAGO, June 23.—(CP)—Heavy rains today forced postponement of play in the Western tennis championships.

Two Canadians remain in the running for the men's singles title. They are Marcel Rainville of Montreal and Walter Martin of Regina and Toronto. They will play in the quarter-finals tomorrow.

Knox Seniors Nose Out George St. 12-11

Knox Seniors barely nosed out George Street, 12-11, in their last scheduled Church Softball League game last night. Knox were minus three regulars, and George Street minus its Normal players. Burnham hurler a fair game with Ferguson going good for the winners. The latter's support let him down. A. Wedlock played a fine game at third and came through with four hits for Knox. Huggins, Payne, Cullen and Bothwell all looked good for the losers. R. Charlton and Smythe hit homers. The teams:

George Street—Northrup, 1b; Payne, ss; Cullen, cf; Bothwell, 3b, c; Kingdon, c, 3b; Parnell, 2b; Burnham, p; Miles, lf; Huggins, rf; Copp.

Knox—R. Charlton, lf; A. Wedlock, 3b; B. Masters, c; B. Wedlock, 1b; Morrison, 2b; Ferguson, p; McDonald, cf; G. Masters, ss; Smythe, rf.

Knox	301 143 x—12

Umpires—G. Mattice and J. McGoverin.

Many Disputes Mar E.P. Softball Game

In a real hot number, Elmwoods beat out North Douro, 18-16, in an East Peterborough Softball League fixture at North Douro last night. There were several disputes and the game was started under protest. Elmwoods objecting to Pitcher Thompson. Dwyer started for North but was knocked out in the first, and Thompson replaced him. He and Walsh hurled fair ball. The latter's change of pace fooled nine batters. Errors were not as prominent as before. The teams:

Elmwoods—B. Towns, 1b; Allen, cf; R. Walsh, p; Moher, ss; Garvey; rf; O'Connor, c; C. Towns, 3b; J. Walsh, 2b; G. Walsh, lf; Leahy, lf.

ENJOYABLE SPORTS PROGRAM AT CENTRAL SCHOOL OUTING

Home and School Association Sponsors Happy Gathering in Victoria Park.

PRIZE WINNERS.

The annual picnic of Central School, sponsored by the Home and School Association, was held yesterday afternoon. Ideal weather conditions favored the happy event. The children enjoyed themselves to the full, and spent a joyous afternoon in the Victoria Park, where the Association met to entertain the children and the many mothers who availed themselves of the opportunity of attending the picnic.

Mrs. Stanton, the president, was general convenor. The mothers provided ample baking and sandwiches, while the Association supplied lemonade for the children and tea for the grown-ups. The grandstand, from which the refreshments were dispensed, was in charge of Mrs. McWilliams, assisted by Mesdames W. Ashby, G. Lee, L. Green, F. Hooper and Hall.

Lemonade was in charge of Mrs. Weir and Mrs. Lush. Tea was made by Mrs. Collis and Mrs. N. Stanger.

The different classes were in individual groups for supper and each group waited upon by a teacher, assisted by a mother. The children did full justice to the good things provided for them. A booth from which ice cream and soft drinks were sold was well patronized during the afternoon. Each of the children received a free ticket for a cone or a drink. Mrs. Vincent superintended the soft drinks and had as assistants Mrs. F. Skitch, Isobel Skitch, Margaret Stanton, Margaret Wyllie, Mary Kingsbury, Mrs. Philips, Mrs. W. Flannery, Mrs. E. Brown and Inez Flannery convened the ice cream.

A series of sports were run off by the teachers in the school grounds, which resulted as follows:

Junior School Races.

Kindergarten: Girls—1, Nancy Staunton; 2, Ramona Jackson. Boys—1, Leonard Williams; 2, James Harvey and Reggie Laws.

Girls, 6 years—1, Irene Johnson; 2, Loreen Driver.

Boys, 6 years—1, Vernon Marshall; 2, Victor Chate.

Girls, 7 years—1, Eleanor Kingdon; 2, Viola Crouter, Gloria Lowney.

It was the biggest Friday night tournament this season, and those boys who have stayed at home certainly missed a whole lot of fun. The games were good...the competitions keen...and the greens fast.

o o o

In a practice game yesterday afternoon we understand that Dr. "Billy" Mahood was successful in scoring an 8 end over Fred Brown. We just have to report this, because a bowler very seldom scores a possible and then the genial Dr. will be telling us just how it all happened...and will it be good.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 31

Lady Ida dropped her cigaret in apparent shock and stupefaction. She expressed both emotions too in no stinted measure.

"Yes, you're quite right. He dropped in for a chat—about his engagement. My brother-in-law is quite a pal of his you know, and of course John's coming marriage interested me enormously. I saw his fiancee and Lady Tait at the theater the other night. Charming woman she looks. Poor, poor thing!" Sympathy spoke in the voice, but none looked from the bold, hard blue eyes. "And how awfully sudden," she went on "Of course, his father dropped dead, didn't he? But Mr. Tait looked so fit and well and happy this morning —" and again Lady Ida gave vent to a flow of amazed and shocked murmurs. Again she eyed him closely. "Let me see, I think you said your name was ——?" She apparently groped in her memory.

"Pointer. Chief Inspector Pointer of New Scotland Yard," the visitor explained pleasantly. Her jaw dropped. This time the holder fell as well as a new cigaret that she had just started. Her shining finger nails quivered for a second as though she had been shaken with a tremor, but her face showed nothing of this.

"Of Scotland Yard," she murmured. "Really? Pray, what has poor Mr. Tait been doing to get you interested in him?"

"It looks as though he had let himself be poisoned," was the rather grim reply. "The doctors think there is no doubt but that some virulent poison was the cause of his death, and that being so, of course everything connected with him this morning must be gone into."

Pointer thought that sheer horror held her dumb for a moment. And he was rather surprised at it. This woman would be hard as nails, he thought, except where it concerned herself or her own family. But the fact that Tait had died by poison would not, one would think, directly concern her. Yet he believed her to be deeply shaken and anxious not to show how great her perturbation was. True, he had just learned that she was credited with a willingness at one time to marry the dead man, and both these emotions might be due to her knowledge of this gossip, but—well, his quiet, casual-seeming glance had placed her as a masterful, resolute woman, not at all squeamish in the choice of the path by which to reach any objective on which she might have set her heart. A nature which, if he was right in reading it, might or might not mean a good deal in this case. She seemed now intensely curious as to every detail of Tait's death which could suggest the criminal, but not at all curious, or concerned as to his actual end, or any suffering that he had endured. In short, she conveyed the idea to the keen observer talking to her that in some odd, secret, hidden way she was on the alert for danger to herself. But, try as he would, he could not make up his mind as to whether she expected this danger to come from him—the law—or from another source the same source possibly as that which seemed so to terrify Gillian Dundas. If the latter, Lady Ida was only on the look-out, not in the least terrified. Pointer spoke of Miss Dundas when alluding to the Tait household, and at once something watchful crept into Lady Ida's brilliant, hard eyes, but she made no reference to the girl herself.

"How awful it all is!" she said finally, after a deep breath or two, "How incredibly sudden and awful!"

Pointer agreed. "Can you suggest where to look for the criminal?"

Lady Ida bit her lip and stared at the floor for a full minute before saying "Will what I say be strictly confidential?"

Pointer explained that if it was merely her opinion, it would be so, but that any facts told him might have to come out at the inquest or the trial, though, if possible, the source of police information would be held back from public knowledge.

"It's only my opinion," Lady Ida said to that, "and of course you've thought of it for yourself. Mr. Tait's cousins are the only people who profit by his death. I happen to know that one of them borrowed more than once from him for her so-called charity works among the poor."

"You mean Miss Henrietta Naylor?" Pointer looked his interest. "I wonder if we shall find details of the borrowings among his papers?"

"I'm sure you won't. But Mr Tait to my knowledge advanced her some 500 pounds towards a woman's model lodging house, or the alteration of one, something of that sort. Miss Etta Naylor promised to repay him as soon as some shares or other of hers would rise and could be sold without throwing them away. I told him at the time —I heard of it through another mutual friend—that he'd never get a penny back, but he insisted that he'd see to it that he was repaid all right. He had no intention whatever of letting her keep the money as a gift."

"What shares were they, do you know?"

She named some of the coal and iron heavies that were enjoying a sudden rise at the moment. "Had Mr. Tait lived, another week," she went on, "those shares would have had to be sold and the loan repair."

"But if there is nothing in writing, and supporting Miss Etta Naylor had chosen to——" Pointer asked vaguely.

"She'd have had to pay up," Lady Ida said with conviction. "You forget that she was living in Mr. Tait's house, or with his stepmother, and Lady Tait lets no one off in a money question."

There was a short silence. Pointer now knew one more fact. This woman hated Etta Naylor with an active, virulent hatred.

He brought in the name of Mrs. Burnham next.

"Charming woman, I understand," she said sweetly, "but how the two Naylor women loathe her! Natural, of course."

"They spoke of her to me most affectionately," Pointer murmured as though perplexed.

"They would. But with Miss Etta Naylor chief inspector, it's a very safe rule to go by the opposite of what she says." She laughed with an ill-natured distension of her painted lips that showed two gold-cased teeth on one side, and what Pointer felt sure was a bridge on the other. Her teeth were not her best point.

"We found part of a lady's gold fountain pen in Mr Tait's pocket," he now said lightly. "I wonder if you can suggest the owner? We intend to have it photographed and reproduced in the papers if we can't get any other identification of it."

Just for a second something startled and wary showed in her eye, as she held out her hand with a smile that spoke more of effort than reality.

"Can I see it? Yes ——" as he laid it in her thin, narrow, rose-tinted palm. "This is the top of one of my pens. I have a frightful habit of biting the ends, and he was so shocked by the appearance of this morning, that he insisted on taking it away to have it put right."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 24

Sunday's horoscope is an excellent one for all literary, artistic, cultural and social matters, aside from the augury of a bereavement, setback, postponement or tenacious obstacle to certain cherished hopes and wishes. However, the loss or bereavement may find compensation in legacy or bequest of property.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a particularly lively and eventful year, although it may be accompanied by a loss, bereavement, postponement of hopes and wishes. However, there is a compensation seen by way of a will or legacy. Social, domestic or romantic affiliations engage the attention.

A child born on this day, although talented and versatile in intellectual and social accomplishments, may also have some rather serious matters to consider.

For Monday, June 25

Monday's astrological forecast holds portent of disputes, contention, possibly passionate and violent conditions, complicating affairs which might otherwise have a fair chance of success. It would be well to be on guard against such open ruptures and dangers as well as alert to the prospect of subtle and underhand dealings of equal menace to success and general well-being. Self-control may accomplish much.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared to overcome by poise, calm judgment and self-control several portents of both open and secret enmities, with attendant violence, ruptures, disputes and possible physical danger. Beware also all manner of underhand dealings, treachery and subtlety. But likely these will be drawn into the open for passionate and effective disposition.

A child born on this day may need the earliest of personal training and discipline lest certain tendencies to wayward, headstrong, impulsive and passionate conduct lead it into many difficulties in life, spoiling some prospects of a fair career.

CATTLE FIELD DAY SET FOR JUNE 28

Professor Sheckley of Guelph Will Attend Day at Exhibition Park.

Agricultural Representative, A. D. Runions announces that he has just received word from Guelph that J. C. Steckley, Professor of Animal Husbandry, O.A.C. Guelph will be present at the Cattle Breeders Field Day which is to be held on the Peterborough Exhibition grounds, Thursday, June 28th, commencing at 1.30 p.m.

Arrangements have been completed to have the five most common breeds of cattle in the county represented and the program will consist of Judging Demonstrations on Dairy and Beef Type, Judging Competitions and weight guessing contests using Market Cattle.

The Field Day is being sponsored by the Peterborough County Live Stock Improvement Association working in conjunction with the various County Breed Associations, and a cordial invitation is extended to every farmer in the county who is interested in Cattle either grade or Pure Bred.

SPLENDID WORK IN SEWING DONE BY SCHOOL GIRLS

Demonstrations Given in Prince of Wales and Central Schools.

300 GIRLS TAKE PART.

Once again the girls who take sewing lessons in the Public Schools demonstrated their own interest in this, one of the most ancient of the housewifery arts, and also the skill of their instructress, Miss Anne Jamieson, in the pleasing exhibit of their work which took place on Thursday at the Central School and yesterday at the Prince of Wales School. Many interested people, parents and friends of the young girls, visited the exhibits and manifested pleasure in the fine handiwork and the increasing expertness which colors this exhibit from year to year.

Last season, Miss Jamieson expressed a wish that girls in the primary classes might be taught the use of the needle along with the alphabet. This year, she repeated the wish. Nevertheless, the ability with which she trains her charges leaves little to find fault with, although probably they might be much farther advanced in the realm of stitchery if her wish were to be granted.

Girls of the Queen Alexandra, Central and King George Schools exhibited work at the Central School on Thursday, while the girls of the King Edward, Queen Mary and Prince of Wales Schools had their exhibit yesterday at the Prince of Wales School. All are members of the Junior and Senior Fourth classes of these schools and the majority are less than fourteen years of age. About three hundred girls are involved in these sewing lasses.

Although the project of these girls is placed only at the making of a slip or night-dress, some go in for blouses and dresses and several dainty things of this type were on view. But these are the more ambitious and skilful sewers.

The slips are made in plain styles or with lace edgings and appliqued trimmings. The expertness and skill of the young hands is apparent in finely-turned edgings, in careful hems, in the minute and tiny stitches which make these pretty garments.

One pretty crepe night gown of pink, with blue floral pattern, had a faggotting trimming and a slip that was extremely dainty had a 'shell' edging to the neckline and the edges of the shoulder straps.

The school uniforms which the girls wear in cooking classes are another project of the sewing classes, and many of these were on view also. They are crisp, white affairs with hemstitched bands, initials on the caps and pockets, and carefully-sewn little towels and pot lifters, the appurtenances which go with the job of learning how to cook.

Emblem of France

The effort followed in these classes is to copy the fineness and daintiness of French handwork, with the use of the machine as secondary, although regarded as quite necessary. So even the little towels and pot lifters have that distinguishing 'hand' touch that is the emblem of France.

Draughts or patterns are made similar to the girls, also. And thus they are able to make the patterns for their slips right from their own figures.

Models on cardboard show just how to make ornamental touches, such as Italian hemstitching, Swedish embroidery, button covers, single and double hemstitching, smocking, single and double hemstitching, joining and cutting on the bias, hand-rolled edges, felled seams, bound buttonholes, and the like. And charts illustrate feather stitchery, darning, herring-bone and cat stitching and French knots. Anything these young girls don't know about sewing of this type, is not the fault of their instructress or the system which trains them in this useful art.

The calico dog that is such a fad just now (why don't they have calico cats....Weren't they the companions to the famous gingham dog that liked a mantlepiece for a resting place?) has a place here. The girls made these for their Christmas projects and it is estimated that one hundred and fifty of them were turned out at Yuletide. They are cheerful things with black button eyes and enquiring ears.

And there are little novelties for spare moments, on view, like crisp organdie flowers with handrolled edges.

Those who visited these exhibits during the past two days will probably agree that this is one of the most useful of the many things taught in the schools. Since Eve took a liking for fig leaves and made herself the first garment with them, women have used their fingers to fashion clothes, so what could be more fitting than to train them in the proper ways, as Miss Jamieson does so well in these classes.

SCHOOL PUPILS ENJOY OUTING

Queen Alexandra School Staff and Students Hold Successful Picnic on Friday.

GOOD SPORTS PROGRAM

Ideal weather helped to make the picnic of Queen Alexandra School held Friday afternoon at Nicholl's Oval, one of the best in the school's history. A happy throng of children and a fine attendance of parents testified to the popularity of this annual event.

The two ice cream booths in charge of Mrs. Emmerson and Mrs. Rogers were popular rendezvous, while the soft drink booth under the supervision of Mrs. Dainton and Mrs. Barnes was also well patronized.

The recreation and social committees under the direction of Mrs. S. F. Touchburn and Mrs. A. W. Nelson, together with a large number of assistants looked after the serving of a most bountiful supper.

The teachers, with F. H. Dearborn as chief supervisor, had charge of the sports program.

Final standing for the first half:

Team	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Albions	6	6	2	.750
Orioles	8	5	3	.625
Nationals	8	4	4	.500
Cogs	8	4	4	.500
All Saints	7	1	6	.125

Games next week: Orioles vs Nationals Monday; Cogs vs. Orioles on Wednesday; Nationals vs All Saints on Friday.

Cogs saw their chances for the first half fade in Wednesday's game when the Nationals handed them the short end of a 14-9 count. Seven runs in the sixth clinched the argument for the Nats, the other side being unable to connect with Ward's offerings the rest of the fray. Todd, on Cogs' mound, was nicked for ten hits and gave eight walks before being relieved by Ridley, who after a shaky start finished strong. He struck out four the last two innings. The teams:

Cogs: A. Heal, 2b; Todd, p; A. Leggett, ss; Meredith, lf; C. Heal, 3b; Smart, cf; Huggins, rf; Leggett, c; Howarth, 1b; Ridley, p.

Nationals: Tice, c; Copping, c; J. Reynolds, 1b; Huggins, rf; Conlin, rf; Pearson, 3b; R. Kitchen, cf; Scott, lf; E. Reynolds, 2b; Ward, p; Gibson, ss; B. Kitchen, lf.

AUSSIE ELEVEN HAS 192 RUNS FOR 2 WICKETS

Heavy-hitting Leaves Australians 248 Runs Behind With Eight to Fall.

SECOND TEST MATCH.

England Totals 440 Runs Before Being Dismissed in First Innings.

LONDON, June 23 (CP Cable). — Finally getting to bat after dismissing England for a total of 440 runs, the Australians promptly took command as the second test cricket match progressed to-day, running up a total of 192 runs for loss of only two wickets. The heavy-hitting left them 248 runs behind, with eight wickets standing.

Part of the rousing Australian reply was due to ragged English fielding which dismayed the record crowd of more than 30,000 that jammed into Lord's.

Captain W. M. Woodful was out for 22 runs and the celebrated Don Bradman scored 36 before losing his wicket. After that, the English bowling was effectively checked by young W. A. Brown and Stanley McCabe, Brown getting 103 runs. The pair added 51 runs after the second wicket had collapsed.

Revamped Electrics Beat Clothiers 15-10

A revamped C.G.E. softball team stepped out last night at Central and blasted out a 15-10 win over Fashion-Crafts. They unloosed a heavy-hitting attack against the combined deliveries of Naish and Simmons, driving the former to cover early and continued to smack Bill's offerings hard. Fleming and F. Jones led the attack, the first getting five hits in six tries and Jones three out of four.

C.G.E. used three pitchers to win the game. Price started and got by fair till the fifth when he was relieved by Heffernan who tossed good ball till he gave way to the rotund "Moon" Scates in the last inning. Two runs scored in this inning, but Scates threw his "wobbly" ball by Gillespie for the third strike to end it.

The support of both outfits was rather shaky, C.G.E. kicking the ball around five times to seven for the losers. Highlights defensively was the sparkling play by the rival firstbasemen, Board and Clarke, the latter coming through with a neat unassisted two-ply killing in the seventh. The teams:

C.G.E.: Jones, 2b; Walsh, c; Weese, 3b; Board, 1b; Fleming, ss; O'Toole, cf; Vitarelli, lf; Cowan, rf; Price, p, rf, 2b; Heffernan, p, cf; Scates, p.

Fashion-Craft: Gray, lf; McDougall, 3b; Wiley, 2b; Delahaye, c; Gillespie, cf; Gainey, ss; Russell, rf; Clarke, 1b; Naish, p; Simmons, p; Butcher, pinch-hitter.

GARDEN PARTY AT YELVERTON

Cavan Dramatic Club Presents Play, "Fruits of His Folly."

BALL TEAMS CLASH.

(Examiner Correspondence).

YELVERTON, June 22. — A delightful garden party was held on the United Church ground, Yelverton, on Wednesday evening with a record attendance.

The supper tables were daintily laid in the shelter of the church shed.

As supper was concluded the crowd proceeded to the near-by sports field where Messrs. George Wilson and Robert Wright were in charge of the sports program.

Dr. Clark's Junior ball team from Peterborough were present and played a lively game with the Bethany hard ball team. It was a good clean game resulting in a score of 6-5 in favor of Peterborough.

Following the sports the gathering assembled in the church and listened to an excellent play, entitled "Fruits of His Folly," presented by the Cavan Dramatic Club. The Yelverton Club had presented their play, "The Family Upstairs," at Cavan, the previous Monday evening at a similar church function.

Although the church was crowded to capacity splendid attention was given the entertainers. A delightful musical program was given between acts.

Rev. L. W. Scott, pastor of the church was chairman for the program and on behalf of those sponsoring this successful event, voiced deep appreciation for the splendid attention and attendance.

The weather being ideal the gate receipts reached unusual proportions.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices, track shipping point—Wheat, 99c to $1.02; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Contrasting with persistent tumbles of late, wheat yesterday scored moderate gains after reaching a new low price record unequalled since May 24.

Unfavorable threshing returns from Central Illinois and from Nebraska did much to reverse the downward swing of the wheat market. There was also an authoritative cable estimate that European grain crops this season, including those of Russia, would show a total reduction of 1,399,000,000 bushels as a result of drought. This shrinkage was figured as consisting of 480,000,000 bushels of wheat, 330,000,000 barley, 229,000,000 rye, and 360,000,000 oats.

Wheat closed nervous, ¼c to ¾c above Thursday's finish; corn ⅝c to ⅞c down; oats, ½c to ⅞c off, and provisions, unchanged to a rise of 10c.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

Butter and cheese prices were easier on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday, while eggs and potatoes were a little firmer.

Butter was noted at 20c a pound for fresh No. 1 in carlots or less, off ¼c. Small lots to retailers sold for 22c for solids and 23c for prints. Receipts totalled 3,352 boxes.

The cheese market was down ¼c, Ontario colored bringing 10⅝c to 10¾c a pound, and Quebecs were 10¼c a pound. Arrivals totalled 3,575 boxes.

Eggs were inclined to be stronger, graded shipments from Ontario in less than carlots being 20c a dozen for A-large, 19c for A-medium, 18½c for B and 17½c to 18c for C. Western prices were 21c a dozen for A-large, 20c for A-medium, 19c for B and 18c for C. Receipts were 1,101 cases.

The potato market advanced 5c. N.B. Mountains being quoted at 75c to 80c per 80-lb. bag; Quebec whites, 70c to 75c per 80-lb. bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains 95c to $1 per 90-lb. bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 23. — Wheat prices found the going a little smoother yesterday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and ended a quiet session ⅝c to ¾c higher. Cheered by the steady tone of Liverpool and Chicago, futures wiped out early losses to finish on the upside.

July delivery closed at 76¾c October at 78¾c, and December at 79¾c. Offerings were light in the pit, and the rally in prices was effected without difficulty.

Export business was estiamted at about 250,000 bushels Liverpool for the third successive day finished unchanged, despite the prevailing weakness in North America. Traders took heart at this trend, thought to reflect deteriorating European crop conditions. Allowing for a decrease of 140,000,000 bushels in the Russian wheat crops this year, it is estimated Europe's production will be 400,000,000 bushels below last year.

Cash wheat prices showed scarcely any change from Thursday. Moderate export business was reported worked in barley. Coarse grain futures moved in narrow range, holding firm.

BANQUET IS HELD AS FINAL MEETING

Y.P.S. of Keene and Bethel United Churches Combine for Social.

KEENE, June 23.—Recently the Young Peoples Society of Keene and Bethel United Church held their final meetings for the season in the form of a banquet. A good attendance graced the banquet hall at both churches and the young people are to be congratulated for the splendid arrangement of tables and decorations.

At Keene Miss Edyth Elmhirst, vice-president, presided, in the absence of the president, Mr. Chas. Nevins. A program of special interest was provided by our local artists and by visiting friends. Miss Susie Van Camp, of Blackstock, a member of the Conference executive, brought happy greeting from that body and assisted in sing song. Miss Helen Ludbrook, teacher on guitar of the Conservatory of Music of Peterborough, gave instrumental selections which were much appreciated.

Rev. R. W. Rickard, B.A., M.R.E., of Oakwood, gave an interesting address, calling our young people to devotion and loyalty to true manhood and womanhood.

At Bethel a program was also provided with local members assisted by Miss Bryce of Keene, who rendered appreciated solos. Miss Minnie Williams of Havelock another member of the Presbytery's Executive, brought greetings to Bethel, and also gave a worthwhile address.

Rev. A. E. Moorehouse of St. James United Church, Peterborough, gave an address full of vim and inspiration which will not be forgotten. The encouragement received by these gatherings will surely give a good beginning for the fall term.

ENNISMORE.

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Donnell and family, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cavanagh.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Killen and children, of Toronto, spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Killen.

Miss Mary Shannon, of Toronto, spent a few days recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shannon.

Mr. H. Deyell of Omemee made a business trip here on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cavanagh visited friends in Downeyville on Wednesday.

Mrs. Wm. Duffus of Peterborough spent the week-end with friends here.

Mr. W. F. Cavanagh of Peterborough spent Tuesday with friends here.

Weddings

WHITMORE—BALLARD.

YOUNG'S POINT, June 23.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The marriage was solemnized on Wednesday at 4 o'clock at the parsonage of Park Street Baptist church by Rev. G. K. Tyler, of Jessie Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ballard of Meaford, Ont., and Carmen Whitmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Whitmore of Apsley. Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wilson, sister and brother-in-law of the groom, were their only attendants.

The bride looked charming in a white crepe ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony, the wedding party enjoyed a sumptuous dinner at the Elite Cafe, after which they motored to the home of the groom's parents, where the wedding reception was held.

The happy couple are taking up residence in Selwyn and have the best wishes of the community.

General Business Upturn Is Based On Solid Footing

The striking increase in Dodge truck sales during the first five months of this year is one of the strongest evidences that the present upturn in general business is based on a substantial foundation, according to Al J. Shaw, Vice-President in Charge of Sales, Dodge Brothers (Canada) Limited.

"Dodge truck shipments for the five months ending May 30th, were over four times sales for the corresponding five months of 1933," stated Mr. Shaw. "Even more significant is the fact that shipments for this period topped even the first five months of 1929 and were greater than during any whole year from 1930 to 1933."

"Trucks are purchased because there is work for them to do and profits to be earned. Truck sales are therefore an important index of the movement of merchandise and the condition of general business. This phenomenal increase in truck sales is therefore one of the most hopeful signs of better times," concluded Mr. Shaw.

SPECIAL SESSION.

Liquor Control Board Be Replaced By Minister Without Portfolio.

OTTAWA, June 25.—(CP)—A special session of the Ontario Legislature will be called as s con after July 15 as possible, if Prime Minister R. B. Bennett adheres to his plan to discontinue direct relief payments, it was announced here to-day by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Premier-elect of the Province.

In an interview with 20 or 25 newspaper correspondents, the Ontario Liberal Leader made the following announcement:

Three members of the incoming Cabinet are certain: Harry Nixon, Provincial Secretary; Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General; and Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture.

"In all probability," the Premier will take over the Treasury.

The full Cabinet slate may be announced after a meeting in Toronto next Wednesday.

Money votes for the Lieutenant-Governor will be stopped. "I think he will resign," said Mr. Hepburn, referring to Lieutenant-Governor Bruce, "and the work turned over to the Chief Justice."

Review Appointments

All appointments made during the last year by the Henry Government will be reviewed and the majority of the men dismissed. "Imagine this discredited government appointing a crown attorney for Perth County two days ago. He's out."

Agent-General W. C. Noxon (salary $17,000) will be withdrawn. "What is Howard Ferguson over there for and why have we trade commissioners?"

It may be necessary to dig out some of the ditches filled in recently by the Henry Government along the highways. Engineers say the drainage system has been plugged by the work.

Supernumary employees of Queen's Park will be dismissed.

ROYAL AIR FORCE TO BE SEEN HERE

Number One Squadron Give Short Display on Morning of July 13.

GOING TO TRENTON.

Between nine and ten o'clock on the morning of July 13, No. 1 Squadron of the Royal Air Force will pass over Peterborough in accordance with a flight route arranged for its tour of Southern Ontario and Quebec. A short display will be given by the unit as it circles over the city.

The first leg of the flight will be made from Montreal to Ottawa on June 28 and on June 30 the squadron will proceed to Trenton. From Trenton it will fly to Toronto, where it will remain until July 6 in order to participate in Toronto's centennial celebrations. Beginning July 6, the airmen will visit London, Kitchener, Hamilton, St. Catharines and Camp Borden before they are seen over this city. They will pass over Lindsay and Peterborough when flying from Camp Borden to Trenton on July 13, proceeding later in the day to Ottawa. The flight from Ottawa to Quebec City by way of Montreal will be made between July 15 and July 20.

A transport craft of the R.A.F. will accompany the flight, carrying mechanics and baggage.

THOUGHT DEAD, MINISTER FOUND AS DAY LABORER

Disappeared Seven Weeks Ago and Memorial Services Held in Church.

BELIEVED DROWNED.

MONCTON, N.B., June 25.—(C.P.)—The name of Rev. G. R. T. Ayling was scratched from the death roll to-day as friends heard with amazement of his mysterious disappearance, nearly seven weeks ago and his quiet sojourn under an assumed name on a farm nine miles from this city.

Working as a farm hand, the Baptist preacher had read of the search that started on May 4, of how the Isgonish river was dragged for his body; of how he was given up for dead after a pair of trousers identified as his had been recovered from the water— and of the memorial service held in the little Nova Scotia village of Debert where he had been pastor for three years.

Had Photograph.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police located him over the week-end at Ammon, where he was busy planting turnips with his master, Noble Horsman. As the police interrupted his work he gave the name of Charlie Hartler, but when they produced a photograph he admitted he was the missing clergyman.

After apologizing to the farmer and his wife for misleading them, he collected his few belongings and came to Moncton, where friends took care of him.

Later a leading Moncton Baptist pastor announced that Mr. Ayling had suffered a nervous breakdown and for some time prior to his departure had felt himself losing his grip again. On the night of May 3 when he was returning from calls on his circuit near Debert he had two bad tire blowouts and the second threw him out of the car. From that time on he was not responsible for his actions, it was stated, because of nervous prostration.

PREMIER-ELECT CONFERS WITH KING AT OTTAWA

Hepburn Says Conference is Not Dealing With Appointments.

AWAITS HENRY'S MOVE.

First Interest is to Assist Farmer and Relieve Unemployed.

OTTAWA, June 25.—(CP)—Seeking the advice of political leaders tried by long years of office Ontario's young Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn, is in Ottawa today with the avowed intention of calling on Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, federal leader. Both Mr. Hepburn and Mr. King have emphasized the visit has nothing to do with the cabinet or other appointments.

The many calls which bombarded Mr. King's office after word by Mr Hepburn's intended visit became public led the federal leader to issue a statement last night saying he was not aware of Mr. Hepburn's movements, would be glad to see him at any time although no arrangements had been made for a meeting but assumed if Mr. Hepburn wished a conference it would be for the purpose of discussing questions of procedure.

Points of Similarity

The prospective meeting of the two political leaders recalled to political observers points of similarity in their careers of the two.

Although Mr. King has now nine years of experience as Prime Minister of Canada, and more than five as leader of the opposition behind him he too was a comparatively young man when he was entrusted with high office. Like Mr Hepburn he was chosen party leader before he held a seat in the house he was to lead and had to form a government from a party which had been long years in opposition.

Declaring he would be ready to take over the reins of government as soon as Premier George Henry is ready to get out, Mr. Hepburn said no one knew who would be in his Cabinet, because selections had not been made. He wanted the best men who could be obtained.

FARMER MEETS INSTANT DEATH AT DOWNEYVILLE

Loyola Flynn Thrown Under Wagon Wheel as Team Starts Forward.

SKULL FRACTURED.

Was Talking to Friend on County Road Near Home.

(Examiner Correspondence)

DOWNEYVILLE, June 25.—Death terminated with shocking suddenness a casual, neighborly conversation on the county road one mile north of the Maple Leaf cheese factory at noon today when Loyola Flynn, thirty years old, slipped and fell backward against the wheel of a waggon as he reached for the lines to stop his team of horses as they started forward while he was talking to a friend.

Stopped To Talk

Mr. Flynn was driving a heavy wagon with a cultivator tied behind it along the road in front of home of Michael O'Neill, a mile north of the factory, and stopped to talk to Miss Hazel O'Neill. While he was standing at the side of the road, the horses started to move on. Mr Flynn sprang forward to grab the lines to stop the team, but in some manner he slipped and fell. The near front wheel struck him on the back of the head and rolled over him, causing a deep wound and fracture of the skull from which, it was reported, he died almost instantly.

The farm of Michael O'Neill is about a mile north of the Maple Leaf cheese factory, and the Flynn farm is more than a mile farther north along the county road.

Mr. Flynn was unmarried. He is survived by his mother and four brothers, Joseph, Leo and Daniel at home and William Flynn of Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. Charles L. Lucas of Downeyville.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 10 o'clock from the family residence to St. Luke's church here and thence to the parish cemetery.

SPEED FLYER DIES IN CRASH

Two Planes Collide in Mid-air and Two Are Killed.

PLANE TAILSPINS.

(By the Associated Press).

Five men—among them Jimmy Wedell, famous speed flyer—died Sunday in aeroplane crashes.

Wedell, 34, was killed when the ship in which he was instructing a student pilot crashed near Patterson, La. The students was injured seriously.

As thousands stared aloft before the dedication of the new Rutland, Vt., municipal airport, two ships collided in mid-air. A pilot and his photographer, W. J. McMullen, 32, and R. L. Oakes, 30, of Roosevelt Field, N.Y., died. The pilot of the other ship bailed out safetly.

James Carl Ryan, 23, of Yates City, Ill., and Dr. Robert Thomas Plummer, 29, of Trizola, Ill., were killed when their plane went into a spin near Trizola and crashed in flames. Dr. Plummer, a student pilot, was at the controls.

Lieutenant-Governor Will Not Quit Office

FORT WILLIAM, June 25 (C.P.).—Hon. H. A. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, to-day intimated he would not resign his office as suggested by Premier-Elect Mitchell F. Hepburn.

Replying to a civic welcome tendered to him on the first occasion of a Lieutenant-Governor visiting this lakehead city in 12 years, His Honor said: "I hope to come to Fort William for another visit with you before my tenure of office is over."

With Mrs. Bruce and their son Maxwell, Lieutenant - Governor Bruce spent the day sight-seeing.

ENGLAND TIES CRICKET TEST MATCH SERIES

Homesters Triumph Over Australians by an Innings and 38 Runs.

WEATHERMAN SCORES.

First Test Match Victory for England at Lord's Since 1896.

LONDON, June 25 (C.P. Cable)—England evened up the series defeating Australia to-day in the season's second test cricket match. It was the first win for England at Lord's since 1896.

After a sensational Australian collapse, England won by an innings and 38 runs. The scores: England 440; Australia 284 and following on, 118.

The weatherman gave England the victory, balancing Australia's win by 238 runs at Nottingham. Heavy overnight rain left the wicket perfectly suited to Hedley Verity, and the slow left arm spin bowler proved disastrous to Australia.

On the day he garnered 14 wickets, getting six first innings wickets for 37 runs, and eight in the second innings for 43—an average cost of 4.7. The Australians were unable to do a thing with this offerings, except Captain W. M. Woodfull, and he made a gallant bid to stave off the inevitable result by compiling 43 runs to start the second innings.

AGED VILLAGE CONSTABLE DROPS DEAD AFTER DRIVE

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 25 (CP)—Albert Berdan, village constable of Springfield, was found dead in his garage by Edward Clark, who called at the Berdan home, found the doors of the house locked and the garage doors open.

Mr. Berden apparently fell dead just as he stepped out of the car after driving home Saturday night.

He was 74 years of age and lived alone. His wife died six years ago.

LIFE IN DANGER SCORE OF TIMES 4-MILE STRETCH

Only 4 Persons Passed Through Rapids and Came Out Alive.

REACHES CORNWALL.

Missed Hidden Rocks by Fractions of Inch—Warned Not to Start.

CORNWALL, Ont., June 25 (Special to The Examiner).—Smiling and little perturbed after an experience in which his life was in danger a score of times, John Smith, who is travelling from Peterborough, Ontario, to Peterborough, England, in a 16-foot canoe, paddled into the Bay at Cornwall at noon to-day. A few minutes earlier his canoe was at the mercy of the tumbling waters of the Longue Sault Rapids.

Aultsville on Sunday.

Smith, who left Peterborough last Monday on the initial laps of his 3,000-mile lone voyage to England, via the Trent Canal, Lake Ontario, the St. Lawrence River, and the Atlantic Ocean, reached Aultsville last evening.

Early this morning despite the warnings of the danger he would encounter, he paddled to the head of the Longue Sault, picking his way into the north channel, through which the St. Lawrence River Line boats pass. Smith shot his canoe into the vicious threshing waters. During the greater portion of his trip through the rapids his craft was invisible from shore, hidden by huge waves which leaped high over the canoe. For more than ten minutes as he negotiated the four-mile stretch of white water, Smith was kept busy guiding his canoe away from hidden rocks which he missed by fractions of an inch, and keeping the craft balanced on even keel as it rode over the crests. All this time the canoe was being carried along at breathless speed.

Local records reveal that only 4 persons have passed through the Longue Sault Rapids and come out alive. Four years ago Jack Savage and Johny Walker of Montreal blundered into the Rapids by mistake and were carried through the South Channel. They negotiated the rough water successfully, but their canoe overturned below the rapids and they were rescued with difficulty. Last year a young Indian shot the lower rapids without mishap.

Made Light of Adventure.

On reaching Cornwall at noon for his midday meal, Smith was inclined to make light of his adven-

ANTI-SEMITIC INFLUENCE OF NAZIS SEEN IN PASSION PLAY

EULOGIZE HITLER.

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

OBERAMMERGAU, June 25.—After a political prologue, pronounced by Herr Anton Lang, in which thanks is rendered to God for having sent Adolf Hitler to deliver the world from Bolshevism, the curtain went up and the stage was filled by a dense mass of people in all the wonderful colorings and picturesqueness of oriental dress. A man with long curly hair, dressed in spotless white and seated on the colt of an ass, was welcomed with a vibrant shout of "Hosannah." The scene represented Palm Sunday in Jerusalem five days before Good Friday, two thousand years ago.

It was not a true picture of what an oriental crowd looks like, but an idealization. Thus the medieval painters of the Renaissance period imagined the scene described in the New Testament. The tableaux vivants of the Passion play are studied imitations of the paintings of masters like Leonardo da Vinci, Raffaelo and Buonarotti, who, it should not be forgotten, had never been further east than the Via Appia. As a living fresco the play was the most wonderful

T.T.C. Men's Strike Delayed One Month

TORONTO, June 25 (C.P.).—The Toronto Street Railwaymen's Union early to-day agreed unanimously in a delay of one month in its proposed strike against a wage cut of three cents an hour projected by the Toronto Transportation Commission and authorized by a Board of Conciliation under the Industrial Disputes Act.

The Union's decision followed a meeting on Saturday night called by the Ontario Municipal Board to which the Street Railway Commission expressed willingness to re-hire 75 men laid off recently, and to pay the prevailing rate of 60 cents an hour for platform men and 65 cents for operators of one-man cars.

The Municipal Board recommended a truce of one month pending efforts at resumption of negotiations between the men and the commission, a recommendation which the executive of the Union endorsed.

It was believed the Municipal Board sintervention was the only factor preventing a strike to-day.

ACCIDENTS BRING DEATH TO SEVEN OVER WEEK-END

Body of Henry Kelso is Found and Mystery Solved.

FOUR CHILDREN DIE.

One Killed by Train and Another by Lightning Bolt.

TORONO, June 25—A speeding locomotive, a fork of lightning and deep waters in widely separated Ontario lakes and rivers brought death to seven persons — four of them children — during the week-end.

On the south shore of Georgian Bay the mystery of the fate of Henry Kelso, 68-year-old former school principal, was solved with the finding of his body. The one-armed voyager, who spent most of his summers on Georgian Bay, was apparently hurled into the water when his launch capsized. He had been missing two weeks.

A bolt of lightning, forking from a menacing cloud, killed John Freund of Glenroy. He had gone to close the barn doors with his father when the bolt struck.

Rain Kills Child

Nine-year-old Joe Lutka ran out from behind a freight train in Welland into the path of an oncoming express. He was crushed to death instantly.

Unable to swim, Gordon Hammond, 12, sank to his death when the home-made craft he was sailing near Timmins capsized. He was too far out from shore for rescuers to reach him.

In the Chippewa Creek, near Niagara Falls, 14-year-old John Herbert was drowned when his canoe was overturned in the choppy waters. A companion, Harold J. Groom, was able to make shore after the accident. Herbert's body had not been recovered early today.

Angus Brisbane, 78-year-old Prince Edward County resident was killed almost instantly at Picton when he was struck by a car driven by Gordon Cole of Green Point. The driver was not held.

Nine-year-old Kenneth La Fleur, while swimming in the Rideau River yesterday was drowned and though the body was recovered shortly afterwards, artificial respiration was of no avail.

Representing 80 nations and nearly as many languages and political philosophies, they assembled for the 28th convention of Rotary International.

SLASH PINE FOR NEWSPRINT.

SAVANNAH, Ga.—The feasibility of establishing a slash pine paper-making industry in the southern United States was the topic of discussion to-day at a meeting of the newsprint committee of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association.

STRIKE THREATENS SHIPPING.

BUFFALO, N.Y.—With the rejection of a compromise proposal by striking tugmen as a vote was being taken by longshoremen on proposals for a sympathy walkout, fears were expressed here to-day of a general strike which might tie up all United States shipping on the Great Lakes.

CHILD IS DROWNED.

RICHMOND, Que.—The explosion of a motor boat engine on Lake Brampton over the week-end caused the death of Antonio Desmarais, five, and nearly took the lives of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Desmarais.

All three were thrown into the water when the blast ripped the bottom out of the Desmarais boat and cast flaming gasoline on the water. The child sank immediately and was not seen again.

KILLED IN JUMP.

NEW YORK.—Apparently crazed by pain, Mrs. Benedetta Morgera, 29, fought off two nurses and jumped from the fifth floor balcony of Roosevelt Hospital early to-day, receiving injuries from which she died a short time later.

She had undergone an operation last week and had suffered almost continuous pain ever since.

STORM DRAINAGE

CHICAGO — Piles of tangled debris marked to-day the courses of a series of devastating week-end wind and electrical storms that struck southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois, leaving at least six dead. The property damage was estimated at $600,000.

All of the dead, with one exception, were drowned when gales churned up the water of northern Illinois lakes.

PLANS AGAINST DILLINGER

STEVENS PROBE TO GIVE REPORT TO PARLIAMENT

Strong Suggestion Committee Be Turned Into Royal Commission.

LIBERALS PLAN DRIVE.

May Propose Want of Confidence Motion on Government.

OTTAWA, June 25.—(C.P.)—Decision as to the results and future conduct of the inquiry conducted into price spreads, mass buying and business practices by the committee headed by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will probably be reached to-day. The committee meets in executive session this afternoon, having taken the last evidence for the session last week.

To-day's meeting will be occupied with the formulation of a report to the House of Commons and there is a strong suggestion the committee be turned into a Royal Commission to continue its probe during the summer after the House prorogues. Although it has held almost daily sessions since it began its work in February it has fallen far short of investigating all the things it has been asked to look into.

With only a few measures left to be disposed of the government this week faces an embattled opposition, filled with enthusiasm by the recent successes of the Liberal party in Ontario and Saskatchewan. The Liberals apparently plan to leave no stone unturned in their effort to drive the government into a general election this year.

Liberals Embattled.

At the first opportunity, it is reported, they will propose a want of confidence and the earlier prospects of an end of the session this week have grown dim on that account. The new Franchise Bill which got a good reception when first introduced was severely criticized by the Opposition last week before it was referred to a special committee which holds its first meeting to-day.

The Bank of Canada Bill, setting up Canada's first Central Bank, will come before the House committee of the Whole again this week and a number of sections remian to be passed.

One of the chief committees yet to report is the Radio committee and its finding are awaited with keen interest. They may open up anew the discussion of the success of the Radio Commission and the merits of the system of government ownership of radio adopted two years ago.

City Editor Gets New Gnu News On New Gnu the Old Gnus Have

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—(CP)—George Bistany, superintendent of San Francisco's Fleishhacker zoo, informed the city editor by telephone: "We have some news about the gnus."

"Do you mean its new news?" asked the city editor.

"Yes," replied Bistany, "new news about the new gnu."

"But all news is new," protested the city editor.

"Oh, we have some old gnus here," responded Bistany, "but I want to give you some new gnu news about the new gnu that our old gnus have."

"Will you please," pleaded the city editor, "write it and send it in?"

Bistany did and his note said: "I was trying to give you some gnu news about our two old gnus that have a baby gnu. Both the gnus and the new gnu are doing very well."

YOUNG ATHLETE LOSES STRUGGLE

Loses Grip on Overturned Canoe After Grim Battle.

THREE ARE SAVED.

KENORA, Ont., June 25 (C.P.)—Details of a grim struggle for life, while clinging to an overturned canoe will be reviewed by a coroner's jury to-day at an inquest into the death of Alfred McLarnon of Winnipeg. The youthful vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association sank from exhaustion near Minaki, Sunday, while swimming to shore to bring assistance to three companions.

The survivors of a pleasure trip that turned into tragedy — John Jack, Howard Severson, and Bert McKinney, of Winnipeg — were resting in hospital here to-day recovering from the effects of clinging to their craft for 45 minutes in the swift-running headwaters of the Winnipeg River. The four were journeying from their summer camp, at Camp Stevens, to Minaki, when the accident occurred.

In some unknown manner the canoe overturned, far out on the lake. For nearly an hour the quartet drifted with the canoe, grimly clinging to the sides, hoping to attract attention from a passing craft which did not come.

Finally, McLarnon, a strong swimmer, volunteered to swim to shore. But his long period in the water had exhausted him. He sank before swimming 50 yards and out of reach of rescue.

As an oarsman, swimming instructor and referee, young McLarnon was well known throughout the West. He had officiated in the capacity of referee at many basketball contests here and at Western points. He was not married.

The body will be taken to Winnipeg for burial. A brother, W. McLarnon, survives.

HAIL STONES AT MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, June 25 (C.P.).—Hail stones as big as pigeons' eggs fell in Montreal last night as rain, wind and hail storm crashed upon the district. No damage was reported caused anywhere, however. Many flags, flying throughout over the city on the occasion of the feast of St. Jean Baptiste, were blown away by the fury of the wind.

Travelling Fire

CANTON, Ill., June 23 (C.P.).—Firemen who answer an alarm had to chase their fire before they finally caught up with it and put it out.

When they responded to a call they were told the fire had gone down the road. Following the trail they came upon a truck load of hogs in which a pile of straw was blazing merrily.

The driver failed to heed the siren, but the firemen followed the machine and finally caught up with it, and extinguished the blaze.

With Child Clasped in Arms Attempts Jump From Bridge.

PULLED BACK.

NEW YORK, June 25 (C.P.).—Her three-year-old son Lloyd clasped in her arms, Mrs. Rachel Sutton, 31, was pulled back to safety by two men who saw her prepare to jump from Manhattan Bridge into the East River.

Mrs. Sutton had been told yesterday by a physician that her son probably never would have the power of speech, would be a mute.

Officers said Mrs. Sutton, an author of children's books, left ner home soon after with Lloyd, telling her husband and three older children they planned to take a walk.

SECOND IN AFFECTIONS.

SOUTHAMPTON, June 26 (C.P.-Havas).—"England has always been second only to my own United States in my affections," Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, said to-day as she landed here from the Europa. She was in England to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fellowes Gordon, relatives, in Aberdeenshire, she explained.

HARRY SIFTON IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Prominent Canadian Newspaper Director Dies in Toronto.

ILL SEVERAL MONTHS.

TORONTO, June 25.— (C.P.) — Death came shortly after midnight last night to Henry Arthur Sifton, prominent Canadian newspaper director who, for the past several months had been waging a losing battle against a relentless illness. Mr. Sifton was 43 years old.

Prominent sportsman and a central figure in the newspaper business, Mr. Sifton was a member of a prominent family of western Canadian journalists. He was a son of Sir Clifford Sifton.

Suffered Stroke.

Last autumn Mr. Sifton suffered a stroke, and for a while his condition was considered critical. He recovered satisfactorily and during recent months had been able to lead a fairly active life. Last week his condition again became serious, however, and further complications set in. Last night another crisis came, from which he failed to rally.

A True Liberal

Known as "Harry" to hosts of friends throughout Canada, Henry Arthur Sifton was by conviction and temperament a true Liberal. A man of strict independence and great intellectual courage, he was a doughty fighter for the causes he believed to be right.

He might have taken the leadership of the Ontario Liberal Party some years ago, but his audacity and independence of mind did not make him a good "party man" and he knew it. There was a point beyond which his party loyalty would not carry him if the course lay outside the principles he had charted for himself. This was well illustrated by his famous break with the Liberal leader, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, over the Beauharois disclosures in 1931.

Harry Sifton was the third son of the late Sir Clifford Sifton, noted administrator and cabinet minister, and when the time came for him to assume leadership of the great Sifton interests it was soon apparent the son had qualities of his own. He became president and managing director of the Sifton chain of Prairie newspapers and head of the Armadale corporation, the big Sifton holding company. There, as in the political field, he acquitted himself in a manner that won him warm friendships and the respect of his opponents.

He entered politics in 1926 as Liberal candidate for North York, strong Conservative Federal seat, and lost a keenly-fought campaign by 300 votes in a poll of 20,000. He was not again a candidate for office, but he continued increasingly prominent in a public affairs through his Hydro-Electric campaigns. Alarmed at the turn he saw Hydro-Electric policies were taking in Ontario, he began a running fight with the then Premier, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, in 1929.

Holding that provincial and federal power politics on the St. Lawrence should be worked into a harmany which would retain the benefits of the power development for the Canadian people in perpetuity, Mr. Sifton believed the policies being pursued would lead to ultimate alienation of important Canadian resources. He also attacked the Ferguson administration for its long-term power-leasing from private companies.

This lasted through 1930, and later he concentrated his attack on the Beauharnois private power development, making numerous platform speeches and public statements. No orator, he nevertheless kept his listeners by his evident sincerity and out-spokenness. After the Beauharnois disclosures he went to the Liberal convention at London, in October, 1931, and, acutely dissatisfied with the statement of Mr. Mackenzie King, he made a

Large Motor Trucks Destroyed By Fire

A twisted heap of scrap metal is all that remains of a large motor truck that belonged to Ken Payne of Warsaw. The wrecked chassis was towed into Hughes garade over the week-end. The truck laden with 2 cords of body hardwood, is stated, to have caught fire while on the Oregon trail Friday afternoon. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Stolen from the yard at Hughes garage recently, a Pontiac coupe was found wrecked out near the checkerboard on the old Norwood road. The car had turned turtle when the thief, who has yet to be apprehended, apparently attempted to make the bend at too high a speed.

SUIT AGAINST PREMIER OPENS

J. E. Brownlee is Being Sued For Seduction by Stenographer.

MANY WITNESSES.

EDMONTON, June 25 (CP)—The civil suit of Vivian MacMillan, 19-year-old former Government stenographer, against Hon. J. E. Brownlee, Premier of Alberta, opened in Supreme Court Chambers here to-day. The public was excluded.

The hearing, over which Mr. Justice W. C. Ives will preside, is expected to last two to three weeks. More than twenty witnesses will be called, one coming from as far away as Germany.

In a statement of claim filed in the Supreme Court last September, Vivian MacMillan, formerly employed in the Department of the Attorney General, charged Mr. Brownlee with "enticement and seduction." Her father, a former Mayor of Edson, is a co-plaintiff in the suit for unstated damages.

From a panel of 55 men, a jury of six members will be chosen today. Only the panel and newspapermen will be permitted in court during the morning sitting. Accommodation has been provided for 12 reporters, representing various press associations and individual newspapers throughout the Dominion.

Premier Brownlee, who was in Ottawa as a member of the Royal Banking Commission when the statement of claim was filed here, issued an immediate denial, and followed this later with the filing of a counter-claim, seeking $10,000 damages.

In the counter-claim he charged the young stenographer and John Caldwell, son of an Edmonton minister and a medical student, with conspiracy. At one time young Caldwell was engaged to marry Miss MacMillan.

Byrd Has Near Call From Gas Poisoning

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, June 23 (AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, nearing the end of his third month of isolation in his lone advance camp, 123 miles south of here, reported by wireless yesterday that he had a narrow escape from carbon monoxide poisoning June 17.

At that time, in a regular wireless contact between the commander of the present Antarctic expedition and this base, Admiral Byrd broke in on an exchange of messages with: "Let's make this short. Will tell you later, why."

When yesterday's contact was established, Byrd explained: "I felt rocky and decided it would not be wise to continue operating the small engine mounted on a shelf in one of the tunnels leading from the vestibule of the shack. The door from the tunnel had been left open and the fumes of the engine had fouled the atmosphere in Byrd's small hut. He reported himself, however, as quickly recovered.

PROBE FORD'S EXCLUSION GOV'T AUTO TENDERS

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(A.P.)—A United States' House of Representatives Investigating committee has been informed that prices quoted to the government on automobiles have jumped since Henry Ford was excluded from bidding.

Impelled by this disclosure the committee plans to inquire into the circumstances back of President Roosevelt's executive order priventing Ford from selling to the government until he certifies compliance with the N.R.A.

Representative Paul Kvale, (FL-Minn.), disclosed that when the House investigation of war department purchases resumed Monday he will turn his attention to the Ford case. He said he had evidence showing the prices quoted to the government jumped immediately after Ford was excluded.

"For Henry Ford to submit a certificate of compliance," Kvale said, "would mean he would have to secure 5,000 certificates of compliance from those who furnish parts and products for his car. That is obviously impossible."

A wedding of local interest took place in Toronto on Saturday, when Miss Cora Alberta Stinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stinson of Toronto, became the bride of Mr. Reginald Brown Phipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ernest Phipps of Toronto. The bride is related to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stinson of Brock street, in double fashion, as her father is a brother of Mr. Stinson, and her mother is Mrs. Stinson's sister. The ceremony, which took place at three o'clock at Trinity United Church, was solemnized by Rev. Dr. W. H. Hincks and the Rev. Colonel George Fallis. Dr. Marshall played the organ. The bride wore a beautiful white satin gown with train cut into the frock, which was trimmed with buttons. Her long tulle veil was arranged from a halo of duchesse lace and she carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and orchids. Mrs. J. S. Weatherell attended her sister as matron of honor, and Miss Dorothy Smale was bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in white silk faille over pale yellow taffeta slips, frilled at the hem, with shoes to match. They wore large white hats and carried bouquets of yellow roses and gypsophila. Mr. Douglas Robert attended the bridegroom, and ushers were Mr. Arnold Stinson, Mr. Harold Rae, Mr. Keith Dinsmore and Mr. Hugh Dennison. Mrs. Edward Cornwell was soloist, singing, "All Joy Be Thine." Following the ceremony, a reception was held, when the bride's mother wore a French model of old rose georgette trimmed with lace d'Alencon, and brown lace hat and shoulder bouquet of orchids. The bridegroom's mother was in poudre blue suede lact with matching hat and shoes and shoulder bouquet of yellow orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Phipps left later on a motor trip, the bride wearing a smart navy blue taffeta costume with white accessories. On their return, they will live on Castlefield avenue, Toronto. Prior to her wedding, many affairs were given in honor of the bride.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Summer nighties seem to be popular with little girls, particularly with litte girls who are going visiting this summer They like soft flowery gowns, and lace makes them just that much grander. For the junior high miss who probably spends the summer at camp, pajamas are the favorite night apparel.

* * * * * * *

Cotton remnants bought for a few cents can make the entire summer's supply of night clothes for the younger members of the family. Flowered voile, lawn or cotton crepe make up beautifully into cool and pretty little gowns. One mother I knew made summer drapes and a bedspread for her young daughter's room of dainty flowere cotton crepe. Then with the material she had left over she made gowns for the child to match her room. It was a novel idea which pleased the child immensely, and it helped use up the odd pieces of crepe. Rickrack braid or lace can be used effectively to outline the neck and shoulder of these little gowns.

* * * * * * *

One-piec pajamas of sersucker are a favorite for summer. Voiles in the pastel shades make such pretty two-piece pajamas. If you are clever enough to do smocking you can have something very attractive and expensive looking at a very small cost and with little effort on your part.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Miss Catherine Davies, R.R. No. 11, Peterborough.

Your handwriting for delineation reveals friendliness and a genial disposition. You have the characteristics in your writing of one of the nursing profession, or you could engage quite successfully in teaching. The upper portions of your capital letters reflect excellent imagination of a practical type, and a keen interest in sports or physical culture. The artistic tendencies as represented might be carried out in any line which suits your individual taste, for instance hats, shoes, or silken feminine attire. The smaller letters reveal a fairly even disposition which does not seem to be given to temperament. You are genuine in friendship, and appreciate very much, even the smallest kindness. You are honest in your opinions, but do not believe in flattering people. Your will-power is normal, and does not make you obdurate or aggressive.

Bell Smith, Norwood, Ont.

Your handwriting shows executive ability and forethought. Your large capitals describe excellent imagination and an artistic tendency. It may be the manner in which you wear or choose your clothing, but anyhow it shows individual taste and discrimination. You are a keen, quick thinker. You seem to possess an insight into human nature, and so you do not judge others too harshly. Your disposition is rather inclined to be of a secretive nature. You do not believe in letting others know how you feel. You do not make sincere, confidential friends outside of your business. You are quite impulsive, artistic, and can be secretive. You should love good music, enjoy out-of-doors sports and reap rich rewards through your imaginative ideas. Your number is eleven and is a super number. Your birthsign is Sagittarius the Centaur. You are ruled by Jupiter. Tuesday is your lucky day, and February and June your best months.

Mrs. Alice M. Carrol, Round Lake, Ont.

Your handwriting indicates a versatile nature. You are a happy-go-lucky and able to turn your hand to many worthwhile enterprises and do them all with a great deal of merit. The outlines of your letter formations give a general perception of you, in an individual manner. You are kindhearted, lovable and trustworthy. You have indomitable will-power and determination. You are usually neat and precise, but can be just as happy if wearing a smock as in your best dress. There is a propensity to create artistic accoutrements and to be self-expressive. You are fond of hearing yourself speak, and no doubt, your voice is often heard to advantage at social affairs, either vocally or verbally. A predominant spirit of organization and leadership lends intrigue to your fascinating, versatile personality. Your verse was so lovely that I am going to repeat it here:

Blest is the man, for ever blest,
Whose guilt is pardoned by his God;
Whose sins with sorrow are confessed,
And covered with his Saviour's blood.

Miss Audrey McFadden, 168 River Road.

Your handwriting reveals an excellent all-round disposition. It shows that you are intelligent and progresive, not too emotional, but yet you can hide your emotions when you find it necessary to do so. In other words, you are not the type of person to wear your heart on your sleeve. Your upper loops reflect a love for music and show that you have a good imagination of the practical type. Business should interest you because of your ability to follow instructions, and to issue orders carefully when necessary. You are friendly and sympathetic. You appear to have just the right amount of will-power and determination to enable you to carry out your wishes. The lower loops denote a spirit of leadership and authority, and also an interest in out-of-door sports. The manner in which you form your 'i' dots bespeaks genuine good humour and wit. You are somewhat nervous at present, but no doubt the summer weather will assist you greatly.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

THE STRIPPING PROCESS

One of the most important methods of play is what players usually terms "the strip", while the purist calls it "the elimination play." The play consists of stripping from opponents all cards of two suits, then putting them in the lead with the last card held by opponents of one of those two suits and forcing a lead of a suit which cannot be made by the declarer without loss. The deal shown well illustrates this important bit of strategy.

Bidding went: West, one-diamond; North, one-spade; South, two-hearts; North, three-hearts; South, four-hearts, taking the chance of a non-vulnerable player.

The opening lead was the king of diamonds, South's ace won the trick. To have the usual 2½ quick tricks, West must hold the three remaining kings and the queen of diamonds, unless he held the one missing ace. It yas certain that East was long in diamonds, as West had not rebid, but the fact that East had not at once supported his partner made it appear almost certain that East did not hold two kings, unless one of them was the missing king of hearts. There are many things to consider before deciding what should be done. The fact that West had not doubled made it seem as if he did not hold the ace-king of clubs, but it was all surmise.

South saw that he must lose a diamond, unless he at once obtained a discard of his last card of that suit. If East held the missing king of spades there would not be a discard of a diamond, but later on South might then save a club trick, by discarding one of his clubs. Certainly he did not want to have to lose three club tricks, which might be the case if he had to lead that suit, with the ace-king-tenning missing.

South led his jack of spades. West covered with the king. Dummy won three straight tricks in the suit. South discarded his last diamond on the third spade. Then South led dummy's last diamond and ruffed. The ace of hearts was led, followed by a low heart, and west was in the lead with his king, giving him the first defensive trick. West held neither heart nor spade to lead. He had to lead a diamond, letting one hand ruff and the other discard, or he had to lead a club, knowing that East held the ace of the suit, otherwise South would have opened the auction on three aces and so many hearts. West led a club, and his side won two tricks in the suit, allowing South to just fulfill his contract.

Because she was not an expert in Irish, Miss Catherine M. Kelly was refused the appointment as instructor in Wexford County, Irish Free State, even though the officials said she had proved during a trial that she knew her chickens and butter.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The one essential food element which we cannot do without, as was pointed out yesterday, is protein, and, furthermore, protein, to be healthful, must be what is called "complete." That is to say, it must contain four chemical compounds, cystine, histidine, lysine and tryptophane.

All proteins do not contain these substances. For instance, vegetarians for years have claimed that vegetable proteins could be substituted for animal proteins in the diet, naming beans, peas and wheat flour as examples. Life cannot be sustained on the proteins of any of these substances, because they are incomplete proteins. For instance, wheat flour contains no lysine. If bread is made with milk it will contain all the proteins, because milk adds the substances which wheat lacks.

Complete proteins which have all the essential elements are meat muscle—and, therefore, any meats are complete proteins—eggs, milk and cheese, soy beans, and most nuts.

The experiments to prove that the substances named are essential have been worked out in great detail by Dr. L. B. Mendel. For instance, young rats could be given food mixtures containing large amounts of casein, gliadin and zein which are found in many vegetable proteins, and kept on these for some time withou showing any growth whatever. When the essential protein elements, trytophane and lysine etc., were added to this diet, growth immediately increased.

According to the classification of Dr. Henry C. Sherman, the protein can be grouped as follows:

(A) Complete, which maintain life and provide for normal growth. Foodstuffs which contain these are eggs, milk, meat, nuts, etc.

(B) Partially incomplete, which maintain life but do not allow growth. Wheat, barley and rye are good examples of this.

(C) Incomplete, incapable of maintaining life or of supporting Your health

The question of how much protein an individual needs a day was touched on lightly in the article yesterday. There we said that there is a general consensus of opinion that a human being needs about a gram of protein per kilogram of body weight a day. In other words, a man weighing 150 pounds needs two and one-half ounces.

This, however, is the average. It has even been said that the minimum is lower. It may be for adults; it certainly is not for children. Many physiological experimenters have subsisted on a minimum protein diet of 40 grams a day and claimed to have felt in perfect health; in fact, in better health than usual. Most of us, however, eat a good deal more, and probably for general well being it is advisable to double the average mentioned. In other words, a man of average weight should eat four or five ounces of protein a day.

We know at least that high amounts of protein do not do much harm, because nature has conducted experiments on such carnivorous races as the Eskimo, who eat as much as 280 grams of protein a day and remain healthy.

BE BEAUTIFUL

Clara Lou Sheridan
By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: I recently obtained my unusual summer permament, but this time I'm very disappointed. I don't like the wave at all, as it is very kinky. Is there anything that I can do to eliminate the kinkiness and make the waves softer?
"BLONDIE."

There are severol things that you can do to make your permanent wave less kinky. Daily vigorous brushing of your hair, in the first place, will make the hair more tractable. It will distribute the natural oil evenly over the hair, and will help to soften the wave. Then, hot oil shampoos, as described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet, and softening vinegar rinses also will help to make the waves flatter and less kinky. And finally, if, after each time that you shampoo your hair, you set it in wide, loose waves, it will eventually lose its kinkiness and become trained to retain a smooth, even wave.

"Dear Miss Glad: My mother sure gave me the razz when I sent for your 'new Figure' booklet and started the reducing course in it. But I'm the one who's laughing now, for I lost all of 32 pounds. And I really look so much better that my mother has decided to try your reducing course herself. However, I was wondering whether I shall have to diet continually in order to retain my present weight. Can you advise me?
"SALLY."

There is no reason why you should have to diet continually in order to retain your present weight. Of course, you cannot overeat, or gorge yourself with very rich, fattening foods. But if you continue to obtain sufficient exercise every day, and eat only meals that are healthful and well-balanced, you should not regain the weight you have lost. Then, too, if you select one day a week, and on that day consume nothing but liquids, such as orange juice, lemon juice, grapefruit juice, buttermilk and the like, it will do wonders to keep your weight normal and your figure attractively slender.

"Dear Miss Glad: My skin always has been gratifyingly clear and smooth, and I've never had much trouble with it. Lately, however, I've observed that the skin on my cheeks is becoming dotted with tiny red blemishes. I was wondering whether these spots could have been caused by the rouge I am using. Do you think this possible?
"ANXIOUS."

If you are using a good brand of rouge, a product that is nationally recognized as a pure, reliable one, I do not believe that it would cause the skin condition you describe. You may, however, be using the rouge incorrectly, and thus causing this skin condition. The blemishes on your cheeks indicate that you have been rubbing the rouge into your skin, and then failing to remove it properly. A good brand of rouge will not harm your skin, providing that you cleanse your skin thoroughly after its use. Be sure that you close your pores well with a good astringent before applying your rouge. And use a fine cleasing cream, and then soap and water to remove every bit of it from your skin after its use.

Proofs--Not Mere Claims

"Blood tests" before and after taking a remedy afford the surest proof of its value in the treatment of weak, run-down, nervous conditions that indicate anaemia. Physicians are able to measure accurately the haemoglobin content of their patients' blood stream and to "count" their red corpuscles.

As the haemoglobin and red corpuscles increase toward normal, the patients definitely experience restored energy. That is because their body cells are then receiving the amount of vitalizing oxygen from the lungs and of nutriment from the digestive organs needed for rebuilding and clearing the system of poisons.

Though Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are credited with 40 years of good results, and their blood-building benefits are attested to in 72 different countries, this remedy need not stop at claims and testimonials—it can point to scientific PROOF of its efficiency.

Recently a reputable physician "blood tested" a group of under-par patients, prescribed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and, a month later, again tested their blood. The physician's record showed increases in haemoglobin and red corpuscles that were nothing short of marvellous. These records are authentic and copies of them will be given to any person who desires them.

SPORT FISHING IN CANADA.

The extent of Canada's angling facilities is effectively set forth in a booklet entitled "Sport Fishing in Canada," just issued by the Department of the Interior at Ottawa.

This interesting publication points out that the interior waters of the Dominion, its lakes and rivers are perhaps the most surprising geographical features of this country. Exclusive entirely of the Great Lakes, the combined area of the larger Canadian lakes is about 78,000 square miles, and in addition, there are thousands of small lakes that are but little known.

Furthermore, the combined length of the principal rivers, not including thousands of the small rivers and streams, is more than 47,000 miles. In these waters the angler is offered a variety of species of fish under a diversity of conditions not found in any other country in the world.

Anyone whose hobby is fishing and camping can satisfy his fond likes to the full on Canada's numerous inland waters. What could constitute a more enjoyable and health-building vacation than a fishing and camping trip? It is a welcome relief to get away from the grime, dust and grind, from the stifling buildings and hot pavements to the green woods and sparkling waters, to hear the call of the whip-poor-will, the cry of the night hawk and the mumur of the voices of the night.

VITAL PROBLEMS.

With ten thousand Rotarians in attendance from all over the world, it is not surprising to find that economic problems and the changed world conditions will form a prominent feature of the deliberations of the 25th annual convention of Rotary International at Detroit this week.

Business and professional men from some sixty countries are to consider the business and social problems of the new economic order and changing conditions in vocational relationship, in community responsibilities and in international commerce and amity are the principal topics to be presented and discussed.

In industry, the increase in productive capacity, the relations between competitors and between employers and employees, the decrease in working hours and the effect of these changes on social life and international affairs will be the theme of to-morrow's discussions.

The effect of these developments in industry upon community life, particularly upon the young people, is the general topic of Wednesday's sessions.

The condition of international relationships and a study of ways in which a greater international understanding may be brought about will occupy the attention of the thousands of delegates on Thursday.

With prominent business executives and professional men fro mall over the globe assembled at Detroit the discussion of these vitally important problems should be of a most informative and constructive character, for the Rotary convention is undoubtedly a true cross section of the world's business, industrial and professional, life.

MR. JENNINGS' RESIGNATION.

The Globe on Saturday published a glowing editorial eulogy of one J. E. Jennings, who, immediately following the election, resigned from the position of vice-president of the New Toronto Conservative Association, and at the same time revealed the fact that throughout the campaign he had worked in the interest of the successful Liberal candidate.

Mr. Jennings' reason was that he was dissatisfied with the machine tactics of the Conservative party in West York, and the Globe enthusiastically says of him: "The J. E. Jenningses of the country are to be saluted. It is such men who right public wrongs. They are the men who have their party from ultimate annihilation by protests which produce reform."

All of which, of course, is quite true; it is the men who are big enough to shake off party allegiance in the public interest who dethrone inept and inefficient governments.

But in this particular case, it will appear to a great many people, that this Mr. Jennings would have proved himself a bigger man still if he had resigned from his position in the party organization at the beginning of the campaign and not after the voting was over.

After all there should be a sense of honor even in politics, and to hold a position of trust in one party and work for another is not the kind of conduct that should draw editorial applause from a newspaper which prides itself on taking such a high ethical view of all questions as does the Globe.

There are people indeed with over-suspicious minds who might be inclined to believe that had the fortunes of war been different on Tuesday this particular letter of resignation might never have been written.

RESTAURANTS AND BEER.

It is stated that at least one petition for the privilege of selling beer in restaurants has gone forward from Peterborough.

The Examiner is firmly convinced that all such requests should receive short shift from the new administration, inasmuch as the bulk of public opinion in this community is strongly against restaurant sale of intoxicants.

When the beer and wine bill was first introduced The Examiner protested vigorously against that feature of the legislation, and the warm approval expressed by many readers of the stand we took at that time leaves no doubt of the fact that Peterborough citizens generally have no desire to see eating places converted into beer parlors.

Both those who favor sale of beer and wine by the glass in standard hotels and the others who are opposed to any relaxation in the present Liquor Control Act are agreed that to extend the privilege of sale to restaurants in cities of this size would be a serious error in judgment.

It is to be hoped that the new Government will see to it that no local application for a restaurant beer license is successful, and that temperance organizations and other bodies opposed to such sale will lose no time in formally voicing their objections in the proper quarter. In protesting against restaurant sale here they will undoubtedly have the support of Mr. Hawthorne, who is personally opposed to freer beer, and as the candidate ofthe Hepburn Government in this constituency would, it is to be imagined, readily lend his influence to prevent any Peterborough restaurant from launching out into the beer business.

In a sense the result of the election locally is a mandate against restaurant sale, for Mr. Lancaster, the successful candidate, made it known from the start that he was strongly against beer being sold in Peterborough eating places, and declared that so far as he was concerned no local restaurant would be granted a license.

SURFACE NOT SCRATCHED YET.

We are just beginning to emerge from an economic depression, which has been characterized by overproduction according to the economists. This condition has been general with, however, one exception. Owing either to a surplus of commodities or incapacity of the people to buy, the price of commodities has declined. In other words, prices have reacted to the age old economic law of supply and demand. The supply has been abundant, therefore prices have fallen.

The notable exception to this rule has been gold. The supply has been relatively small, therefore the price has risen until the yellow metal to-day is selling for thirty-five dolars an ounce, which represents a seventy per cent. advance over the statutory price of twenty dollars and sixty-seven cents per ounce.

During this trying period, therefore, the mining industry of Canada has been the David that has been very largely instrumental in securing the demise of the Goliath of depression. Gold, copper, nickel and silver have contributed largely to the national exchequer. Mining is, as a matter of fact, the Dominion's second largest primary industry.

There are many who believe that the surface is scarcely scratched yet, not withstanding our Norandas, Hollingers, Lake Shores, Domes, McIntyres and many others, all of which rank among the great gold producers of the world.

It is a fact that Canada has a vast area of land, geologically favorable to the deposition of gold, which has not yet been explored.

At no time in the history of the industry has there been such activity as will mark this year. Prospectors are penetrating to these areas which heretofore have not yet been explored for minerals, and already, although early in the season, stories are beginning to filter down from the north country of rich new finds.

While the production of gold in Canada is still vefy much less than that of South Africa, it is increasing at a rate which is more rapid. It is estimated that this year Canada will have a production valued at one hundred million dollars, which will represent a very sharp gain in the rate of increase of production.

It is exceedingly difficult for people to envision the fundamental change which has characterized the industry, owing to the very substantial increase in the price of the metal that occurred.

A great fundamental change occurred in the gold mining industry. The seventy per cent. increase in price which has been enjoyed by the industry means much more than can be easily appreciated.

It is not altogether this aspect of the situation which is interesting, but there is another feature which stirs the imagination, and that is the fact that much territory which was formerly regarded as merely country rock has been brought safely within the purview of profitable milling ore.

While no statistics are available, indicating the increase in extent of profitably available mining areas, it is plain that this gain must be very substantial.

It is true, because gold mining prior to the rise in the price of the yellow metal represented only a very small fraction of the proven auriferous territory. An enormous area therefore was left available for exploitation which is proceeding in a measure at the present moment.

In view of these facts, it is imperative to emphasize the great extent of these gold bearing areas within the pre-Cambrian shield, which geologists advise us are favorable to the deposition of gold and of which Canada has more than its share.—H. A. Somerville in Mining News of Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is trite to point out, says the Monetary Times, speaking of the Ontario and Saskatchewan elections, that what has occurred is really a revolution brought about in the good old British constitutional way, but none the less a revolution, which in olden times, or even to-day in some more hot-blooded countries, would have been brought about only by bloodshed.

A BOOST FOR THE MAYOR

To the Editor of The Examiner.
Sir:

As The Examiner says it is a very peculiar thing to say the least of it that Peterborough does not get 1 cent out of the 40 million dollars just voted for new relief works at Ottawa. Of course Mayor Denne will take this matter up with his well-known capacity and energy. There is not a man or woman in town who would not vote for him for the first Senator from Peterborough.

THE BROWSER

Once in a while, for the Browser, along comes a week when he doesn't happen to be reading anything. ....There are books on his desk which he isn't quite ready to read. Other books, which he has read, haven't yet been released upon the public by the publishers. And there are still other books he HAS read, but he can't think what to say about them in that easy, unconventional style he has to struggle so hard to achieve. (Voice from over the Browser's shoulder: "Don't boast if you ever spent more than half an hour writing that column, you'd complain of overwork!")....And this is one of those weeks in the Browser's life. He has finished that book about stud poker, and he decided it is a silly game. Author George Henry Fisher says, "Seven-high flushes are almost as scarce as hen's teeth, yet when they appear they are beaten by ace-high flushes, which are relatively common!" And what kind of game is that!....The Browser has finished Stribling's "Unfinished Cathedral" and so has Mrs. Browser and at last she has come round to the Browser's opinion of T. S. Stribling....He is also poised gracefully on the edge of Louis-Ferdinand Celine's "Journey to the End of the Night"—that dark, sticky, terrifying pool—and he reminds rimself of the fellow who said he was going to get drunk and gosh how he dreaded it....And suddenly the Browser remembers that he has never written anything about Neil Bell's "Bredon & Son", published way back in February. Neil Bell is one of the Browser's favorites. He knows how to tell a story, he knows how to create characters that are odd but real.... This book runs over nearly a hundred years in the lives of the Bredons, boat builders and everything else, who come from the town of Senwich (pronounced Sennidge) on the English coast—and the death of old George Bredon in the first chapters will henceforth be unforgettable to the Browser. To be sure, Neil Bell never rises to such a height again, but perhaps he intended that. Old George should cast a long shadow over his book.

Dr. Louis-Ferdinand Celine's real name is Destouches....That book sold more than 200,000 copies in France....A pulp paper company gave Hervey Allen and wife a reception on the occasion of 400,000th copy of "Anthony Adverse." The publishers dispute the claim that "Anthony Adverse" is the "fastest selling book of all times." ....Back in 1921 A. S. M. Hutchinson's "If Winter Comes", in 10½ months sold 359,398 copies. The biggest month was 106,092. Anthony sold 333,359 in 10 months and the biggest month sales were 53,073.... But the publishers do admit that times were better in 1921, and "If Winter Comes" wasn't a $3 novel... In an old book, on "Perils and Adventures of the Deep"—published in 1850—the Browser found the story of the Mutiny of the Bounty recounted, with none of the sympathy for the mutineers that Nordhoff and Hall show in their book. At the head of the chapter appears a stanza from a poem called "The Island": Awake, Bold Bligh; the fce it at the gate!

Awake, awake; alas, it is too late!
Fiercely beside the cot the mutineer
Stands and proclaims the reign of terror near.

Does anybody know the rest of that poem?....G. B. Stern, who wrote "The Matriarch" and other good books, was in town last year and the Browser observed that she was somewhat stout....In Vanity Fair she bemoans the inhumanity of man and woman to the poor dieting mortal. If you're fat, friendly imply that you are a glutton, and ought to be ashamed of yourself. But when you diet, those same children of the devil force food upon you and insist that this salad isn't the least bit fattening and have another teeny-weeny bit of cake. And "when you do eventually break down, they despise you and you despise yourself and your doctor despises you and nobody is any better."...And that's not funny!....James Rorty, poet and advertising man, has written a book that is supposed to tear the hide off advertising. Rorty is the man who thought of the advertising slogan, "California—Where Life is Better" —and he and George Sterling did more than anyone else to discover Robinson Jeffers to the world.... And don't forget Miriam Michelson's "Wonderlode of Silver and Gold"....It's all about the Comstock and Miss Michelson knows her subject thoroughly; she was born in Virginia City....The Browser has to go now. Some people are coming to dinner at his house. And before they come, he must shave.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PROVINCE OF MANITOBA

There are various versions as to how the name of the former "postage stamp" province came into general use. All are agreed one one point—that the word is of Indian derivation.

The most popular version has it that a superstition prevailed among the Indians that a spirit or "manito" hovered continually in the vicinity of a portion of the lake where a strait was located. The strait was therefore called manito-wapow (Cree) or manito-bau (Ojibway), meaning the strait of the spirit or manito.

Another well-established version is that the word is of Assiniboine Indian origin, the word mini meaning prairie, or lake of the prairie. In neither case has the original spelling been retained, but local history, which is confused as to the meaning of the word, can throw no light on the manner in which the spelling was changed.

CLERKS CINCH 11-7 SOFTBALL VICTORY

Defeat Saints in Fast Exhibition of Ball in Campbellford Town League.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 25 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Another victory for the local champs, the Clerks, was registered in the Campbellford Town Softball League Saturday evening, when they secured an 11-7 victory over the Saints, in a fast and keen exhibition. A large sideline of fans saw the Clerks battle their way to another win, cinched only at the end of the sixth, when they broke away from the fast moving Saints to gain the lead.

Both mound hurlers did excellent work and showed up to advantage, while fielding by both the aggregations was above average. Morton for the Clerks played an exceptional game, making several spectacular catches at his position at left field. Two home runs featured the game, Whitton and Bush rounding the bases for counters.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

FRENCH CANADA'S FESTIVAL

Today is this year the festival day of French Canada, the 24th of June is the feast day of St. John the Baptist, the patron saint of the French Canadian people, but as in 1934 it came upon a Sunday the festal features have been postponed until today. The true St. Jean Baptiste day was, of course observed yesterday in the churches, large and small; for our Canadians of French descent are a distinctly religious people, and always begin their holidays in the spirit of holy days, as example which we of British descent would do well to follow. How many of us go to church on holidays before beginning our holidaying? Mighty few.

This year St. Jean Baptiste will thus have a double celebration, the religious one of yesterday and the festal one of today. Wherever there are French Canadians, whether in Acadia, in New Brunswick, in that Baie de Chaleur when Jacques Cartier first set foot, in the mighty province of Quebec from the international boundary to the far north, in Ontario, east, north and southwest, with a sprinkling here and there throughout the province; in Manitoba where they will recall that Frenchmen were the founders of the province, as in Saskatchewan and Alberta, and even in the valleys of the Rockies there will today be remembrances of St. Jean Baptiste.

A few years ago June 24 was set aside by an act of the Quebec Legislature as a public holiday in that province; this year a special proclamation has made June 25 the holiday. In Montreal, the greatest ceremony will be the observance of the centenary of the foundation of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, founded in 1834 with Jacques Duvernay as its first president. The procession is going to be unusually elaborate; pictures of the past, conceived in that artistry which marks the French Canadian, will pass in review through crowded streets; there will be the inevitable car with the little lad dressed in sheep's skin and with a lamb by his side to typify the good St. Jean; and British jacks and French tricolors will fly side by side in honor of the day. Which reminds me: Do you know how the tricolor af France came to be accepted as the flag of French Canada? It puzzled me for a long time why a flag which stands for revolution should have been adopted by a people whose whole history is opposed to revolution. But the explanation is very simple. It all began in 1854 when Britain and France were allies against Russia in the Crimea. Some official in London, with a prescience of certain victory for the allies, sent out to Quebec a number of French tricolors with the suggestion that they should be distributed among the parishes and hoisted together with the red, white and blue of Britain when the news of victory came. Lord Elgin, then governor general, ordered the distribution and when the tidings came of the victories of Balaclava and Inkerman the two flags flew side by side. Ever since they have done so.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Butter and cheese prices declined while the potato market was stronger and eggs remained steady on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market last week.

The butter market was off 1¼c; fresh No. 1 being quoted at 20c to 20¼c a pound for graded shipments in carlots or less. Exports for the week totalled 207 boxes against 66 boxes in the preceding week. No exports of butter were made during the corresponding week last year. Exports for the season to date are 784 boxes compared with 715 boxes at this date last year. Small lots to retailers brought 22 cents for solids and 23 cents for prints. Arrivals for the week were 3,344 boxes in comparison with 23,078 boxes the week previous.

Cheese prices declined fractionally, Ontario colored being 10¾ to 10¾ cents a pound, down ½ of a cent. Quebec cheese was off ¼ of a cent at 10¼c a pound. Exports for the week were 9,132 boxes against 13,946 boxes the week before to date, 43,010 boxes have been exported this season as compared with 68,935 boxes at this time last year. Receipts for the week totalled 27,388 boxes, as compared with 23,046 boxes a week ago.

The egg market was steady, graded Montreal shipments in carlots or less being quoted at 19½ to 20 cents a dozen for A-large, 18½c to 20c for A-medium, 18c to 18½c for B and 17½c to 18c for C. Western eggs held at 21 cents a dozen for A-large, 20 cents for A-medium, 19 cents for B and 18c for C.

Potatoes advanced 5 cents, N.B. Mountains being 75c to 80c per 80-pound bag, Quebec whites 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains 95c to $1 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 25. — Apprehension over crop prospects in South-eastern Europe and Australia engaged the attention of wheat traders over the week-end as they studied reports of further grasshopper damage in North America. Stimulated by price jumps in outside markets, grain values cemented gains of ¾c to 1c in Saturday's short session. The advance was traced to Broomhall's bullish statistics concerning the European crops.

The steady market at Liverpool lent considerable encouragement and both Winnipeg and Chicago markets advanced appreciably. July gained ¾c to 77¾c, October and December an even cent to 79¼c to ¾c and 80¾c to ¾c, respectively.

There was a lull in the demand for cash wheat with spreads unchanged. Rye, with an advance of 1¼c led the coarse grains section to higher ground.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 25. — A big outburst of speculative buying shot wheat and rye straight upward more than 2 cents.

Sensational reported drough losses both of bread grains and of feed grain crops in Europe, losses estimated at approximately 1,400,000,000 bushels, supplied the chief incentive to buyers. Fears of a damaging heat wave in Canada added to the skyward impetus of prices, and so too did reports of probable outright failure of the wheat crop of South-eastern Saskatchewan, involving 10,000,010 bushels.

Wheat closed buoyant at virtually the day's top quotations, 2¾c to 3¼c above Friday's finish, corn 1¾c to 2¼c up, oats 1c to 1¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Provisions advanced with grains, despite downturns of hog values. It was pointed out that lard was selling below present cost of manufacture, and that indications of decreasing stocks of lard were apparent.

Campbellford Girl Is Injured In Fall

CAMPBELLFORD, June 25 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Crossing Bridge Street, Campbellford, at noon on Saturday, and colliding with the side of a car, Miss Annie Bedford of town lost her balance and fell to the pavement, sustaining three head injuries and a shoulder injury, and was badly shaken up. Dr. F. deF. Free was called and rendered medical assistance in Brown's drug store, opposite where the accident occurred, and where they took the injured woman for treatment. She was later removed to her home on Queen Street in the Bennett ambulance.

The driver of the car was E. N. McDonald of Warsaw, who told Chief Constable George Hardy who investigated, that he was going slowly over the bridge in an easterly direction. Getting to the end of the bridge he saw a woman walk out from the side of the road, and swung his car out a little to avoid hitting her. When he saw what was going to happen, he pulled the car up, stopping in about five feet.

Scoffs at All Modern Fuss About Raising Babies.

NOW AGED 80.

CHICAGO, June 25 (C.P.).—This modern fuss about incubator babies is all nonsense to Mrs. Bridge Schlining.

Almost 80 years ago she was coddled in an incubator herself, and lays claim to the title of one of the world's first incubator babies.

Weighing only two pounds at birth in 1855, her mother placed her in an old wash boiler on a shelf behind a wood-burning stove. Steam curled up from a pan of water on the stove to keep her warm, she says, and there she lived for nine months in their Cape Ann, Mass., home.

While doctors battle for the lives of the Dionne quintuplets near Corbell, Ont., Mrs. Schlining gave them a word of encouragement, scoffing at the idea premature birth might be a handicap.

"Nonsense," she said decisively, "I have 21 living descendants, and apparently I had less chance at birth than the quintuplets."

DICTATORSHIPS NOT WAY OUT FOR THIS COUNTRY

Faith in Parliamentary Institutions is Needed, F. D. Kerr, K.C., Tells Local Rotary Club.

A DANGEROUS TREND.

Rights of Courts Encroached Upon by Powers Granted to Commissions He Points Out.

Greater faith in parliamentary institutions and in the administration of justice, rather than dictatorships and arbitrary bureaucracy, was the prescription for Canada's needs laid down by F. D. Kerr, K.C., in the course of a thoughtful address before the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day.

Mr. Kerr's main thesis was the tendency that, he said, was quite evident of taking away the rights of the court and of parliament, and he pointed out that to "sidetrack the courts was to sidetrack the people."

Introduced by Rotarian W. R. Morris, who remarked that he proposed to present the speaker rather than introduce him, Mr. Kerr began by a reference to the change in the administration of justice involving the gradual disappearance of the jury system.

"I am inclined to say," said Mr. Kerr, "that I think I see juries going."

While, by the Act of 1792 it had been provided that juries should act in all cases, to-day juries were not used in the majority of civil cases. And while time was saved in these days of efficiency and high speed it might easily be that there were losses that were more important than the gains. For one thing, people were losing the feeling that they were part of the machinery of justice.

As for criminal cases, verdicts of juries were often upset by the Court of Appeal; largely because the citizens were forgetting how a juryman should act. In some cases they came into court over-burdened with zeal; while other jurymen looked upon their duties as a bore and a nuisance.

Mr. Kerr passed on to discuss various ways in which the rights of the citizens were being infringed on by reason of the power assigned to various commissions and officials. The old right of the citizen to go into court with his grievance had been wiped out in many instances by this development and in this regard, Mr. Kerr quoted the condemnation of encroachment upon the powers of courts voiced by Sir William Mulock in this country, and by Lord Ewart in Great Britain.

Mr. Kerr said that parliamentary institutions were essential to the British race and declared that there was a very real danger in the suspension of the power of parliament. It was well to think seriously of these things and not to follow the line of least resistance. People should not be carried away by the thought that everything should come from the top. That was the present weakness of the United States in that everything was being left to Roosevelt, whereas the speaker submitted that the United States had no been built upon that system.

Miss Marguerite Waterhouse, a guest at to-day's luncheon, delighted the gathering with her masterly rendition of two piano numbers by Brahms.

It was announced that the sale of tickets for the Rotary car had amounted to well over $1,500.

Owing to next Monday being celebrated as a holiday there will be no meeting of the club next week.

RUSSIAN HOBOES GIVEN SETBACK

Soviet Government Takes Drastic Means to End Free Riding on Trains.

MOSCOW, June 25 (C.P.)—Hoboes are most unwelcome on the railways of Soviet Russia. The Communist government is seeking to abolish railroad hooliganism.

Damage to tracks and railway cars by hoboes, reported from many portions of the country, has moved the council of the People's Commissar and the central committee of the Communist party to issue an order to imprison for six months all persons caught stealing rides on trains.

Vagrants who deliberately damage property may be imprisoned for three years.

All persons not employed by railways are forbidden to live on railway property, and Communist railway workers have been enjoined to inaugurate a wide propaganda campaign among transport employes to protect passengers and guard state transportation against sabotage and disruption.

Both official Russian newspapers, "Pravda" and "Izvestia," published leading articles emphasizing the necessity for a general rally of law-abiding citizens against elements which have contributed to railway accidents and are said to be impairing transportation so vital to the public interest.

"Pravda" enumerated many cases where discharged and drunken employes have caused damages to tracks and rolling stock, and pointed out that a new order providing stricter penalties against hooligans and inaugurating a general campaign of education should result in great benefit to national economy.

He's No. 1, Ranking U.S. Strike-Breaker

P. L. Bergoff

Red-headed and pugnacious, P. L. Bergoff of New York is proud of his record as No. 1 ranking U.S strike-breaker. He is standing by now waiting for the steel workers to call their strike, then he will rush out with thousands of men and guns, and attempt to break it up. He boasts of the fact that he has broken up more than 1,000 strikes, but he admits that a steel strike would be tough and bloody. He claims to be able to muster and "army" of 10,000 strike-breakers overnight and says that if industries will pay him enough he will break up their strike. He acknowledges, also, several personal bodily attacks. It is likely that he will be called to fight the threatened steel strike.

EARLY GAINS ARE FORFEITED

Weak Spots Appear in Food, Bank, Utility and Construction Shares.

MORE ACTION IN P.M.

TORONTO, June 25 (CP)—Trading picked up a little in the afternoon session of the industrial section, Toronto Stock Exchange, but prices failed to show improvement and the market closed with recessions in the majority. Early gains in the distillery group were forfeited. Other weak groups included food, bank, utility and construction shares.

Under the influence of a short tone on the New York market, interlisted shares continued mildly weak throughout the day. Nickel sagged 25 to $2; Ford a fraction, and Smelters a half point. C.P.R. held to the upside in small turnover. The oils took losses in Imperial and Supertest ordinary, while in the banks Nova Scotia and Royal were down 4 each and Imperial was up 2.

LEEMING AND LEEMING

Phones 2786—2787

NEW YORK, June 25—Last weeks market started with a great deal of promise, but the promises were not performed. Many were of the opinion that the adjournment of Congress would be immediately reflected in higher stock prices. Just the opposite was true. Disappointment over the turn of events undoubtedly caused a large part of the selling witnessed last week but the ensuing reaction was held within technical limits. Like an orchestra tuning up, this market may fiddle around a few days before it begins to do it's stuff. It is quite certain that whenever a sustained trend does develop it will be on the up side.

Broker's' Opinions.

W. J. Woolman & Co.—We feel purchases made around present levels for a long pull should prove profitable.

Cassel & Co.—With its internal condition strengthened considerably, we think the market is close to an at least temporary reversal. We would, therefore, buy stocks for a turn.

Pearl & Co.—We think that it would be well to delay purchases until there are more definite indications that the re-action has run its course.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 25 (C.P.) — Prices slumped badly on cattle, hogs and lambs on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon, while calves were weaker and sheep steady on the few sales made. All trades of cattle were selling 25 cents lower, hogs were down 15 cents, and lambs had dropped fully 50 cents.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Live Stock Branch were:

Cattle 4 530, calves 680, hogs 1 580, sheep and lambs 2 570

A few medium to good weighty steers ranged from $4.50 to $5.25, while choice butcher cattle brought $4.75 to $5.00. Common butchers sold down to $3.50. Good butcher cows made $3.25 to $3.50, while bulls sold slowly at around $3.00. Choice fed calves brought $5.75 to $6.00.

The calf market after a strong opening became draggy and sales dropped to $5.50 for tops. The bulk of the supply went from $3.00 to $5.00. Hogs settled 15 cents lower at $8.40 f.o.b for bacons, $8.75 off truck, and $9.15 off car.

CHEAPER GOLDS SHOW ACTIVITY

Base Metal, Silver Shares and Big Gold Issues in Small Demand.

FEW SALES IN LEADERS.

TORONTO, June 25 (CP)—Half a dozen of the cheaper gold shares were under accumulation of the Mining section of the Toronto Exchange, and these made up in volume for the sluggishness of the general market. Base metal and silver shares were almost out of the picture, the leaders in each group showing only a few sales and the big gold issues, with exception of Hollinger and Teck Hughes were avoided.

Heavy buying developed in Authier and that issue picked up 12 cents to 1.62. Turnover was also heavy in God's Lake, Central Patricia, Siscoe, Wayside, and McKenzie Red Lake; these all sold up 3 to 7 cents.

Action in Noranda was missing with the price easing 40 cents to 42.50 and Sherritt and Pend Oreille lost ground.

TRIPLE KILLING BRINGS END TO FAMILY FEUD

Man is Alleged to Have Shot Brother and His Wife.

SUICIDES LATER.

Ill-feeling Grew Over Inheritance in Quebec Village.

ISLE VERT, Que., June 25 (CP) —Charles Drapeau, believed by police to be the killer of his brother, Wilfrid Drapeau, and the latter's wife, died early to-day of bullet-wounds received when he allegedly turned the gun on himself after the murders.

Drapeau was rushed to hospital yesterday when he was found mortally wounded beside the bodies of his brother and his sister-in-law, but efforts of doctors proved futile and he died early to-day.

Meantime police continued efforts to piece together portions of the tragedy. An inquest was to be held to-day. Residents of this little Quebec village, 100 miles below Quebec, stood in excited knots talking over the dual killing as detectives sent here from Quebec City by the Attorney-General went about the business of questioning neighbors trying to piece together the different parts of the tragedy.

Returned Home

Police learned that Charles returned from a stay in the United States yesterday and confronted his brother. Ignoring Wilfrid's outstretched hand, they learned from members of the family he pulled a revolver, pressed it against latter's stomach, and pulled the trigger until the gun was empty. Then, pulling another gun, he went in search of his brother's wife, killing her outright. He also fired a shot at one of the children, but abandoned his efforts to kill any more when his shot went wild, police were informed.

The killer then withdrew to the kitchen and fired a bullet into his own head. Two new revolvers, with all but three of the bullets fired, were found in his possession, police said. A long-standing feud between the two brothers is believed to have resulted in the killings.

Feud Over Inheritance

The fued was said by villagers to have started over an inheritance. There had been ill feeling before Charles left for the United States, they declared.

Alarm was first given by Yvon Lepage, of the Legal Department of the Quebec Liquor Commission, who came upon the body of Wilfrid Drapeau outside his home while motoring by. Investigating, he found the other bodies. He dashed to Riviere Du Loup and gave the alarm.

Chief of Police J. Grandmaison was hurriedly despatched to the scene and Detective M. Roussin of the Provincial Police, left Quebec for here as soon as the Attorney-General had been notified.

POOLS PLAN FOR ACTIVE SEASON

Lower Wheat Acreage Anticipated—Finances of Co-operatives Sound.

WINNIPEG, June 25 (C.P.) — Emphasizing solvency of the individual farmer is of major importance to the economic structure of the Dominion, wheat pools of western Canada to-day whipped their organizations into shape for the 1934 growing year.

Officials of all three prairie pools anticipated a lower wheat acreage this year with the pools' facilities being used to an equal if not greater extent than last year. Finances of the co-operatives were sound, officials declared.

The central offices here issued a summary of the 1932-33 year operations, culled from reports prepared by the individual organizations in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The reports were based on the elevator operations of each pool's elevator company, subsidiary to the pools in general.

The Manitoba Pool Elevators, Ltd., handled a total of 13,816,534 bushels of grain which was 28.3 per cent of all the grain marketed in Manitoba and an increase of approximately three per cent over the previous year, the summary said. After taking care of all expenses, the net operating surplus amounted to $300,834.66, out of which was paid in full the amount due by the pool to the Manitoba government on the 1929 overpayment; the amount due on Manitoba terminal number one and a contribution to the working capital in excess of $55,000.

Saskatchewan Pool Elevators, Ltd., had net operating earnings of $2,797,387.09 and last year paid in full the final payment on the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator system which it purchased shortly after the Saskatchewan pool was formed. It also paid the principal and interest in full to date from the 1929 overpayment and purchased and paid in cash for 15 elevators and four cottages from the United Grain Growers for $110,000.

After making full allowance for depreciation on country and terminal elevators, liabilities of the Saskatchewan Pool Elevators were reduced by $2,417,954.32. Handlings from country elevators and over the loading platforms were 91,370,045 bushels, which was 43 per cent of all grain marketed in Saskatchewan and an increase of over three per cent over the previous year.

Total net receipts of the Alberta Pool Elevator system amounted to 48,390,660 bushels, compared with total handlings of 41,591,781 in the previous season. Net operating earnings of the elevator system amounted to $997,948.68 out of which pool indebtedness to the Alberta government on the 1929 overpayment was met in full and full depreciation on all their properties, totalling over $500,000 set aside, leaving $179,054.64 carried forward as reserve.

ESKIMOS ARE SLOWLY DISAPPEARING, STEPS ARE BEING TAKEN TO PRESERVE THE RACE

Major D. L. McKeand Devises "Card Index" System

...With the Eskimo, the only human species that can live in the great Arctic country that lies north of Canada, fast disappearing, the Dominion Government is taking steps to preserve the race by a new system of card indexing. There are not more than 7,500 Eskimos left in the north. The layout shows a typical Eskimo family and a scene from the snowy wastes. At right, is Major D. L. McKeand, who is indexing the natives.

(Central Press Canadian.)

OTTAWA, June 25 — Card indexing the Eskimos who live in the Canadian Arctic, is the latest step taken by the Canadian Government to save the Eskimos from extinction. Statistics compiled show that the Eskimo is growing less numerous. In 1927 there were 7,103 Eskimos. To-day there are 6,000. Government investigators have reported time after time that the Eskimo is essential to the development of the Arctic. So Canada is studying how its most northern citizens may be saved from becoming merely a memory.

Financial interests are putting millions of dollars in the development of the most northern part of this continent. The fur and mineral industries are anually moving farther north. Once the Arctic coastline of the mainland was thought to be the furthest north that commercial exploration could be carried. But the airplane has changed this. Now the islands to the north are considered commercially of value. And so the Eskimo comes into the picture, for he is the only race known to be able to withstand the extremes of the Arctic climate. His survival through generations in the Arctic has shown that he will be a vital link in the exploitation of the far north.

The card index, which is nearly complete for all the Eskimos living north of the Arctic circle, not only identifies each one by name, tribe, and fingerprints, but goes farther, and describes what each Eskimo is most proficient in. One may have had experience in a fur post, another may have been guide to a party of aerial prospectors, a third may be an exceptionally skilful hunter. All this information is tabulated, so that if some special work is going on, the Government agents can quickly locate Eskimos best suitable to take part in that work.

Eskimo Is Civilized.

To-day's Eskimo is a different Eskimo from that of twenty years ago. Then the white man was a novelty, and whalers were about the only white men he knew. To-day the Eskimo is a fur hunter and trapper, some are even fur traders operating stores in competition to the great fur companies and independent white traders. To-day the Eskimo is wealthy in material goods and many natives own motor-driven schooners, radios, phonographs, sewing machines, even electric light installations. The wealthier have gone in for frame houses, though snow houses in winter and skin tents in summer still serve most of the natives.

These adaptations of the white man are encouraged by the government up to a point. Where our customs will do harm to the Eskimos, they are told the harmful effects. Store clothing, underwear, canned foods, and similar importations are not encouraged, as they have already been the cause of a great deal of sickness with which the natives were never bothered when they ate their fish and meat diets and wore fur clothing. Doctors and nurses located throughout the northland are aiding in keeping the Eskimos healthy.

Are Quick to Learn.

Trades are being taught the Eskimo, who is a handy type, and quick to learn. There are schools in some sections of the northland, and the wealthier of the Eskimos send their sons south to the white man's school so that the coming generations will be able to cope better with the white man. The Eskimos have become great business men, have learned the value of their furs and their services, and the day when a pen-knife would buy a bale of furs is long past.

No records are available to show what the Eskimo population was before 1927. The big drop is accounted for largely by epidemics of influenza ,said to be the results of the early contact of the Eskimo with the white man. Now that the Canadian Government has been teaching the natives what to adapt of the white man's civilization, and what to leave alone for health sake, it is expected that there will be an increase in the Eskimo population in the next ten years, and that the Eskimo will not, like other native races vanish from the northland, but will play a leading role in the building of cities and towns, mines and fishery stations, in the Arctic which the airplane has brought so close to the rest of the continent.

HOME NEWS HOT FOR CHINATOWN IN OWN TONGUE

Chinese in Canada Keenly Interested in Politics in Their Country.

SERVED UP BY DAILIES

By GUY E. RHOADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 25 (C.P.)—Behind the shop fronts of Chinatowns, in the backrooms of laundries and the kitchens of restaurants Canada's Chinese retain a lively interest in the politics of their homeland. In eastern Canada their opinions and interest are kept alive by two daily newspapers, both published here.

Two old buildings in Toronto's Chinatown house the brains and machinery that turn out papers to feed the Chinese appetite for news of the land across the Pacific. The papers have been running pretty well on a shoestring during the depression, but journalists of the Chinese quarter look for the business upturn to lift them out of the doldrums.

More prosperous at the moment than its rival is Shing Wa Po, organ of the Kuo Ming Tang or Chinese Nationalist Party of Canada. In the eastern headquarters of the party 20 men work on an eight-page daily that gives its members up-to-date news of China and the doings of Chinese in other parts of Canada.

Less than half a block away the rival paper, The Chinese Times, goes to press under a second-floor restaurant where the food is Chinese and tasty. The Times is the organ of the Chinese Free Masons and the Constitutionalists. The Times is against China's nationalist government.

The depression hit both papers. Shing Wa Po dropped in size from 10 to eight pages and the Times from eight to six. Falling revenue from advertising forced this move. Salaries and wages dropped, too. Ernest C. Mark, former president of the Shing Wa Po, says no purpose would be served in revealing the figures because it would be impossible to compare them with those of other Canadian newspapers.

Circulation of Shing Wa Po is about 3,000 while that of the Times is less, around 2,500. Chinese newspapers cost five cents a copy or $10 a year by subscription and each copy serves a considerable household.

Getting out a Chinese daily would probably drive the average English or French speaking publisher to an insane asylum in very short order. Toronto's Chinese papers employ two or three editors and about the same number of reporters, some on part time work. The reporters dig up neighborhood news. The editors handle a mass of translation from papers in English, despatches from correspondents at numerous points and news from China, most of it via Hong Kong and San Francisco.

That part is all right, but to a man accustomed to a 26-letter alphabet type-setting on a Chinese paper looks like a strenuous athletic competition. The average Chinese paper in this country uses a font of between 4,000 and 5,000 different characters. The Times uses about 10 men to handset six pages. The paper's composing room centres around a rack about six feet long, shaped like a wedge tent and containing the "boxes" that hold the type. Up and down the rack and around it the printers race, selecting the type they want.

Each man has to remember the whereabouts on the rack of each set of characters. A man may cover the whole rack several times setting a brief item. Most of the typesetters are young men whose legs appear to be in fine shape.

Food consumed by animals of the London Zoo in the last 12 months cost $56,000.

Five Candidates To Run For Presidency Of Mexico

Here are the five candidates in the race for the presidency of Mexico in the national elections scheduled to take place July 1, throughout the republic—General Lazaro Cardenas, National Revolutionary party; Col. Adalberto Tejeda, Leftist Socialist party; Roman Badillo, Social Anti-Continuist party; General Antonio Villareal, Revolutionary Confederation of Independent parties, and Herman Laborde, Workers and Peasants bloc. The election is for a six-year term with no opportunity at re-election owing to the recent constitutional amendment which abolished the practice.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

scene that can be imagined. From the point of reality it was a big zero.

Men, women and children in scarlet robes, in cinabre tunics, in gowns that ran all shades of blue and green, turquois, violet, mauve, orange, amber and pearly-rose, move about in stately decorum, solemnly welcoming Jesus. A real oriental crowd would have been equally picturesque, but dirty, unkempt, ragged, hilarious, tempestuous, even raucous, elbowing each other, throwing up clouds of dust and a good deal less sanctimonious. This Oberammergau play is a motion picture of pious church paintings.

Jews Shown as Culprits

Each scene in the Passion is preceded by a tableau. The tableaux are intended to show the prophetic link between Old and New Testament writings. For instance before Judas Iscariot visits the council of the high priests to make a deal for the betrayal of Christ, we were shown an Old Testament scene of Joseph being sold by his brothers to a caravan of slave-merchants. Hans Zwinck, the actor who portrayed "Judas," had great difficulty with his role, for having a handsome face by nature, and being a gentle and sympathetic man, it was not easy for him to transform himself into a scowling, sneaking, avaricous scoundrel.

Melchior Breitsamter as Pontius Pilate was magnificent. He had the calm dignity of a Roman procurator in the presence of a seething mob of despised plebeian foreigners Good care had been taken to bring home to the spectators that Pilate really was unwilling to condemn Jesus. That was no doubt a piece of anti-Semitic propaganda ordered by Berlin. The Jews certainly emerge from this play as the chief culprits in the drama.

Yet, if you could for a moment in your imagination strip the scene from its theatrical trappings, the too elaborate costumery, the rhythmic chanting of hidden choirs and all that, there were some moments of intense interest. For instance ,the dolorous walk of Jesus through Jerusalem on the way to Calvary came very near being a piece of stark realism. The gown of spotless white was now splotched with crimson stains. The "Christ" was deadly pale. He staggered and the more he staggered and panted for breath, the more sadistically cruel did the accompanying mob yell and howl in derision and blood-lust.

Spectators Silent

Then as the crowd stood on Golgotha and you heard the beating of hammers off stage and the piercing screams of the victims being nailed to the cross, a shudder passed through the audience, a shudder of pain and indignation. I wondered how many of the Germans in that vast crowd thought in that moment of the thousands of victims of the Nazi terror in the concentration-camps, where torture is not make-belief.

The spectacle of the public is as curious as that of the amateur artists. The crowd observes a religious silence throughout the performance which lasts from eight in the morning till seven at night. It is an oppressive, almost morbid silence. To me this silence revealed a collective frame of mind which is peculiarly German, the mass-mind with one thought. I dare say you find it nowhere else on earth. It is easily understood why the national-socialist authorities have encouraged an elaborate celebration in connection with the tercentenary of the Passion Play this year and have invited foreign journalists to come and see this show. Here, at least, for a few hours, the rich Wuertembergers and the Alpine peasants forget their difference in casts, class and education. They seek oblivion in a common ideal.

Scrupulously Correct

To the pious soul the Passion play must be a soothing gratification. Everything happens as it is written in the New Testament. The smallest detail is scrupulously observed. Judas twice counts the blood money letting the coins drop from one hand into the other. I can assure you there were fully thirty pieces of silver, and not twenty-nine.

During the three days I stayed here I stopped at a little hotel kept by King Herod. Papini called Herod "the foulest monster ever spewed forth by the Syrian desert" or words to that effect, but my Herod was a gentle old man, who pushed half a pound of tobacco in the porcelain bowl of his pipe and sent up clouds of blue smoke into the evening air, seated on the porch of the inn. Every half hour or so he took a hugt swig of beer out of a stein that contained a quart when he started and not a drop when he got through. They're hefty trenchermen, the old boys of Oberammergau, but pious withal. Instead of bting the executioner of innocent children, my Herod, I learned, was the friend of all the youngsters of Oberammergau, who come to him on winter evenings to hear him tell stories. On the stage to-day, minus his pipe, of course, I scarcely recognized him in his coat of royal ermine and with a voice that cut like daggers, ordering the death of all the male children under two years in Bethlehem.

Oberammergau is to be taken in the spirit of the play's creators. To the villagers the presentation is an act of faith. They conform to a primitive text drawn up three hundred years ago. It is not a play in the ordinary sense, but a manifestation of religious fervor. The tiniest tots in the village seem to have the consciousness of being part of the great ensemble. The play is the sense of their lives, not only when the actual presentations are being given, but in the intervening years as well. Much of the stormy currents of life pass by Oberammergau, isolated in its lonely mountain valley. Here people live for one thing only, to carry out a vow, to show with their lives the reverence they have for the person of Christ.

SCOT DENIES FARE RECEIVED FROM LEGACY

HALIFAX, June 25, (CP)— Peter Duncan turned up in Halifax Friday with a well-founded denial of the report that he was stranded in Scotland without money after travelling to the Old Counry to receive a legacy under his mother's will.

"It doesn't look as though I was stranded," said the erstwhile fish and chips dispenser in a Halifax restaurant as he stepped ashore from the liner Newfoundland. Though Scotland is his native land, he had come back to make his home in Halifax.

"I had a good time over there" he said, "and I could have stayed longer. I'm going back some time soon."

He was reluctant to talk about the bequest that caused him to give up his job here three weeks ago. It was reported as between $25,000 and $125,000. "Of course," he said, "there was not that much money. But there'll be some a little later."

LEAD TENNIS MATCH

WIMBLEDON, June 25.—(C.P.-AP)—Jack Crawford, 'Bunny' Austin and Long Frank Shields led a triumphant march of favorites through the first round of the all-England tennis championships today.

Crawford, Australian ace who is defending the men's' title, was pressed somewhat to eliminate the hard-stroking Pole, Ignacy Tloczynski, 6-2, 7-5, 8-6. Austin scored an easy win for the British Davis Cup forces by downing Mohammed Sleem of India, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

MACHINE GUN UNIT IS HOME

Most Successful Camp Held at Connaught Ranges by Machine Gunners.

TWO BATTALIONS.

Justly proud of the good showing they made in comparison with the two other companies of the unit, and with the Western Ontario battalion with which they were in training, the local company of the 4th Canadian Machine Gun Battalion, under command of Major James Turnbull, returned to the city from Connaught Ranges Camp yesterday.

The entire battalion, comprising Peterborough, Ottawa, and Kingston companies under the command of Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Dewart, M.C., carried out a successful program of intensive training at Connaught Ranges, which included comprehensive tactical schemes, night firing and indirect firing. In the course of the daily tactical schemes the members of the unit undertook daily route marches averaging ten miles. Generally the health of all ranks was good.

As O.C. battalion Colonel Dewart had two members of the local company on headquarters. They were Lieut. Ralph Honey, adjutant, and R.S.M. W. Piercy.

The local company comprised a strength of twenty-six all ranks. Officers of the company at camp included Major Turnbull, and Lieuts S. M. Ward, L. C. Gliders, H. J. Morley and R. L. Davidson.

The 2nd Machine Gun Battalion from London was under command of Lieut.-Colonel M. Dillon, M.C., who is incidentally an old wartime comrade of Colonel Dewart.

It is interesting to note that besides the Cardin-Lloyd armoured cars (commonly known as "baby tanks" since their introduction into the Stratford strike area) which were used by the unit at Connaught, the local company commander also had the use of a baby Austin motor car. The Austin, it is stated was used as a reconnaissance car, and was lifted over ditches with ease by four men, enabling it to traverse fields and open stretches of broken country.

FORMER LINDSAY RESIDENT PASSES

Robert M. Fee Associated for Many Years in Lumbering Business.

LINDSAY, June 25 (Special to The Examiner).—The sudden death took place at Toronto on Saturday night of a former well-known resident of Lindsay in the person of Rbert M. Fee. The deceased was born in this town of pioneer residents, and for a number of years was associated with the lumbering business under the firm name of Sadler & Fee. For the past number of years he has been connected with a prominent provincial lumbering firm. He was for years Secretary of the Victoria County Liberal Association and was also a member of the I. O.F. He is survived by his wife, and two brothers, William Fee, C.N.R. master mechanic, and J. Fee, manager of the C.D.S. both of Lindsay.

Mrs. Alice Murtha, sister of Mrs. Peter Milloy of Peterborough, and a former resident of Lindsay, passed away in Toronto, on Saturday. The deceased was born in this section and is survived by two sons and two daughters.

The death is recorded at New Rochelle, New York, of a former resident of Peterborough and Lindsay, in the person of Grace Kemp, beloved wife of E. P. Hungerford. The deceased was born in Lindsay and was a daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. William Kemp. Her mother was for a number of years organist and choir leader of St. Mary's Church. During the family's residence in Peterborough they occupied a home at the corner of George and Murray streets.

The week's services in honor of the Sacred Heart at St. Mary's Church, at which a number of Peterborough clergy assisted, came to a close Sunday night, the sermon being preached by Rev. Father McAuley of Peterborough. Those who delivered sermons during the week were Dean O'Sullivan of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Peterborough; Rev. John O'Brien, Church of the Sacred Heart; Rev. Father Carroll and Rev. Father Corkery, St. Peter's Cathedral.

George Bell, the fourteen-year-old son of Mrs. J. Bell and the late Professor Bell, of Toronto, had a narrow escape from drowning at Fenelon Falls during the week-end. The lad attempted to swim to a pier at the C.N.R. railway bridge when he sank from view. Cecil Deyman of the village, after diving into the lake, brought the body to the surface. Bell was unconscious for half an hour.

CABINET SLATE WILL BE READY ON WEDNESDAY

Deputy ministers who took partisan views will go.

There will be a one-man Hydro commission with a non-portfolio position.

The Liquor Control Board and general manager will be replaced by another minister without portfolio.

"Gaby and Maguire" — both of Hydro—"they're as good as gone."

No consideration has been given by the premier-elect to the speakership of the Legislature, including the candidature of W. E. N. Sinclair, former Liberal leader.

The incoming premier will "keep my promise to cut down administration costs 50 per cent."

There will be a public sale of ex-cabinet ministers' automobiles. "And Finlayson's (Minister of Lands and Forests) mahogany yacht will be included."

Reduce Salaries

Salaries for cabinet ministers under the new regime will be reduced but no definite amount has been set.

There may be a conversion of Ontario's bonded indebtedness to a lowered interest rate. "You may depend on this—the debt will be pegged as we promised."

Movie Censors

Mr. Hepburn would like to see one board of movie censors for Canada, not one for each province. Efforts will be made to eliminate over-lapping, for instance in Agricultural services, between Ontario and the Dominion.

The Ontario Liberal Leader came to Ottawa to see his Federal leader, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and get his "kindly advice" on such matters as Cabinet making.

"You know," said Mr. Hepburn, his face breaking into a grin at the roomful of newspapermen, "I am young and naturally impulsive and I want somebody to put the brakes on." He will see Mr. King later in the day and also Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor.

The meeting in Toronto next Wednesday will be between himself, the three men definitely in the Cabinet, "and some others," but he will not announce the full slate until Premier Henry is ready to get out.

"We will restore responsible government in Canada," said the incoming Premier, referring to his decision to abolish boards and commission. The Compensation Board, for instance, will be abolished and the work done by one man acting directly under the Minister and Deputy Minister of Labor. This will bring the work directly under the government, "because, like Mackenzie King, I believe in the authority of parliament."

The decision to hold the special session of the Legislature will depend upon Premier Bennett keeping his promise to abolish direct relief payments, Mr. Hepburn said. "I am taking his decision as final," he added.

"I am not free to discuss the Cabinet. Mr. Henry is still in power," parried Mr. Hepburn when asked if any Federal members would be drafted.

"We will open the boks of every department and let the people know what has been going on," continued Mr. Hepburn, switching to the investigations he has in mind. The first will be the toll-gate system relating to the Liquor Commission, "which will be wide open and conducted by Arthur Slaght (Toronto lawyer), who will act without fee in comparison to the $1,000 a day paid to Mr. Tilley.

Thinks Bruce Will Retire.

Only a brief reference was made by Mr. Hepburn to the Ontario Lieutenant-Governor. A few days ago he expressed hope Dr. Bruce would resign, and to-day he went a step further when he said: "I think he will retire." Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice, would perform the duties.

"There is nothing personal in this you know", continued Mr. Hepburn. "I have the highest personal admiration for the Lieutenant-Governor but I have more sympathy for the man struggling to keep his head above water."

When asked if it were not true there could be no administrator when there was no Lieutenant-Governor, he replied, "there may be technicalities but it is usually possible to get around them."

Every appointment made during the last year of office of the Henry government will be reviewed and most of the appointees fired, said Mr. Hepburn. He gave one example, a former Conservative member for Rainy River who was made a registrar—"He is out and there will be others."

"Will your government be efficient before it is partisan," asked a newspaperman.

"One must surround himself with friends," replied the incoming premier. "Drury had traitors around every corner. You may depend upon this: The government will be efficient but naturally I will appoint Liberals and no Tories."

MERIDIAN, Miss. — The "Ole Miss," single-motored monoplane of the endurance fliers Al and Fred Key, still droned overhead today as the brothers continued their record attempt to break the present record of 23 days alof.

The flyers took off at 7.59 last Thursday night from the Municipal airport. The motor last was reported as functioning perfectly.

Countless Blooms Decorate Graves

Men, Women and Children Go To Little Lake Cemetery With Thousands Of Bouquets To Honor Memories Of Their Departed Loved Ones.

REV. DR. A. T. BARR DELIVERS ADDRESS AT ODDFELLOWS' DECORATION SERVICE.

Countless blooms smiled in the June sunshine as Peterborough people decorated the graves of their departed friends and loved ones at Little Lake cemetery yesterday. The humble daisy, Canterbury Bells and Sweet William, and the more aristocratic roses, lilies and peonies—all were to be found in the profusion of floral tokens. But all expressed one sentiment of remembrance and tribute.

With the exception of the graves of returned soldiers which are to be visited on the occasion of the Canadian Legion's annual parade, few of the resting places were missed during the mass pilgrimage. Men, women and children commenced pouring into the cemetery by the hundreds as early as Saturday afternoon and the visits continued until nightfall Sunday.

More than 200 took part in the organized parade of the Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges of the Oddfellows to Little Lake Cemetery yesterday afternoon. Led by the Salvation Army Band and directed by the parade Marshal, Alderman Robert Cotton, the lodgemen proceeded from their temple at the corner of Hunter and George Street, down George, shortly after two o'clock. Many older members followed in automobiles.

Visit 264 Graves.

In the open space before the Cemetery chapel, they gathered for the traditional Oddfellows' remembrance service. Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church gave a short address, while James Price, Past District Deputy Grand Master, acting as chaplain, read the Oddfellows' ritual. Following the service, the men broke up into a number of groups, and, each man carrying a sheaf of blooms, attended to the decoration of the graves. At each graveside a verse from the Oddfellows' book of the Decoration Day service was read. In all, 264 graves were attended.

Dr. Barr, in the course of his address, compared life to a story that is told. The characters of life are introduced to existence much as the characters of a story may be brought into their fictitious existence, he said. In each case the characters travel over a stormy course of ups and downs, but the difference lies in the fact that the lives of the characters of the story are complete when the story ends, while death does not complete the lives of characters in real life. As a human is laid in his resting place under the ground, two chapters of his story have yet to be written, Dr. Barr said.

The first of these two chapters must deal with the individual's continued existence in the memories of succeeding generations, he continued. It is on days such as Decoration Day that these memories are most vividly recalled. Incidents of friendship and fellowship which made the lives of these departed ones worth while are remembered. Particularly are they remembered by Oddfellows in decorating graves of their dead brethren for the Order of Oddfellows is based on the principles of friendship, love and truth, he said.

Virtues of Dead.

Dr. Barr said the second of the two final chapters is not written on earthly tablets of men but in the memory of the Great Recorder, God. The same principles by which men have lived worth-while lives are the guarantees of life hereafter, he said. He appealed to the members of the gathering to decorate their own lives with the virtues they had recalled in connection with their dead.

Acting for the Golden Link Rebecca Lodge, the Oddfellows placed flowers at the graves of seventeen sisters of the Order who have passed on. Leaders of nine different groups which carried out the decoration ceremonies were Brothers Dick Ford, R. J. Martin, George Gillespie, Harry Campbell, George Worboy, Ted Hotson, Harry Goodwin of Orillia, George East and Nelson King.

County Cricket

LONDON, June 25 (C.P. Cable).—Kent defeated Lancashire by seven wickets in a first-class county cricket match, concluding to-day at Manchester. The scores: Lancashire, 174 and 129 (Lewis, seven for 73 and five for 44, Todd four for 10); Kent, 212 and 93 for three (Hopwood four for 42).

Closing scores in other matches that finish to-morrow follow:

Surrey, 483 (Sandham 123, Whitfield 114, Berry 72); Oxford 305 and following on, 2 for no wickets (Mitchell-Innes 171, Gover four for 94), at the Oval.

Hampshire, 305 and 124 for five (Arnold 127 and 77); Essex, 301 (Cutmore 104, Kennedy seven for 73), at Chelmsford.

Derbyshire, 238 and 124 for two (Alderman 115, Townsend 53 not out); Northamptonshire 177 (Mitchell six for 73, at Derby.

TORY MAJORITY IN THE SENATE FOR 25 YEARS

So Declares Hon. Charles Stewart While Discussing Franchise Bill.

NAMING ENUMERATORS.

Liberals Protest Senate Having Anything to do With Franchise Commissioner.

OTTAWA, June 25 (C.P.)—Substantial progress was made by the special House of Commons committee in its examination of the new Franchise Act to-day. A few of the clauses were held over for amendment, but in general the proceedings of the committee were harmonious.

The incidence of there being over 60 new constituencits, carved by the redistribution bill of last year out of the old ridings, presented some difficulties when the matter of enumerators and the issuance of voters' lists came under review. This bill provides for one enumeration only, to be begun when the proposed act is proclaimed. Thereafter, the basic list so treated will be amended by revising officers.

In urban ridings two enumerators will be named, one from the party represented by the present sitting member and the other from the party of the "runner-up" at the last election. The difficulty was to determine who would appoint such enumerators in those cities where parties other than the two major parties were "runners-up."

Clause Allowed to Stand

Where the conflicts were between straight Conservative and Liberal candidates, the problem was easy for, according to Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, who was chairman of the committee, such appointment could be made by the Prime Minister on the one hand, and the opposition leader on the other. These positions were recognized by statute. Where, however, representatives of any of the other groups were "runners-up" the difficulty was considerable, for the statutes did not recognize them in any way. The clause dealing with this matter was allowed to stand for re-drafting in order to give due weight to the claims of the Labor and C.C.F. groups.

The clause dealing with the issuance of voters' lists to candidates interested also presented some difficulty particularly in respect of the new constituencies. However, the committee decided that these would be sent to the candidates at the last election who contested those portions of the new ridings in the constituency as it existed before the redistribution.

Clause Approved

The committee debated the clause which provided for the appointment and dismissal of the Franchise Commissioner. Under the bill as drafted, he would be appointed by a resolution of the House of Commons, but his dismissal would be on an act of impeachment, which requires approval of the Senate. Hon. Ernest Lapointe (Lib., Quebec East), and Hon. Charles Stewart (Lib., Edmonton West), protested against the Senate having anything to do with the Franchise Commissioner.

The Senate would have a Conservative majority for the next 25 years, said Mr. Stewart. This meant that if the Liberals came into power at the next election they would be powerless to deal with him. After a short discussion the clause was approved.

FAREWELL SERVICES

Special farewell services are being conducted at the local Salvation Army Temple this evening for Major and Mrs. Joseph Woolcott, who leave tomorrow to take charge of the corps at Orillia.

Their successors in charge of the local corps are Adjutant and Mrs. Neil Warrander, who are expected to arrive here on Thursday of this week from Windsor. They will be tendered a welcome by all sections of the local corps on Friday.

FALSE ALARM.

The jangling of the burglar alarm system connected into the police station from William Lech and Sons, Ltd., store on George Street brought police patrols out at the double Sunday afternoon. Simultaneously the alarm bell outside the store set up a violent ringing.

With the arrival of Cyril Lech at the store, police officers, retaining a cautious grip on the butts of their revolvers, entered the premises to find the cause of the alarm. They found it on the top floor of the building in a skylight, which having blown open in the wind, had closed the circuit in the alarm and caused it to go off.

SUFFER BROKEN RIBS

Victim of an unusual accident in which he sustained a broken rib just below his heart, Herbert J. McCannan was at his office this morning still feeling the effects of the blow.

He was coming away from H. E. Tillcock's residence on Bolivar street Friday noon, when a cyclist named Dunn of 567 Bolivar street, riding his wheel on the sidewalk struck Mr. McCannan with the handlebars in passing him. The latter was struck to the sidewalk suffering a broken rib.

EXECUTIVE MEETING

The date of the annual convention of the Central Ontario Liberal Association is tentatively set for August 1 at Lindsay where the executive is meeting tonight. J. J. Duffus and Vincent Eastwood will attend from Peterborough. It is expected that Mackenzie King and Mitchell Hepburn will speak at the banquet in the evening of the convention.

Weddings

ROGOW—KASLER.

The wedding was solemnized quietly on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Kasler, of Toronto, of their daughter, Marjorie, and Dr. Alex A. Rogow of the staff of the Toronto General Hospital, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Rogow, of George street, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Gordon in the presence of about thirty guests.

The bride was attired in white lace, with a train. Her white hat was veiled with lace which covered her face and fell to the shoulders. Her slippers, hose and gloves were white and she wore a corsage bouquet of mauve orchids.

After the ceremony, buffet refreshments were served from a flower-adorned table.

Dr. and Mrs. Rogow left later by motor for a trip to Atlantic City, the bride travelling in an ensemble of yellow wool lace trimmed with yellow and brown angora wool, a large yellow hat trimmed with brown and brown accessories.

On their return, they will live in Toronto.

Obituary

ROY CAVANAGH.

Seized unexpectedly with a heart attack last Friday, Roy Cavanagh, 617 George Street, succumbed in St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday evening. He was 47 years of age.

Mr. Cavanagh was the last surviving member of his branch of the Cavanagh family. Son of the late Timothy (Ted) Cavanagh, who opened the old Balmoral Hotel and later operated the Cavanagh House on Simcoe Street, he spent most of his life in this city. He is survived by one daughter, Marion, and a son, Harold, both at home.

The funeral will proceed from the Funeral Home of Lane and Eano to St. Peter's Cathedral and St. Peter's Cemetery to-morrow (Tuesday) morning at 8.45 o'clock.

Cotton Leads Pack British Golf Open

SANDWICH, Eng., June 2.—(CP-AP)—Hopes that the British open golf crown would be returned to its native heath went soaring to-day when Henry Cotton shot a bristling, par-shattering 66 to set the place in the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round for the championship. The title-tourney proper begins Wednesday over the Royal St. Georges course.

The "Big Four" of the United States, including Denny Shute of Philadelphia, the defending title-holder, found the greens fast and tricky and as a consequence were no less than nine shots behind the sensational Cotton, an English pro of note despite his youth.

Gene Sarazen, champion in 1932 and betting odds favorite, Joe Kirkwood, trick shot Australian who holds the Canadian open title, and MacDonald Smith, the veteran Scottish resident of the United States, posted 75's, while Shute was still further back with a 76.

PLEASING PROGRAM AT PIANO RECITAL

Pupils of Mrs. Olive M. Searles Present Numbers in Conservatory Hall.

An enjoyable program by piano pupils of Mrs. Olive M. Searles, A.T.C.M. was presented in the Art Rooms of the Conservatory of Music on Friday evening. Decorations were carried out with peonies and lighted floor lamps and there was a large attendance of appreciative listeners for a very fine program which was entirely memorized and exhibited careful technical training on the part of the teacher and a great deal of interest by the pupils, who displayed a high degree of expressive rendition in each of the selections.

Mrs. H. F. Doig, assisting soloist, sang several charmingly rendered numbers. Mrs. Doig was presented with a pretty bouquet of flowers, by Elsie Chambers.

A large bouquet and box of chocolates, the gifts of the Little Musicians Club to their teacher, Mrs. Searles, were presented by Paul Meeks and Clinton Welch.

The program was as follows: "Violet", by Arthur Shadgett; duett, "Turkish March", by Elsie Chambers and Ruth Smith; "Tulip", by Mary Matchett; "Wallflower" and "The Toe Dancers", by Kenneth Hotston; "White Rose" and "Chrysanthemum", by Audrey Doig; "Daisy Chains", by Clinton Welch; "From an Aeroplane" and "Mazurka", by Paul Meeks; "Sonatina," by Jean Meeks; "Romance" and "Elfin Dance," by Aileen Sellon; "Waltz" and "Mill by the Brook," by Ruth Smith; "Harvest Home" and "Dance on the Green", by Margaret Arnold; "Dance of the Bears", by Elsie Chambers; duett, "A Merry House Party", by Paul Meeks and Clinton Welch; "La Hirondelle" and "Will o'The Wisp", by Betty Leggott; "Valse Bluette" and "Wanderer's Return", by Laura Lee; "Sailor Dance", by Jean Meeks; "Valse" and "Gipsy Rondo," by Frances Wells; duett, "A Coquettish Smile", by Margaret Arnold and Aileen Sellon.

Mrs. Doig sang two groups: "Love's Philosophy", "Sunday" (Brahams), and "Brother Sunshine" also "A Song of the Open", "A Birthday", and "A Robin, Little Robin". Readings were given by Aileen Sellon and Paul Meeks.

Champion, Crowned Only Saturday, Dethroned in National U.S. Collegiate Events.

WHOLESALE SHIFTING.

(By Paul Zimmerman, A.P. Sports Writer.)

LOS ANGELES, June 25 (A.P.). — Definite proof that the movie camera is far more accurate than the human eye was given to-day after National Collegiate officials had made a wholesale revision of the placings in the final races of the N.C.A.A. championships on Saturday.

Changes were made in five events from the blanket finish of the 120-yard high hurdles on down to the quarter-mile, dethroning one champion crowned only on Saturday, and shifting the point scores of the teams around with abandon.

First 7 Unchanged.

The standings of the first seven teams were not changed, but George Fisher, Louisiana State high hurdler, was shorn of his title with the crown being shifted to the head of Sam Klopstock, Stanford.

The photographic timing device, tested and certified before and after the meet, probably stole from Glenn Hardin, Louisiana State, his chance for a world's 220-yard low hurdle record. The camera caught him in 23.16 seconds, while the timers gave him a new world's record of 22.7 seconds.

Five changes were made in the 120-yard high barriers after a study of the pictures, which showed that Klopstock won by inches, with the fourth place finisher, Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist, less than a foot and a half behind.

On the basis of the screen tests, Amsden Oliver, Miami, was awarded second; and Fisher third; Allen held his fourth place, and Ned Bacon, Denison, retained fifth, but Lee Haring, Kansas State teachers, moved up to sixth from seventh, and Forrest Wilson, Texas, was dropped to seventh. Incidentally, the camera time was 14.63 seconds as compared to the hand timing of 14.4 seconds.

MILITARY INSPECTION TO BE HELD ON TUESDAY

The annual inspection of the Peterborough Rangers takes place tomorrow, when it is expected that Colonel W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., District Officer Commanding, will be here for the occasion.

Lieut. Colonel G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., officer commanding the unit, in extending an invitation to the general public to witness the inspection which is to be held on the parade ground in front of the Armouries, commencing at eight o'clock, promises that spectators will be treated to something novel, so far as Peterborough is concerned, in the way of ceremonial drill.

The unit is scheduled to leave on Saturday night for the annual outing to Midland. The program of events at Midland includes, a church parade, band concert and boat trip on Sunday, and the trooping of the colors on Monday morning. The unit will return to the city, leaving Midland Monday night.

Veteran Wills Southpaws Petes To "Death," Hold Homesters To Five Safeties—Visitors Bunch Hits In First And Seventh To Cop The Decision.

MATTHEWS LEADS MOTOR CITY NINE AT BAT; BATTEN, BURTON, CALLADINE HIT FOR PETES.

Oshawa Dukes moved into second place over the Petes in the C.O.B.L. standing Saturday by virtue of a 4-0 win at Riverside Park. Over a thousand fans saw the Dukes shut out the Petes in their first appearance here this season, Lefty Wills holding the locals to five scattered hits in a fair sort of ball game.

The home team seemed helpless before the southpaw slants of the veteran Wills, while the visitors bunched hits in the first and seventh to win out besides getting an unearned run in the fifth. Wills only struck out two but he kept the locals' hits spread apart and his teammates gave him fine support. Most of the Petes' attempts to hit ended in soft grounders to the infield or easy flies to the gardeners.

Hits That Count

Bill Calladine hurled good ball on the home slab, giving but eight hits while he fanned five. However three hits came in the first frame, resulting in one run, and three more were notched in the seventh, accounting for two counters. Outside of the fifth inning, his support was good, three errors in this stanza giving Oshawa another run.

Mathews led Oshawa at bat, pounding out two doubles in three times and driving in two runs. Red Hollingsworth also came through with two safeties in five appearances. None of the Petes got more than one safe bingle, Batten, Foley, Burton, Len Hollingsworth and Calladine doing the hitting.

The whole Dukes' infield looked good, Hollingsworth in particular with seven clean chances. Mathews and Hurst in the outfield also got everything that came their way. Batten was the best of the homesters defensively with six clean chances. Ash was good and Calladine handled six out of seven neatly. Konopka redeemed himself on one bad error with a double-play to Ash.

With two out in Oshawa's first, one run was scored when Wallace singled and stole, to tear home on Mathews' double. The latter tried to tally later on Young's single but Foley's throw got him at the plate. Batten singled and Murray walked in the Petes' half but they were left stranded. Elliott singled in the second and was sacrificed but was out trying to steal third. Two walks in the Petes' end came to naught. Both sides went out in order in the third and fourth, and both had big fifth innings. Malott scored for the Dukes, reaching first when Murray missed his roller being sacrified to second and scoring on Konopka's error. Calladine's error and a walk filled the bases but Young flied out.

Petes Fail Again

With one out for the Petes, Calladine singled and moved up on an error that let Konopka on. Batten flied out and Foley was hit by a pitched ball to fill the sacks, but Murray grounded out. Oshawa failed to threaten in the sixth, but with two out in the Petes' side, Burton and Hollingsworth singled, but died on bases. The Dukes got two in the seventh on singles by Wills and Hollingsworth, a sacrifice and Mathews' two-bagger. They did not threaten the rest of the way, nor did the Petes, despite Foley's infield hit with two out in the sevenh.

SMELTERS WIN LEAGUE POINTS FROM LINDSAY

Deloro Gains Decision Against an Unorganized Soccer Eleven.

DELORO 7, LINDSAY 0.

Lindsay were defeated by Deloro by seven goals to nothing on Saturday night in a league engagement in this city, before a good attendance of spectators.

The Smelters trotted out their regular team while Lindsay were minus their new custodian who didn't make an appearance until after the interval.

First Half

Lindsay were more aggressive in the early stages. O'Neill pulling down a terrific drive from the foot of O'Halloran. Bradley transferred the ball to the other end where Brown connected with a first timer. Lindsay went back into the Smelters' territory but finished poorly. Again a solo run on the wing by Stewart terminated in Brown delivering a low grounder out of the reach of the custodian. Harry Lathan who was injured last week, in Lindsay, was playing at inside right and unfortunately was not the usual active player. The Deloro team added another to their total when Brooks broke through the defense. About ten yards out, he drove a rocket drive into the back of the net. Smith scored the fourth counter from a melee in front of goal. Just before the interval, Brooks beat the goalie to make the count stand. Deloro 5, Lindsay 0.

Second Half

On resuming, Lindsay strengthened their eleven by placing two subs on their line-up and their presence made the game more interesting. Keith repeatedly broke away down the wing and crossed into goal where a Deloro head or a foot would clear at the opportune moment. On an individual effort, Brooks registered the sixth goal after Brown had passed the sphere back to him in the goal area. It was only a matter of time until Brown raised the total to seven and the play deteriorated near the finish.

Deloro 7, Lindsay 0.

Deloro — J. O'Neill, goal; T. Cousins and J. Hart, full backs; P. Gray, E. Bradley and J. Sproul, halves; J. G. Hart, S. Smith, G. Brooks, Wm. Brown and G. Stewart, forwards.

Lindsay — R. Rowe, goal; J. Springhall and C. Bacon, full backs; D. Wilson, A. Muir and D. Best, halves; B. Moore, H. Latham, A. O'Halloran, H. Keith and W. Grant, forwards.

Referee—W. Harrington.

TO DECIDE PLAYOFF

LINDSAY, June 25. — The last scheduled game of the Lindsay hardball league will be played at Mount Horeb Tuesday night, which will decide whether Mount Horeb or Orange Crush team will go into the finals with Bonisteels. The finals will be two out of three or three out of five. The standing:

	Won.	Lost.	Tied.
Bonisteels	4	2	0
Orange Crush	3	2	0
Mount Horeb	2	2	1
Regiment	1	4	1

TIGERS KEEP ON TOP.

Cleveland Indians Return to Third Place by Downing Red Sox 6 to 2.

(By The Canadian Press)

While the "grandstand managers" were shaking their heads over Babe Ruth's 21 hitless trips to the platter, the great man stepped up and gathered most of the day's American League headlines by propelling his 11th homer into the bleachers with the bases full to give the Yankees a 5 to 0 victory over Chicago. Charley Ruffin's five-hit flinging was of considerable assistance to the Babe.

The victory couldn't life the Yankees out of second place as Detroit's Tigers handed the Athletics an 8 to 4 shellacking despite Bob Johnson's 22nd circuit swat. Vernon Wilshere, the A's recruit from Indiana University, struck a wild spot in the fifth and the Tigers climbed on him for five runs and the ball game.

Back in Third Place

The Cleveland Indians returned to third place ahead of Boston by downing the Red Sox, 6-2 with a ninth inning rally that gave the former Indian ace, Wes Ferrell, his first defeat of the year. Walter Stewart's five hit hurling enabled Washington to blank the Browns 7 to 0, and finish just half a game out of the first division.

GIANTS DOWN CARDINALS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., A.P. Sports Writer.)

The current "crucial" series between the Giants and the Cardinals to-day offered the third place club of the National League, the Chicago Cubs, the finest sort of opportunity to get into the middle of the race for the lead.

Giants Protect Lead.

The Giants protected their place at the top yesterday when they smashed the Cards down into a 9 to 7 defeat in one decisive inning, but three more games were left on the New York-St. Louis scrap and almost anything could happen. While Bill Terry's team was winning one game the Cubs took two decisions from Brooklyn 5 to 1 and 8 to 0, in an "artificial" double-header, and moved into a virtual tie with St. Louis just three games behind the league leaders.

Some husky stickwork in the fifth inning brought the Gian's their triumph. Trailing 5-3 at the start of that frame after Fred Fitzsimmons had been knocked out, they batted clear around, drove Tex Carleton and Jim Lindsey to cover and scored six runs before Bill Hallahan got them out. Then the veteran relief flingers, Dolf Luque and Hy Bell, got together and protected their lead after St. Louis had scored twice in the fifth.

Pat Malone and Bud Tinning each pitched a seven-hit game for Chicago against the Dodgers and the Cubs backed them up with home runs to win easily. Although Van Mungo fanned 12, Chicagoans in the opener, circuit swats by Don Hurst and Babe Herman were enough to beat him, while Manager Charley Grimm contributed a homer to the second-game scoring.

Firm Grip on Fourth.

Back in fourth place, Pittsburgh's Pirates took a firmer grip on their place by slamming the Phillies down into an 11 to 5 defeat, taking good advantage of the wildness of the Philadelphia hurlers to make up for a hitting deficit. Boston, meanwhile, could get no better than an even break with Cincinnati winning the opener 2-0 behind Flint Rhem, who made his first appearance for Boston, but taking a 10-7 beating in the afterpiece.

Clockmakers Take 5th Straight Win

Westclox girls won their fifth victory of the year in seven starts on Saturday night at Central School Grounds when they took the Maple Leafs by a score of 20 to 9 and displayed their batting power by pasting the ball for 23 safe hits in nine innings.

Mary Hall led the winners in this victory with a masterful exhibition of pitching that sent eight of the Leafs out swinging and at the same time allowed just five singles. Her teammates made nine miscues six of which were bunched in the seventh and ninth frames when the Leafs sent over six of their nine counters. Irene Burnham pitched the entire game for the losers and turned in a nice game. She was hit freely but hurled steady ball and only issued one freepass.

Grace Hawkes on second for the winners and Genevieve Mann on third for the Leafs turned in the best fielding performances while Marie Ferguson made a great running catch in the first for the Clockmakers. Beatrice Curtis, formerly with the Brinton Carpet team made her first appearance on the Westclox lineup and clouted a homer and double. Dot Webb and Grace Hawkes both came through with a homer and two singles for the winners.

Bears Take Double From Syracuse While Albany Defeats Orioles Twice.

(By the Associated Press)

For the first time since May 6, the Albany Senators could take a look at the International League standing today and discover that they had not lost more games than they had won.

It has been a long up-hill climb to the .500 mark for the Senators but they finally made the grade yesterday when they tripped up the Baltimore Orioles in both ends of a double-header.

Their double triumph gave them 33 victories against 33 defeats, extended their winning streak to five games. It was their eighth winning game in their last ten.

Albany won the opener with a four-run rally in the seventh but led all the way in the nightcap. Fred Sington clouted two home runs and a single in the first game while Del Bissonette, veteran Albany first baseman, twice cleared the bases with doubles in the second contest. Bissonette, during the long afternoon, kicked in with three doubles and three singles, drove in seven runs and scored five.

Bears Take Double

Meantime, Newark's Bears, sailing far out in front of the rest of the field, whipped Syracuse twice, 4-2 and 11-0. The Bears got fine pitching in both games—Marvin Duke allowing seven hits in the opener and Walter Brown six in the nightcap—and timely batting as well. Home runs by George Selkirk and Jesse Hill produced the winning runs in the opener. The second battle was "no contest" as the Bears made full use of their 11 hits, including homers by Doc Farrell and Fred Muller.

Wings Split Double Bill

Rochester and Buffalo split a double-bill, the Bisons winning the first, 9-5, and Rochester the second, 9-7. Ollie Tucker's five hits, including a home run and a triple helped the Bisons win the opener with a 20-hit assault. Buffalo led 7-0 after 2½ innings of the nightcap, but Rochester won out with four-run rallies in the last half of the third and fifth innings. Buddy Lewis' pinch double with the bases loaded in the fifth drove in the winning runs.

Royals Blank Leafs

Behind Ray Fritz' three-hit pitching, Montreal won a night game from Toronto, 2-0. Al Hollingsworth and Charley Lucas divided the hurling burden for Toronto and gave up only six hits. The victory enabled the Royals to maintain undisputed possession of fourth place, a game ahead of Albany.

C.G.E. Determined Break Cogs' Streak

C.G.E. and Cogs tangle in tomorrow (Tuesday) night's East Peterborough Baseball League game at six in the Exhibition Grounds in what should be a good intermediate battle. Cogs have gone so far this season without a reverse but C.G.E. have threatened more than once to upset the loop-leading Clubmen. They should be about due to cop a win this time, and will at full strength and ready for a hard fight. Regardless of the score, a good ball game seems likely, and followers of this league should be out in force for a C.G.E.-Cogs' game.

Barry, Armour, McGillen and Hetherington are all available for pitching duties for the Electrics, and it is possible that the former will get the assignment. Russ Kitchen or Lefty Billingsley will start on the mound for Manager Davis' Cogs, with the other ready for a relief role if necessary. Vannest and Masterson are also ready but, having pitched in the last game, will hardly go back so soon. The C.G.E. crew is casting eyes on a playoff berth already and is out to win every game possible from now on, and also to show Cogs that they are not unbeatable. The latter hopes to add another victory to their list for the season tomorrow.

Petherick Team Falls by Wayside in Fast Softball Fixture on Saturday.

MENIE TOPS LOOP.

BURNBRAE, June 25 (Examiner Correspondence)—Manager Chadwick and his West Seymour boys very definitely anounced that they would be right there when the bacon was passed over the counter, Petherick's team in a Saturday evening game. A completely re-organized outfit took the field for this game, only one player being in the same position as at the start of the season. Russell, in the first full game he has pitched gave promise of star hurling form, allowing only seven hits, fanning eleven batters and issuing three walks.

Art Petherirk and Barnum played the best defensive games for the losers, but it was clearly an off night for the most of last year's champions. G. Kerr, their ace hurler was on the injured list and this made a decided difference.

D. Watson counted two runs for Pethericks while G. Petherick, F. Fry and Barnum with two hits each were the only successful batters. McCook hit safely four out of five but failed to score for the winners. Hoard counted three with Chadwick, Holmes, Nicholas and McCulloch getting two each. Nicholas hit for a homer and a three-bagger in four times up.

West Seymour — Russell, p; Holmes, c; McCulloch, 1b; Anderson, 2b; Hoard, 3b; Hooper, ss; Nicholas, lf; Chadwick, cf; McCook, rf.

Pethericks—Ewing, p; A. Petherick, c; Barnum, 1b; Petherick, 2b; L. Watson, 3b; D. Watson, ss; R. Fry, lf; D. Kerr, cf; F. Fry, rf.

WRESTLERS WILL TANGLE TO-NIGHT

Browning to Defend His Part of World's Heavyweight Title Against Londos' Challenge.

NEW YORK, June 25 (C.P.) — With height, weight and youth in his favor, James Orville Browning, the hog rancher from out Verona, Mo., way defends his leg of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship to-night.

Opposing the king of the aeroplane scissors will be Jim Londos, studious and handsome Greek, who is more than four inches shorter than Browning, about 20 pounds lighter and at least nine years older.

Browning rules the favorite in what little betting there is. The experts believe the bounger and brawnier Browning will outlast the "Gorgeous Greek."

Londos scorns this prediction, however. The Greek says he knows Browning has but one dangerous hold, the aeroplane scissors, "and he won't get the chance to take me for that ride," he said.

Jack Curley, who has been promoting wrestling for lo, these many years, estimates a "gate" of more than $75,000 with more than 30,000 fans witnessing the affair.

Soccer Notes

Deloro has informed the executive that they cannot field a team on Tuesday night, owing to a number of their players writing school examinations. They have conformed with the rules, but the local executive has arranged a league match between the Canadian General and the Caledonians for Tuesday night. Kick off at six o'clock. Referee, A. Frick.

Trenton Flying Corps soccer team will be here on the holiday, July 1st, to meet the Scotsmen on King Edward Park. Final arrangements have not been completed, but it is expected that kick off will be three o'clock.

There is no meeting of the Association to-night, but will be held next Tuesday evening, when the two players who were ordered off the field of play will have to appear in person.

GEORGE DOWNER HEADS SCORERS IN CUP TUSSLE

Winner's Team Functions Perfecly Against Re-arranged Electric 11.

GOOD ATTENDANCE.

Todd and McCracken Are Other Marksmen for Victorious Packers Team.

The C.G.E. soccer team were trounced to the tune of four goals to nothing, on Saturday afternoon, by the Canada Packers in the first round of the Injured Players' Cup, on King Edward Park, before a good attendance of spectators.

Both elevens were at full strength, and the tussle was considered one of the best this season. McMaster was held scoreless, which no doubt was caused through the non-appearance of some of the regular players.

Packers Take Lead

From the kick-off, the Packers forced the issue against a stalwart defense of the C.G.E. Earle and McIntosh travelled down the wing to give their pivot man a chance to score, but the ball was picked off his toe. Buchan sending McCracken up the field. He was tackled nicely by Mitchell who in turn was blocked by the Packers' captain, and with a long swinging kick placed the ball at the foot of G. Downer. As the ball touched the ground, he banged a low grounder into the net for the first count. The C.G.E. replied with a desperate bombardment, but failed to get the better of the of the Packers' full backs in any attempt to break through. Eventually the winners' front rank altered their style of formation to concentrate upon the C.C.E. goal, Curtis making a spectacular save from the Packers' outside left as he pulled the ball down to clear to mid-field. Many interesting raids were made upon Chamberlain's charge through the efforts of McMaster and Burgess. Half time—Canada Packers 1, Canadian General 0.

C.G.E. Outclassed

Play had only gone two minutes when two players received orders to the pavilion from the referee, in the second half. The C.G..E half back had a hard game in consequence of the Packers' cleverness on the attack. From a perfect breakaway by Colbran, on the right, he placed G. Downer in possession on the other wind who shot direct at Curtis, goalie, who kicked clear, but Todd picked up the rebound to place the ball in the net. Both Packers' full backs were kicking well, but the terrific pressure laid down by the Electric Boys failed to overwhelm them at any time.

A strategetic movement by the C.G.E. brought about their success. Chamberlain turning aside a direct drive from Earle's foot at close range. Again the McCracken-Colbran wing played havoc with the C.G.E. defence, as they used the triangle play inside the shooting zone. Todd accepting a timely shot and left winger picking up the loose ball between the full backs, he sent a deceiving drive that lodged in below the bar, into the rigging. With greater confidence than ever, the winners returned with renewed vigor to make the decision decisive when McCracken beat the C.G.E. goalie at close range from a George Downer cross.

Goal scorers—G. Downer (2); Todd and McCracken.

AVOID FAIRY OGRE IN BEDTIME STORY

NEW YORK, June 25 (C.P.) — Fairy stories with ogres in the leading roles should not be told before bedtime. Dr. Sandor Lorand, New York psychiatrist, says fairy tales are all right for children if properly told, but they may do much harm even after the child has grown up.

Dr. Lorand told the American Psychiatric Association of a grown man who still lived in an imaginary fairy-tale world: "The man was in his 30's and accomplished in his social and economic status, but the city streets on which he moved, the house where he lived, the meadows and forests where he played golf and the lake where he went fishing were all filled for him with giants, ogres, witches and strange creatures."

Here are Dr. Lorand's directions for telling fairy stories: "The story must obviously be suited to the child's age and condition. Care should be taken that the tale is told in the proper physical and psychological setting. The time of the day when the story telling takes place is, of course, important. Even such minor details as voice modulation must be given careful consideration."

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

Right wheer the Thanksgiving turkey takes the hatchet, that's where the Petes took it Saturday. The much-maligned Oshawa Dukes came to town and took the locals for a 4-0 ride, but it was no pleasure ride. No, indeed. It was so quiet over there at times Saturday, you could have heard a rolling pin drop! So what? So the Dukes are now in second place and we're looking up at them. Of course, the Dukes aren't used to this rarefied atmosphere one encounters on the second rung of the ladder—second from the top, we mean—and they'll likely pull a Humpty Dumpty within a week, but with their recent wins over Belleville and the Petes, they're serving notice that they're nobody's strumberry pie ala mode.

• • • • • • •

Lefty Wills, who has been kicking around and pitching pretty fair ball for quite some time, tied the lads here in sailors' knots. He pitched a nice game, only fanning two, but passing out a measly five singles, scattered at that. And he had lovely support. But we can't get the slant some of the Petes have. Soon as they see a portsider on the mound, most of the lefthanded hiers are licked righ then and there. The whole team, as a matter of fact, looked handcuffed at the plate with Wills—a good heaver, but far from a world beater—tossing in some fast ones and slipping in the odd hook. They grounded out and flied out with monotonous regularity. Lefty bore down each inning to get the first one or two out and then they'd get a wasted hit or two.

• • • • • • •

No use of the players saying, "Well, let you or anyone else that thinks he can hit a lefthander go out there and try it." No, they're supposed to be ball players, and a ball player can hit, at least once in a while, either a righthander or southpaw. City League players don't know the difference between hitting against either type, and the Big Leaguers all can hit both kinds of twirling—they wouldn't be kept if they couldn't. It seems to be just the in-between type of player, the amateur senior, who worries about forkside flinging. Good gosh, the ball has to be over the plate, between the knee and shoulder, to be a strike doesn't, regardless of whether's it being thrown by a right or lefthander? The Petes will see lots of southpaw slants, so they'd better hop to it and learn to hit 'em. It's more a mental hazard than anything else.

• • • • • • •

Calladin'es pitching was oke, provided he had some hitting to help him along. Oshawa bunched hits in two frames to earn three runs, and had another handed to them in the fifth on errors, but four runs should have been overcome. The locals go like a million bucks one game, and like an 18$ dime the next. We're not worrying about this one loss, there's plenty of time to pick that one up yet. But they must be ready for the drive down the home stretch and for the playdowns. Sure, we're expecing them to cop the loop title this time. This is their year, they have the stuff and it's just a matter of getting in there and fighting and producing. They must have parked their pep at the gate over at Riverside on Saturday.

• • • • • • •

You can't take it away from Oshawa. With a long list of losses behind them, a couple of discolored balls and half a dozen elderly bats, the Dukes stepped out there and played heads-up ball and earned the verdict. They wont hurt the league and should win plenty more ball games. Too bad they can't drag a few more customers to their home tilts. The hitting of Mathews and Hollingsworth, and the fielding of the whole crew was something to drop a few lines home about. To say nothing about Mister Wills' flinging. Batten was our best fielder and none of the locals hit enough to hurt the ball. Al Heckman got a big hand as a pinch-hitter but flied out.

Westclox damsels copped another softball fixture at Central Saturday p.m., taking Maple Leafs over the bumps, 20 to 9. Mary Hall tossed five-hit ball and sent eight back for a dipper of water, and the rest of the winners hit with abandon, not to mention freely. The fielding on both sides was spotty, even the usually-dependable Marie Ferguson, Westclox shorstopper, booting the ball all over the landscape—like Minnie the Moocher kicking the around. H. Mann and D. Merrett had several nice catches between them the while we watched the game. Westclox and Keene play in Armour Field tonight.

Johnston's Tires play Fashion-Crafts in Central to-night, and C.G.E. and Brintons tangle up there to-morrow. These tussles wind up the first half of the Men's Softball League, the second half starting on Thursday. The Deck boys, on top for the first part, are only one point up on Brintons, and if they lose to-night's game while Brintons win to-morrow's—well, write your own ticket. It's been a good half, although Fashion-Crafts and C.G.E. fell down toward the last. Both squads will be stronger the rest of the schedule, and both should make strong bids for a play-off berth.

A bantam baseball game has been arranged for at Riverside Park at six bells this Wednesday eve between Hawks and St. Peter's. The Birdmen haven't lost a game yet, while the Saints have dropped one and won another, so it should be a good number between the kids' outfits. Personally, we get quite a kick out of the youngsters' baseball battles, and probably quite a few fans will do likewise. A good crowd would help the young fellows considerably.

Picking 'em off the grapevine: Kiwanis lacrossers go to Belleville to-night, and they play Campbellford at Riverside Park next Saturday.....We're still waiting for the official School Softball League standing.....No gals' softball game at Central Wednesday, so why not a Church Loop play-off contest that eve?.....There are only two or three lefthand hitters in the gals' circuit.....C.G.E. play Cogs in to-morrow's E.P.L. game at the Exhibition Grounds .... Church League bantam diamonds are laid out 50 feet to first and 45 feet to the other sacks—the pitching box being 33 feet..... The idea seems to be to give fielders a chance to keep runners off first, but if the runner gets on, then he gets the break the rest of the way around.

Complete Athletic Meet On Wednesday

The Athletic Meet which was sponsored by the Boys' Work Board at its overnight camp on June 8-9, and part of which was postponed owing to a heavy fall of rain will be completed this Wednesday afternoon. ROXY ATKINS WINS HONORS TORONTO MEET

Queen City Timber Topper Defeats Betty Taylor in 80 Metres Hurdle.

FAILS TO BREAK MARK.

Hamilton Olympic Club Intermedate High Jumper Shatters Dominion Record.

TORONTO, June 25 (C.P.) — Ontario hailed a new speed sensation to-day—auburn-haired Roxy Atkins of the Laurel Athletic Club. Already holder of the United States indoor 80 metres hurdle championship, Toronto timber-topper gained further recognition by defeating Betty Taylor of Hamilton, in a thrilling duel over this route at the Ontario women's track and field championships here Saturday.

Miss Taylor, who was a member of the last Canadian Olympic team and holds the Ontario record for this distance, made a resolute bid to overhaul her opponent, but failed by inches. By her victory the Toronto star earned the right to try for a place among the Dominion's select on the British Empire track team. Her winning time was 12 4-10 seconds, 4-10 second slower than the Ontario record.

Breaks Dominion Record

Petite, dark-haired Isabella Milled, Hamilton Olympic Club Intermediate high jumper, broke the listed Dominion record for the event with a leap of 5 feet, 1⅝ inches, but a Vancouver girl, Margaret Bell, jumped 5 feet, 1⅞ inches at the British Columbia champions recently. The listed Canadian record is 5 feet, 1 inch. Miss Miller holds the present Ontario Junior high jump record.

Breaks Ontario Record

Toronto Lakesides "A" team, racing for the first time as a team, smashed the Ontario record of 52 2-10 seconds for the Junior 400 metres relay by whirling around the track in 51 6-10 seconds.

Mamie Shrum-Faris, formerly of Orillia, now with Toronto Lakesides, failed by ¾ inch to equal her own Ontario record of 34 feet 11¼ inches in the Senior eight-pound shot put. Mrs. Faris placed third in the discuss throw.

Centennial medals were presented to the winner of each event.

We just want to point out to the members of our club the list of activities that takes place wthin the next week or so.

We know that the schedule book was printed and then given to the players to read. We also know some read them and some did not. We know all that, but then we still think we have to keep reminding the boys and girls just what is going on.

Now on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday we have our games as per schedule. Wednesday night we will have another mixed tournament, at a small cost—we had 18 rinks two weeks ago.. this week we want twenty-four rinks.

And on Friday night we will have our regular two-bit tournament, only this week we are pleased to announce that this week's tournament will be sponsored by "Warne Bros." Last year was Mr. Warne's first year at bowling and he had a successful year. He happened to be on the rink that won the schedule—and you know why—and the idea of bowling is completely sold to him.

Then on Monday, July 2nd, we will have the annual "Tip-Top Tailor" competition. The bowlers will hear more about this later....we are just drawing your attention to these games, so that you can lay your plans accordingly.

Henry Cotton Leads British Open Round

SANDWICH, June 25 (C.P.). — Blazing the way to a new course record, Henry Cotton, crack British pro., snatched an early lead in the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round for the British open championship to-day with a spectacular 66 over the Royal St. George's course.

Cotton toured the first nine in 31 strokes and came home in 35 to clip two strokes off the course record of 68 held jointly by the amateurs, Eric Martin Smith of England and Douglas Grant, former Californian who has lived in England for many years. The old professional record of 69 was held jointly by George Duncan, British pro., and Joe Jurado of Argentina.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 32

Pointer dropped the little object back in its envelope as though of no importance. "That's saved us a great deal of trouble. As soon as the case is over we'll send it back to you."

Lady Ida smiled again, and again Pointed noticed teeth whose rounded edges could no more have made those savage marks than a kitten could leave a tiger's scoring on a piece of bark. A young man burst in at that moment with the air of one running in to save a family heirloom in a fire. Flinging open a bookcase, he seized a volume and would have dashed out again, but Lady Ida stopped him.

"Luttrell, put that down a minute. We've just had an awful piece of news. This is a chief inspector from Scotland Yard—my son, Luttrell Westmacott."

The young man in question turned a pleasant, freckled face on the visitor.

"Is myrmidon spelled with a 'y' or an 'i'? If it's 'i'——"

"Mr. Tait has just died, Luttrell," his mother went on. The expert in crosswords dropped a book, and stood without picking it up, staring blankly at his mother.

"But I thought he was here only this morning," he expostulated, and by the remarks gave the apparent measure of his brains, in appearance borne out by his weak, good-natured, silly face and weak, wide, good-natured, silly smile, a smile, however, that showed quite a useful double row of ivory. Pointer eyed them as intently as a dentist. They did not come up to his standard as regards size.

Luttrell made other horrified, inane remarks and asked for details. Pointer left it to his mother to pass on all the information she had obtained.

"Can you tell me where Mr. Tait was lunching today?" he asked, when this was done.

Luttrell said that he had not seen Mr. Tait this morning. "He only came for a talk with my mother," he explained. Lady Ida professed to have no idea what Mr. Tait's engagements were, they had only talked of his coming marriage. How long had Mr. Tait been at the house? She gave it exactly to a quarter past as the time. Pointer apologized for the next questions which were as to their own movements until three today. Not that it really mattered, but he learned that neither had left the house. The day was bad, and had kept most people indoors until well past the hour when Tait had stumbled, flung the deeply-bitten gold top of a fountain pen out of his pocket, and then died.

There were plenty of artificial flowers in the room where they were. Tall lilies coiled on their own green stems rising from black Chinese bowls. A couple were at Pointer's elbow—he had chosen his seat to be near them. As he talked, he fingered them absent-mindedly, but though of glass, they were blown, and firm, and waxen, smooth to the touch. Would that be true, however, of any other artificial flowers that might be found in the other rooms?

He left with the certainty that Lady Ida was deeply perturbed, but that her son did not share this feeling. As to her explanation for the reason for Tait's call, it certainly failed to convince. But it was difficult to imagine what reason there could be which called for a lie on her part and an erasure in Tait's engagement book. Business it would hardly seem to be. . . . Apart from other things, she was not a business woman, nor had any fortune of her own. It was not political, one would think . . . though this was possible. . . . But that caution on Tait's part that no chance curiosity should know that he was going to see Lady Ida had, the Pointer, rather the look of his being the bearer of a message from the other-in-law. An ultimatum of some sort? Why had not the absent millionaire sent it himself? Apparently the call had been in response to a request of Westmacott's, not one of whose letters had been found, so far, among Tait's papers. Was it possible that the blank space was not due to Tait himself, but to some one else? At any rate, the deletion had been made, so had the call, and now Lady Ida was alarmed, not merely grieved, if grieved at all, by the news of the caller's sudden end.

A second woman was afraid when she heard that John Tait was dead. And though there was no comparison in the degree of fright, therefore, quite probably, none in its origin, the fact remained, and the chief inspector brooded on its origin or origins, as he got into his small swift car. At the Yard Superintendent Dartmoor was out, and had not yet therefore learned that a mate had been found to the glove left in Lord Mills' room, but one of his men had a piece of information for the chief inspector. Among Lord Mills' papers were some dealing with the letting to a Mrs. de Souza of a villa at Capri about two years ago at a price which was remarkably high. The house in question had come to Lord Mills from a relative. Judging by the letters, a personal acquaintance between himself and the lady had come about as the outcome of the transaction, though apparently, but of the usual invitation-to-dinner-now-and-then kind.

So Gillian Dundas was linked, through Mrs. de Souza, with Lord Mills, and through her own action, or chance, with John Tait. Her studio was on Pointer's list of ports of call, but he decided to see Mrs. de Souza first, as he did not wish to ask for a description of her from any inmate of Great Cumberland place.

He had got her address from Gillian, and now drove there. She was in, and he sent in his own personal card with a word to the effect that he "called about Miss Dundas' references."

He was shown into a most expensive room, where Mrs. de Souza, with a look of sleepy good nature on her face, was petting an overfed Pekinese—also expensive. She was still on the young side of 40, but her face looked as though it had suffered from over-steaming, or over-massage in the past, or else too many late hours and cocktails.

"Miss Dundas has nothing to do with me now," she began at once, in an excited, high-pitched voice, but the voice of an English woman none the less. "She left me without any notice and is companion now to another lady. And I never give two references."

Pointered wondered why she troubled to see him in that case. But it was possible that it was only a woman's curiosity that had procured him the interview.

He did not wish to be detained by giving an account of Mr. Tait's death, so he merely bowed and said that he apologized for having disturbed Mrs. de Souza for nothing. But she would not be content. "But why have you come to me? How did you hear of me? Miss Dundas left me days ago. . . . Has she applied for a job with you? A Mrs. Burnham whom we met at Vichy took her on . . ."

Pointer was in a hurry. He apologized again, and fairly tore himself away from the lady, who seemed extraordinarily unwilling to let him go. When she heard of Tait's death, supposing she did not already know of it, she would understand why a Mr. Pointer was interested in Miss Dundas' more recent past, and Pointer intended to have a long talk with her in the near future. But for the moment all he wanted was to see the lady who had rented Lord Mills' villa. This being done, he drove rapidly off in the opposite direction, to turn back on his tracks and make for Miss Dundas' studio. He found that you turned off Knightsbridge proper, down a little alley and into a square surrounded by dingy old houses, all of them used as offices. The house in which was the room that Miss Dundas claimed to use as a studio had a back entrance as well, approached from the direction of what will always remain in the mind of old Londoners as Tattersall's. Here, too, as it happened, was an almost unobserved little alley, and several shops. It might be merely chance, but certainly no fortune teller anxious not to come to grips with the law could have chosen a better little dive.

(To be continued.)

More than $5,000,000 in gold is believed to be in the Laurentic, sunk by enemy submarines in Lough Swilly, off the Irish coast, during the World war, and salvagers expect to recover most of it.

He Came Back

SPOKANE, Wash., June 23. (AP). — Herbert Dionne, 30 jobless brother of Ontario's Oliva Dionne of quintuplet fame, was back home to-day and the sheriff's office settled back to the old routine.

Dionne, father of only one child, left home yesterday, leaving word for his wife that he was going to look for work and would send her money when he could.

Alarmed, Mrs. Dionne hastened to the sheriff's office, saying she loved her husband and wanted him back, job or no job.

Last night Mrs. Dionne advised officers her husband had returned, "a little late for supper."

HEENAN PREDICTS 60,000 JOBLESS BY RAIL UNION

CHAPLAU, June 23 (CP)—Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, was on his way to Toronto to-day, leaving behind him in the minds of the railwaymen he addressed yesterday thoughts of the effects of amalgamation of the C.P.R. and C.N.R., which he said was strongly probable, and after telling them public opinion demanded Prime Minister Bennett call a general Dominion election.

Speaking to railwaymen and their wives yesterday here, at White River and Cartier, he said there was a strong possibility of a merger of the two great railways and that such would add to the 60,000 presently unemployed railwaymen. After the crushing defeat suffered by the Conservative party in Saskatchewan and Ontario, public feeling called for a Dominion election, he said.

WEDDING PRESENT.

MACON, Ga., June 23 (C.P.).—In the excitement of getting married, Dr. Ralph T. Heath forgot about a summons to appear as a witness in Recorder M. Felton Hatcher's court. The judge was about to fine him when Dr. Heath's brother explained the situation. Thereupon Hatcher said, "I can understand now how you might have overlooked the court summons. I'm going to let you go. This will be my wedding present."

Max Cotton Again Wins Tennis Singles

A club championship in men's and ladies' singles was held by the Peterborough Tennis Club on Saturday, with Max Cotton again winning the former while Miss Gladys Carvoth taking the ladies' title.

Max Cotton, present city champion, captured the men's event easily, losing one set in three matches. However, Bill McPherson, his opponent in the finals, provided the feature upset of the day by defeating the second and third seeded players, H. A. Toole and J. Kirkwood. McPherson, with his accurate placing and hard drives, proved too much for these players ranked higher than he. Gordon ('Chick') Kirkwood, another promising player, showed up well, advancing to the semi-finals where he lost out to Cotton only after three sets.

Miss Carvolth, the youngest entrant in the ladies' singles, did not lose a set. She played a hard-hitting game, backed by speedy service and showed real promise of becoming a tennis star. Following are the scores: Ladies' singles—1st and 2nd rounds: P. McClellan won over M. Harvey, 6-1, 6-3; M. Donaldson defeated E. Outram, 6-3, 6-3; R. McKee beat V. Davidson, 6-3, 6-4; A. Macdonald won from P. McClelland, 5-7, 6-4 and 7-5; G. Carvolth defeated K. Caddy, 6-4, 6-0; semi-finals: R. McKee defeated M. Donaldson by default and G. Carvolth was successful over A. Macdonald, 6-3, 6-3; G. Carvolth won from R. McKee, 6-1, 6-3.

Men's singles—1st round: H. Hammell defeated W. Perks, 9-7, 6-1; D. McPherson beat M. Swartz, 6-4, 6-1; G. Kirkwood turned back Art Ward, 6-1, 6-2; H. A. Toole defeated J. Elmsley, 6-1, 6-0; B. Howden lost to B. McPherson, 6-1, 6-2; 2nd round: M. Cotton defeated H. Hammell, 6-2, 6-1; G. Kirkwood won over D. McPherson, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3; B. McPherson was successful over H. Toole, 6-1, 0-6 and 3-2 default; J. Kirkwood beat B. Maybee, 6-1, 6-2; semi-finals: M. Cotton defeated G. Kirkwood, 6-2, 1-6 and 6-0; B. McPherson noted out J. Kirkwood 6-8, 6-4 and 6-0; finals: M. Cotton defeated B. McPherson, 6-1, and was conceded the match since darkness prevented further play.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF ST. PAUL'S IS GREAT SUCCESS

Annual Congregational Outing is Held in Nicholls Oval.

Events Closely Contested.

The congregation and Sunday School of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church held a most successful picnic at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon. Close to 700 children and adults were present and all acclaimed the beautiful grounds as the finest picnic spot in this district. A program of sports under the management of the Men's Association was run off and supper was served under the beautiful maple trees. Plenty of candy, ice cream and drinks were distributed among the children and all declared it was one of the best picnics ever held by the congregation. A booth on the grounds operated by Walter Baptie and Gordon Hill was well patronized all afternoon. The ladies of the congregation supplied a most excellent supper.

The following is a list of prize winners in the various events:

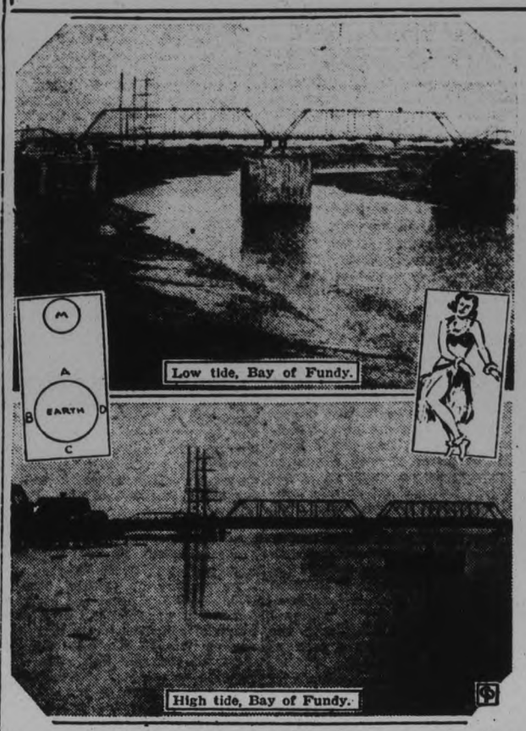
SCIENCE SIMPLIFIED
HOW MOON "PULLS" WATER TO CAUSE TIDES ON EARTH



By RICHARD BAYLIS
Central Press Canadian Science Writer.

The waters of the earth have been doing a hula dance since time immemorial, swaying back and forth over the beds of the oceans. Those of us living on coast lines have watched the slow movement of the water and we call it the tide. This is not the movement of the individual waves with their accompanying "swish, swish," which the Hawaiian hula hula dance represents, but the concerted movement of all the waters of a tremendous ocean in one direction for six hours and then back in the other direction for six hours.

What causes the tides?

The tides are the result of the action of the law of gravitation exerted by the moon on the waters of the earth.

Newton's Theory

Sir Isaac Newton was the first to give us a rational explanation of the relation between moon and tide. He pointed out that any mass of considerable size has an attraction for smaller bodies, which tends to draw the smaller body towards the larger, this pull varying with distance and size: The larger the mass and the less the distance between the two bodies, the greater the attraction. Thus the moon has a pull on the smaller mass of the waters on the earth.

By means of a small diagram the whole principle becomes easily understandable: When, for instance, a certain body of water is directly beneath the moon, as in position A, it is nearer the moon than is the earth beneath the water; therefore the moon attracts the water with greater intensity than it attracts the earth as a whole and tends to pull the water away from the earth. Now when the earth has rotated for six hours so that the same body of water is in position B, the moon has exactly the same attraction for earth and water, and there is no pull on the water. And when the earth has turned so that the body of water is in position C, we have the reverse of position A, or the moon tending to pull the earth away from the water, and is exactly what we found in position A. Therefore we have compleded a cycle. Also when the earth completes her circle and we are back in position A we will have another cycle because the moon will act the same at position D as it did at position B. So herein we have the explanation for two high waters and two low waters in each 24-hour day, with which all acquainted with the ocean are familiar in everyday experience.

A Correction

And now that we have the principle in mind we must stop to make a correction. The moon could not possibly pull the water vertically away from the earth because the earth is larger than the moon and closer to the water and, therefore, has such an attraction for the water that the pull of the moon would have no appreciable effect. But as the earth rotates from east to west the moons pull affects the water horizontally and causes the water to flow back and forth, creating the rhythmic movements of the ocean, which we call the tide. In a later article we shall examine another phase of the tidal theory, having to do with the birth of the earth and other planets in the solar system.

LIFE IN DANGER SCORE OF TIMES

ture in the Longue Sault.

"People along the banks of the river didn't want me to shoot the rapids," the young man said when interviewed. "They waved to me, shouted to me, and warned me in every way of the danger, but I went through the roughest water in the river, and it wasn't so bad. I should have taken the South Channel, but I had entered the north one before I realized my mistake. The first breaker hit my canoe broadside, and I had quite a job keeping it straight. I turned completely around twice, and the canoe was filled with about three inches of water, but it didn't do any damage excepting making the canoe hard to handle."

Asked if he wasn't afraid of the canoe turning over he said he never had a thought of such an accident. "I wasn't a bit alarmed at any time during the mad rush through the huge breakers," he said.

Smith discussed with a reporter his intention to shoot the various stretches of rapids on the St. Lawrence before his departure from Peterborough last week. Asked if he had ever seen the rapids he intended to traverse in his canoe, he admitted he had not.

"You had better take a look at them before you start down," he was warned.

"I hear that there are some pretty tough stretches of water down there," he admitted. "But if the French-Canadians can paddle through them I guess I can do it."

He said he would have planned to look through the canals on the St. Lawrence if it were not for the delay which would result.

SCHOOL PICNIC HUGE SUCCESS

Good Sports Program Run Off at Prince of Wales School Outing.

SEWING EXHIBITION.

Splendid weather conditions and a large attendance of children, parents and interested friends, combined to make the annual Prince of Wales School picnic an unusually successful event.

The afternoon's program was in charge of a capable sports committee, which included Messrs. E. Frost and T. Allen, assisted by the lady teachers. Races were the order of the day, and were run off on the school grounds, with many enthusiastic contestants for each event. Inter-class ball games were also heartily entered into.

Adding much to the enjoyment of the afternoon was the booth, managed by an efficient staff of Home and School members, and largely patronized by both adults and children.

An exhibition of sewing in the domestic science room was another attractive feature as arranged by Miss A. Jamieson and her classes from Queen Mary, King Edward and Prince of Wales Schools.

At the supper hour, the children gathered in groups according to their respective classes and partook of a bountiful supper, after which the mothers and teachers gathered in the roomy hall for delicious refreshments, also arranged by a committee of Home and School members.

The presentation of prizes won in a recent essay contest held by the Ontario Safety League was another interesting item on the program. The lucky winners were announced by the principal, G. S. Mattice, and included the following pupils: Nora Hughes, Peggy Bassett, Marjorie Lewis and Alfred Prout in Class B, and Kenneth Gash in Class A.

The results of the races held were as follows:

Girls, 6-7—1, Joyce Bridcott; 2, Betty Stewart; 3, Phyllis Roseborough.

Boys, 6-7—1, Reggie Jones; 2, Ernest Darling; 3, Cecil Youden.

West's Big Producers Oppose Marketing Act

WHEAT POOLS SUPPORT NEW ACT FARMERS AFRAID LOSING LIBERTY

Dairy and Fruit Producers Also Strong Supporters of Act.

ENABLING LEGISLATION.

Supplementing the series of three articles which have been appearing in these pages, explaining in full detail the Natural Products Marketing Act, the article below presents the consensus of opinion in Western Canada of the new legislation. R. M. Scott is a noted agricultural writer, fully qualified by close association with farmers and stock-growers, to present their feelings in an unbiased manner.

By R. M. SCOTT

Written specially for The Examiner and Central Press Canadian

WINNIPEG, June 25.—Opinion in Western Canada as to the Natural Products Marketing Act, which appears about to go on the statutes of the Dominion, varies all the way from bitter opposition to unqualified approval. Big farmers and cattlemen, who have all their life been free to conduct their business in a free and open manner as they saw fit, selling their produce according to the market outlook, are perfectly frank in their criticism. Any interference in the methods by which they conduct their affairs, anything bearing a resemblance to force in changed methods of merchandizing makes a great many of them see "red." Furthermore, they fail to see the necessity of restricting their long enjoyed freedom and of having their liberties taken away by an Act which they can truthfully say they never asked for and had little or no share in formulating.

The Western Stock Growers of Calgary which comprises the most important body of range cattlemen in the West at their convention recently discussed the Act thoroughly. They see in the Act nothing to relieve their embarrassing financial condition. A great many other things, in their opinion, such as freight rates, ocean rates on export cattle, feeding in transit rates on feeder cattle designed for export, would be much more to the point in any action taken to assist the cattle business. It is easy to understand this attitude when one considers how "individual" a rancher can be. He deals in big figures both in dollars and in cattle, and as a manager is second to none in his capabilities. The Stock Growers' decision was to shelve any action until further developments.

Act Not Understood

Among the rank and file of farmers on the prairies, if the truth was told, little of the real significance of the Act is known. A great many of them do not know what it is all about. True, the provincial governments at Edmonton, Regina and Winnipeg, as well as in British Columbia, have all passed enabling legislation in order that the Act may operate within the boundaries of the province concerned. Manitoba legislators were quite divided in their opinions and the government assumed no direct responsibility. Saskatchewan members of the government gave the Act their official O.K. and promised co-operation. Alberta approved the Act and further provided for a provincial marketing board. British Columbia endorsed the bill for particular reasons which will be discussed later. But, the farmer in the country, perhaps harrassed by his own troubles, has shown little enhusiasm and seemingly knows little of what the bill really means. Many would welcome any relief from their present intolerable financial position. The bill may provide it.

Exclusion of the production and marketing of grain from the bill is a feature which materially changes the complexion of it. Grain companies are practically unanimous in their opposition to the bill with the exception of the wheat pools. The United Grain Growers, with many others, are on record to this effect. The Saskatchewan wheat pool has been inclined to silence, stating that the legislation is only permissive and may not be brought into operation at all to handle this year's crop, providing conditions indicate there will be no surplus above the quota available for the export market this fall. The assumption is that the board of the pool would work hand in glove in carrying out the act to the last detail, which is undoubtedly true. The same can be said of the Manitoba and Alberta pools as far as the boards are concerned. To say that all members of the pools see eye to eye with the boards is, perhaps, stretching the facts of the case. Nevertheless if the bill becomes law the three pools will show no direct opposition, but will, in fact, be all for it.

Fruit and Dairy Men Support

Many commentators in the West maintain that the agencies behind the formulating of the bill were the fruit growers of the Niagara Peninsula in Ontario and the fruit and poultry men of British Columbia. However that may be, the fruit, poultry and dairy co-operatives in Western Canada are strong for the bill. British Columbia is particularly so, seeing in the bill greater incomes from all three enterprises through increased values for these products when marketed in a controlled and orderly manner. That the money must come from consumers, largely within Canada, and from the fruit and poultry largely from outside B.C., with no decrease in freight rates which hitherto [illegible] rates so difficult on account of price, does not seem to have been fully considered. Prairie folk are frank in their refusal to buy high-priced fruit. In the first place they cannot afford it and would rather go without. In the second place they do not like the idea of being "held up" by minimum prices and controlled supplies to assure these prices.

Co-operative poultry pools in Saskatchewan and Manitoba welcome the bill, seeing in it the very thing which most of them have been striving for for some years.

Not All For It

Criticism levelled at the bill in Western Canada is, firstly, directed at the sweeping nature of the bill. The extremes to which it may go in the control of production and marketing of all farm produce causes amazement to many. Doubt is expressed if producers realize what the effect of controlled and planned production and marketing will, or may, be. Critics wonder, too, if producers realize the powers provincial boards will have. Individuals ask whey they should hand over the power of such regulation to persons as yet unknown. They question the local set-up with central control at Ottawa and shy at the possibility of licenses for all persons engaged in production or marketing and the fact that all must be registered and licensed before they can produce or sell. Such departure from the old-time freedom and liberties is the cause of much concern, together with the fact that minorities may even be forced into marketing schemes against their will.

The West is not unanimously for the bill by any means. Some want to try it. Most "free thinkers" want to retain their rights to produce and market as they see fit.

HARRY SIFTON IS TAKEN BY DEATH

statement terming the party leader's speech "an effort to justify on the narrowest technical and legal grounds what is in fact a policitcal blunder of the most destructive and far-reaching character."

Demanding the fullest possible inquiry into all the power deals in which the Ontario and Dominion governments had been directly or indirectly involved, Mr. Sifton elaborated the point at issue repeatedly, in public and private. Full freedom for private enterprise, yet the responsibility of protecting the public from the depredations of those who would use great wealth to exploit the state and the people, he deemed the most important function of Liberalism in the community and the state.

"Our main appeal to the people," he said at London, "must be upon the historic ground of Liberal hostility to the sinister and destructive influences of aggregations of great wealth, holding in the hollow of their hands the constitutional functions of an otherwise free people. This is no more than the common duty of the Liberal Party. It is the reason for its existence, a duty from which we should not shrink."

No Political Ambitions

The London break was of course a breach of party discipline but Harry Sifton never had political ambitions as generally understood. Forced on the sidelines by his own private duties and comparatively frail health, he believed that whatever influence he happened to possess could be well used from that vantage point, and in his many public addresses and innumerable personal contacts always showed faithful adherence to the broad principles of Liberalism.

Henry Sifton was born in Brandon, Man., on June 26, 1891, the year in which his father became Attorney-General for Manitoba. When he was six the family moved to Ottawa. Sir Clifford having become Minister of the Interior in the Laurier Cabinet. He was educated at the Ottawa Model School and Collegiate Institute. He suffered a long and serious illness with tuberculosis in one hip, but completely recovered and though afterwards debarred from many normal activities his strength of character and cheerful, serene temperament overcame the handicap.

He graduated from the University of Toronto in the spring of 1914, and shortly afterwards his four brothers joined the Colors, though Harry himself was kept among the army of civilians pushing the war at home.

After some grounding in the investment department of the Canada Life Assurance Company and as secretary-treasurer of the Canada Bond Corporation in 1919 he joined in the managements of the Sifton interests. The other sons had entered upon enterprises more their own but Harry became in a special sense his father's agent.

In 1927 the Armadale Corporation had secured the charter in existence since 1894 for construction of a canal from the Georgian Bay to Montreal, with incidental power rights, and the younger Sifton vigorously campaigned for renewal of the charter and approval of plans for the $95,000,000 project comprised in the first stage of the canal but Quebec and Ontario attacked the bill on the ground the power right belonged to the provinces and finally despite the safeguards to the public offered by the Siftons, the scheme was rejected.

Two years later Sir Clifford died and the administrative work of the Sifton corporation fell upon Harry's shoulders alone. His brother John since dead, was attached to the Winnipeg Free Press. Winfield had died the previous year; Victor had become president of the Leader-Post and Star-Phoenix publishing companies in Regina and Saskatoon, and Clifford was in private law practice in Toronto. The result was the burden of responsibility during the difficult periods of the depression was carried by Harry Sifton himself.

Harry Sifton married, on April 24, 1916, Mary Lewis Maclean, daughter of the late W. F. Maclean, M.P. for South York, and there was one son, Clifford, born in 1918. The Sifton home and big garden north of Toronto were the centre of countless forays and excursions into the Ontario countryside while Harry Sifton, like his father a keen lover of fine horseflesh, won successes with the Sifton string at the leading horse-shows of the continent. His four-in-hand coach was a picturesque sight.

TO ERECT CURB CHEMONG BRIDGE

Council Will Erect Safety Curb Along Both Sides of Bridge.

REPLY TO WARDEN.

Declaring that it was a matter of "life and death," Reeve James Gifford, youthful representative of Ennismore township, prevailed upon Peterborough County Council to see the necessity of erecting a safety curb on Chemong floating bridge.

His suggestion that raised pieces of timber be placed on the edges of the mile long bridge to form a safety curb that would hold the wheels of an automobile in the event of any vehicle developing a skid, is to be carried into effect. The decision was made in the final hour of the June sessions on motion of Reeve W. A. Anderson, seconded by Reeve Gifford.

Reeve Richard Sanderson on behalf of the special committee appointed to deal with the warden's address, stated: "we join with the warden in expressing our deep sympathy at the death of the late Judge E. C. S. Huycke, and extend our sympathy to the bereaved family".

The report assured the warden that members of the council would give him their full support and co-operation in the interests of the county. It also expressed agreement with the warden that economy should be practiced in all departments of the county in order to relieve the taxpayer of as much of the burden as possible.

In conclusion it was stated, "we feel confident that warden is capmeeting all the demands he is called upon to face."

On motion of Reeves Anderson and Robert Tedford the report was adopted.

The report of the special committee on education, appointed to draw up a resolution memorializing all other county councils in the province in regard to the excessive costs of high school education, is to be brought in at the December sessions.

REV. J. GRIER PREACHES FOR ANNIVERSARY

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, Crowded at Both Services

FOR 97TH OBSERVANCE.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 25 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford was filled to capacity at both hours of worship on Sunday, when the congregation observed its ninety-seventh anniversary for which occasion the special preacher was the Rev. J. C. Grier, B.A., of Lindsay, a former pastor of the church. Both services were featured by the presentation of special music rendered by the choir, under the direction of the organist and choir leader, Mrs. Gwen E. Lewis. At the morning service, the anthems, "There were Ninety and Nine," and "Praise Ye The Father," were sung by the choir, Miss Hazel Atkinson singing a soprano solo, "Come Unto Him" (Handel). At the evening service the choir presented the anthem, "Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing," while Miss Helen MacDonald, the soloist, rendered "The Holy Hour" (Nevin), and Miss Mae Bell and E. H. Lewis, a duet, "My Saviour," (Fillmore).

Mr. Grier delivered a very impressive sermon at the morning hour of worship, taking for his text, Luke 18, verse 25, "For it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God." A hard saying, the preacher said, but pointed out that the gospel of Jesus Christ had many such in it, as well as the more beautiful teachings. In this instance He spoke of the narrow way that leads to the kingdom, and although this saying contrasts with some others, so much so that it seems a paradox, it in reality was not so, for it taught that it was utterly impossible for a rich man, with only his riches as his guarantee, to enter God's kingdom.

Telling the story of the rich young man, from which passage of scripture the text was taken, Mr. Grier pointed out that he was a good young man, but had not reached the highest goods in life. He had responded to the sayings of Christ, and sought the way, but Jesus had seen his soul, and knew it better than he did himself. He had put his finger on the one weak spot, and the young man had failed to respond to the great test, being more attached to his riches. He, Jesus, had shown the young man the way to perfection, which he wanted, but he had failed, and then the Master had turned to his disciples and uttered the words of the text, "Any man," said the preacher, "who has only that one qualification for the kingdom, can never enter."

Other Types of Riches

But there were other types of riches, the preacher said. There were worldly possession generally. Jesus had never condemned the acquisition of wealth, he stated, but he meant that man should be stewards of his riches, to use for himself and for the glory of God. The harm of wealth was, he said, that it tends to absorb the inner passion of the soul of man. In the early history of the church, Anthony had realized this fact, and had forsook all, and started what we know as monasteries. He had surrendered all his riches, and lived the life of a hermit, and although some would not agree with this attitude, it was his method of gaining the kingdom, Mr. Grier said, and he felt that his life was greatly enriched and that he gained his purpose. We must always be ready to hold what we have at Christ's disposal.

And then there were those who were rich in natural endowments, Personality, beauty of form and features, types of manly strength, a solid family backing in the community, or skill in music, painting, or the arts. These were great riches, he said, but there were many people who were rich in these ways, and realized it, yet refused to surrender their riches to the service of God. Gor never destroys these riches, he stated, but uses them for his glory. "How rich life may become," said Mr. Grier, "when we are willing to lay these things on the altar of God."

And then there were those who were rich in intellectual gifts, and it was far more difficult for these people to surrender their gifts to God. They often looked down from a great height with disdain on their more common fellow men. And lastly there were those who were rich in self righteousness. They often went to church, and read their Bibles, but let it stop at that. "They were building up a great wall of self righteousness," Mr. Grier said, "inside of which they never allow Christ to come." It was not our own righteousness, but the righteousness of Jesus Christ that was needed. "I am speaking to a wealthy congregation," he preacher concluded, "for you are all full of riches. Are these riches debarring us from the Kingdom, and because of them is Calvary to be in vain?"

Obituary

MRS. REBECCA OLDFIELD

MADOC, June 25 (Examiner Correspondence) — The funeral of the late Mrs. Rebecca Oldfield, widow of the late W. H. Oldfield was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Devolin of Madoc Township to Trinity United Church on Thursday, June 21st.

Mrs. Oldfield passed away on Monday, June 18th at North Bay, where she was visiting. She was aged 79 years, 10 months and 9 days.

ELINA JUNE WELLMAN

(Examiner Correspondence)

HASTINGS, June 25.—Elina June Wellman, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wellman died on Friday morning after a very short illness. The infant was born on May 5, 1934.

There are left to mourn her loss her parents, two sisters, Mrs. W. Whitred of Hastings and Doris at home, three brothers, Guy, Albert and Kenneth all at home.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon to Trent Valley cemetery where interment was made. Rev. S. H. Hill conducted the service.

MRS. JAMES AIKENS.

TRENT RIVER, June 25 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Mrs. James Aikens was held Friday afternoon. Service was conducted in the United Church at 3.30 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. A. Kemp. The church was filled to capacity, many old frieds coming to pay tribute to the deceased. Mr. Kemp read the Scripture lesson from Corinthians i., 15, and the text from St. John's Gospel. Hymns, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Nearer My God to Thee." The choir rendered "A few more years shall roll." At the close of the service the funeral cortege proceeded to Maple Grove Cemetery for interment. Many floral tributes covered the casket. The pall-bearers were: Stanley Carnrite, Robert Carnrite, H. Revoir, T. F. Ward, James Mann and Fred Scott.

ROBERT WEBBER.

MARMORA, June 25 (Examiner Correspondence).—After suffering from a malignant disease for several months, Robert Webber passed away at his home in Marmora Township on Saturday. Deceased was born in England on February 25th, 1882, but came to this country when a young lad. He lived for some years in Sidney Township, but since his marriage, resided in various sections of Marmora Township.

He chiefly followed agricultural pursuits, but at intervals he was an employee of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company.

He was liked as a neighbor for the service he would render in time of need, and for his old-fashioned philosophy. In religion he was an Anglican, and in politics was a Conservative. He was a member of Marmora L.O.L. 319. He is survived by his widow, who before marriage was Susan Kilpatrick, and three children, Mrs. George Young of Marmora Township, Robert and Blanche at home.

The funeral leaves his late residence on Monday for service at St. Paul's Anglican Church at 2.30 p.m. and will be under auspices of Marmora L.O.L. 319. Interment will take place in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

HERBERT E. BEAVER.

The death occurred on Sunday of Herbert E. Beaver, at St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Beaver was born at Alderville, Ontario, and had lived there all his life. He was 52 years of age and leaves his widow, and two daughters, Irene and Elmire, and one son, Frances, also two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Marsden and Mrs. John Tobicoe, and one brother, Sam.

Mr. Beaver was well known and highly respected by his many friends, both in Roseneath and Peterborough districts. He had not been well during the past three years and it was necessary to admit him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he passed away on Sunday at one p.m.

The funeral service will take place at his home in Alderville on Tuesday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. G. K. Tyler officiating.

Miss H. MacDonald Honored At Banquet

CAMPBELLFORD, June 25 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The choir of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, were banqueted on Friday evening, when the members of this energetic organization entertained members of the congregation who had assisted them during the past winter months, and entertained them at their various homes on occasions. A large number sat down to a delightful spread, served by ladies of the congregation, and featured by the presentation to Miss Helen MacDonald, life-long member of the choir, and church soloist, of a beautiful silver casserole, on the eve of her marriage to J. B. Cowell. Miss Hazel Atkinson, who occupied the chair, congratulated Miss MacDonald on behalf of the choir, the presentation being made by Mrs. P. H. MacMillan, choir treasurer. Miss MacDonald, in a few words, expressed her appreciation of the gift, and Mrs. E. H. Lewis, choir leader and organist, also spoke a few words of appreciation. Miss MacDonald is president of St. Andrew's choir.

MAY TURN MAURETANIA INTO OCEAN GREYHOUND

LIVERPOOL, June 23. —(A P)— The liner Maurentania, former holder of the "Blue Riband" of the North Atlantic, probably will be converted into one of the fastest cabin liners afloat, it was learned today.

Her days as a luxury liner are numbered, it was pointed out, and changing with the spirit of the times she will become either a fast cabin liner or a maritme pensioner earning her keep by pleasure cruises.

Shipping circles believe that when the Maurentania leaves Southampton June 30, it will be her last trip to New York in her present status.

After five cruises from New York to the West Indies, her return to Southampton August 28 will end the present phase of her career, these sources stated.

Hog Grading On Rail To Start Here

NEW METHOD WILL IMPROVE HOG INDUSTRY

Said to be More Accurate and Will Sell Better in Britain.

AID TO FARMERS.

Agricultural Committee Finds Grading Has Been Asset to Breeders.

OTTAWA, June 26.—(CP)— The Agricultural Committee of the Commons today recommended continuance of hog grading by officials of the Department of Agriculture. Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, announced that grading on rail would be started early next month in a plant in Kitchener and one at Peterborough.

Grading on rail will be an important step in the development of the hog raising industry in this country. Since grading was first instituted in Canada it has been done on the hoof. The reason has been that the pigs are often taken long distances before being slaughtered and it would cause too much delay if the producer had to wait until then to know for what grade he was to be paid.

The system of grading on rail is followed in other countries such as Denmark and it is agreed it is much more accurate. With Canada making a bid for the discriminating bacon market of the United Kingdom, the desire is to make the grading as efficient as possible so that the farmers may know if they are producing the most profitable types.

Some vigorous opposition to hog grading was encountered in the committee today. J. T. Sproule

BORDEN REACHES 80TH MILESTONE

Canada's War-time Prime Minister Celebrates 80th Birthday.

RECEIVES MANY MESSAGES.

OTTAWA, June 26 (C.P.). — Today Sir Robert Borden, Canada's wartime Prime Minister, was receiving congratulations on the attainment of his 80th birthday. Resting quietly at his home, Sir Robert, still active and strong, read message after message expressing pleasure that he has reached such an advanced milestone.

Outstanding among the messages received were two. One came from Lloyd-George, closely associated with Sir Robert during the troublous days of the Great War. Lloyd-George was Prime Minister of Great Britain, Sir Robert of Canada. The other was from Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain.

Lloyd-George cabled:

"Felicitations on reaching the eightieth milestone of a career of distinguished service for your own Country and the Empire."

From Ramsay MacDonald came the following cable:

"Please accept heartiest congratulations from myself personally and my colleagues in the Cabinet on the attainment of your 80th birthday. To-day brings back to us many happy memories of your long record of distinguished service to Canada and to th British Commonwealth in war and in peace."

Cow Becomes Crazed, Upsets Gas Pumps, Wrecks Flower Gardens, Breaks Window

TAMWORTH, Ont., June 26—(CP)—This village experienced much excitement last night when a cow being driven through here suddenly became crazed.

First the animal dashed up on the veranda of Edward Dawson and got her head entangled in a chair. With the chair on her head, the cow rushed across the street, upset two gasoline pumps and plunged throug a plate glass window. The frenzied animal then continued its wild course through the village sending pedestrians to flight and wrecking flower gardens.

Finally the cow waded out into Beaver Lake and it required an hour's work by men and boys to get the animal home.

IN ELECTION DEBRIS AND ECHOES ADVERSARIES IN CAMPAIGN MEET

James Hawthorne Congratulates His Successful Rival, T. P. Lancaster, in Sheriff's Office.

RESPECT UNMARRED.

In the midst of empty ballot boxes and debris of the campaign, including copies of the Election Act and other printed matter that is supplied to deputy-returning officers, two of the standard-bearers in Peterborough's three-cornered engagement met for the first time since polling day in Sheriff Hall's office last night.

When T. P. Lancaster of Havelock, re-elected member of the Legislature, entered the room, the first to congratulate him with extended hand was James Hawthorne, who was present at seven o'clock when the first of the 135 boxes was opened.

Rev. John Sutherland, C.C.F. candidate, was not represented. The two adversaries in the recent conflict chatted together with every evidence of friendliness, unaffected by their political rivalry and appeal on the hustings.

Jack Harstone examined the statements from the deputy-returning officers. Matthew Elliott packed in a big box the envelopes containing the used ballots which will be held here for a month and sent to Toronto, where at the end of a year they will be destroyed.

"Several weeks ago the Election Act books were scarce and at a premium," Sheriff Hall remarked. "If anybody wants a copy now there is plenty to choose from. And some of them look as if they hadn't been used."

When the last poll return had been listed, the work of addition was begun, and finally Sheriff Hall turned the figures through an adding machine, with Ed. Humpage of The Examiner "double-checking" on his own instrument.

Offer Made Walker To Appear at Fair

CHICAGO, June 26 (C.P.).—James A. Walker, former Mayor of New York City, was cabled in London a $100,000 offer for a five weeks' personal appearance with his wife, Betty Compton, at the World's Fair.

The offer was made last night by Lew Dufour, manager of the Hawaiian Gardens Concession.

HEPBURN PLANS FEW DAYS REST

Will Be in Toronto on Wednesday to Meet Party Supporters.

ANNOUNCE CABINET

OTTAWA, June 26 (C.P.). —Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Premier-elect, will leave here to-day for Toronto where he will attend a meeting to-morrow of party supporters at which his Cabinet may be announced. After that, he intends to have a few days away from the rush and confusion of politics, before taking over the reins of office.

At the conference to-morrow will be the three men definitely in the Hepburn ministry — Harry Nixon, Provincial Secretary; Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General; and Duncan Marshall, Agriculture. There will be others, potential Cabinet ministers and party advisers from all over the Province. It is not certain the Cabinet will be announced after the meeting, but it is possible in view of the fact the incoming party will take over office in a week's time or shorter.

PRISONER WHO BROKE PAROLE DRAWS WRATH OF FELLOWS

Afraid to Return to Burwash and Asks for Penitentiary Term.

ESCAPE DURING GAME.

SUDBURY, Ont., June 26 (C.P.) —It wouldn't be safe for Edward Flewery, escaped convict, to return to Burwash Industrial Farm, for the other prisoners would beat him up, W. F. Kavanagh, chief provincial officer, told Magistrate J. S. McKessnock in Police Court to-day. So His Worship sent Flewery to penitentiary for two years.

Violating the gentlemen's agreement between inmates and authorities at Burwash Industrial Farm that prisoners would not escape while ball games were in progress, Edward Flewery brought down on his head the wrath of fellow-inmates at the prsion farm when he slipped away from the spectators' stand at the farm last Saturday, thereby bringing about cancellation of the inmates' privilege of holding ball games.

In court this morning, Flewery, who was convicted at Chatham on April 30 this year for burglary, said his escape was just a "crazy notion," and that he would rather go to Kingston than return to Burwash. Magistrate McKessnock imposed sentence of two years in Kingston to run concurrently with the sentence Flewery was serving at Burwash.

Chinese Communists Murder Missionary

HONG KONG, June 26—(A.P.).—The Dominican Mission to-day received word from Santuo that the Rev. Father Urban O. Martin, a young American from New Orleans who came to China a short time ago, had been murdered by Chinese Communists at Fo'an in Southern Fukien.

Another missionary, the Rev. Father Brava, who was captured by the Communists in January, is still missing and is believed to have been killed.

Member For Ottawa Named For Cabinet

OTTAWA, June 26 (C.P.)—The Ottawa Journal to-day publishes the following:

"Paul Leduc, K.C., who scored a notable victory for the Liberal party in the riding of East Ottawa in the recent Provincial elections, has been definitely invited by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Premier-elect, to join the Ontario cabinet now in process of formation. It was learned on excellent authority last night. He will be Minister of Colonization."

FIRED AT CELL TO SCARE BUCK DURING RIOTS

Warden Resigned Because of Lack of Discipline, Guthrie States.

PRISONERS PLOTTED RIOTS

No Time That Warden's Life Was Not in Danger.

OTTAWA, June 26 (C.P.)—The official secret of what is going on—and what occurred many months ago—within the grey walls of Kingston Penitentiary, Canada's largest prison, was "out" to-day and the big house beside Lake Ontario stood revealed as a turbulent stronghold that has seen no permanent peace since the 1932 riots.

Minister of Justice Hugh Guthrie told the House of Commons about it last night after two members had pressed for appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate conditions in Federal prisons. He described the part Tim Buck played in the furious riots of October, 1932, of Convict Sam Behan's death, the climaxing fires of last month and the subsequent resignation of Warden W. B. Megloughlin.

Quiet Not Restored

"I am sorry to say quiet has not been restored in Kingston Penitentiary," said the Minister, in referring to the regime of Colonel Megloughlin who, he said, was warned staff changes were contemplated before handing in his resignation. That was 11 days ago.

Riots were plotted from the time the former soldier took command, a few days after the most serious riot of all. At times these projected disorders broke out. Plans were laid among the most dangerous convict element to start fires in different parts of the penitentiary.

Warden Was Fearless

"There was no time in which he could say he was not in danger of his life," asserted Mr. Guthrie paying tribute to the resigned warden. "He did his best—he was fearless—to run the penitentiary as it should be." The Minister said the prison houses at least 100 dangerous insurrectionists. Many others are afraid not to join them.

Canadian Imports Greatly Increased

OTTAWA, June 26.—(CP)—Imports from all countries in May totalled $62,887,000 which was an increase of $19,960,000 or 60 percent as compared with the corresponding month last year, according to a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report.

Imports from Empire countries totalled $14,837,000 a gain of $4,221,000 as against May, 1933, while the total from foreign countries was $38,050,000 an increase of $15,740,000 or 70 per cent in comparison with the same month last year.

The United Kingdom led the Empire countries with $12,030,000 as again $7,927,000 in May 1933. Imports from the United States amounted to $30,630,000, an increase of $12,029,000.

More than 3500 qualified air pilots have been registered at the British Air Ministry.

Evidence of Battle Seen on Skeletons

CENTREVILLE, Ont., June 26 (C.P.).—Skeletons of two Indians, evidently victims of some ancient fight, were uncovered to-day in a sandpit six miles south of here. The head of a stone axe was embedded in the skull of one, while a flint arrowhead was found in the ribs near the back bone of the other. They were found about two feet under the surface of the ground.

SUGGEST EULER AS CHOICE FOR NEW HYDRO POST

Hon. Peter Heenan May Enter Cabinet as Minister of Lands.

MANY RUMORS.

Reported That Euler Has Been Offered the Hydro Position.

OTTAWA, June 26 (C.P.)—Hon Peter Heenan, former Federal Minister of Labor may enter the Hepburn Government as Minister of Lands and Forests and Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, may enter the Provincial fields as head of the Ontario Hydro Commission with a non-portfolio post in the Provincial cabinet.

With Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn in the city, rumors flew thick and fast to-day on the personnel of the Ontario cabinet which will take over power in a week or less but there was no official foundation for any of them.

Entry of the former Labor Minister was the most persistent. He is a former member of the Ontario legislature, lives in Kenora in the northern section of the province and has been a relentless critic of the administration of the Henry and Ferguson Governments in the Lands and Forest Branches for years. He took an active part in the Provincial election that swept the Liberals into office, particularly in northern constituencies.

Mr Euler is one of the most ardent champions of public ownership in the Federal field and it is understood he has been given the refusal of the Hydro post. He lives in Kitchener where the origin a plan for Hydro was conceived and, although never in the Provincial House, has been successful in every election since 1917.

Austrian Bombings Do Injury To Several

VIENNA, June 26 (C.P.). — A bomb blast to-day wrecked the office of the Secretariat of the Catholic Peasants' League at Mureck in South Styria.

Johann Wascher, league secretary, was seriously injured.

In Vienna, Terrorists touched off a bomb in Commerce Court, injuring three persons.

France will make extensive improvements at the Rochin aerodrome.

Smith is First One to Paddle Through North Channel of Longue Sault Rapids

Although four other canoeists have negotiated the waters of the south channel, John Smith of Peterborough is the first paddler in history to survive a trip down the north channel of the Longue Sault rapids, Mayor Roland Dennis was informed this morning in a letter from G. E. Hagerman of Aultsville, Ont., a witness of the feat yesterday.

Mr. Hagerman's letter read as follows:

"Dear Sir,—

"It may interest you to know that Mr. Smith, paddling the "Pride of Peterborough" passed through here this morning. He took the Longue Sault rapids, piloting his canoe through the channel taken by the Rapids Boat, the only boat which has successfully gone through the north channel. He is, I believe, the first to take this course in a canoe.

"I had the experience of watching him take the rapids and I think your city should be justly proud of a boy with his courage. God speed and good luck to him.

Yours,

"G. E. Hagerman."

Back reference to the copy of The Examiner issued on June 26, 1924, revealed a report of what is thought to have been the first successful canoe passage down either channel of the rapids. The report states that George Trum and Duke Weldingon both of Massena, N.Y., succeeded in making a passage down the south channel that week in separate canoes. Two men, the report relates also, attempted the feat in 1891 and were rescued with great difficulty by Indians.

BOARDING TRAIN FOR VANCOUVER WHEN ARRESTED

Identified as Man Who Robbed Winnipeg Bank on Friday.

CONFESSES POLICE SAY.

Posed as Messenger and Herded Employees Into Vault.

WINNIPEG, June 26.— (CP)—John Ercheeson, 25, who told police he was a road surveyor from Halifax, was arrested here today just as he was about to board a train for Vancouver, and charged with robbing the Portage Avenue and Arlington street branch of the Royal Bank in Winnipeg last Friday afternoon.

Obtained Confession

Police said they obtained a confession from the prisoner and that F. W. Wilson, bank manager, identified Escheeson as the man who herded him and three employees into the vault and escaped with $3,200.

In Escheeson's suitcase was found approximately $3,000 in bills, and a .44-calibre revolver was concealed in his trousers leg.

The bandit gained entrance to the bank half an hour after the regular closing time by posing as a messenger carrying an important despatch. After locking the staff in the vault he jumped into a waiting automobile and disappeared.

Sarnia Now Demands Men Work For Relief

SARNIA, Ont., June 26.—(C.P.)—With a view to reduction of relief, city council has decided to remove from the lists all able bodied men who are heads of families. Should any of these families be in need of assistance the head of the family will be required to work a certain number of days a week according to amount of relief needed. The ruling does not affect widows, disabled men with families and indigent cases.

Buried in "Robbers' Cave" 12 Year Old Toronto Boy Dies

TORONTO, June 26 (C.P.) — Death to-day overtook 12-year-old Donald Stevenson, who was completely buried in sand last night when his "robber's cave" a pit in a sand bank, collapsed about him. Despite efforts of three doctors and rescue crews, the lad, who had only faintly responded to respiratory efforts, gradually grew weaker and early to-day his last spark of life flickered out.

SPECTATORS BURST INTO TEARS DURING THE CRUCIFIXION SCENE

Passion Players Hypnotize Audience During Enactment of Life of Christ.

WONDERFUL ACTING

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

OBERAMMERGAU, June 26 — Thousands of spectators, not only women, burst into tears during the final act of the Passion Play as the cross with the figure of "Christ" attached to it was raised from the ground by a platoon of Roman legionaires and the symbol of the Christian faith suddenly stood out in stark and awesome reality against the golden background of the softly fading light of day. Then after a moment of terrible silence which made you hold your breath because it felt as if the heart of the world itself had stopped beating, there were heard the jeering voices of the mob railing at the impotence of the Crucified One. But above the tumult and dominating it like a clap of thunder, yet with in finite tenderness, rang out the divine voice: "Father, forgive them for they do not know what they do!"

For seven hours the crowd of 7,000 spectators had not stirred an inch, fascinated to the point of hypnotism as the greatest drama of the world's history unrolled before its eyes. When finally the

RENEW DEMAND FOR FREEING OF COMMUNISTS

A. E. Smith States League Delegation to Go to Ottawa.

TWO PRISONERS ILL.

Petitions Being Drawn Up and Letters Sent to Members.

TORONTO, June 26 (C.P.).—In the face of a statement at Ottawa that conditions were not tranquil at Kingston Penitentiary, the Canadian Labor Defence League to-day prepared to send a delegation to the capital to renew demands for release of Communist Tim Buck and his six comrades, sentenced in 1932 to five years' imprisonment as members of an unlawful assembly.

Plans of the League were revealed to-day by A. E. Smith, its general secretary, who was acquitted last winter of a charge of seditious utterance following a speech in which he was alleged to have said Buck was subjected to deliberate fire by guards during the prison riots of October, 1932.

Mr. Smith commented on a statement in the House of Commons that 11 shots had been fired into the roof of Buck's cell to scare him and dissuade him from inciting prisoners to further violence. He recalled that when the convicts were tried at Kingston for their parts in the riot the presiding judge credited Buck with having attempted to subdue violence and said he should be thanked for his action.

Grounds For Release.

Mr. Smith said the delegation would present a demand that the prisoners be released partly on the ground they had now served more than half their five-year terms, allowing time off for good behavior, and that brokers had been released from the Collins Bay section of the Penitentiary without serving greater terms of the sentences imposed on them for fraud.

He said further that the League had information that Sam Carr and Matthew Popovitch, two of the imprisoned Communists, were ill.

He claimed petitions were being drawn up in various sections of the country asking that the men be released. He added the Labor Defence League had sent letters to every member of Parliament presenting some "facts" in connection with the men's incarceration and that the letters were in the hands of the members now.

Race Horse Driver Severely Injured

The condition of Arthur Thompson, 183 Aylmer Street, who sustained severe injuries when kicked by a harness horse he was exercising at the Exhibition Grounds last Friday, was reported as favorable this morning. He will be confined to his home for some time, however.

Seated on the sulky, Mr. Thompson was endeavoring to turn his horse, Sir Oliver Rose, around when the accident occurred. He flicked the horse with a whip and the animal lashed out with both of its rear feet, knocking the driver to the ground. Internal injuries were sustained, and a number of stitches were required by extensive cuts and lacerations.

Dr. C. M. Scott has been in constant attendance on the injured man since the accident.

TRAGEDY MARS SCHOOL PICNIC

Three High School Students Drown When Overloaded Boat Sinks.

EIGHT ARE RESCUED.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., June 26. — (A.P.).—Three members of the graduating class of Watertown High School were drowned in Lake Ontario yesterday afternoon during the annual picnic of the senior class.

Those drowned were Raymond C. Butterfield, 17, Robert Case, 17, and Cecelia Kamalski, 19.

Eight others were saved after an overloaded 14-foot dinghy sank with 11 persons on board. Its capacity was five people.

The tragedy occurred about 600 feet off shore in about 10 feet of water. Witnesses said the boat submerged bow first but did not sink completely.

Members of the senior class and soldiers from Madison Barracks participated in the rescues. Three who clung to the boat were among those saved. Butterfield is reported to have lost his life when he tried to save the girl.

ADRIFT IN PUNT, BOY IS DROWNED

Port Hope Lad is Carried Out Into Lake Ontario.

UNABLE TO SWIM.

PORT HOPE, June 26.—Unable to swim ashore when an unwieldly punt rapidly drifted out into Lake Ontario, off the east beach, Ernest Wilkins, aged 10, was drowned yesterday afternoon. Numerous boats combed the area, but at sundown the body had not been recovered.

The victim, together with his brother, Albert Wilkins, 14, and Charles Burgess, 7, were playing along the shore and Ernest went out in the punt alone, despite the warning of his companions. A strong northwest wind was blowing and the frail craft was rapidly carried outward. About 150 yards from shore, Wilkins, fully clad, attempted to swim to shore, and after making twenty-five yards, disappeared from view.

Within a few minutes, the punt had drifted out of sight and, due to the heavy swell, it is thought that the body may have been carried out into the lake. Wilkins is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilkins, and several brothers and sisters.

CAMPBELLFORD TEACHERS ON SCHOOL STAFF

Three Town Girls Appointed Out of Thirty-two Applications Received.

BOARD MEETING.

Athletic Clubs Allowed Use of Grounds East and North of Building.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 26.—Out of a total of thirty-two applications for positions on the teaching staff of the Campbellford Public School, the Board of Education last evening chose three applicants for positions vacant, all of whom were local young ladies. These were, Miss Gladys Stephen, kindergarten primary, at a salary of $650 per annum; Miss Margaret Cock, a senior teacher with two years experience at a salary of $800 a year; and Miss Joy Riendeau, who will receive $625 a year. These positions were made vacant by the resignations of Mrs J. Free (nee Helen Bygott) Miss Freda Nelson, and Miss Helen MacDonald, the latter resignation being accepted with regret last evening by the board.

Given Use of Grounds

After much discussion on the advisability of throwing the grounds of the High School open for local lacrosse and softball players, the board decided to allow these two clubs to use the grounds to the east and north of the school. George O'Sullivan made a strong appeal for this action on behalf of the players of the town and also all the public who are interested in a central sports ground for the youth of the community.

The matter was brought up when James Massie, caretaker, addressed the board asking for a ruling on his authority regarding the use of these grounds, as in previous years only the north part of the school's five acres had been open to the public. He stated that he had had trouble over it, as also with boys throwing stones on the lawn and defacing the buildings, and the trampling down of the grass, newly sown, in the front of the school. The members of the board felt the strength of Mr. Massie's argument, and authorized him and the chairman of the Property Committee, T. E. Hall, to stop traffic through the front lawn by the erection of a fence.

The matter of a new boiler and heater for the Public School was also settled, when Clarence Massie, caretaker, gave an estimate of James Jacob, local plumber, to the board, for the installation of a second hand heater and boiler, the latter a 60 gallon capacity, quarter inch plate with 200 pound pressure, at a cost of $68. The board passed this on a motion of Dr. O. C. Watson and R. A. Connor, the matter to be left with the chairman of the Property Committee and the caretaker

The board also decided to call for tenders for the letting of the school bus routes this year. G. A. Kingston presided over the gathering, which was fully attended.

NURSES GATHER IN CONFERENCE

Discuss Proposal For Eight Hour Day of Nursing Duty.

800 ATTEND.

TORONTO, June 26 (C.P.)—Toronto was host today to 900 Canadian nurses gathered here for the biennial meeting of the Canadian Nurses Association which started a week's sessions this morning.

Feature of the gathering was the unprecedented representation of various religious nursing orders. Conspicuous among the delegates were the White Habits of the Dominican Sisters, the Brown-Habited Franciscans, the Grey Nuns, the Ursulines and the Sisters of Providence from Kingston.

Prefacing this meeting, the registered nurses of Ontario held their ninth annual meeting yesterday and re-elected Miss Marjorie Duck, Simcoe, president. Three hundred delegates from all parts of the province attended.

Discussions centred on proposals for an eight-hour day for nurses, suggested in papers on the subject by Miss Olive O'Neill, London, and Miss Lillian Goaltbe, Sault Ste. Marie.

Question of part-time nursing was touched on by Miss Jean Anderson, president of the Toronto General Hospital Alumnae.

Miss Bernice Lowsley, Meriton, read a paper on "the place of the industrial nurse in public health," and Rev. Sister Madelain De Jesux of the Ottawa General Hospital, discussed the problem of "providing for emergencies in a nursing school without disturbing student nurses."

Seventy thousand British school children are being carried on 120 special trains to London, Edinburgh and other cities as part of their summer educational program.

Forego Wheat Crop For "Black Gold"

Henry Robbins, a retired farmer living in Wichita, will have more than double the ordinary return from his wheat farm six miles from Wichita, Kansas, this year. While stacks of the yellow wheat lay amouldering on the field, oil wells are sprinkling up all over the district and the "bblack gold" is pouring out of the earth. Following the initial oil discovery on Robbins' land eleven other producers sank their wells in a hurry, all in the neighborhood. The picture offers a fine contrast of wheat and oil.

GIRL TESTIFIES OF MISCONDUCT WITH PREMIER

22-year-old Former Stenographer Sues Hon. J. E. Brownlee for Damages.

THREE HOURS ON STAND.

Alberta Prime Mininster Seemed to Exercise Spell Over Her.

(By George Finlay, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

EDMONTON, June 26. — (CP) — Tall, slim and self-possessed, 22-year-old Vivian MacMillan, erstwhile Alberta government stenographer, stepped into the witness stand in supreme court here today, prepared to face cross-examination by counsel for Premier J. E. Brownlee. She is suing the premier for unstated damages, charging seduction.

For three hours yesterday the girl told her own story of her alleged relations with the Prime Minister. She told of coming from the small town of Edson to the provincial capital in 1932, of being taken into the home of the Brownlees, and of Mr. Brownlee's allegedly improper advances towards her.

She told, also, of submitting finally to these advances made frequently during the period she was employed in the Alberta Legislature buildings. The premier, she told the court, seemed to exercise a 'spell' over her and would "play with her as a cat would with a mouse."

In Ill-Health

Since having improper relations with the premier she had been in ill-health she affirmed. The experience had been a shock to her whole system.

Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee were both

Deferred Election Will Now Proceed

REGINA, June 26 (C.P.).—There will be no postponement of the deferred election in the northern riding of Athabaska, Conservative Party leaders made known to-day. The decision was made at a meeting of the Cabinet and confirmed by Premier J. T. M. Anderson.

It was intimated the Liberal Government-elect would request postponement in order the riding might be divided into three sections. The division would afford Premier Anderson, Conservative leader, and M. J. Coldwell, head of the Farmer Labor (C.C.F.) group, acclamations.

Nominations will be called for today, the Premier stated, with the election a month later, on July 26. The Premier discounted reports that plans were being formed to provide a seat for him. A division of the riding, he said, could only be carried out by the Legislature.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES AT CHRIST CHURCH

Eigthy-five Years of Parish Life Observed at Campbellford—Special Music.

REV. C. E. CLARKE SPEAKS.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 26 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — With the church full to capacity at both hours of worship, Christ Church, Campbellford, observed the 80th anniversary of its church edifice, and the 85th anniversary of the beginning of parish history, on Sunday, when special preachers with very impressive sermons were featured at all hours of worship. Adding greatly to the success of the occasion, special music was featured by the choir, under the leadership of the organist, William Pearson, A.L.C.M. Holy Communion was sung in the morning, the guest speaker being the Rev. T. S. Boyle, M.A., D.D., of Cobourg. In the afternoon a memorial service was held in Christ Church Cemetery, when the speaker was the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, L.Th., of Birchcliff. In the evening, the Rev. C. E. Clarke, of Toronto, delivered the message, the soloist being Mrs. F. DeF. Free, who sang very impressively, "Sure of My Soul." All services were conducted by the rector, Rev. T. Floyd.

The Rev. E. C. Clarke preached a very outstanding sermon in the evening, taking for his text, "Be ye therefore perfect even as your father which is in heaven is perfect." In looking at the phraseology of this text, the speaker said that one might think that the Saviour was exorting us to strive for a good that was unattainable, but the better rendering of the Greek was, "Be ye therefore mature—do not be-

TAYLOR APPEAL IS NOT ALLOWED BY JUDGE RUDDY

Conviction Appealed on Grounds That Taylor Did Not Resist Arrest.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

Further Appeal is Hinted at by Counsel for the Appellant.

Noah Taylor of Curve Lake Indian reserve was unsuccessful in his appeal against his conviction of obstructing a police officer in the execution of his duty, and for which he has already paid the penalty of seven days in the county jail. His Honor Judge Robert Ruddy, by whom the case was heard, dismissed the appeal at a special sitting yesterday afternoon.

W. J. Arthur Fair, who appealed the conviction of Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., did so on the grounds that Taylor did not resist arrest in so much as the arrest was not properly made, as it should have been under a properly executed warrant.

Proposes Another Appeal.

He requested His Honor to give written reasons for judgment, stating his intention of taking the appeal to a higher court. The proceedings were closely followed by a larger group of Indians belonging to the Mud Lake band on the Curve Lake reserve, many of whom were called to give testimony.

The respondent was Inspector Fred Marshall, district warden for the Provincial Game and Fisheries Department, who was represented by V. J. McElderry, K.C.

Seeking Taylor on a charge of illegal possession of maskinonge, the Inspector testified that after obtaining permission of the Indian agent he had gone on to the reserve on the evening of May 17. In company of Sampson Taylor, the police officer at Curve Lake reserve, he called at Taylor's home. Entering the house he made a search for Taylor, not being entirely satisfied with the explanation that Taylor was not at home.

Subsequently Taylor was seen approaching the house, and Inspector Marshall testified he met him coming up the pathway and placing his hand on Taylor's shoulder said, "I arrest you on a charge of being in illegal possession of maskinonge."

Questioned Legality.

Under cross-examiantion by Mr. Fair, the inspector agreed that in offering some resistance to arrest, Taylor and other Indians had questioned the legality of the arrest. Taylor had refused to be placed under arrest, contending that the officer should have a warrant.

Inspector Marshall said that fearing a serious breach of the peace, he had refrained from completing his mission, but returned on the day following with two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers. The arrest being then made by Constable Wood, on a charge of obstruction.

Sampson Taylor, asked under cross-examination how long he had been a police officer on the reserve, with a certain dignity peculiar to his race, proudly displayed a certificate bearing a large red seal by which he was appointed supernumary constable in the R.C.M.P. on January 16 1933.

Told to Get Out.

He related that Inspector Marshall and himself received a hostile reception from the Indians and were told to get out of the house.

"Why did you not get out?" Mr. Fair demanded.

"Because we were looking for Noah Taylor," the constable replied.

"And neither of you had search warrants?"

"No."

During the course of his examination in chief, Constable Taylor testified that James Taylor, father of Noah Taylor, "peeled off his coat and was going to strike Marshall. In Mohawk dialect, the constable related, James Taylor had stated, "shall I brain him."

John Knott, Sr., testified that when Inspector Marshall and the constable came to Taylor's place, witness had asked the inspector if he had a warrant. "He said he had a piece of paper. We asked him to show us the paper but he would not do so."

Howard Whetung and Alexander Knott gave similar testimony regarding the inability of the officers to produce a warrant, and Taylor's refusal to submit to arrest without a warrant.

The Indian Act.

During the course of his argument of the case, Mr. Fair stated that while Taylor had also been convicted of having illegal possession of maskinonge he was unable to enter appeal in that case due to limitations of the Indian Act.

Under the Act, he pointed out, an Indian was excluded from the right to appeal any case where the fine was ten dollars or less.

Arguing the legal issues involved in the appeal against the conviction for obstructing an officer, Mr. Fair remarked, "as soon as they learn in Peterborough city and these other country places that to arrest a man it is necessary to have a properly executed warrant, so much the better."

Passion Play Presents Magnificent Spectacle Of Color

Gorgeous costumes, beautiful settings, thrilling choral music all conspire to create a magnificent spectacle of Oberammergau's famous Passion Play, the story of the New Testament. Above is a scene from the play, showing the stage and the huge settings.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

Christ-figure raised his tired and tortured head to heaven and in agonizing desperation called out the forever incomprehensible plaint: "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" men and women overcome by the heart-rending anguish of the scene buried their faces in their hands.

Audience Hysterical

Some sobbed aloud. Others appeared petrified by the devastating reality of the scene. One man near me, apparently touched in the innermost being, suddenly stood up and in a voice choking with tears called out: "Fuer mich, fuer mich hat Er es getan!" (for me, for me He did this).

On the stage the actors themselves seemed to have passed under the spell of the overwhelming tragedy. Tear-blind eyes everywhere stared as the figure on the cross stirred in nameless suffering and tossed his thorn-crowned head. Evening swallows, sweeping in broad flight against the silvery-blue expanse of sky beyond the stage veered away sharply, as if they feared to intrude upon a holy sanctuary. A silence like that of prayer hung over the assembly. Time itself seemed to be standing still. Suddenly the awful suspense was broken as the "Christ" with a deep sigh, which seared every heart like a red-hot iron, called out the liberating words: "Consummatum est!" (It has been accomplished.) Then every head bent forward instinctively, for this was the sigh that changed the course of history and that saved the human race.

The Final Scene

A chant of lament now arose, first softly, ululating and shaken by sobs, then growing in volume till it filled the tranquil evening with a deep mournful but melodious wail of awe. A lone feminine figure haltingly was seen to advance to the foot of the cross. A ray of the reddishly parting sun fell on the face of the dead "Christ." The head hung forward, the chin resting on the breast which had heaved but a moment before as it seemed about to be crushed under the burden of the sin of the world. Slowly the legionaires and the crowd of Jerusalemmers stepped back in an amazement mixed with reverence as the woman stumbled toward the cross.

This is Mary the Mother of Jesus, the Madonna full of grace, whose heart is pierced by a sword. It is easily seen that her sorrow is without limits. The choir has sunk to a low zooming lament. She embraces the tortured feet. Once she looks up at the deadly-pale face on high. Then she sinks to her knees. Thousands in the audience follow her example. The actors on the stage slowly walk out backwards. Mary is being left with her son. A tenor voice clear as crystal sings the XIII.-century hymn of Giacopone da Todi:

Stabat mater dolorosa
juxta crucen lacrymosa
dum pendebat filius

(At the cross her vigil keeping stood the mournful mother weeping.)

The Resurrection

Never was such sorrow, never such a painful scene. The life that seemed so promising but a week before, when the crowds sang hosannah, is now extinguished. Inexpressibly sad, her voice a hoarse sob that stabs your heart like a dagger, the Mother bewails her first-born. People are standing up in their seats. I see women who are ringing their hands. "Maria, Maria!" The cry comes from all sides....

Slowly the curtain begins to descend. Mary kisses the feet and touches them with her cheeks. The sun is going down to the land of the dead. The tops of the Bavarian Alps are flooded with a sheen of quivering silver. Then, miraculously, a last golden ray suddenly bursts over the rim of the hills and the scene on the stage is illuminated by the splendor of a strange, mystic light. All else has faded out. The actors have gone. The stage is deserted. There remains nothing but Jesus and his mother. She does not want to give him up. She will not let go of him. She stretches her arms out after him as if she wanted to wrest him out the grip of death.

The curtain is down at last. The choir breaks into a thunderous chant of joy, announcing the joyful resurrection.

NEW MACHINE EASES WORK OF ENGINEERS

Mechanical Mind Will Solve Most Difficult Problems Quickly.

AID TO AVIATION.

PHILADELPHIA, June 26 (A.P.)—Where human brains have been baffled, a "mechanical mind" promises to lead the way to "fool-proof" flying.

Solution of problems that now block the path of ultimate safety in aviation lies within the scope of a "machine that thinks," claim the men who are building the "brain" a the University of Pennsylvania.

Many a problem an engineer either cannot solve at all or upon which he must spend days, weeks or months in research or experiment can be dashed off in no time by the mechanical thinker, says Irven Travis, engineering instructor at the university.

Under what conditions plane wings begin to flutter, when struts start to vibrate, what can be expected of propellers — those and similar intricate technical details that spell the difference between safe flights and tragic crashes are, Professor Travis asserts, mere child's play to the "brain."

"We're mechanical engineers, and we don't know a thing about aviation, but if the fellows who do know flying will give us their differential equations, we'll help them out," Travis declared.

The mechanical mind works entirely in equations that wouldn't mean a thing to the average layman. It takes an engineer to start the "mimnd"—a complex machine 26 feet long, 10 feet wide, four feet high and weighing more than three tons—on its "thinking" process.

A problem is "set up" for solution by use of gears. A real poser may take half a day to prepare (easy ones take a half hour at most), but once the "brain" goes into action, it's all over in a couple of minutes. The answer comes out either as a plotted curve or in figures, depending what you want.

Clouds of dragonflies recently descended on the seaside town of Bornholm, Denmark, forcing children to rush for shelter and darkening the sky for several hours so that walking was almost impossible.

STORY OF N.R.A. BY ROTARIANS

Seek to Determine How Its Codes Embody Rotary Principles!

DOUBLE QUESTION.

DETROIT, June 26 (C.P.).—Rotarians from three-score nations scrutinized to-day the operation of business under the NRA, and sought to determine just how fully its codes embody the principles of Rotary.

The discussions, featuring the second session of the 25th annual convention of Rotary International, had as their keynote an address by Charles F. Kettering, research engineer of General Motors Corporation.

As the 10,000 delegates took up their discussions they were offered a double-barrelled question:

"Which," they were asked, "will tend more fully to develop world resources with greater ultimate benefits to society—

"National economic planning by industrial and commercial countries?" or

"A well-planned international exchange of goods and services?"

In seeking answers to this question the delegates had for their guidance the assertion of their president, John Nelson of Montreal, at Monday's opening session that "No one can contemplate what President Roosevelt seeks to accomplish without appreciating how intimately his objective is related to the objectives of Rotary."

So thrilled with aviation that she gave up her position as telephone operator to obtain a pilot's license, Miss Lotfia El Nadi of Almaza has become Egypt's first airwoman.

NAZIS HIT AT MONARCHISTS

Hitler Satisfies People Declares Goering at a Huge Meeting.

DEFINITE THREAT.

HAMBURG, Germany, June 26.—(A.P.)—"We have Hitler," thundered Germany's minister without portfolio, Herman Wilhelm Goering, "and we are satisfied."

A huge mass meeting gathered last night to hear General Goering hurl an ultimatum to a rising Monarchist expression, gave the minister prolonged applause after his address.

The Minister's remarks struck sharply and directly at Monarchist talk, and called for unity behind Chancellor Hitler. The very fact that he referred to Monarchist sentiment at all served to strengthen the impression that the government views the growing activities of Conservative factions among the Nazis as a definite threat.

"Whoever sins against confidence," Goering warned, "is putting his own head on the executioner's block."

The Minister turned thumbs down on any hopes there might be for the return of a Hohenzollern to the throne under Hitler's regime.

CHEAPER BEER IN QUEBEC.

TORONTO, June 26.—(C.P.)—Stewart McClenaghan, chief commissioner of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, declared to-day a reduction of 20 cents a dozen in the prices of Quebec manufactured beers had no special significance. "They probably felt they could afford to do it," he added.

NOT WANTED HERE.

The Examiner is campaigning against the possibility of beer being sold in Peterborough restaurants for two reasons: first, because it is our own firm conviction that such sale would constitute an evil influence and create undesirable conditions, and secondly, because we feel that in protesting against restaurant beer licenses we are voicing the opinion of the vast majority of local citizens.

Since the wine and beer legislation was introduced we have heard people of all shades of political opinion, of all walks in life, and of every possible opinion in regard to the liquor question, condemn the proposed restaurant sale whole-heartedly, while, on the other hand, we only recall one man who expressed himself as favoring the extension of beer sale to eating places.

That being the case, The Examiner would be untrue to its responsibility as a community newspaper if it did not express its own viewpoint, and undoubtedly that of nine-tenths of Peterborough's citizens, at this time when an attempt is being made to secure for at least one local restaurant the right to sell beer.

We believe the new administration should be told plainly and forcibly that this city does not want beer on sale in restaurants, and that any effort to foist such sale on this community will be resented by the people generally, including thousands of those who voted to place the Liberal party in power.

This is the time—before the applications are considered—to demonstrate the fact that Peterborough objects to any proposal to allow local restaurants to go into the beer business.

PROTECTION THAT FAILS TO PROTECT.

If the evidence given before the Stevens Committee last week as to the wages paid in certain Quebec industries can be applied to conditions generally in manufacturing establishments in that province, it is high time indeed that the Federal Government should do something about it.

The testimony in one regard to one boot and shoe factory, for example, revealed the fact that, although this concern made substantial profits during the last four years, it paid average weekly wages to its women employees in October last year of $8.75 and the average weekly pay of 172 male employees, 126 of whom were married, was $9.39.

This industry is receiving the benefit of tariff protection put on to save the jobs of Canadian workers and to ensure them a decent standard of living, according to the theory of those who believe in tariffs as a weapon of defence against low wage scales and sweated labor.

The boot and shoe iidustry in this country is protected with a tariff of around thirty per cent.; and yet here we have a concern that is taking full advantage of this protection so far as its profits are concerned, while the unfortunate workers receive none of the benefit.

No wonder the Ottawa Journal is constrained to point out that clearly in the case of this particular boot and shoe factory this 30 per cent. tariff protects nothing.

"All that it does," complains the Journal with reason, "is to enable that particular manufacturer to enjoy an extra profit margin of 30 per cent.—this while sweating his labor, paying a starvation wage."

A ONE-MAN HYDRO COMMISSION?

With much of the program announced by Premier-elect Mitchell Hepburn yesterday the people of Ontario generally will be in thorough accord.

The head of the new Government will have public opinion solidly behind him in the changes he proposes in the composition of the Liquor Control Board and the Workmen's Compensation Board, inasmuch as the reduction of these to one-man boards will greatly reduce the cost of administration and should at the same time increase the efficiency of these bodies.

Mr. Hepburn's plans to substitute a minister without portfolio for the present Hydro-Electric Power Commission is likely, however, to get a different reception.

One of the chief complaints in regard to Hydro administration in recent years has been that it has been too much in the hands of the Government, and that there has been political control that has seriously injured the publicly-owned Hydro system.

If the new Premier's policy means what it says he will not be taking Hydro out of politics, but as a matter of fact, putting it directly into politics, for he proposes to put the direction of the system in the hands of a cabinet minister who will not hold a portfolio.

It should not be forgotten that the Hydro system is not the property of the province of Ontario, but of the municipalities, which are partners in the scheme, and it is difficult to justify turning the direction and control of the whole enterprise over to a member of the Government merely because the province has assisted in the financing of the Hydro development.

The proposal is likely to cause a storm of protest from the Hydro municipalities, who will not be inclined to mildly yield to a plan that will take the control of the great system they have built up entirely out of their hands.

Fuller details as to what Mr. Hepburn has in mind in this matter will be awaited with a great deal of concern.

PUBLIC VOTES FOR SOUNDER FINANCE.

Confused as were the election issues in Ontario and Saskatchewan, one stood out clearly in both provinces. Followers of Mr. Hepburn and followers of Mr. Gardiner criticized rising taxes and mounting public debts under the regime of the Governments they were fighting. This was the outstanding issue both in the East and the West. And in Ontario and Saskatchewan the people rose against the excesses of government and registered a striking and unequivocal demand for more reasonable expenditures, for the right to retain for themselves a larger proportion of their incomes, now so largely diverted to taxation, and for an end to the snowballing of public debt without regard for the future.

It has taken years to arouse the public to an appreciation of the manner in which their liberties were being cramped by excessive government, and their incomes were being undermined by the costs of that government. But now the public knows and it augurs ill for Governments that do not heed the lesson.

The significance of these elections cannot be entirely lost at Ottawa. For it is in the Dominion sphere that leadership in the matter of less aggressive governmental ambitions is most urgent.

This is not a partisan matter. It so happens that the two Governments elected this week were Liberal in complexion and ousted Conservative Governments. But in the present temper of public opinion any Government would be defeated, because the public is tired of new taxes and new debts, and seeks a reversal of the whole recent trend of public finance.

Now, Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Gardiner must live up to their own pre-election promises to curtail expenditures or they too will have but short support from the people.—Financial Post.

LEADING THE WAY.

The general economic trend continues in the direction of recovery, says the current monthly summary of the Bank of Montreal, and adds that in this trend, "Great Britain and Canada, in opinions voiced by competent observers, have in late months led the way."

The movement of trade has continued upward, is the cheerful statement of the bank observer, who declares that in Canada there has been no serious repercussion of political unrest elsewhere.

There has been a wider area of trade activity, with steady or higher commodity prices, lessened unemployment and confidence pervading business circles.

The state of the public finances continues to improve. Ordinary Dominion revenues for the first two months of the fiscal year have totalled $77,906,167, a gain of $13,484,194 over last year, due to heavy increases in customs and excise receipts, and to a rise of a million dollars from income tax. By the middle of June, in fact, the deficit of ordinary Dominion expenditures over last year has been wiped out.

The main lines of Canadian industry and internal trade have continued to accelerate in activity. The output of electric power has reached a new high level in Canadian annals. The newsprint output also rose to new proportions in May with 242,539 tons, compared with 216,507 in April, a figure equalled only three times previously, and that during the exceptional peak of 1929; prevailing prices have been low, but the high production rate is rapidly using up accumulated raw materials and will have wide reactions upon employment. Woodpulp and lumber exports have been strong, the latter rising from 60,800,000 feet in April to 112,800,000 in May. Production of pig iron and steel ingots shows moderate increase, and there have been notably enlarged outputs of copper, lead, nickel and zinc. Gold and silver shipments have been well maintained; sales of the latter for export were the heaviest for the year. Construction, as measured both by contracts awarded and permits issued, scored a sharp advance (contracts rising from $11,000,000 in April to $17,000,000 in May and building permits from $2,246,000 to $2,942,000), but the level of activity remains low. The increase in the number of small contracts is, however, an encouraging feature.

Car loadings continue to increase in respect of all commodities save grain, exports of wheat being materially less than last year despite the higher price of the cereal. The last week for which returns are available, June 9th, shows total loadings of 42,933 cars, a gain of 2,109 cars over the corresponding week last year, all in the eastern division, loadings of grain and grain products being 4,781 cars less. Larger freight movement is reflected in the earnings of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways, the gross receipts of the two systems having increased $4,171,400, or 19.8 per cent. in May, and $18,550,000 in the last five months, or 19.6 per cent. Gross earnings of the railways are now on a parity with 1932.

The very substantial increase of 50 per cent. has occurred in the external trade of Canada during the last two months over the corresponding period of 1933, the value having risen to $178,291,000 from $119,804,000. To this increase imports contributed $34,000,000 and domestic exports $24,000,000. The rise in imports tells the tale of better domestic business, the value of merchandise imported last month, $52,886,800, having been exceeded in only one month since May, 1931. Total value of Canadian products exported in May, $57,900,000, was $12,323,000 greater than in May, 1933. To this increase meats, mainly bacon, contributed $1,420,000, planks and boards $978,000, newsprint $1,202,000, motor cars $744,000, copper $1,459,000 and nickel $960,000.

A further gain in employment conditions took place, and the official index number as of May 1st (92.9) is not only higher than the previous month (91.3) but very much higher than in 1933 (77.6) or 1932 (87.5). Manufacturing, transportation and construction showed material gains, particularly the first mentioned. It is also to be noted that the record of commercial failures has been on consistently lower levels since the beginning of the year, both in numbers and liabilities.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A newspaper comment describes Mr. Hepburn as being fired with enthusiasm. And from the Premier-elect's statements, a lot of other people are soon going to be.

Peterborough needs a number of things, but beer-selling restaurants are not included in the list. It is to be hoped the new Government will make a note of that fact.

Newspapers and individuals are already picking a new leader for the Conservative party in Ontario, but the Liberal board of strategy is probably hoping that no change will be made.

The Bennett Government is to be faced with a want of confidence motion this week, but with a safe majority in the House is not likely to lose any sleep over this particular gesture.

Premier Henry and his associates should speed up tht handing over of power to the new Government. Public business in the province is virtually at a standstill in the interval.

The United States ships quite a lot of shoe blacking to Africa. The natives probably use it for cold cream.—Pathfinder.

PEOPLE NOW THINKING

Editor of The Examiner.
Sir:

In your Editorial Notes and Comments of Friday's issue you claim more people used their franchise on Tuesday than at any other election in the history of the province. Even the politicians are puzzled to explain this record vote. Yet there must be a reason. As a rule The Examiner generally says, I told you so, but from some cause or other a cog must have slipped in the guessing machine of The Examiner that they have been unable to suggest a reason. During my period of practically three score years and ten, I have never once voted either Conservative or Liberal. Throughout the campaigning we listened to the two old parties being fittingly described as resembling the hen standing first on one foot then on the other. When times were fairly good working people seemed to take no interest in political propaganda or take sides with either party so much so that on going to the polling place if they could be assured of the winning party they would cast their vote with that party rather than be on the losing side. This state of affairs has had its day and people are thinking more seriously and realize that in order to bring back prosperity there must be a change in the present productive system by the transfer of production from private predatory interests to the community. This theory is being advanced by various political groups but chiefly by the C.C.F. who elected one of their candidates from a group of thirty-seven, hence we have a logical reasoning for the so-called record vote.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WE ARE BETTER THAN WE WERE

So often men and women look back through the years and sigh because we have not become what we intended to be....They remember those bold, blind ambitions, remember the energy they used to have, remember the wild drives of their lives, and feel rather mournful about themselves....They have a feeling of failure.

I disagree with that feeling, even though I have had it, even though I feel that there is something to be said for that lugubrious point of view.

Too often we have thrown away the best for a bit of trash. Too often we have allowed the bright dream to be tarnished. Too often, at some crucial moment in our lives, we have been less brave than the occasion demanded—and we mourn our cowardice forever.

But still I do not see why a mortal should fall into the error of believing that he was better than what he has become....It does not seem reasonable, and why should we accept it?....We need not accept ourselves complacently, whitewashing our errors and follies, but why is it necessary to indict ourselves so bitterly? . . . That sounds like unfair nonsense to me.

Some of those dreams we had were shiningly unselfish. But we had to abandon them because they conflicted with living and beautiful responsibilities. We could not realize them without selfishness. Somewhere along the way we abandoned them with a sigh because there was nothing else for us to do. And when we went back to find them again they had vanished, or some other traveler had picked them up and gone his way.

I know that men and women change with the years, and sometimes they become weaker and less than they were. But very often wisdom and tolerance and decent understanding take the place of the powers that are gone....That happens. I have seen it happen and so have you. I know a considerable number of people who are better and stronger right now than they were twenty years ago. And deep within me I believe that this is what happens to most of us.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

MINNEDOSA, MANITOBA

Back in 1873, a one-armed veteran of the American civil war, John Tanner, settled at this point. He operated a ferry across the river, then known as the Little Saskatchewan, and the place naturally took the name of Tanner's Crossing.

The first surveyed townsite was about two miles west of the present location of the town, and it was labelled with the name Odanah, the origin of which is unknown to local residents, although some declare it means Great City, in the Indian language.

The site of the present town was laid out in 1881 and it was named Minnedosa. The word is an Indian one and opinions differ, even among the Indians, as to its meaning. The general opinion is that it means Running Water.

Minnedosa is situated in the northern part of the province, in a rich agricultural district, and forms one of the southern gateways to the famed Riding Mountain National Park.

MINISTER PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON

New Minister to be Inducted Into Cavan Circuit on Thursday Evening.

CAVAN, June 26.—(Examiner Correspondence).—On Sunday evening in Cavan church the Rev. Dr. Lang preached an impressive sermon on "The Church". It was his last sermon as pastor of Cavan circuit and he left many helpful thoughts and good wishes for the progress of the church. General regret is felt that ill health has caused Dr. Lang to give up work.

It was announced that the induction of the new pastor the Rev. Mr. Trumper will take place in Cavan church on Thursday evening.

Cavan Women's Institute met at Mrs. George Clarke's, Millbrook, on Thursday afternoon with a good attendance of members.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the presentation to Mrs. Lang of a beautiful China vase before her departure to reside in Toronto. Lunch was served by Mrs. Perrin's group at the conclusion of the meeting and a social time enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Creighton Carr, Cavan, and Mr. Ross Carr, Bethany, motored to Haliburton at the week end.

Mrs. W. Hatherly and daughter, Miss G. Hatherly, attended the decoration day service at Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough, on Sunday.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A BOISTEROUS WELCOME

On this date, in 1759 the British fleet under Admiral Saunders, carrying Wolfe's army, anchored off the Island of Orleans. It had left Louisbourg on June 6 and had been piloted up the river by Samuel Holland, later the first surveyor general of Canada, and James Cook, afterwards the great circumnavigator of the globe, who, after discovering Australia, was murdered on the Sandwich Islands (Hawaii). Their charts had been prepared by Captain John Simcoe, father of the first lieutenant governor of Upper Canada, and are notable as having been found almost absolutely correct. Although John Simcoe had never been up the St. Lawrence.

The fleet's arrival was, of course, soon learned in Quebec where Vaudreuil and Montcalm were quickly informed of the landing of the first of Wolfe's troops (which numbered some 9,000 in all). Prayers for the preservation of the town and of Canada (and, of course inferentially, for the destruction of the British sailors and soldiers) were said in the churches; and it is recorded that a great storm swept down the river that night, its mighty wind carrying disaster to all that lay in its path. It certainly gave the British an unpleasant twenty-four hours. Ships broke from their moorings and were saved only with difficulty; others were badly damaged in their rigging; quite a number of lives were lost in the battle against the elements; and altogether Saunders and his sailors and Wolfe and his soldiers were given a boisterous welcome to Quebec. And there were, of course, many folks in Quebec who believed that the storm (one of the greatest in the annals of Canada) was the direct result of the previous day's prayers. It delayed, but did not destroy, the plan of attack and within a few days the siege had begun. British strategy could not be defeated by even a historic gale.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Jeannette Sullivan,
Douro, Ont.

I am so sorry your request to The Examiner for your number and birthdate did not reach me. No doubt it arrived when I was in hospital, and of course I had to relinguish my task for a while. However, here it is: Your number is five, that is what we term a birth-path number, and you will find that people who like yourself possess an odd number will react to your vibrations and by sympathetic towards you. Most people who are born under the Sign of Gemini the Twins which is from May 22 to June 21st are gifted with characteristics such as yours, and also have pretty much the same type of writing which shows mental intellect, and many times these people aspire to literary creations, either in fiction, poetry or in newspaper work. You are ruled by Mercury, which is the mental planet, you possess much wisdom and common sense. April and August are your best months, Friday your most fortunate day. I expect you have been a reader of "The Examiner" a good many years, and with all due respect to your wisdom and years, let me wish you continued health and happiness.

Clarence H. Freelan,
235½ Citrus Ave.,
Corrina, California.

Your handwriting as portrayed on your sample indicates that you are the mental type. You seem to have the ability to think quickly, and usually correctly. There is, however, a tendency to progress a little too rapidly, because your mind registers thoughts more quickly than the pen can put them down, as it were. You really belong to the executive type, and should command attention through your initiative and interest in money matters. Your disposition is usually about the same, but once in a while there is the fire of temperament in your eyes. At these times, no doubt, the words tumble out almost without thought. The terminal attendant to the surname, expresses a finality with which you attend to detail, or any business in which you are interested, especially advertising. The capital "F" indicates self-confidence and reflects a kindness peculiar to you, that of doing all the good you can in passing, but yet keeping your goodness secret. You are reserved and thoughtful, but not meddlesome. You believe that each person has a definite purpose in life, and you honestly endeavour to find yours and to do your very best, no matter what difficulties arise.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 26 (CP)—Eggs, cheese and potatoes advanced on the Montreal Produce Market yesterday, while the price of butter was slightly easier.

Eggs were ½ to 1c firmer. Graded shipments were quoted at 20½c to 21c for A-large; 19½ to 20c for A-medium; 19 to 19½c for B, and 16 to 18½c for C. Receipts were 1,119 cases.

Butter was off ¼c, fresh No. 1 being 20c. Arrivals were 2 boxes. Small lots to retailers sold for 21 to 22c for solids and 22 to 23c for prints.

Cheese prices were ½c stronger. Ontario colored being 10¾ to 10¾c. Quebecs were quoted at 10¼ to 10¾c. Receipts totalled 531 boxes.

The potato market was 5c better, New Brunswick Mountains being 80 to 85c per 80-pound bag. Quebec Whites, 70 to 75 per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains $1 to $1.05 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 26. — Rains in Central Europe and easiness in outside markets made for lower wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Net losses were ⅜c to ¾c.

Broomhall reported week-end rains in England, Germany, and France, sufficient apparently to afford some relief to crops. Speculative demand was also lacking and the market had difficulty in mustering any appreciable support. World shipments of wheat and flour last week totalled 10,500,000 bushels, with North America furnishing about 4,500,000 bushels.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 26. — A huge movement of newly harvested wheat in the United States, together with rains in England, France, Germany, and Australia, pitched grain prices downward yesterday. Refusal of the Liverpool market to follow Saturday's sharp advance in North America gave a black eye to Chicago wheat values right at the outset.

Zoo Doctor Cures Maimed Animals

NEW YORK, June 26 (C.P.).—A deer ready to walk and a once-blind raccoon that can just see trifle are nuzzling the hand of Dr. Charles V. Noback at the Bronx Zoo Hospital these days.

The deer became caught in a wire fence and broke its leg. Dr. Noback put the injured leg in splints for almost three months. Patiently the deer has awaited release—asking only a kind word or a bit of nose-scratching. Now it is ready to join its mates in the park.

The racoon was brought to the hospital totally blind because of cataracts. Dr. Noback sought the aid of Dr. Edward B. Gresser, a noted surgeon, and he operated on one eye. A few days ago he operated on the other one. The animal can now distinguish light from darkness.

GAINS FEATURE TORONTO TRADE

Interlisted, Beverage, Steel and Miscellaneous Groups Show Healthy Advances.

METALS ALSO STRONG.

TORONTO, June 26 (C.P.)—The price tone picked up on an improved volume of trading this afternoon on the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange. The market closed with gains showing a healthy margin over losses, particularly in the interlisted, beverage, steel and miscellaneous groups. The metals, Nickel and Smelters, were strong, the former closing 55 cents up at $25 55, and Smelters up ½ at 148, after selling at 145 in the early session.

Distillery shares were irregular, Walkers Common holding a narrow gain, while Industrial Alcohol was sold quite heavily at a loss of ⅝. Other issues of the group were unchanged. Other firm spots in the interlisted group were Ford A. International Pete and British American Oil.

CHEAPER GOLDS AGAIN IN DEMAND

Teck Hughes Leads the Turnover in Higher Priced Issues.

TORONTO, June 26 (C.P.). — The cheaper golds were given a play to-day on the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange and in the higher priced issues, Teck-Hughes had the main turnover. The general tone was strong in the group while Base Metals showed some improvement and silver shares were steady to firm. Volume over the board was better than the summer average.

Among the small fry, Bagamac returned to the spotlight, and recovered some of the ground lost in its long slide from 60 to 10 cents a couple of months ago. It pushed up to 18½c to-day to show a net gain of 7½ cents.

Advances of 5 to 30 came out for Hollinger, Wright-Hargreaves, Teck Hughes, Lake Shore, and McIntyre, and Dome added $1.00 Noranda, Hudson Bay and Waite-Amulet were up.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Looking at this market from the angle of day-to-day performance it would seem that stocks have had about all of the technical correction required and that over the next few days an upward drift is likely to be witnessed. The immediate news releases will play an important part on day to day fluctuations, but not much progress is likely to be made on the up-side at least until it becomes definitely established whether or not business is to have even as much as a seasonal let-down.

From the longer term viewpoint it must be recognized that during the month of May the market completed a turning movement. The minor down trend was reversed and the base was then laid for the start of the fall advance. Most of the fundamental factors affecting security prices are favorable to a higher stock market. However, sentiment is still uncertain and confidence in the future quite wobbly. The market needs something in the way of unexpectedly favorable developments and given that progress on the up side could be quite rapid.

Brokers' Opinions

Munds, Winslow, Potter. — "We think the market is in an advancing phase which reflects not only many current strong factors, but is anticipating further improvement in response to the many present expansive forces."

Paine, Webber.—"The broad underlying the position of the market is still definitely favorable and a policy of picking up stocks on all weak spots like the present is advocated.

Stein Bros. & Boyce.—"Believe at present level that market purchases can be made during periods of irregularity for a trading turn up to approximately 98 or 99 averages.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 26. — (CP) — Prices dropped further on the cattle division of the Toronto Livestock market this afternoon and tacked a 10 to 15 cent drop to yesterday's 25-cent loss. Trading continued very slow and only 800, less than a third of the supply, were sold. Calves weakened and sold 25 to 50 cents lower while hogs, sheep and lambs went unchanged.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 980; calves, 730; hogs, 760; sheep and lambs, 1760.

A few weighty steers brought $3.90 to $5.50 while butcher cattle sold mostly at $3.75 to $4.75 with a few choice at $5.00. Cows were slow at $2.00 to $3.50 cwt. according to quality. Good butcher bulls ranged from $3.00 to $3.25 while bolognas brought $2.50 to $2.75. Fed calves went from $5.00 to $6.00 with only a few at the top.

The calf division lost ground and sold 25 to 50 cents lower at $5.00 for tops. The bulk of the supply changed hands at $3.50 to $4.00. Hogs, after an opening in which bids were down 15 cents, settled steady at $8.40 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.95 off truck and $9.15 off car.

Lambs showed a weak tone, selling at $8.50 for the bulk of choice lambs. A few late-afternoon sales were at $8.00. Sheep held at $2.00 to $2.50 for best.

Livestock Quotations

Cattle, hog, sheep and lamb quotations remained unchanged.

Calves, good and choice $4.75 to $6.00; common to medium $3.00 to $4.50; grassers $2.50 to $3.00.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, June 26 (C.P.). — Bacon hog prices were unchanged to-day at $8.35 to $8.40 a hundredweight f.o.b. shipping point, with $1.00 premium for extras. 80-day's prices: Hull, Que., $9.00 off truck; Peterborough, $8.35; Stratford, $8.40.

BRITISH GOLFERS HOLD LEAD TO FINISH QUALIFYING ROUND

Percy Allis and James Adams Continue to Lead Pace in British Open.

LOW SCORES TO-DAY.

(By Gayle Talbot—A.P. Sports Writer).

SANDWICH, Eng., June 26. — (A.P.)—A low-scoring epidemic swept the final day of the 36-hole qualifying round for the British open golf championship to-day and enveloped almost all but the four invaders from the United States who trailed the pace-setters, Percy Alliss and James Adams, who had 141 totals, by at least seven strokes.

Adams and Alliss shaved seven strokes off the Royal Cinque Port course's par of 74 for second round 67's to add to their first day's 74's scored over the Royal St. George's course, where the 72-hole championship proper will be played, beginning to-morrow.

Alliss, a British Ryder Cup player, and Adams, professional from the Royal County Down club, held a two-shot lead over their closest pursuers, Syd Fairweather, British pro., and E. F. Storey, British Walker Cup star, who were tied with 143's.

Macdonald Smith, of Nashville, Tenn., with a 36-hole aggregate of 148, led the Americans. He got off to a brilliant start over St. George's, negotiating the first nine in 32, but then encountered a run of trouble and hard luck to take an inward 41 for a 73. He scored a 75 over Cinque yesterday.

Denny Shute of Philadelphia, the defending champion, returned to form to post a one-under-par 73 at at Cinque for a two-round total of 149.

Shute had his wood shots and putter under better control and easily got inside the qualifying gold limited to the first 100 and ties.

Gene Sarazen, 1932 champion and betting odds favorite, and his touring exhibition companion, Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot performer from Australia, who holds the Canadian open title, qualified with 150's. They achieved this total from two rounds each of 75. Sarazen, playing St. George's, continued to have trouble with his putter and wasn't able to shake off the "three-put jinx" that attached itself to him yesterday.

MISSMACMILLAN CROSS EXAMINED

Former Civil Servant is Suing Premier of Alberta.

COURT ROOM CROWDED.

EDMONTON, June 26 (CP)—The court room was crowded when Mr. Justice W. C. Ives resumed the MacMillian-Brownlee hearing today.

In the small court room to-day only 60 spectators could be seated, and many disappointed persons stood about the door or in the corridors.

Seated in a big leather chair, which had been brought in for his comfort, A. L. Smith, K.C., his right arm in a sling, waited to start his cross examination of Vivian MacMillan.

Mr. Smith was injured in an automobile accident and only recently released from hospital in Calgary.

A plaster cast which he had about his arm Monday had been removed. He is being assisted by M. M. Porter, K.C., in defending the Premier.

Neil MacLean, K.C., of Edmonton, is chief counsel for the plaintiff. R. H. Harrison, of Leduce, is associate counsel.

Former Civil Servant

Miss MacMillan, a former Government stenographer, Monday testified in detail regarding her relationship with Mr. Brownlee over a three-year period—a story of intimate relations and, she said, of her attempts to gain freedom from his advances.

She was accompanied to court again to-day by her mother, Mrs. Allan MacMillan. Mrs. Brownlee was seated beside her husband at the counsel table.

Opening his examination Mr. Smith dealt with visit of Mr. Brownlee to Edson in 1930. The Premier was accompanied by Dr. R. C. Wallace, President of the University of Alberta. It was during this visit Miss MacMillan claims Premier Brownlee suggested she come to Edmonton and take a business course.

Several times the examination was halted when Miss MacMillan broke down, tears streaming down her cheeks. She was permitted to sit down and gain control of her nerves. She had come to Edmonton to take a business course, following suggestions made by Premier Brownlee at Edson in 1930. She reiterated he had promised to be her guardian, to open his home to her.

"When did you get the idea he enticed you from home with a plan to seduce you?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Some time in the Fall of 1931 you got the idea? Where did you get it?"

"It didn't come all at once. I was older for one thing. I had read of seduction cases in fyles of the Attorney General's office where I worked. My eyes were open," replied the witness.

NEW METHOD WILL IMPROVE HOG INDUSTRY

(Cons. Lambton East) and others protested that packers hid behind government grading to cut the prices to the producers. The report however, holding that grading "has been of real value to the live stock industry," was carried.

Maintained Quality

"It has assisted in maintaining the quality of bacon required and demanded in the British market," the report continued, "and has enabled the Canadian farmer producer to become a competitor in the higher grades of bacon and bacon products in the export markets of the empire and of the world."

The committee urged that "further efforts should be made to increase the percentage of select bacon hogs produced on the farms of Canada, and to this end commends the investigation at present under way by the Department of Agriculture into the merits of grading on rail or of the carcass and which method, it is understood, will be initiated in certain plants in early July of this year."

The report also commended "the action of the Department of Agriculture in the development and application of export bacon grading regulations, all bacon for export being now graded to certain standards, under the supervision of the department, based on suitability to the British trade. There seems to be no reason why Canadian Pork products should not rank with the best in the world, and that as our exportable surplus increases prices will maintain a reasonable level and give an adequate return to the farmers of Canada."

Assists Farmers.

The significance of the matter is simply that hog producers dealing with the Peterborough and Kitchener plants are to be given the option of being paid in accordance with the dressed weight of their hogs instead of the live weight, Gordon S. Matthews, manager of the local plant of Canada Packers Limited, explained to The Examiner. Grading on the rail is considerably more accurate than grading on the hoof and the farmers will have a chance to know better the type of animals they are producing, he said.

The advantages of the custom of grading on the hoof have been in favor of the farmer as often as in favour of the buyer, he said. However, all other countries exporting hogs to the United Kingdom have been grading on the rail and it is apparently the Government's intention to introduce the same system generally in Canada as a means of improving indirectly the grade of the export product. The system is to be worked experimentally at the local and the Kitchener plants until details for general application have been worked out, as explained.

The current price for dressed weight is 12½ cents a pound and for live weight, 8½ cents a pound.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, une 26.—(A.P.) — With much of the recently bearish news apparently having been discounted, stocks rallied to around 3 points to-day. While the volume expanded moderately, transfers approximated only 6,000,000 shares. Among the outstanding gainers were Santa Fe, U. S. Smelting, Homestake, Howe Sond, Wilson & Co., U. S. Steel, American Sugar Refining, American Beet Sugar, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Can anl Western Union.

IN ELECTION

those received which The Examiner received by telephone on election night confirmed the general correctness of the first summaries. One poll that had reported 91 for Hawthorne, 35 for Lancaster and 19 for Sutherland, was revised at 73 for Hawthorne, 57 for Lancaster and 24 for Sutherland. Several other changes of minor effect were noted, but on the whole The Examiner's election night news gathering from all parts of the county reflected credit, especially on the field staff in the townships and villages.

County Cricket

LONDON, June 26.—(C.P. Cable). —Sussex defeated Yorkshire by an innings and 116 runs in a first-class county cricket match concluding today at Sheffield, thanks to deadly trundling on a bowler's wicket.

The victory kept Sussex far ahead of the champion eleven in the county championship standing. The scores: Sussex 357 for five, declared (Melville 78, John Langridge 79, H. Parks 66, Cook 91 not out). Yorkshire 126 and following on 115 (J. Parks four for 37, Wensley five for 46, James Langridge nine for 64).

Essex defeated Hampshire by nine wickets at Chelmsford. Hampshire, 305 and 149 (Arnold 127 and 77, Evans five for 46); Essex, 301 and 154 for one (Cutmore 104, Kennedy seven for 73, Pope 64 not out).

Nottinghamshire won on the first innings over Worcester at Worcester. Nottingham 407 (Gunn 61, Keeton 66, Harris 56, A. Staples 66, Larwood 53); Worcester 199 and following on, 64 for one (Martin 60, Larwood seven for 51).

Glamorgan won on the first inning over Somerset, at Downside. Glamorgan 331 and 124 for five, declared, (Emrys Davies 84 and 57, Glover 62); Somerset, 226 and 46 for one (Glover five for 88).

The match between Gloucestershire and Middlesex was drawn at Gloucester. Middlesex 260; Gloucestershire 67 for three wickets. Rain prevented play yesterday.

Grove Students Conclude Another Successful Year

Closing Exercises Are Held at Grove

Rev. Father Roland F. Palmer, Member of the Cowley Fathers of Bracebridge and an "Old Boy" of The Grove, is Special Preacher.

PRIZES ARE PRESENTED TO THE STUDENTS FOR THEIR ACADEMIC AND SPORT STANDING

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, June 26— The Grove was en fete on Friday afternoon for the annual closing exercises which were attended by a large number of parents and friends of the school. Shortly after noon visitors began to arrive until at two o'clock the chapel was filled to capacity for the service. The service was impressive. The hearty clear voices of the boys singing their favorite hymns, echoed among the rafters of the vaulted roof and the glorious sunshine of a perfect summer day filtered through the stained glass memorial windows adding to scene, a beauty all its own.

Father Palmer Preaches

The special preacher, an "old boy" of The Grove was Father Roland F. Palmer of Bracebridge who is a member of the Cowley Father's of the church and who has done such remarkable service in the monastery at Bracebridge and the mission work in the sparsely settled district.

Father Palmer took as his text, "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends." Religion is friendship with God who chose us to be His friends. A friend is one who understands and appreciates what one does. God gave to man understanding given to none other of His creatures and man alone can appreciate the wonderful works of God. God gave to us the sense of beauty which is really God looking out of things at us. We were created for His pleasure and to share the beautiful things He has made. Our Lord said, "I have called you friends" and this friendship must be kept up. The altar is like God"s fireplace and also like God's table where He feeds us. We come to God's house to give our love and service and to receive God's blessing.

Hubert Eisdell, a former master of The Grove and now an outstanding tenor soloist, contributed a solo which was greatly appreciated.

Following the service the assembly gathered on the lawn where the prizes were distributed by Mrs. MacKenzie, the gracious chatelaine of the school. The scene was beautiful with the group of school boys and master and seated the guests, the ladies in the daintiest of summer frocks and the summering trees with glimpses of the lake between the overhanging branches.

Dr. MacKenzie, gave a short address reviewing a successful and happy year with good progress along academic lines and with the various teams showing an admirable record.

An outstanding event was the Old Boys' re-union which was so successful and which revived old memories and was such a happy time for the school and the visiting ex-pupils. The doctor referred to the singing of Mr. Eisdell, a former member of the staff and said he did not teach him to sing as he did or Father Palmer (a former pupil) to preach as he does, but he did take the latter to the lake and teach him to swim.

It's Crisp And Cool

Crisp and cool looking is this pretty summer frock of delicately patterned organdie with white flowers on a blue ground.

The fabric has been treated to give it a permanent crispness, which does not disappear when it is laundered.

The collar accenting the high neckline, and the matching circular, double ruffled shirt sleeves, are of white organdie which also has this permanent crispness.

Sewing Blue Eagles Girl is Underpaid

CLEVELAND, June 26 (CP)— When Edith Rosen was paid only 25 cents for 8½ hours in a factory here, she decided to complain to NRA officials.

On orders of NRA investigators, her employers paid her $2.15 more, and also contributed five cents for a copy of the code under which they operate.

"What burned me up," she said, "was the fact that they put me to work sewing Blue Eagle emblems on neckties."

FIRED AT CELL TO SCARE BUCK

tiary must be obeyed," he declared. "There is an element there that will not obey rules. If ordered to work they will refuse, and there is only one way we can go—physical force, or our penitentiary is out of control."

Buck, fiery leader of the Communist Party of Canada, who was convicted late in 1931 at Toronto for being a member of an unlawful society and was sentenced to five years, played a part in the 1932 rioting, declared Mr. Guthrie. But the Minister said no shots were fired at Buck.

Facts About Shots

Making his first official statement on a story that shots landed inside Buck's cell, the Minister of Justice described in detail what happened after troops had been called to help quell the yammering, destructive convicts who surged through the corridors.

"The situation was serious, and Buck was one who had been encouraging the disorder," he said. "He was in his cell, making speeches to the prisoners and encouraging the disorders. I suppose it was to frighten or cow him that guards fired into the ceiling of his cell.

"There can be no doubt of this: If anyone wanted to shoot Tim Buck it could have been done. The fact that 11 shots were fired and he was not hit shows they were not trying to hit him."

Buck's connection with the riot received prominence several months ago when a charge of sedition was laid against A. E. Smith of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence League, for allegedly stating Buck's "murder" was ordered during the riots by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett. Smith denied making the statement, and was acquitted.

Constant Danger.

Whether or not the Communist chieftain was active in keeping the rebellion alive after the 1932 outbreak Mr. Guthrie did not say. But he said the Penitentiary was in constant danger of insurrection. The situation became more acute at the start of this year.

"The noisy and dangerous element," he said, "continued to plan another insurrection." Convicts demanded more and more favors. The fire that broke out in the prison on May 15 caused damage of $35,000, and was traced to incendiarism, the Minister said, although the blame could not be fixed.

Insurgent prisoners chose to stage a demonstration on the day the Governor-General visited the Royal Military College at Kingston. Mr. Guthrie admitted after Miss Agnes Macphail, Southeast Grey Progressive, had charged 36 men were "paddled" following this demonstration. Until the outbreak the Governor-General had intended visiting the prison.

A section of the prison population set up a howl in their cells. They flooded the cells with water. Mr. Guthrie said 22 convicts were tried and sentenced to "paddling." Five were found physically unfit to undergo the punishment.

Miss Macphail Speaks.

Miss Macphail charged that "this wholesale punishment" was not in the best interests of order in the penitentiary. It had become apparent, the Minister said, that conditions must be changed. Warden Mcgloughlin was called to Ottawa and informed that changes were pending. He resigned a few hours after his interview with Mr. Guthrie, who said the chief complaint against him was his failure to enforce prison rules.

Miss Macphail also brought up the subject of Sam Behan's death on May 26, 11 days after he had received four strokes of a leather strap for smashing the furniture in his cell. Behan was sentenced by the Warden's court to receive 20 strokes. He asked to be spared the others after getting four and the request was granted.

Jury's Verdict.

A coroner's jury decided Behan's death was due to natural causes, Mr. Guthrie said. Death was pronounced due to coronary thrombosis, a disease impossible to detect and for which there was no remedy. The convict was in an isolation cell at the time of his death.

Miss Macphail and J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Party, both pressed for a Royal Commission probe into Federal penitentiaries, but the Minister of Justice made no reference to this demand during his speech.

GIRL TESTIFIES OF MISCONDUCT

in court during the first day of the hearing. The premier took frequent notes during the course of the period Miss MacMillan told her story.

Only once was she interrupted in her direct testimony. This was when A. L. Smith, defence counsel, objected when Neil Maclean asked her to repeat conversation. He said: "I am not charging witness recently fabricated her story. She has fabricated it for years."

In the action, being heard before Mr. Justice W. C. Ives, Miss MacMillan is co-plaintiff with her father Allan MacMillan, former Mayor of Edison. In the counter claim, Premier Brownlee seeks specific damage of $10,000 against his former stenographer and John Caldwell, her young medical student lover, for alleged conspiracy.

Began Advances

Soon after the girl arrived in the capital from Edson the premier began his advances towards her she said. He asked her what she knew about life and she answered "I thought I knew as much about it as any girl." She quoted him as saying he would tell her about life.

The night on the first Monday in October, the premier had driven her on the Jasper highway and had parked on a side road, she said. He asked her to submit to his advances as a means of "showing her gratitude towards him." On that occasion she did not give in.

"He told me if a daughter of his would do the thing he had asked to save a family and home he would be proud of her," she testified. Premier Brownlee is the father of two sons. He has no daughters.

On another occasion the premier told her he could not go on as premier of the province if he could not have her, she alleged.

Mr. Brownlee, she said, had told her his wife could not safely have any more children—he no longer shared the same room with her, he had said.

Too Determined

She had finally submitted she told the court. This was in October 1930. Mr. Brownlee had been driving with her and had again made love to her. "He asked me if I ever had improper relations with another man. I told him no. He said he would give anything if I would give in. It was the only way I could help him. We got in the back seat and he said what he asked wasn't really very much. All this time he had his arms around me.

"I fought against him, but he was too determined.

"He told me," Miss MacMillan said, "That I had saved Mrs. Brownlee's life."

Later she had fallen in love with young Caldwell to whom she told of her "unhappy relations" with the premier. He had offered to help her "find herself," she said, "and the developments led to the present action."

The new Pathfinder tread, developed from Goodyear's world-famous All-Weather tread has the big, tough diamonds of Goodyear rubber right in the centre where the tire meets the road. 15% to 20% thicker rubber than formerly assures much longer mileage.

When sections from ten makes of tires, advertised and sold at prices equal to or higher than Pathfinder's price, were examined by 16 tire experts, the new Pathfinder was so obviously thickest and sturdiest that it was invariably chosen. Only one other tire even compared with it, and that other tire sells at a higher price than Pathfinder.

Stepped up in mileage—in safety—in value—the new Pathfinder is a quality tire priced within the reach of all.

YOUNG INDIAN PILOT PLANS NON-STOP TOKIO-INDIA HOP

Ishar Singh Learned to Fly in Vancouver by Aero Club of B. C.

LONG EXPERIENCE.

VANCOUVER — Ishar Singh, 32-year-old East Indian pilot, who was trained by the Aero Club of British Columbia, has completed plans for a flight from Tokio to his home in India this summer, and has purchased a light plane in which to make the trip.

The machine, a two-pace Nicholas Beazley, with a 135-horse-power engine, is at the civic airport here being groomed for the undertaking. It will be shipped across the Pacific late this month and the flight from Tokio will start before the monson seasn sets in.

Although he has had extensive cross country flying experience Ishar Singh believes that he packed enough thrills in during his trip across the United States when he flew the machine home from the factory in Missouri.

The high point of his flight occurred in Wyoming where he ran into gales which tossed his light machine around like a rubber ball. After leaving Cheyenne the going got so tough that he spotted an emergency field and decided to sit down.

"As the wheels touched the ground I jumped out of the cockpit and grabbed the wing so that the wind would not blow the machine over," he said

"The wind was so strong that the plane stopped rolling within a few feet. It was rocking and swaying and several times the wind lifted it right off the ground and blew it back several feet. I was still hanging on for dear life."

For half an hour Ishar and the plane were blown back 500 feet in a series of gusts and they were just ready to crash on the boundary

When the field keeper arrived with stakes and rope he drove a stake but by the time he was ready to tie up the machine it had been blown farther away and the stake had to be moved. Eventually the plane was captured and tied down.

"Even if I meet some tough winds on my flight I feel that I am prepared for the worst," Ishar Singh says.

Women's Association of Omemee United Church Holds Monthly Meeting.

OMEMEE, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church met at the home of Mrs. Rea on Thursday afternoon with 20 present.

Various items of business were discussed. Complete arrangements were made for the supper and sale of goods, and home-made cooking, which will be held on Tuesday, June 26. Mrs. Eggleston and Mrs. McPhee were appointed program committee for the next three months.

An interesting contest was enjoyed; Mrs. Haygarth and Mrs. Bushnel winning the prize. Refreshments were served by Messrs. Haygarth, Byers and McPhee.

Thursday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Weir included Professor D. A. Brodie of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Brodie; Mrs. Jennie Elder and Mrs. Annie Hackworth of Seattle; Mrs. James Weir of Saskatoon; Mr. and Mrs. G. Guernsey, Lacburn, Saskatchewan, and Miss Maria Shaw of Hall's Bridge, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Brodie and his two sisters were natives of Harvey township and moved to the State of Oregon about 50 years ago. He was the author of the poem, "My Home Coming" published in The Examiner a few months ago.

Mrs. James Weir and Mrs. Guernsey were also natives of Harvey Township, Mrs. Weir being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Thompson of Lakehurst.

Mrs. Guernsey was a daughter of the late Robert Shaw, a former Warden of the County of Peterborough and also a representative in the Harvey Council for a number of years. The Washington party travelled by motor and the Western Canada party came by train, but are returning by car.

This is Mrs Elder's first visit since leaving her birthplace 51 years ago. Mr. Brodie and Mrs. Hackworth have been here on different occasions. The ladies are making the Y.W.C.A., Peterborough, their headquarters and all report a delightful holiday.

Major and Mrs. Woolcott Bid Adieu to Local Salvation Army.

FAREWELL PROGRAM.

"Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whitherscever thou goest."

The above words appropriately concluded the Scripture lesson read by Corps Cadet Guardian Mrs. H. Parnell, Jr., on the occasion of the farewell services held at the Salvation Army Temple last evening for Major and Mrs. Joseph Woolcott.

In charge of the local corps for a year, Major and Mrs. Woolcott are due to leave the city to-day to take over the command of the Orillia corps. Their successors here are Adjutant and Mrs. Neil Warrender of Windsor, who are expected to arrive within the course of the next few days. Welcome services have been planned for them, to be held Friday evening.

Farewell services for Major and Mrs. Woolcott held over the week-end and concluding last evening were largely attended, and provided abundant evidence of the wide esteem and regard in which they are both held.

Tribute was paid to their fruitful work on behalf of the corps by Secretary Stan Richardson, Bandmaster Gerald Routley and Sergeant-Major Howard Young. The latter referred to the responsibilities of corps officership, and remarking upon his own personal experience of Major Woolcott he stated: "I have enjoyed everything I had to do for him and I feel assured I am expressing the sentiments of my colleagues."

A splendid program of band and choral music, besides a beautiful vocal solo by Mrs. Mendel Braund, "Nearer My God to Thee," comprised a fitting setting to the complimentary speeches of farewell.

The band, under leadership of Bandmaster Routley, presented as one of the special items, "The Lord is My Shepherd," while the Songsters (a mixed choir of over fifty voices), sang among other numbers a lovely anthem as a benediction. It was entitled, "Thou Wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace Whose Mind is Stayed on Thee."

Both Major and Mrs. Woolcott made suitable reply to the addresses of farewell, the former commenting on his association with the Peterborough Corps, spoke of it as a corps that made favorable comparison with any other corps in the Dominion.

Other items on the program included a recitation by Miss Lily Mills, and an E flat solo by Renald Routley. The program concluded with prayer, led by Corps Treasurer John Cunningham.

HALL'S BRIDGE, June 26. — On Tuesday last Donald Haines sustained a severe accident while at work at Wallace Shearer's saw mill. The left hand was so badly injured that after being treated locally, he was sent to Nicholls Hospital, where Dr. Yelland found it necessary to amputate parts of two fingers and put sutures in others. He returned home again on Thursday evening. It will be some weeks before he will be able to resume work.

HONOR IS PAID REV. H. J. BELL

Former Hastings United Church Pastor Leaving for New Charge at Blackstock.

ADDRESSES READ

HASTINGS, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence). —On Friday evening, June 22, a large number of the congregation of Trinity United Church gathered in the Sunday School Rooms to spend a social evening in honor of Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Bell, who are leaving this week for their new charge at Blackstock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell have been residents of Hastings for the past five years, and throughout that time have won many friends who regret to hear of their departure. Mr. Bell has labored hard to bring forth the best and highest ideals, he has shared many sorrows and joys, and during his pastorate has officiated at 26 marriages, conducted 60 funerals, and over 80 baptisms.

The entertainment opened with community singing, followed by a hymn and prayer by Mr. Bonds, superintendent of the Sunday School. Miss Rhea Preston gave a monologue, "A Fine Singer," and Miss Grace Orr recited "Deacon Brown"; Mrs. Baker and Miss M. Huycke sang "Oh, Tell Me Merry Birds"; a reading by Roy Brown was entitled "A Young Boy's Rights"; Miss Edna Tripp recited "Guilty or not Guilty," followed by a piano duet by Misses Marjorie Scriver and C. Doxsee. The closing number was a humorous monologue by Miss Wilhelmine Rusaw entitled "Taking Henry to Buy a Suit of Clothes."

Presentation Made

Miss Claudine Hoard, on behalf of the young ladies of the Sunday School, presented Mrs. Bell with a beautiful Silver flower basket filled with pink and white peonies. Miss Wilhelmine Rusaw read a suitable address.

Master Donald Oliver and Miss Fern Preston, on behalf of the congregation, presented Rev. and Mrs. Bell with a walnut dinner wagon, accompanied by an address read by Mr. Bonds.

Mr and Mrs Bell were taken completely by surprise, but thanked their friends graciously for the beautiful gifts.

Addresses Read.

The addresse are as follows:

Hastings, June 22 1934.

Rev. and Mrs. Bell.

Dear Friends.—As you are soon to depart from us, we your friends of Trinity United Church, have met to bid you au revoir and to extend to you our very best wishes in your new field of labor for the Master. During the five years you have been with us you have at all times done your utmost for us, and we regret exceedingly that you are leaving for new fields. Your work here has been very strenuous, but you have never shirked, and though your reward here may be small, when all earthly connections are severed a great reward awaits you in the Heavenly Kingdom. As a small token of our appreciation and friendship, we cannot let you go without some slight remembrance of your faithful work among us, and ask you to accept these small tokens, with the hope that they will ever bring to mind your friends in Hastings, and our wishes that the blessing of the Giver of all things shall go with you.

Signed on behalf of Trinity United Church.

Hastings, June 22, 1934.

Dear Mrs. Bell: We, the members of your Sunday School class, have gathered here this evening to express our sincere appreciation of your services so freely rendered during your sojourn among us, and our keen regrets at the fast-approaching parting.

As we look back, you will long be remembered as one who was always ready to take a very keen interest in each one of us. Not only in Sunday School was your influence felt, but in our problems of everyday life, we always knew we had a friend to whom we could turn for sympathy or advice. Our problems and difficulties were made yours, and with your cheering words and kindly manner, we have felt better able to try and try again, until our efforts have been met with success.

As our friend, you have been ready to overlook any of our erring ways and have lovingly endeavored to lead us in the way of knowledge and holy living.

As our teacher, you have been the very essence of patience; your cheerful presence throughout our years together has been an inspiration to us. We have not at all times been the most attention nor perhaps the most apt pupils of the great truths which you have set before us. Let us assure you that many of your lessons which passed apparently unheeded will often be recalled in days to come when only memories of you, as our teacher remain.

May it be God's will that you and Mr. Bell will long be spared to do the work that you are so able and willing to do in the Master's service.

Thus, as you and Mr. Bell are soon leaving us to enter upon new fields of labor, we ask you to accept this small gift as a token of our love and esteem. We know that you have not served for earthly rewards and we also know that we cannot repay you for what you have meant to us. But we hope you will look at this little basket occasionally when you are far from us, and remember your one-time Sunday School pupils as we will remember you. May our parting words be "Au revoir, but not good-bye."

In closing, might I quote the appropriate verse which expresses our feelings:

"New friends may be all that are true;
But there is never a friend like the old;
The former are held by a silver thread,
The latter by anchors of gold."

—Signed on behalf of your Class.

After the program and presentation, a dainty lunch was served by the ladies of the church.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

have like children." Our mental, moral, outlook on life should be reasoned out and cease to be like children. The voice of God urging us to become mature applied to us from an international, economic and religious standpoint. Christians essentially should be mature.

"Internationally," asked the speaker, "have we not lived like children. Have we not been animated in our actions by fear and greed and hatred, actions that do not become mature people?" History related the senseless destruction of human life. From the earliest times war has brought death and destruction, and in the 20th century there had been the greatest war of them all. In spite of the ten million lives lost, in spite of the suffering caused by the conflict, which could never be effaced from the world, in spite of the debts under which the world was staggering the very life of our people, men were being trained for war, money was being squandered in armaments, and the people were groaning under the load.

Germany, France, Italy and Spain, were fortifying their frontiers and impelled by the emotion of fear and hatred nations were planning destruction to their foes. "Are these the acts of maturity of children?" he asked. While civilized people were spending millions to build hospitals and to preserve life, they were casting their very best lives into the jaws of death, and yet God was asking the world to be grown up; to be mature.

Grown Up in Religion

In religion God asked us to be grown up. Religious people to-day were being divided on non-essentials. There were divisions as to high and low church, divisions as to whether emersion or sprinkling was the proper form of baptism, when we should concentrate on the more important principles of religion, justice, right dealing, mercy, sympathy, pity, and brotherly love.

The speaker referred to things that were being brought to light by the Steven's investigation, which showed that men were working for wages that necessitated their families to live in want and squalor. He spoke of one of the better-paid men in a large corporation who received $23 a week and who had received no holiday in thirteen years. Mature Christians should not let trifles cause divisions but should co-operate in the things worth while.

They should seriously lay to heart the great dangers by reason of these divisions, and should unite to promote justice, truth, fair dealing and Christian sympathy. In South India they were recognizing this truth in the promoting of the union of Anglican, Presbyterian, and Methodist churches. They were casting trifles aside, concentrating on the major principles, "Christ and Him Crucified."

Under present economic conditions children were underourished, making it easy for the spread of disease and its resultant misery. Christian people were called to grow up in their relationship to their fellow-men and were called upon to co-operate in mutual service.

The solution of all our problems, international, economic and religious, was the application of the spirit of the life and teaching of Jesus. In conclusion, Mr. Clarke urged the congregation and parish to stand loyally by the church and to emulate in their lives the spirit of those who, during the eighty years this church has been serving the community, had given of their best to promote the principles of Christianity.

On Monday evening large crowds attended the garden party and social held on the church and rectory lawns, and which were featured by addresses from Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave of Peterborough, and the Rev. Charles Carpenter, of Toronto. The affair was a great success, all kinds of fancy booths being featured, with novelties and refreshments, organized by a parish committee.

REV. S. H. HILL IS GUEST PREACHER AT CENTENNIAL

Mrs. J. R. Eakins Read History of Presbyterianism in Millbrook.

OFFER CONGRATULATIONS

Flowers Were All in Memory of Loved Ones Who Had Aided Church.

MILLBROOK, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—Indicative of loyalty to their church, and of a community interest in the fact that a sister congregation had reached its one hundredth milestone, was the fact that large congregations representative of all denominations in the village and countryside, worshipped in Grace Presbyterian Church on Sunday, morning and evening, when the special Centennial services were held, the preacher for the day being Rev. S. H. Hill, B.A., B.D., of Hastings.

Services in the Centreville Presbyterian Church, which observed its Centenary last year, and in St. Andrew's United Church at night, were withdrawn in honor of the special occasion. The flowers which brought fragrance and beauty into the sanctuary, were all given in memory of loved ones who had worshipped in Grace Church and been active workers in its organizations, the names of those so honored including Mr. and Mrs. J. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Armstrong, Mr. R. J. Doak, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Eakins, Mr. and Mrs. Lancashire, Edmund Syers, Mrs. Robert Brown, R. H. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. McIvor, Mrs. William McKnight, Harry McIvor, H. R. Armstrong, Edwin Thorndyke, Thomas C. Ingram, W. T. Deyell, Mr. and Mrs. William McKnight, the father, mother, brothers and sister of Mrs. E. H. Syer and others whose cards mentioned "loved ones who have gone before," or "in memory of our departed."

Presbyterian History

At morning worship, by special request of the Session, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, who was introduced by the minister as "a granddaughter of John Deyell, pioneer settler of Cavan township, who gave the land upon which the first Presbyterian church was built," read a short history of Presbyterianism in this district and of Grace Church in particular, to the great interest of the congregation. The choir had augmented its numbers for the Centennial services and sang two anthems at each service, and the special thankoffering brought the request, "We have much to be thankful for; express your thankfulness to God by your liberality."

Letters were read by the minister from the rector and churchwardens of St. Thomas Anglican Church, and from the pastor, Session and Official Board of St. Andrew's United Church, offering sincere congratulations to a sister church on attaining its one hundredth birthday, and also earnest prayers and good wishes for continued success from the spiritual and other standpoints in the work of the Kingdom. A letter from Robert McKnight, an old friend of the congregation now living at Moose Jaw, Sask., carried a similar message of goodwill, and of helpful remembrance.

The Rev. W. W. Jones, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, read the lesson at night, and Rev. Mr. Hill, whose discourses for the day were most impressive and of deep spiritual significance, chose his evening text from John 15:5: "Without Me, ye can do nothing." The thought developed was that of the hopelessness and impossibility of human effort alone, and the absolute necessity of a vital connection with Christ; "there are no tight corners, no depression, if we are dwelling truly in Him through whose power alone a new heaven and a new earth may be established in this world." The minister closed with an impassioned appeal for consecration and service.

Centennial Notes

The Presbyterian Church at Millbrook gave its quota of men who served overseas in the World War, as the honor roll on the east wall of the auditorium testifies; those who made the supreme sacrifice and are buried in Flanders' Fields including Sergeant Bruce Fisher, Sergeant Lawrence Carveth, and Henry E. Bennewith.

Among pioneer families who worshipped in the Presbyterian communion at Millbrook, and some of whose descendants in several cases are still attending this church and active in its organizations, are such names as Kerr, the first wife of the late James Kerr having been a daughter of the Rev. Mr. Douglas, first ordained minister of Presbyterianism in this district, whose pastorate included Monaghan, Cavan, Port Hope and Cobourg and extended over thirty-four years; Eakins; Lancashire; Sloan; Hunter; Armstrong, of which family name there were at one time fourteen different families on the roll, and in attendance at the red brick church which was the first home of the Presbyterian communion actually in the village, and stood north on Tupper street, later being destroyed by fire; Steele, and in a separate family, the late John Steele for many years an ardent supporter of the church in this community; McKnight; Taggart; Carveth; Hillier; Doak; Cochrane; Cosgrove; Breakey; Hubbeard; Wilgar; Gardiner; Gillott; Hampton; Archer; Johnston; O'Brian; McIvor; Moffatt; and of somewhat later date but giving splendid service through a period of years, Given, Russell, Jemison, and others.

As the years have passed, leading up to the full century of history and service in the community, Grace Church has had its auditorium beautified and its efficiency increased by a number of gifts from loyal members, some of whom have gone before and were fittingly remembered in the lovely flowers presented for the Centennial services on Sunday. Among these useful donations are the solid oak altar table, of ecclesiastical design, presented by Mr. W. J. E. Gillott, now of Peterborough, and the late Mrs. Gilliott; the pulpit light by the 'teen age girls of the "Star" class taught by Mrs. J. R. Eakins; the oak hymn boards, in shield design, by the late W. S. Given; the mission clock, with brass hands and number, by the late R. J. Doak; the baptismal bowl by the late "Sandy" Kelly. The hymn books in use on Sunday were the gift of the Young People's Society to the church, a quantity being procured for supplying strangers, and others not possessing the Book of Praise, at the public worship services; the handsome brass desk lamp in the Sunday School room was given and installed by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eakins.

Names inadvertently omitted from the choir members in this Centennial year are Mrs. Melville Ball and Mrs. Coyte. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood and McIntosh Bradshaw of Centreville assisted the choir at the special services on Sunday. Relatives locally recall that the late Miss Lottie Cochrane, a sister of Mrs. Joseph Porter of Lakefield, and a member of a family that for many years gave loyal support and service to the Presbyterian Church here, was organist when Grace Church was opened. Others who served through the long period of years in that capacity included Mrs. W. S. Given, now of Shreveport, Louisana, and in her time in the Tupper street church the late Professor Pemberton was choir leader; Agnes Chambers and Miss Cochrane who both played in the red brick church as well as in the newer edifice; J. Pim, Reg. Given, Myrtle Russell, Phyllis Kidd, Mrs. H. W. Johnston, who was choir leader for several years and, with her husband, went into the Union in 1925; Ethel Richardson, M. L. Collins who supplied for some Sundays until a regular organist could be secured but could not be retained as she is organist in St. Thomas' Anglican Church; Viola Whyte, A.T.C.M., and the present incumbent, Grace Johnson, A.T.C.M.

The minister, Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., was absent on Centennial Sunday, taking Rev. Mr. Hill's work at Hastings to permit the latter to come here as special preacher for the day.

Obituary

EDWARD A. TANNER

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, June 26.—A large number of friends gathered in the Lakefield United Church on Friday afternoon to pay a tribute of respect to one of Lakefield's best citizens in the person of the late Edward A. Tanner.

Rev. W. R. Archer B.A. was the officiating minister and was assisted by Rev. C. V. MacLean, Ph.D. of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough and Rev. P. L. Jull of Brooklin. The address was given by Rev. C. V. MacLean, who preached the last anniversary sermon in Knox church in 1931 Dr. MacLean took his text from the 8th verse of the 14th chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Roman's.

Rev. P. L. Jull of Brooklin, formerly of Knox Church, who ordained the deceased to the office of elder, paid a personal tribute which found an echo in every heart.

Rev. W. R. Archer, pastor of the church paid a brief but sincere tribute to Mr. Tanner, whom he had learned to love as a friend during the time he had known him.

Three hymns were sung: "For All the Saints", "For Those We Love Within the Veil" and "Forever with the Lord". Mrs. H. E. Moore presided at the organ. Following the church service the Masonic service was held led by the master of Clementi Lodge No. 313.

The pall bearers were Messrs G. G. Connell, T. Crawford, N. A. Moore, W. G. Morrison, J. H. Sherin and P. Spence.

Interment was made in the Lakefield cemetery.

Edward Alexander Tanner was born in Peterborough the second son of the late George and Agnes Stewart Tanner and moved to Lakefield with his parents when he was a small boy. He grew up in the village and learned the drug business with late James Bird, graduated from the college of Pharmacy and bought out Mr. Bird, running this business for years. In 1912 he removed to Toronto and resided there about ten years, then coming back to his old home town. About thirty-five years ago he married Minnie Linton of Douro who survives him. Mr. Tanner was a staunch Liberal in politics and in 1908 he ran as Liberal candidate in East Peterborough.

He was a member of Knox Presbyterian church and went into a the Union with the majority of that congregation and in 1932 was a member of the committee which drew up the basis of Union between the two United Churches. He was ordained an elder of the United Church in 1925 by Rev. P. L. Jull and retained the office in the Lakefield United Church.

He was keenly interested in the curling club and at the time of his death occupied the office of the vice president. He was the donor of the Tanner Cup for the vice skips bonspiel.

He served his community on the council and as reeve for years and though he has spent several days each week in Toronto where he was managing director of the Monarch Mortgage Co. his week-ends were spent at his home here and he took an active part in many village organizations. He was a Past Master of Clementi Lodge No. 313 A.F. and A. M. and lived up to the highest ideals of citizenship. Besides his widow he is survived by two brothers Fred W. (Toronto) and Charles S. of Lakefield and three sisters, Mrs. Wakeley of Toronto, Mrs. Gillard of Cobourg and Mrs. Edward of Montreal. A niece of his wife, Miss Ruth Benson, made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Tanner.

MRS. JOSEPH COLLINS.

HASTINGS, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Mrs. Joseph Collins was held on Friday morning from the family residence on the Cobourg Road in Percy Township to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father P. J. Kelley.

The large number of spiritual offerings and the number of sorrowing friends which made one of the largest funerals in the district in some time showed the esteem by which deceased was held by a wide circle of friends.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. J. Gorman, J. Lamey, J. Cleary, G. English, W. Coveney, and L. Keogan.

Interment was made in Hastings Roman Catholic Cemetery.

HENRY SMITH.

LAKEFIELD, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence). — Henry Smith passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel White, last evening, after a brief illness. He was 84 years of age.

Born in Douro Township, the late Mr. Smith was the last surviving member of a family of six. He leaves his wife, formerly Annie Deen, and two daughters: Mrs. H. J. Abbott of Douro and Mrs. Samuel White of Lakefield.

The funeral is to be held on Wednesday at 2.30 o'clock from St. John's Church, with Rev. W. J. Creighton officiating. Interment at Lakefield Cemetery.

The Ging of Siam recently underwent a successful operation for tooth trouble in a London hospital.

Feels 50 lbs. Slimmer

After Losing Only 5 Lbs.

"I started taking Kruschen Salts a month ago," a young woman writes, "I have lost 5 lbs. in weight, and I feel as if I had lost 50 lbs. I am full of vigor, whereas before I was listless and worried over little things. But if my troubles were doubled, they would not worry me to-day—thanks to Kruschen."—(Miss) V.P.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat—take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning, for "It's the daily dose that takes off the fat." When you take Kruschen daily it means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

Modify your diet, and take gentle exercise. The stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up, and the pure, fresh blood containing these six salts is carried to every part of the body. Then follows "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin cheerful vivacity, and charming figure.

Auto Production Double Last Year's

OTTAWA, June 26 (C.P.).—There were 20,161 automobiles produced in May, more than double the number in May, 1933, when the production was 9396, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

Of the total, 16,504 were passenger cars and 2,657 trucks. Of the passenger cars, 12,864 were for sale in Canada and 3,640 for export, and 2,324 trucks were for use in Canada and 1,333 for export.

The output for the five months ending May totalled 66,179 as compared with 30 939 for the corresponding period of 1933.

Car Of William Driver Is Recovered By Provincial Police Near Burlington

The car which Gerald Donovan 24, lately of Peterborough is alleged to have stolen at Oshawa early on Thursday morning last, to speed up his elopment with his girl friend, has been recovered abandoned near Burlington.

William Driver, owner of the car received advice from the Provincial Police at Burlington that the car was found on Cedar Springs road in Halton County. Police are still looking for Donovan and his female companion.

Louis Corbett hired Driver's taxi to make a business trip to Oshawa on Wednesday last. He took his wife just recovering from illness, as company on the trip.

Before leaving the city, Mr. and Mrs. Corbett were asked by Donovan and his girl friend if they could get a lift as far as Oshawa. The Corbett's consented to give the couple a ride.

In the temporary absence of Mr. Corbett, it is alleged that Donovan drove off with the car despite protests of Mrs. Corbett. The latter opened the door of the car and jumped out, falling to the pavement and suffering bruises and shock.

CROPS MAKING RAPID GROWTH

Outlook in County Improved Considerably During the Past Week.

HAYING WILL BE LATE.

Spring crops in Peterborough County are now making rapid growth as the result of the rains during the past week, according to the current crop report from the Department of Agriculture. The outlook in the County has improved considerably. Owing to the scarcity of clover, haying operations will be generally retarded although a few farmers plan to begin haying next week.

Uniformly good spring crops in all parts of the county are reported from Durham. However, the winter damage to the trees in Durham's apple orchards is becoming increasingly apparent. Trees which were severely injured are gradually losing the vitality they had when they commenced to leaf. Baldwin and Ben Davis are thought to be the two varieties which have suffered most.

With a shortage of help, farmers in Hastings are finding it difficult to cope with weeds in grain, corn and root crops. Adequate rains have improved farm conditions and crop prospects in this county also.

The report from Victoria indicates that crops are looking well and have sufficient moisture to grow for some weeks.

BETTING IS NOT BRISK

What odds will you offer on a bet that John Smith will succeed in his amazing endeavour to paddle across the Atlantic Ocean in a canoe? No word has been received from Lloyds' as yet, but the current rate about the city seems to be 1000 to 1.

Several wagers at this rate have been reported, but, on the whole, the betting is not very brisk. Despite the fact that Smith has proved his mettle by conquering the famous Longue Sault Rapids, there are few takers on the long end of the odds.

Obituary

MRS. JESSIE VARCOE.

ROSENEATH, June 26.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The death occurred, after a lengthy illness, yesterday of Jessie Gilletity, widow of the late James Varcoe, of Alnwick Township. The deceased, who had lived here all her life, was well known and had many friends who will mourn her passing. She was in her seventy-seventh year. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from the late residence to Merrills cemetery for intrement, following services at the residence at 1.30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A. B.D.

MRS. JOHN ARMITAGE.

LINDSAY, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—Death came with tragic suddenness to Mrs. John Armitage of Mariposa, on Sunday afternoon. She had been entertaining some friends at her home during the afternoon, and while chatting pleasantly in their midst death overtook her. The late Mrs. Armitage whose maiden name was Euphemia McLean, was in her sixty-ninth year. She was born in Mariposa Township and was well known throughout the district.

Weddings

GARRISON—POULTON

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 26. — A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, June 23, by the Rev. T. H. Floyd, rector of Christ Church, Campbellford, when he united in marriage, Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Poulton, of Campbellford, and Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Garrison, of Campbellford. Following a wedding trip to Toronto and Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Garrison will reside in Kirkland Lake, Ontario.

LAPP—GILLESPIE

A quiet wedding took place on Monday afternoon in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, when Jean Bartlett, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gillespie, was united in marriage to Mr. Cecil Edgar Lapp, son of Mrs. Annie Lapp and the late Frederick Lapp.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.

Attendants were Mrs. Carl Wilson of Tweed and Mr. Charles Lapp of Chatham.

On their return from a honeymoon of two weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Lapp will reside at 188 Wescott street.

MEAGHER—GAINEY.

A pretty wedding took place quietly this morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, when Agnes Teresa Gainey, daughter of Mr. Cornelius Gainey of Cricket Place and the late Mrs. Gainey, was united in marriage to Mr. Oswald Meagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Meagher of Crescent Street. The ceremony was performed at half-past seven o'clock by the very Rev. Dean F. J. O'Sullivan.

Miss Leona Hummel played the wedding music and Miss Stella Brady sang during the progress of the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George Gainey, wore a lovely gown of white organdie de soie, with large white mohair hat and white slippers, hose and gloves. She carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Catherine Gainey, sister of the bride, was in blue taffeta with white hat and accessories and bouquet of Premier roses.

Mr. Frank Meagher acted as best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony, a reception and wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, where decorations were carried out with a profusion of lovely flowers. The table, centred by the bride's cake, was done with peonies. Among the guests was Rev. Dean O'Sullivan.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Meagher left by motor for a trip to Windsor and Detroit, the bride travelling in a dress of navy blue and white, with a three-quarter length coat of navy blue crepe, a blue hat trimmed with white, and accessories in blue and white.

On their return, they will live at Cricket Place.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a necklace, to the bridesmaid a leather purse, and to the best man a silver cigarette lighter.

The young people received many gifts from a large circle of friends.

SHORTER HOURS FOR PEN GUARDS

Now Work in Three Shifts Instead of Two, Guthrie Explains.

MORE GUARDS NEEDED.

OTTAWA, June 26 (CP)—Shorter hour of work for guards at Canadian penitentiaries have recently been placed in effect, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, informed the House of Commons last night.

Guards now work in three shifts daily instead of two as formerly, Mr. Guthrie said, in answer to a question from Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster). The shifts are from 7 a.m. to 6.15 p.m., from 4.30 p.m. to 1 a.m., and from 12 midnight to 8.30 a.m. The new hours are now in effect at New Westminster, Prince Albert, Kingston and Dorchester penitentiaries and will shortly be in operation at Stoney Mountain and St. Vincent de Paul. They will involve the employment of 66 additional guards.

Haboco Stores To Observe Wednesday Half Holidays

Mr. Harry Boyle takes pleasure in announcing that, commencing this Wednesday, June 27th, every one of the six Haboco stores in this city will close Wednesdays at 12.30 noon. He is happy that conditions enable him to afford his clerks the benefit of a half holiday every Wednesday until the end of August, and is satisfied that patrons of the Haboco stores will support him in this movement.

Mr. Lancaster's Thanks

To the more than 9,400 electors of the constituency of Peterborough who supported my candidature at last week's election my heart felt thanks, postponed until the official count made the result certain, are extended. Your expressions of confidence in me are deeply appreciated especially in view of the land slide that occurred throughout the province which makes your staunch loyalty all the more notable. In return I promise you to whole-heartedly work in the interest of this riding and in its people in every possible way and to vindicate your faith in me by giving the best service that I can as your representative in the new Legislature.

Your grateful servant,

T. P. LANCASTER

GRAND STAND ATTRACTIONS

After considering many, the directors have finally arranged for these outstanding attractions to appear in front of the Grand Stand each afternoon and evening this year.

Bebney's Revue

The "Winter Garden" Revue of Talented Broadway Dancers and Stage Folk. Something new and proving very popular at outside entertainments. A galaxy of Precision Dancers in lovely routines.

Royal Buccaneers

Seven clever Acrobats performing seemingly impossible feats of daring. This is one of the world's most thrilling features in the field of athletic endeavor.

Joe Mandis' Troupe

Three men and a maid in a hilarious act of gymnastics and side-splitting comedy. You'll laugh with amazement at this equilibristric offering.

Mary Palmers' Circus

Enjoyment for the children, but for grown-ups too. Mary Palmer and Mr. Palmer have assembled an exceptional collection of cleverly trained Dogs and Ponies—one pony dances and plays a saxaphone.

Bob Eugene Troupe

One of the sensations of this year's grand stand show. A quartette of lightning fast horizontal performers—an original and miraculous display on the bars—formerly headlining Barnum and Bailey's Circus.

A unique program featured the very successful garden party held on Saturday afternoon on the handsome grounds of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Rogers, McFarlane street, under the auspices of the three companies of Girl Guides in the city. The funds are to be used to send two of the Guides to North Bay for leadership training in Guide work. There was a large attendance at the garden party, and a very enjoyable program was presented. Outstanding in interest was a little play entitled "The New Order," given by members of the 1st Company of Girl Guides, and trained by Mrs. J. H. Bell. In this little drama, a damsel in distress is lost in the woods and is rescued by Girl Guides. Knights of the Table Round appear in person and muse over the manner in which the spirit of knight errantry is carried on by modern Guides. The little ceremony of dedication of their swords to ideals of peace and helpfulness was a charming finale to a pretty playlet, in which the knights were attired in white, with silver armor. Taking part in this presentation were Alicia Langley, as King Arthur; Doris Elliott, as Sir Lancelot; Doris Glover, as Sir Tristram; Joan Ottewell, as Sir Galahad; Edna Borland, as Sir Gareth; Wilda Saunders, as Sir Gawaine; Kay Lawrence, as Sir Lalorak; Mary Roche, as Sir Bors; Betty Middleton, as Sir Ector; Ruth Rockwell, as Sir Bedivere. Olga Westbye was the damsel in distress; Molly Brown was the captain of the rescuing Guides, who were represented by Elsie Saunders, Margaret Westbye, Betsy English, Dorothy Burnham and Jean Bell. A snappy series of calisthenics was presented by the 2nd Company of Guides, in charge of Miss Hilda Sullivan and trained by Miss Shaughnessy, a student at the Normal School. And the Brownies, in charge of Miss Alma Dobbin and Miss Helen Henry, gave a jolly Maypole dance. The entire program took place on the lawn, where an ice cream booth did a rushing business, in charge of David Rogers and his companion Boy Scouts. The guests were received by Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. N. H. Sutton, who acted as general convenor. Tea was served from a pretty table arranged with a cloth of yellow damask and large bowl of flowers. Presiding were Mrs. M. J. Roche, Mrs. G. R. Langley and Mrs. J. E. Middleton, assisted by Girl Guides in their trig uniforms.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The word citrous is applied to all fruits allied to lemons. These may be grapefruit, oranges, kumquats or lemons, and in any and all of their varieties. The word has sprung into common usage through growers' parlance because of the comprehensiveness of the term citrous fruit. In one form or another the fruit has gradually gained in favor, and is being used more and more in cooking. Baked oranges, stuffed kumquats and oranges are now served and orange as well as lemon slices are put in them. Orange ice cream and mousse are liked. Today I am giving some unusual recipes, simple and delicious.

* * * * * * *

ORANGE SAUCE FOR BOILED OR ROAST VEAL

Melt one tablespoon butter, and stir in two tablespoons flour. Add one-quarter teaspoon dry mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, and one-half cup stock in which veal has been boiled or one-half cup consomme. Cook five minutes in double boiler stirring constantly. Then add juice of 2 oranges, grated, rind of one of the oranges, one tablespoon apple or currant jelly, and one teaspoon lemon juice. Blend well and serve hot. This sauce is particularly good with veal but is excellent also with boiled mutton, or cold mutton sliced warmed one minute in a well buttered saucepan. Turn slices once while heating through. Pour sauce over them, and garnish with watercress and radishes.

ORANGE GATEAU

Remove centre of a round sponge cake. A thick one is best. Fill centre with chilled and sweetened cut up oranges drained of their juice. This juice can be used for orange beverage. Beat up one-half cup of heavy cream. Sweeten with powdered sugar, three level tablespoons. Into this fold the beaten white of two eggs. Flavor with one-half teaspoon vanilla. Spread over the top of orange centre. By using a pastry tube the effect is much more decorative. The gateau makes a dainty and delicious dessert in summertime when the oranges are well chilled, and the whole is combined just before the meal.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

A child may apparently be perfectly normal in every way and yet unable to read words. Many such children are found when intelligent examination is made of those who are backward in some of their studies.

The vision is good and the mentality is good; other sensory reactions are normal. Frequently these children are very good at mathematics, but simply cannot learn to read. Recent studies indicate that it is a sort of visual stuttering.

To explain this, remember that the centre for speech, as well as the center for the recognition of words, is on the left side of the brain only. We frequently find people in whom a hemmorrhage in this region of the brain has destroyed both their ability to form words and their ability to read. Remember also that this center is in the left side of the brain probably only in right-handed individuals, and a very reasonable theory for the cause of stuttering is that a naturally left-handed individual has been taught to become right-handed.

The eyes, like the hands, may be predominant in power on one side or the other, so that people are either left-eyed or right-eyed.

Various theories have been advanced to account for locating the speech center alone on one side of the brain. In right-handed individuals it is embedded in the midst of the motor areas for the right side of the body, because these fibers cross from the left side of the brain to the right side of the spinal cord.

An interesting theory is that of Gould, who believed that the location of the speech center in the motor area of the right half of the body was due to the almost universal employment of the right, or spear, hand in sign language, preferred to the left, or shield, hand, because this was more restricted in movement by holding the shield over the heart.

Another theory for the dominance of the right side is the almost universally deficient vision of the right eye. In other words, most of us are left-eyed. It is possible, then, that these children with word blindness have been naturally right-eyed and left-handed, and have been taught to reverse their natural nervous pathways.

At any rate, we find some peculiar things about them. For instance, that they are able to do mirror writing or read sentences written in mirror fashion. Some of them read from right to left in attempting to spell out a word. They almost all confuse the palidronic words, WAS and SAW, NOT and TON, and reverse paired letters so that they read from right to left instead of left to right. They confuse lower case "p" and "q", and "b" and "d."

A great deal of success in what seemed hopeless cases has been made in training children on this basis. By allowing them to resume their left-handedness and right-evedness, allowing them to read at first mirror sentences, etc., they are often brought back to normal scholastic standing. When this happens there is also a great gain in their general psychology, because they lose their inferiority complexes.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

If we females all rested content with the gifts the gods bestowed on us at birth, there'd be mighty few attempts at self-improvement ever made. But the realization that women too often are taken at their face value, prompts us all to strive continually for further loveliness. And so we reach for the world with one hand, and for our powder puff with the other.

How a gal uses that powder puff of hers, however, has a lot to do with what her face value finally will total. And knowing how to use a powder puff properly is especially important now, during the torrid summer days. For the improper use of powder and puffs constitutes one of the greatest causes of facial eruptions. It is not the number of times that powder is applied to the skin that is likely to cause blackheads and skin eruptions. The danger lies in the fact that this cosmetic is so often applied over a dirty skin. And as a result of this practice, the pores become clogged and skin blemishes appear to mar the flawless loveliness of the complexion.

It really is most harmful to apply powder over a soiled skin, especially during the summertime. For in the hot weather, the skin exudes a great deal of oil and moisture. Particles of dust and dirt accumulate quickly on a moist, greasy skin. And if, when the skin is in this condition, a layer of powder is fluffed on and a puff is rubbed over the face, the grease, grime and powder will be rubbed into the pores.

Of course, it may be difficult for the average woman to cleanse her skin each time that her face becomes shiny enough to require powdering. But she should be well prepared in case the opportunity does present itself. It's not very inconvenient to keep in one's purse a tiny tube of cleansing cream or a small vial of some good liquid cleanser. And that's really all that's needed for a quick retouch.

Every woman should keep in her purse at least a bit of soft cleansing tissue or several tiny bits of cotton. There are now little squares of cotton on the market that are not at all bulky, and also small books of cleansing tissue that may easily be carried about. These may be employed to remove the oil and grime from the skin's surface each time that the face becomes shiny and needs powdering. And they'll prove most helpful in keeping the skin clear and lovely.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Hands

Isabel: To remedy perspiring hands, bathe them three times a day with a solution of two drams boric acid, three drams borax, three drams salicylic acid, three ounces glycerine and three ounces bay rum.

Hair

Bessie: The egg shampoo and lemon rinse process described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet is good for helping to keep light hair from darkening. The reconditioning oil treatments also are described in this booklet.

Cosmetics

Jane: I think that a soft peach shade of powder, soft orange rouge and light lipstick would blend well with your coloring.

Make-Up

Rita: I think that a soft ochre shade of powder, and a dark brown shade of eyeshadow cream would harmonize best with your coloring.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Sardines for Supper

For the quickly prepared supper when there is little in the house besides a few tins of sardines, some bread and coffee, and other small odds and ends, the sardines will be very useful and of more substance if you cook them in their own oil, turning them from one side to the other very frequently. Serve on toast with a dash of lemon for flavoring.

Baked Ham

Grape juice, leftover spiced pickle juice or sweet pickle relish gives an excellent flavor to baked ham. Use about a cupful and pour over it while baking.

Cleaning Rules

Cleaning and stain-removing tasks can be simplified considerably by the observance of a few well-tried rules. Perhaps these will help you:

Cold water should be used in cleaning plates on which eggs have been served. A pinch of salt added to the water also helps. After the egg is removed, use hot water and soap.

Polished furniture may be washed with a light soap and luke-warm water. It should be thoroughly dry before polish is applied to give it the best luster.

White spots on furniture often may be removed by rubbing with a cloth dipped in household ammonia. Then polish with furniture oil.

Mud spots should not be removed from carpets or fabric until they are thoroughly dry, when they usually can be brushed off.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

DOUBLE-THEN-BID HAND

Last week we had one of the "double - then - bid - hands," which players have just commenced to understand how to handle. Today we have another one of that type, but this one sometimes requires the introduction of a no-trump bid, to show the opening bidder's suit twice stopped.

	♠ 7 ♥ 10 9 6 2 ♦ J 10 8 4 ♣ J 8 4 3
♠ K J 9 ♥ K Q J 8 ♦ 4 ♣ A Q	W. E. N. S.	♠ 10 5 3 2 ♥ 3 ♦ K 7 6 5 ♣ Q 7 5 2
	♠ A Q 8 6 4 ♥ A 7 5 ♦ 9 3 2 ♣ 10 6

Bidding went: South, 1-spade; West, doubled; East, 2-clubs, replying with the lower of his 2 non-biddable suits; West, 2-hearts; East, 3-diamonds, to show his second non-biddable suit; West, 3-no trumps, to force East to rebid one of his minor suits, if he must do so, but East held 4 spades, and he let the call stand.

The opening lead was North's lone spade. No other lead would have accomplished anything useful. South took his ace, then he led a low spade. He had no intention of giving up late command of the suit, by establishing the 10 in dummy. West's jack won the trick, then he led his king of hearts. North had held on to his hearts on the second lead of spades. North had to discard from one of the minor suits. He let go his lowest diamond, to save a stop in both hearts and clubs. South won the first lead of hearts. He led back a low spade. North let go another diamond.

West won with his king of spades and led his queen and jack of hearts. Next came the ace and queen of diamonds, taking the last two cards of that suit from North's hand. Three rounds of clubs, and 2 rounds of diamonds from dummy, gave the declarer 11 tricks, East having let go his low spade and his lowest club, when West led the last 2 winning hearts.

I disapprove East's bidding clubs before diamonds, as he held two 4-card suits. Bidding the lower of two poor suits first is only done when the only 4-card suit held happens to be the one bid by opponents. Otherwise the bidding was perfect.

This kind of strategy is employed to advantage only when the informatory doubler had an enormously powerful hand. Then he first doubles, to show strength in the 3 unbid suits. His partner has to bid. Next the doubler shows his own 5-card suit, asking partner to support the major suit upon 2 small cards. If the responding hand cannot do this, he must show another suit, or rebid his first.

HOSIERY MILL CLOSED DOWN

In Battle for Blue Eagle Charge Business is Being Wrecked.

HUNDREDS OUT OF JOBS.

HARRIMAN, Tenn., June 26.—(A. P.)—The Harriman Hosiery Mills, carrying the dispute over its blue eagle to a climax, was shut down to-day and a company official charged that N.R.A. Administrator Hugh S. Johnson "set out to wreck this concern."

T. Ashbury Wright, Jr., attorney for the company—one of the largest to lose the blue eagle—made public a letter to General Johnson, asserting the company was convinced he intended to wreck it "through boycotting and every other means at your disposal."

The closing of the plant by the company late yesterday threw 653 persons out of work. Mayor J. D. D'Armond said he "supposed the government will have to put the 653 workers who lost their jobs on relief."

N.R.A. withheld comment in Washington until General Johnson returns to his desk from Walter Reed Hospital. He was expected back to-day.

COMMODORE RETIRES.

MONTREAL, June 26.—(C.P.)—Commodore R. G. Latta, famous skipper of the Liner Empress of Britain and commodore of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, will retire on pension July 7, according to the announcement to-day by E. W. Beatty, president. He will be succeeded by Capt. R. N. Stuart, V.C., D.S.O.

"Only Certo enabled me to make prize winning jams, jelly and marmalade over a period of 10 years. It is lovely in midwinter to open a jar of Certo-made jam and taste the wonderful fresh fruit flavour"

From Mrs. G Cole, a Jam and Jelly Champion. of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

WHY not follow the example of prize winners like Mrs. Cole? Nothing hit or miss about their methods. They use Certo. They make perfect jams and jellies every time. So can you, if you follow exactly the recipes found in the booklet under the label on every Certo bottle.

Have you any jam or jelly-making problems? If so, write to the Consumer Service Department, General Foods Limited, Cobourg, Ontario.

WHAT CERTO IS

—It is fruit pectin, the natural jellying substance extracted from fruit.
—Jells the juice that would have boiled away by the old (long-boil) method.
—Makes 50% more jam or jelly at less cost per jar.
—Saves ⅔ the time. Saves the fruit flavour. Saves the fruit colour.
—Permits the use of any fruit—fresh, canned or dried—or fruit juice.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

BUTCH KEELING, the New York Ranger hockey star is sure gathering in a formidable racing stable. At the beginning of last week he had only Mrs. Foster in his barn, and Dark War whom he only purchased recently. Since then he has acquired Dark Mission, who won his first start for him on Thursdaly, and also Easter Hatter whom he secured from Harry Hatch for and unstated amount. He has already entered the latter in the Hamilton Derby for Canadian breds, which will be decided next week in the Ambitious City. Charley Mitchell who does the training for him is as proficient with a horse, as Butch is with a hockey stick, so between them they should put over a few well charged guns. However we are sure you will all join with us in wishing them every success as Butch is one fine sportsman.

Our old friend Phil R. who was always a consistent winner at Dufferin is down at Ottawa and, will gather in a purse at Tommy Gorman's plant . . . They are talking of matching Equipoise and Cavalcade in a big race at Arlington Park in Chicago during their July meeting. This would certainly be a natural, and would rightfully be termed the raceof the century. Of course Equipoise would have to give away chunks of weight to his younger opponent but even so we would call him to be the victor. The race is purely in the construction stages at the present but it looks as if it will develop into a reality.

TODAY IS an off day in Ontario racing circles with practically all the horses at Dufferin being transferred over to Hamilton who open their first summer meeting on Tuesday. True Sentiment broke into the winning column last week at Dufferin. He has been knocking at the door a lot lately and looked like an early winner. We are counting on his to repeat in the near future. With Saturday's closing at Dufferin it marked practically continuous racing in Toronto since May 19th last, or in other words 28 days and the attendance and wagering stood up exceptionally well, with Little Saratoga not taking a back seat to any of the larger tracks.

Watch Shady Well and Spey Crest fairly fly over the Hamilton race track. Both show their best performances over that oval. Allanah is another who is right at home on the Mountain City track. Never take her though if she does not have one of the rail positions. If she draws a post position of anything higher than one, two or three leave her alone, as she is strictly a rail runner and simply cannot break from an outside position. Khorasan always did run well at Hamilton and we look for him to pull down one of the big handicaps. Jim Badame never had the big brown horse in better shape than at present.

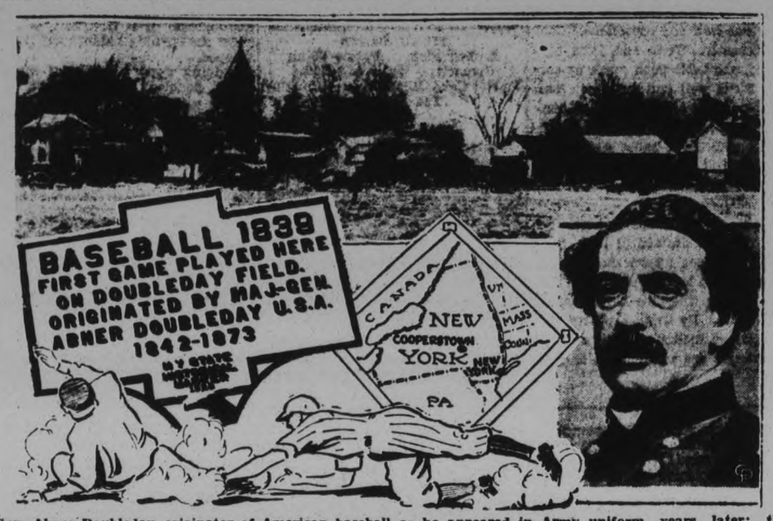
WITH THE warmer weather coming we expect to see old Gay Parisian come to life one of these days with a bang. The old boy was always at his best in the real hot weather. Art Halliwell, the well known Toronto owner is now the possesor of one of the fastest sprinters in training. The one we refer to is Two Tricks, who shook a wicked hoof in Florida all winter. She is now at Detroit, so keep your weather eye open. Art never did have any lemons in his barn.

Toronto Leafs Back In Second Place

Move To Make Memorial Of Field Where Baseball First Played



Gen. Abner Doubleday, originator of American baseball as he appeared in Army uniform years later; the pasture at Cooperstown, N. Y., where first game was played, shown to-day, and tablet marking site.

A move is on foot in New York to make the pasture at Cooperstown in the State of New York, where the game of baseball was first played 95 years ago, a memorial to Abner Doubleday, originator of the famous game. Doubleday, the anniversary of whose birth will be celebrated on the 26th of this month, was 20 years old when he developed the game from the old game of "grounders." The move to recognize the field, now a torn-up pasture, includes a game between two major league ball teams to raise money for the revamping of the field into a memorial to the originator. In passing, it might be mentioned that Cooperstown has never produced a star ball player. The game as first played 95 years ago was upon a square instead of a diamond; stakes marked the bases instead of cushions; sides changed with each out instead of after each three out; a certain number of runs, instead of nine innings, constituted a game; a player could be put out by being hit by a thrown ball; it was an out whether a batted ball was caught on the bound or on the fly.

YANKS HAMMER SOX HURLERS HARD FOR 13 TO 2 VICTORY

Johnny Broaca, New York Pitcher, Strikes Out Five Times, But He Gives Brilliant Performance on Mound for New Yorkers—Red Sox Whips Indians.

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

The answer to Joe McCarthy's prayer for pitching strength is Johnny Broaca, Yale Graduate of a week ago.

This apprentice right - hander fourth effective pitching job in a row had put the New York Yankees back in the American League lead again and given McCarthy a chance to worry about something else besides the condition of his mound staff.

Ably supported by Lou Gehrig and other Yankee swatsmiths, Broaca coasted to a 13-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday although the 10 hits he allowed were almost as many as he had permitted all told in three prior appearances.

The bespectacled Yale star's record since he joined the club June 2 shows two victories, including a one-hit shutout, and one defeat, in which he allowed only three hits. He has given up only 27 hits in 36 innings and fanned five men yesterday to boost his strikeouts to 23. Gehrig contributed his 19th homer, a triple, double and single to New York's 18-hit assault. Not content with his pitching efforts, Broaca equalled Lefty Grove's American League record for a nine-inning game by fanning five times.

Tigers Bow to Athletics

The victory sent the Yankees back into first place by four percentage points over the Detroit Tigers who bowed to the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-11, in a knockdown, drag-out battle marked by Jimmie Foxx's 19th and 20th homers.

Behind Dusty Rhodes' effective pitching, the Boston Red Sox tripped the Cleveland Indians, 6-3, and regained third place. The Indians dropped to fifth, a half game behind the Washington Senators who won from St. Louis, 6-4. Manager Rogers Hornsby played the outfield in an effort to strengthen the Browns' attack and got one single in four trips to the plate.

Stretch National Lead

The New York Giants stretched their National League lead to 3½ games by staggering to a 10-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. A seven-run rally in the second gave Hubbell a wide lead but he needed it before the finish. The defeat dropped the Cards into third place, a half game behind the idle Chicago Cubs.

The only other National League game saw Pittsburgh's reviving Pirates beat the Phillies, 7-1, behind Bill Swift's seven-hit pitching for their fourth victory in succession.

BOONE CLAN ENDS SERIES WITH 8-5 WIN

Manager Ike Returns to Action, Driving in Four of Leafs' Total.

HERD BEATS RED WINGS.

(By the Associated Press)

The see-saw battle between the Toronto Maple Leafs and Rochester Red Wings for second place in the International League found the Canadians on top today.

The Leafs regained the runner-up post by a few points yesterday by trouncing their Canadian rivals, Montreal's Royals, 8-5, while Rochester was dropping a night game to Buffalo, 8-1.

Toronto spotted Montreal four runs in the first inning but tied the score with a four-run outburst off Johnny Salveson in the sixth and then drove him to the showers in the eighth in the midst of another rally that netted four more tallies and the gall game. Murray Howell's home run with one on climaxed the eighth inning drive. Gene Schott, Toronto's starting pitcher, walked one man and gave up three consecutive hits in the first inning and retired in favor of Ken Hilcher with none out. Hilcher pitched well until he was lifted after the fifth and Jimmy Pattison allowed only one hit in the last four innings, receiving credit for the victory.

Herd Has Easy Triumph

Frank Pearce's fine pitching paved the way for Buffalo's easy triumph over Rochester. He allowed seven hits and blanked the Wings after the third. The Bisons hit Jim Winford hard from the start, nicking him for one run in the first and then clinching the verdict with six more in the fourth. He allowed 10 hits before he was replaced by John Berly with one down in the fifth. Ollie Carnegie and Greg Mulleavy led the Buffalo attack, each getting three hits including a home run apiece.

All other clubs were idle.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Chicago—Everett (Young) Rightmire, 125, Sioux City, La., outpointed Dave Barry, 126½, Springfield, Ill., (8).

JIM BROWNING TOPPLES FROM HEAVY THRONE

Body Slam Ends Long Island Match in 1 Hour, 10 Minutes and 10 Seconds.

TITLE DISPUTE ENDED.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 26 (A.P.) — The wrestling war was over to-day and high in the seat of the conqueror sat Jimmy Londos, the Greek idol, living example that right always triumphs, that virtue in the end always is rewarded and that a good smallman sometimes can beat a big one.

He conquered Jim Browning, big, burly farmer from Verona, Mo., and in this case the villain in the piece, in one hour, 10 minutes, and 10 seconds of some of the fanciest wrestling the devotees ever saw in Madison Square Garden's Big Bowl on Long Island last night. There were 20,000 there, and they paid $40,000 to see the throning of a heavyweight champion practically everyone must now accept.

Everyone Happy

They went away happy, for the match that has been four years in the making ran as true to the dramatic standards of the game as did Eas Lynne to the stage of the gay nineties. It began with the 233-pound Browning, recognized here as world champion ever since he beat Strangler Ed Lewis two years ago and Londos refused to meet him, playing the part of the big bully, while "Jeemy," as he's known in every side-arm restaurant from this coast to the other, was the little hero who bears up so manfully under the foul hocks of fortune and the manifest physical advantages of a hardy oppressor.

It went thus for a full hour with Browning torturing the squat, but handsome 195-pound veteran with leg splits, head locks, body scissors, hammerlocks, and that pet punisher that has won him so many matches—the aeroplane whirl, wherein he picks up his victim in his cobra legs, twirls him aloft until he's dizzy, then slams him to the carpet.

Occasionally the 38-year-old Greek would rally and turn on his huge opponent with his own favorite hold, a Japanese arm lock that looks as though it would tear a shoulder right out of a torso. And all the time they leered at each other and grunted, groaned and cackled, stewed and sweated, and wound up after the first 60 minutes right where they started.

But it was getting late and virtue will wait just so long. Browning, having weakened his challenger, hurled himself on the little fellow like a bully taking advantage of a lame runt out back of the barn. Londos writhed, groaned, grunted—even meowed a little—in the stress and strain of that final succession of aeroplane whirls, leg splits and head locks.

Finally he crawled desperately under the rope to get away from his leering oppresor. He came back into the arena then apparently done but with 20,000 of the wrestling faithful holding their breaths for him. The experts, who recognized the symptoms of what is known as the "A-1" finish, or the "triumph of virtue," an old standby, got ready to leave.

In a few more minutes it was over like a gallant stag at bay, going to his death but going gamely, Londos reared his black curly head and plunged forward. He caught Browning completely off guard, picked him up with a crotch hold, and slammed the Missouri farmer right smack-dab down on top of his Princeton haircut.

It was Browning's turn then to reel drunkenly about the enclosure, apparently mortally hurt, and Londos never swerved with opportunity knocking the champion on the head with a hammer. The handsome Greek threw the champion first to the patrons grinning in from the left side of the ring, then to the patrons on the right.

Absolutely impartial, he picked Browning up and hurled him to the south, then to the north. Browning groaned and writhed, held his head, moaned, and was putty in the hands of the avenger. Londos picked him up again, did a kind of a jiggling gavotsky around and around with Browning on his shoulders—then down came the champion in the final crash, inert, lifeless. Carefully Londos spread him out on his shoulder blades with a double arm hold. White-haired George Bothner, the referee, slapped him on the back, and once more Londos was king of the real.

Highway Camp No. 3 Drops 12-10 Game

LAKEFIELD, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Lakefield Softball team won a snappy nine-innings fixture from the No. 3 highway camp nine, 12-10, on Friday evening and provided real entertainment for the large crowd who gathered on the ball grounds. These games are real community events and are attended by good crowds of all ages, some arrive in prams, and are still too young to be interested, while on the other hand there is a goodly array of octogenarians who take a real interest in this fascinating and popular sport.

The line-up:

Highway Camp No. 3.—P. Gamble, c; G. Legge, p; S. Beckett, 1b; B. King, 2b; J. McCabe, 3b; E. Staunt, ss; C. Hickey, rf; F. Bennitz, lf; W. Wingett, cf; D. Cavanagh and J. Harmer, subs.

Lakefield.—J. Blewett, c; D. White, p; R. Chittick, 1b; W. Walker, 2b; H. Morrison, 3b; S. Loyst, ss; S. Pryce, rf; F. Payne, lf; W. Garbutt, cf; G. Porter and A. Kingdon, subs.

Score by innings:

Camp No. 3.....004 030 201—10
Lakefield .....201 102 600—12

The Lakefield team has won its protest re the game with Norwood, played here on June 1st, and it will be replayed in Lakefield on June 29th (Friday evening).

KEEN CONTESTS SCHOOL SPORTS

Queen Mary Students and Staff Held Annual Picnic Last Week.

SHOWERS THREATEN.

The annual picnic of the Queen Mary School was held on the school grounds on Thursday afternoon. Showers threatened to mar the enjoyment of the children during hte early part of the afternoon but the skies cleared and a most enjoyable time was spent. The races conducted by O. M. Steer and the teachers were enthusiastically contested and excited much interest. Two booths under the big trees were very popular and well patronized. Supper arrangements were in charge of the Home and School Association under the leadership of the president, Mrs. J. E. Middleton. Mothers and pre-school children were seated together and each class of pupils grouped together with their teachers and served with an abundance of delicious sandwiches, cake, lemonade and tea by members of the association and assisting mothers and teachers. After supper prizes were presented to one pupil in each room who made the greatest improvement during the year plus standing, and were as follows:

Sr. IV., Jim Harvey; Jr. IV., Claire Dobson; Sr. IIIA, Hugh Kenner; Sr IIIB, Jean Hopkins; Jr. IIIA Roderick Reed; Jr. IIIB Gordon Lunton; Sr. II., Jack Carter; Jr. II., Evelyn Martin and George Green; Jr I., Geraldine Melton; Primer A, Elinor Shirley; Primer B, Betty Watson; Kindergarten, Marley Jobbitt.

The following is the list of prize-winners in the various races of the afternoon:

50 yard dash, girls of 5 and 6 years—1 Grace Hamlin, 2 Jean Hills, 3 Margaret Fredenburg.

50 yard dash, boys of 5 and 6 years—1 Leonard Grierson, 2 Bobby Frise, 3 Jack Matthews.

AAJMAA CLUB IS DEFEATED TOUGH BATTLE

Petes Have to Fight Every Inch of Way to Emerge With 12-7 Victory.

SHORT ON SUBSTITUTES.

The local Kiwanis lacrossers won their third straight O.A.L.A. game of the season last night, defeating the Aajmaa Club of Belleville, 12 to 7, before two hundred fans in the Belleville arena. It was a gruelling battle, both teams roughing it up, and the Petes having to fight every inch of the way to retain a slight margin. They always appeared a little better than the game homesters.

The visiting squad was short on substitutes and the players present had a tough task in the hot contest. They led, 4-3, to end the first quarter; 7-4 going into the third, and both sides tallied three in this frame. The Kiwanis got the only two counters of the game in the hectic fourth heat. With the losing players getting short-tempered, the crowd hostile and penalties coming thick and fast, Kiwanis gave a fighting display that marks them as the team to beat in this league.

Good Net-Minding

Meyette turned in a first-class performance of net-minding, robbing Belleville repeatedly in close. He had a stalwart defence in front of him in Hutchinson and Gerow, both bumping the rival forwards hard. Magee, King, Red Creighton and LeBarr all played great lacrosse not sparing themselves in the rugged going. The three spares, E. Creighton, Jones and Routley, were just as effective when they took the floor. The home referee, Harry Moore, did practically nothing, standing near the boards and refusing to blow his whistle for anything, making V. Reynolds handle the complete game.

Combination Counts

Better combination and shooting, besides a strong defence, made up the difference in the opposing outfits. Kiwanis showed smart stickhandling and passing, and more finish around the other side's net. They worked through the Aajmaa rearguard frequently, but met with slashes, trips and boarding. However, the Petes weren't backward about playing the same type of lacrosse and the result was an interesting, if gruelling, struggle that had the fans roaring continuously. The teams:

Kiwanis.—Goal, Meyette; defence, Hutchison and Gerow; rover, Magee; centre, King; wings, R. Creighton and LeBarr; subs, Jones, E. Creighton and Routley.

Aajmaa Club.—Goal, Delaney; defence, Goodier and Morgan; rover, H. Day; centre, Gibbs; wings, Powers and Gould; subs, Fillon, F. Day, Brooks, Scott, Murphy and Burdes.

Referee—H. Moore and V. Reynolds.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press).

Lou Gehrig, Yankees — Hit homer, triple, double and single as the Yankees defeated Chicago White Sox, 13 to 2.

Jimmy Foxx, Athletics—Collected his 19th and 20th homers of the year to provide the winning margin in the Athletics 13 to 11 victory over Detroit.

Pie Traynor and Bill Swift, Pirates—The former drove in two runs to give Swift a well-earned 7-1 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Mel Ott and Carl Hubbell, Giants—Ott hit two singles in a big 7-run second inning as Hubbell held the Cardinals in check to register his first victory over them this year, 10 to 7.

Earl Whitehill, Washington — Scattered the Browns' 10 hits well enough to give Washington a 6-4 victory even with Rogers Hornsby playing right field for St. Louis.

Gordon (Dusty) Rhodes, Red Sox—Outpitched three Cleveland hurlers to win 6 to 3.

Down at the Exhibition Grounds this evening, weather permitting, C.G.E. and Cogs meet in an E.P.L. ball game. It's due to start at six, and probably will get under way by quarter past or so. As both teams have four or five twirlers available and neither manager has confided to us which one will start on the mound, we wont make any guesses However, with the Electrics just a game and a half down on the fast-stepping Clubmen, and Doug Hatton's crew downright determined to show Cogs that they (Cogs) can lose, anything may happen tonight, and probably will.

Batting averages don't mean a thing in baseball. Your .400 hitter may be a complete washout in the pinch time after time. As some Big League manager said recently: "The only averages that interest me are the won and lost averages in the standing, and the runs batted in in the summary." However, the players and certain fans crave a regular publishing of batting averages and we try to oblige once in a while, even though Knotty Lee would probably much sooner the boys didn't know how they were hitting—or should we say "if"? Very few of the Petes to date have done anything to brag about at bat, so these figures may shame 'em a bit.

• • • • • •

Scriver is tops with .667, getting two bingles in three times to bat. Batten leads the regulars with a nice .391, followed by Konopka with .348. Foley and Hollingsworth are in charmed circle with .333 each. Now comes the grief, the bellow-.300 hitters: Burton with .286, Ash .273, Calladine .250, Murray .238, Deyell .200, Whatley .143, while Houston has .000 in one game. And Heckman failed to hit in once at bat as a pinch-hitter. Playford is no longer listed.

• • • • • •

Yeah, the majority of the lads aren't covering themselves with glory as far as swing the old mace and connecting, so far this season. They'll improve, but they'll need to. Runs batted in and sacrifices are more important of course and here they are: Sacrifices—only Batten and Scriver, one apiece; runs batted in—Konopka, Murray and Whatley, five apiece; Burton, Foley Ash and Batten two each; Deyell and Hollingsworth one each. Twenty-five in five games isn't bad.

Kiwanis intermediate lacrosse team chug-chugged down the line to Belleville last e'en and won another O.A.L. game. This one was no lilt, however, but ended up with a 12-7 nod after many ups and downs. The local lads had to get in there with both feet and battle plenty hard, but they looked the better team all right. The Quinte crew started early to rough it up in their own sand pit—mighty tough footing it made, too. They were very surprised when the Petes said, "Okay, if ya wanna play that way, it's oke with us!" Consequently, a rugged game was dished up to the fans' delight, although the rooters started yipping at Referee Reynolds for more penalties the last ten minutes when it looked like a home defeat. Referee H. Moore was no good at all, blowing his whistle only twice all through. Just a passenger, that's all.

• • • • • •

All the visiting players looked good, from the goalie out. They were short a couple of spare, and often had a player or two cooling off in the sin-box. But they never eased up and turned in a fine display. Powers, Gould and Gibbs went best for the Aajamaa team, but we wouldn't pick any local fellow as being particularly outstanding. This team, having copped three in a row now, looks like a tough one to beat but will get a real test against the Campbellford Maroons—at full strength this time—in Riverside Park Saturday. The boys will be all decked out in their new Kiwanis sweaters.

The Westclox-Keene gals' softball game in Armour Field yester gloaming was called in the sixth with Keene in front, 25 to 9—it was "no contest". Darkness interfered and the game must be replayed. We don't know whether or not this tilt started on time, but we do know that most of them this season have been late getting under way. The teams all know what time they're to start and they should make it a point to get going at that time. It's for their own good and for the sake of the fans. Start a game late and if it's a long-drawn out one, the same thing as occurred last evening will often take place.

Church Softball League is pretty nearly finished. Of the nine bantam teams in only Mark St. and St. Paul remain and they wind it up to-night at the Oval, the championship shield going to the victor. In the juvenile series, George St. makes a final bid against elimination at the hands of St. James in King Edward Park this eve. Knox, champs last year, are down a game to St. John's and must win Wednesday to stay in there. It will be at Central if that diamond is not being used otherwise. If it is, then the contest will be at Queen Mary. These games are not scheduled till the executive is sure they won't conflict with bantam baseball games. St. James meet Lakefield in the junior finals, one game in Lakefield this week and the second next week at King Edward Park, third if necessary at Central or Queen Mary. Mark St. Seniors finished on top with Trinity and Knox tied for second. They settle it Thursday or Friday at King Edward Park, winner meeting Mark St. next week.

Up and down Sports' Rialto: Spook Scriver, Petes' pitching ace, was taken to hospital today for an appendicitis operation. . . . Johnston's Tires turned back Fashion-Crafts, 14-8, in a good men's softball game last p.m. . . . . Hawks and St. Peter's play a bantam ball game at six in Riverside tomorrow night . . . . Routley scored a goal in the fourth quarter of last night's lacrosse game and drew a penalty at the same time—the same shot that scored the marker cutting down a defending player! . . . . A lacrosse rule cover this, saying: "Any player striking another over the head accidentally shall receive a penalty of five mnutes".

Barbara Convery Wins Two Trophies

The many friends in Peterborough of Frank Convery, former secretary of the local baseball and hockey teams, and now a resident of St. Catharines will be interested in learning of the triumphs won by his young daughter, Miss Barbara Convery, at the 8th Annual St. Catharines Horse Show. Miss Convery by her clever riding won two cups in this fine show and the St. Catharines Standard refers to her success as follows:

"Congratulations are being extended to Barbara Convery on her achievement in winning two trophies at the eight annual horse show in St. Catharines this week. Riding under the name of Port Dalhousie, the young lady won her first cup on Wednesday afternoon and the second one yesterday, against competition considerably older than her fifteen years and her first season of riding."

Large Crowd To See Montreal Ring Tilt

MONTREAL, June 26 (C.P.) — Their rigid training schedule finished, two of the hardest-hitting bantamweights ever to come together in a Montreal ring, Sixto Escobar, Juerto Rican slugger, and Baby Casanova, 19-year-old Mexican knockout expert, rested today preparatory to to-night's battle.

The largest crowd of fight fans since Panama Al Brown defended his bantamweigh, title here two years ago was expected to turn out to view the encounter, which will see a new world champion recognized by the Montreal Athletic Commission.

Although Casanova, who has 44 knockouts in 49 bouts to his credit, is slightly favored in the betting, the two men are considered by fistic experts to be practically on a par.

HEDLEY VERITY BOWLING HERO SECOND MATCH

29 Year Old Yorkshireman Successful in Taking 15 Wickets in Single Game.

A BRILLIANT DISPLAY.

LONDON, June 26.—(C.P. Cable)).—All England cheered Hedley Verity, tall, slow-motion left-arm bowler from Yorkshire, whose feat in taking 15 wickets in a single game gave the English team its first victory over Australia in a test match at Lord's since 1896.

The general enthusiasm over the accomplishment of the 29 year old Yorkshireman, was summarized punningly by the Times in the words: "Magnus est Verity et praevaluit." Elsewhere the game which saw England win by an innings and 38 runs, was described as "Verity's game."

A Brilliant Display.

The Times said his feat was one of the greatest in test match history and the Morning Post recalling it is 38 years since England defeated Australia at Lord's, said another 38 years might pass before Verity's achievement would be equalled.

It was agreed universally that the Australians had no luck at all as far as the weather was concerned, but all newspapers exressed satisfaction that the English team showed ability to seize the opportunity presented by the rain-sodden pitch of yesterday.

Given Glowing Tribute.

Australia's veteran captain, W. M. Woodfull, paid glowing tribute to England's smashing victory. "The only thing I can say is I congratulate the team most heartily," Woodfull said. "They saw their chance and seized it. There is nothing further I can say.

"I shall not say anything about the state of the wicket caused by the rain. That is all in a day's work and the soft wicket might just as easily have come to our bowlers as to England's."

England's captain, R. E. S. Wyatt, said the rain undoubtedly helped his side a good deal, "but I am most thankful we had the bowlers able to take advantage of the conditions to such a marvellous extent, especially as Geary and Farnes were suffering from injured legs."

St. Paul's Seniors Lose On Single Run

St. Paul's Seniors, without their regular battery, almost eliminated Trinity in a Church Softball League game last night, but lost out, 14-13. Trinity is now tied with Knox in second place, and a sudden-death game will be played this week for the play-off berth. The winners yesterday, also without their captain, took advantage of walks and timely hitting to cop the nod. Ward bore down in the pinches to fan nine and keep the Saints down. They could not shove the deciding run over in the seventh. Marsh led the hitters with four while Ward and Broadley had three each.

The teams:

Trinity—McFadden, lf; Nicholls, ss; Hayes, c; Ridyard, 3b; Ward, p; Gadd, 2b; Davern, 2b; Clark, cf; Morrow, lf; McBain, 1b.

St. Paul's—Wooll, rf; G. Kirkwood, lf; Broadley, 2b; Marsh, 3b; McIntyre, p; Morrow, c; J. Kirkwood cf; Coleman, 1b; Anderson, ss.

Eight rinks from the ladies' section of our club are competing to-day in the Lindsay club's annual competition. We wish them all the best of luck.

Mrs. R. Hendry's rink leads in the ladies' schedule with four wins and no losses, while Miss M. Sedgewick is running a good second, with four wins and one loss. It looks like a big entry for our mixed tournament tomorrow night. The cost is only 15c per player. The draw will be made sharply at 7.30 p.m.

And we are just reminding the skips to get their rinks together for the Tip-Top Tailors' Trophy on Monday next. A good day's bowling, good prizes and good greens.

BOWLING NOTES

AT HASTINGS

HASTINGS, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence)—Warkworth bowlers put a halt to Hastings' march to the first half championship of the Trent Valley League, when the best the local club could do was break even in the four games played on the local greens Friday night before a big gallery.

In the first games Lynch and Dingman made it very close until the last two ends, when Lynch chalked up seven points to win 13 to 4. Huycke dropped a one-sided game to Philips, 12 to 4.

Hastings:—
Lynch .....010 121 103 4—13
Warkworth:—
Dingman .....201 000 010 0— 4
Hastings:—
Huycke .....021 010 001 0— 5
Warkworth:—
Philips .....200 101 220 4—12

The last of the night's play produced the best bowling of the night. Huycke and Dingman had a real tussle before the former got the last end and the game, 7 to 6. Lynch gave Philips a close one up to the eight end, when the latter got a three in the ninth to give him the game:

Hastings:—
Lynch .....101 001 120 0— 6
Warkworth:—
Philips .....020 110 003 1— 7
Hastings:—
Huycke .....110 120 001 1— 7
Warkworth:—
Dingman .....001 001 130 0— 6
Total score:—
Hastings 31
Warkworth 30

Lakefield Easily Beats Saints 23-8

Garbutt speedballed All Saints' into the discard in a junior Church Softball League game last evening, fanning eleven while Lakefield United won out, 23 to 8. G. Seabrooke of the losers was hit freely and had poor support. S. Seabrooke and Livingstone were the only ones to solve Garbutt's hurling. Jewell led the Lakefield hitters with Kingdon, Tanner and Chittick also good at bat. Kingdon featured in the field with a one-hand stab on a high liner. Two minor injuries marred the game, Rusaw getting an eye closed on a foul tip and Tanner hurting his shoulder in a play at second.

The teams:

Lakefield — Loyst, c; Graham, rf; Kingdon, lf; Morrison, 3b; Jewell, cf, 2b; Chittick, 1b; Spence, ss; Tanner, 2b, cf; Garbutt, p.

All Saints—Livingstone, rf, c; Platt, 2b; Fisher, lf, p; S. Seabrooke, 1b; Williams, ss; Rusaw, c, rf; G. Seabrooke, p, 3b; Worsencroft, 3b; Jay lf; Beauclerc, rf.

Lakefield .. .. 430 083 3—23
All Saints .. .. 004 220 0— 8

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 33

The studio itself, as Pointer found on unlocking it with one of his keys—he had a search warrant if needed—proved to be an unexpectedly large and pleasant room. Yellow walls, deep blue linoleum, and very thick blue curtains which, when drawn, would allow no glimpse of the interior to be caught from any overlooking windows. A gas stove stood in a neat fireplace. On a long green-painted table stood some china, each piece carefully labeled with directions and addresses. In the drawers of the table were various tools and implements for mending china. Altogether a most innocent, workmanlike looking place—with no green spun glass ornaments. The bureau was open in its pigeon holes were neatly stacked accounts. Yet all the cupboards and drawers in the room showed slovenliness. It looked to Pointer as though the accounts had to be kept up-to-date and ready for inspection by some backer. They showed that so far the business did not pay for the rent of the room, let alone for heating and lighting, or any living expenses. Yet, from the look of the linoleum, when he moved away bureau and potters' bench, the room had been fitted out as it was at present for at least two or three years.

On the mantel was the dottle out of a pipe. The whole room badly needed dusting. There was a tin of Turkish cigarets on the shelf which corresponded with some ash dropped near the bureau, and with some stubs on a shelf over a fitted basin. Expensive scented cigarets, these. They suited Miss Dundas' appearance, but the dottle? Pointer retrieved that too very carefully and put it away for analysis. He tested the room quickly for finger prints, especially the green painted wooden arms of a smoker's chair that stood just beside the end of the mantel where he had found the dottle. On it he found quite a collection, recently made apparently, and made by the same hands. Unusually big hands of a man, but with slender fingers. And there was one place on the side where he had evidently drummed. Pointer stared hard at the prints, which his powder brought up sharp and clear. For though the marks showed that he had drummed with curved-in fingers on their very tips, there were no marks of rounded or pointed nails, only a jagged notch here and there. The man apparently either bit his nails, or had worn them roughly down by some form of work. Yet the dottle was of a very good tobacco.

The telephone buzzed. Pointer took down the receiver.

"Is Miss Dundas there?" It was a man's voice, rather a thick voice, but suggestive of a big frame and youth.

"Yes," Pointer said quickly.

"Can I speak to her, please?" In a tone of great relief.

"Dare say you can," Pointer said in cockney accents, after which he laid down the receiver and walked noisily into a kitchenette off the studio proper.

"Here, miss. Yer wanted on the 'phone," he called as he went. A minute later he picked up the mouthpiece again. "She must've just gone out. Can't be gone for long from the way she spoke. . . ."

"Who are you?" came the question, sharply put.

"I'm the plumber," came the reply. "Something wrong with the hot water pipe. Well, are you coming round, or shall I give the lady a message, or what?" Pointer spoke in weary tones.

There was nothing weary in the voice that replied rapidly: "I'll be round at once. Ask Miss Dundas to wait for me, will you, if she comes back before I get there."

"What name?" Pointer asked listlessly.

"Strange. Say I'll be round as soon as I can, and want to see her very particularly. If she can't wait, will she leave a message for me."

Pointer murmured "Right ho" and hung up. The next instant he was telephoning in code to a man at the Yard. He had a wardrobe-room full of disguises, all ready packed. In a minute a man on a motor bicycle was hurrying to him, a bag tagged with a number that meant a plumber's outfit. Pointer meanwhile watted on the landing outside, in case Mr. Strange should get there before his man, but the latter was first by a good 10 minutes. It took Pointer just four to turn into a round-shouldered, be-spectacled man with graying hair, who had evidently not shaved this morning. A pair of greasy overalls protected well-worn, much rained-on clothes. A bag of plumber's tools also showed signs of hard wear. He lit a candle and stuck it in true professional style under the washbasin so as to dribble as much tallow on the floor as possible, and smoke as much of the surrounding wall as possible, then he strewed his tools around him, and waited. He did not make the mistake of looking out of the window. Presently he heard steps taking the stairs two at a time. There came long pressure on the bell. Pointer waited. Had the visitor a latch-key, and were his fingernails bitten to the quicks? As for Miss Dundas, a message to the house—in code—had assured him that she was still locked in her room far from any telephone. The ring came again. A long ring and two short ones. Still Pointer waited. Again and for a third time the long and two short rings came. Finally a key was inserted, and some one stepped in hastily and as hastily shut the door. Next moment the door of the studio was jerked wide. A tall figure of a man hurried in. At sight of the plumber it stopped dead.

"I thought the place must be empty. I've been rining for ten minutes."

Pointer looked up from under the sink. "Sorry, I'm sure," he said civilly. "I heard a bell but I never thought of it being in this flat. Ye see, whot with the water running and my ear to this pipe I can't hear clear——"

"Where's Miss Dundas?" the other broke in impatiently.

"Not back yet." Pointer replied, working away with a spanner which he carefully did not screw home on a nut. He peered up once at the man as he answered, then seemed engrossed with his work. That one glance had shown him a man looking around 30, dressed in the very smartest of clothes, but worn without the right air of copmlacent strut demanded, for the garments in question had been chosen and made with a view to creating an impression. But the man wearing them was ont thinking of making an impression just at the moment. His face intrigued the chief inspector. Pointer classed it as a ravaged one. By what? Drug? Drink? Neither quite fitted, though Pointer thought that the last was one of the habits of the man now standing irresolutely in front of the fireplace. But there were lines on the face turned first this way to the window, then that way to the door, which even Pointer could not quite classify. He saw some of them for the first time. Odd lines in odd places, or else odd lines in usual places. The face looked to him as though an earthquake had at some time or other taken place in it, and the features still bore the mark of their violent distortion. Was the man an epileptic? He thought that this explanation might be the right one. The man now set his teeth and worked his lips, now pursed to cover them, now drawn far back. He was evidently quite unconscious of the grimaces as, deep in what looked like anxious thought, he stood staring at the unlit gas fire. He had very large and strong yellow teeth, deeply serrated, apparently all intact. Just such teeth, in fact, as Pointer would expect to leave just such marks as he had seen on the gold fountain pen top that Tait had flung out of his pocket as he fell into the arms of the taximan, the pen top which the dying man might have meant as a guide to his murderer.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, June 27

Rather adverse astral conditions prevail on this day, according to the astrological forecast. There is much peril in employment, with superiors or those in authority, and also the finances are imperiled through mortgages, speculative enterprises or injudicious expenditures or personal extravagance. However, with precaution and wise or diplomatic relations with combines, mergers or secret societies, or by means of strategy or secret agreements, there may be some worth while beenfits.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which their individual sagacity and acumen as well as conservative handling of funds may be an offsetting factor to menacing planetary conditions. Speculation, mortgages, unsafe loans and undue extravagances may lead to losses and hamper some fair prospects with combines, mergers, secret societies, where tact and secret understandings may be found lucrative. Employment also should be zealously safeguarded.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, of undue optimism, disposed to take many long chances to its detriment. Prudence and frugality should be instilled early in life.

Magistrate's Court

A little woman, who gave her age as sixty-eight years, appeared in police court this morning in answer to a charge of brewing beer without Excise license. Laid on the information of R.C.M.P. Constable Wood of Lindsay, the charge against the defendant was adjourned for one week.

A respectable motherly person, it was apparent the defendant was entirely unfamiliar with court procedure. Asked by the magistrate how she wished to plead to the charge, she replied, 'I guess I'll have to plead guilty to brewing; but it was just like water, it was not real beer."

Subsequently in reply to a question as to whether or no; she was ready to go on with the trial, the defendant, informed His Worship, "No. I'll let it wait a little longer."

On the information of Constable Samuel Taylor of Mud Lake Indian Reserve, Victor McFadden 22, of Apsley was charged with having illegal possession of liquor on an Indian Reserve contrary to the provisions of the Indian Act. On a plea of guilty the defendant was fined $10 and $6.75 costs, or in default one months imprisonment.

Dermont Lindsay of Keene was fined $10 and $6.50 costs on a charge of reckless driving, while his permit was suspended for two days. The charge was a result of defendant's failure to observe a stop sign within the city. He was represented by W. J. Fair.

Here is the German steamship Dresden which sank with the loss of five women when it struck a submerged rock off the coast of Norway during a pleasure cruise with almost 1,000 passengers aboard. Distress signals that circled half the world brought the Norwegian steamer King Haakon to the rescue, gathering up men, women and children from lifeboats afloat, while 350 members of the crew remained aboard the liner until the arrival of another ship, Stuttgart.

Lindsay Woman Is Remanded For Week

LINDSAY, June 26 (Examiner Cordespondence.) — Some days ago a local woman named Gladys Graham appeared before Magistrate Jordan on a charge of fraud preferred against her by Chief of Police Lawler. The woman had been on relief during the winter, but it was brought out in the evidence submitted by the Crown that during the period of relief she had received the sum of $800 in insurance on a policy held by her deceased husband and had purchased an automobile. She was given suspended sentence after promising to make full restitution to the Relief Board and agreeing to give up certain associates. To-day she was again summoned into court charged with breaking the conditions of her suspended sentence. She was also charged with driving a car without the necessary permit. She was remanded for a week on bail.

Burleigh Falls Club Been Refurnished

With sixty-six visitors registered in advance for this week-end, the Burleigh Falls Fishing Club is looking forward to a summer of good tourist business. Most of those expected are Americans who wish to be on hand for the opening of the bass and lunge season on Monday.

Under the proprietorship of A. C. Wagner of Apsley, the club quarters have been entirely renovated in consequence of the disastrous fire last year. A large order for furniture, beds, silverware, china, bedding and linen was filled by the Canadian Departmental Stores branch in this city during the complete refurnishing of the quarters.

Fashion Craft Falls To Johnstone's 14-8

Johnston's Tires cinched first place in the first half of the men's softball last evening by defeating Fashion Craft, 14-8, in a long-drawn-out affair last night at Central.

The winners pulled out to an early lead in the first inning by batting all around and from then on were never seriously threatened. Freddie Elliott did the hurling for the Tiremen and made a good job of it, limiting the Fashion Crafters to 8 runs and 14 hits. He struck out 4 and walked 1, but kept his opponents will in hand throughout the game. Jimmy Dorrington led the hitting attack for Johnston's with 5 hits out of 6 trips to the plate, following closely by Walt. Crary with 3 hits for 4 tries.

Fashion Craft used 3 hurlers in an effort to stop the steady stream of base hits from the bats of the Deck men. Ted Naish started and was relieved in the fifth by Butcher who in turn yielded to Bill Simmons in the ninth.

Harry Gainey was the only member of Fashion Craft to solve Elliott's delivery for three hits. The fielding highlight of the game was a hard running catch made by Wiley, right fielder for Fashion Craft, of a hard-hit fly ball over his shoulder in the fourth stanza. The teams:

Johnston Tires.—Starr, c; Dorrington, 3b; Montgomery, rf; Parsons, rf; Ellis, 1b; Stanger, 2b; Elliott, p; McQuade, cf Anderson, lf; Allen, lf; Crary, ss.

AT THE CAPITOL

LIONEL BARRYMORE IN "THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN."

This is one of the pictures in which the elder Barrymore has his favored role; that of a man who becomes entangled in affairs outside his domestic life, with repercussions on that home existence. It is really a picture of American home folk, lived in a big city, and it has a happy ending after a few hectic incidents. The one in the hospital in which Martin Turner battles for his very life is a tragic episode.

With Barrymore, as his wife, Francine, is Fay Bainter, while Mae Clarke, who looks so different with her dark hair, is one of the daughters of the Turner menage, and Peggy Carlisle is the other. Una Merkel has a good bit as the talkative and good-hearted maid.

The story tells the tale of a typical American household where the father strives, after much sacrifice, to give his wife and children all they desire. The wife is a novelist, by the way, who makes a success of her first book and gets a fine Hollywood offer. The two girls have their separate romances and the son enters college and tries for a fraternity. It is the happenings that follow on the heels of his failure to enter the "frat" that lead to a happy conclusion of a story in which Barryore does some good acting, and holds the stage just a little less than in the majority of his pictures.

"This Side of Heaven" makes mighty good entertainment, from start to finish.

The pictures of the Carnera-Baer fight are extremely detailed although they fail to show the Italian getting knockout in every round. The knockouts seem to come if the last three rounds, after a series of episodes in which the curl-headed Jewish-looking Baer taunts his big opponent like an enraged tiger cat and draws the lumbering lunges of the bewildered giant, who, by the way, in the news reels which precede the fight pictures, claims an alibi in an injured ankle in the first round. The slow-motion camera shows the feints and lunges and parried blows of the two fighters.

—Jeanett'e.

Lancaster's Plurality is Cut to 34 Votes

20,962 VOTES CAST IN RIDING CONSERVATIVE IN LEAD WITH 9,401 LIBERAL CANDIDATE POLLED 9,367

Final Count Takes Place Before Returning Officer F. J. A. Hall —Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Hawthorne Were Both Present When Boxes Were Opened.

ONLY FEW MINOR CHANGES FROM RESULTS PRINTED BY THE EXAMINER ON THE NIGHT OF THE ELECTION

T. P. Lancaster's plurality in the general elections last Tuesday was thirty-four according to the figures tabulated last night by Sheriff F. J. A. Hall, returning officer for the riding of Peterborough.

The total were:

T. P. Lancaster (Conservative)	9401
James Hawthorne (Liberal)	9367
Rev. J. Sutherland (C.C.F.)	2288
Spoiled papers	183

Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Hawthorne were both present in the Sheriff's office at the Court House when the ballot boxes were opened by Matthew Elliott, election clerk. The envelopes containing the reports of the deputy returning officers of their counting of the ballots after the polls closed last Tuesday night were opened by Sheriff Hall, and the figures for each candidate were listed and added. With only a few minor changes in the results as published in The Examiner in the noon edition of the day after the election, Mr. Lancaster's plurality showed a decline from the margin which the hurriedly collected returns indicated within a scant three hours after the polls closed.

AWAKES KING TO SIGN NOTE

Clad in Pyjamas Signed Telegram to Czar on Eve of War.

ASQUITH RELATES.

(By Thomas T. Champion—C.P. Staff Writer).

LONDON, June 26 (C.P. Cable).—King George was in his pyjamas at 1.30 a.m. on August 1, 1914, when Premier Asquith with William Tyrrell of the Foreign Office secured His Majesty's signature to a telegram to the Czar, endeavoring to ward off the outbreak of war.

This revelation appeared to-day in the second volume of the 'letters' of Lord Asquith to his friend, Mrs. Harrison of Boar's Hill.

Lord Oxford, as the Liberal Premier eventually became, was dining with Her Ladysmith at the Palace in 1922, he writes. "The King was in his usual form and very friendly. I reminded him how on the night of August 1, 1914, I invaded the Palace with Tyrrell at 1.30 a.m. and he appeared with sleepy eyes, in his pyjamas and dressing gown, and signed a telegram we had drawn up to Nikky of Russia."

In view of Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald's present breakdown it is interesting to note that exactly 10 years ago Lord Oxford wrote: "Poor Ramsay looks every day more like a ghost. He is suffering from neuritis. He has taken on a burden far too heavy for man who is not composed of equal proportions of iron and leather."

Mr. Macdonald at that time was combining the offices of Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary.

Bonarlaw Funeral

Lord Asquith contributed a vivid vignette of the funeral of Andrew Bonerlaw, the Canadian who was Premier for a brief time. "To me the most interesting thing was the assembling of the pall-bearers," he wrote.

"We were a very incongruous lot —the Prince of Wales, Carson, myself, Balfour and Baldwin, plus the only one who I suppose in his utmost depths was profoundly moved, Beaverbrook.

"Baldwin later asked me to give him a lift from the Abbey to Downing Street, which I did."

Millbrook Takes 3-2 Win From Port Hope

MILLBROOK, June 26 (Examiner Correspondence) — Millbrook took the big end of the score in the game of box lacrosse played with Port Hope at the Cosmos rink on Friday, this being the initial time a game has been played locally under the floodlights, the result standing 3-2 at the end of the fourth period. B. B. Dawson was referee.

The attendance of fans was large, and it was noted that the local players had to work hard to keep up with the visitors from the lakeside town who were inexcellent form. An unusual happening was the fact that three balls were lost in the course of play in the long grass at the east end of the rink enclosure, and the game was held up for at least fifteen minutes as the second period finished while fresh balls could be secured. Scoring for Millbrook were Red Creighton, H. Gray and L. Nattress and for Port Hope, B. Smith and Marshal. Play grew rather rough toward the close, the visitors apparently being determined to tie the score.

The teams lined up:

Port Hope—Goal, E. Isaac; defence, C. Cansilla and J. Hagerman; centre, P. Smith; wings, B. Cansilla and Marshal; rover, Symonds; subs, G. Suade, L. Goome, Harwood, G. Isaac.

Millbrook—Goal, J. Larmer; defence, Creighton and LeBarr; centre, Stinson; wings, Harkness and L. Nattress; rover, Freelove; subs, Donnelly, Scott, Edmunds, Brown, McGee.

INTELLIGENCE ONLY

CHICAGO, June 26 (CP)—Doors of the University of Chicago to-day were opened to "all who might profit by study," regardless of whether they had had previous academic training, President Robert Maynard Hutchins announced.

The university's new policy permits enrollment of students-at-large. They may participate in the university studies without necessity of working toward a degree and without academic requirements. Intellectual capacity is their only qualification.

COMMUNISTS ORDERED OUT BY MINERS

Liberals To Ask For Recount

183 BALLOTS WERE SPOILED OR REJECTED

Details of Recount Left in Hands of Committee of Young Lawyers.

MARGIN ONLY 34.

Be Second Recount For Mr. Lancaster in Twice at Polls.

Members of the executive of the Liberal Asso.iation decided yesterday afternoon to apply to Judge Robert Ruddy for a recount of the ballots cast in Peterborough county by which T. P. Lancaster of Havelock was elected to the Legislature by a plurality of thirty-four votes over James Hawthorne and Rev. John Sutherland.

Committee Named

Details of presenting the appeal were left to a committee of young lawyers of the city composed of Wilfrid Huycke, Alex L. Elliott, T. J. Carley, Jacob Low and Jack Harstone.

The Examiner was informed this morning that because of the large number of Liberals elected throughout the province the executive was reluctant to dispute the result in this riding, but with 183 spoiled or rejected ballots reported by Sheriff Hall, returning officer, it was agreed that they should be examined impartially by Judge Ruddy. In view of the small margin by which Mr. Lancaster was declared elected it was felt that Mr. Hawthorne was entitled to a recount. Another influencing factor in the executive's decision was an effect of resentment arising out of reports of certain officiousness on the part of an active Conservative at one of the road camps.

If a recount takes place, and that was evidently settled at yesterday's meeting, it will be the second experience of this kind for Mr. Lancaster. In his last election as the member for East Peterborough, when he defeated W. A. Anderson of Otonabee, a recount was held on the request of the Liberal candidate, and the judicial finding resulted in a slight increase in Mr. Lancaster's majority.

PLACING ORDERS FOR MORE COAL

Utilities Commission Decides to Purchase 10 Tons of Coal.

FOR GAS DEPARTMENT.

Fearing sharp increases in the coal prices as the result of threatened strikes in both the American and Nova Scotian coal fields, the Utilities Commission authorized the ordering of an advance supply by the Gas Department at a meeting this morning. Manager Harry Beal will endeavour to secure about 360 tons of Elkhorn coal from Kentucky at a price of $7.45 per ton f.o.b. Peterborough recently quoted and 450 tons of Nova Scotia slack coal at a price of $5.75.

The meeting was one of the shortest on record, lasting scarcely fifteen minutes. A letter of thanks from the Special Relief Committee for co-operation in supplying light to its clothing room was read by S. R. Armstrong, the secretary. General Manager Ross Dobbin and Howard Clegg, Commission accountant, announced that they would go to-morrow to the Hydro convention in Ottawa as authorized at an earlier meeting.

Nazis Campaign Against Killjoys Will End as Troopers Take Rest

BERLIN, June 27.— (C.P.-Havas) —The campaign Germany's aggressive "Minister of Propaganda and Enlightenment," Paul Joseph Goebbels, has been waging against "killjoys and grumblers" will come to an end temporarily at least June 30, it was announced today.

At that time Nazi storm troopers will lay their uniforms away for a while and resume civil duties—if they have any—by way of taking a summer holiday, and Goebbels explained that the overworked party orators who have been in the front lines of his assault on critics of the Nazi regime are entitled to a vacation too.

Observers saw in the order another tempering of the Nazi policies in line with rightist tendencies that seem to be making progress since Vice-chancellor Franz Von Papen delivered his controversial speech last week, criticising extremists in the party.

PETERBOROUGH RANGERS MAKE GOOD SHOWING AT INSPECTION

Local Infantry Unit is Inspected By Col. W. B. Anderson.

BRILLIANT PAGEANT.

A brilliant military pageant was staged on the flood-lighted parade ground in front of the Armouries as the Peterborough Rangers paraded for their annual review last night. One hundred and seventy-five men marched and manoeuvred to win the approval of Col. W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., of Kingston, district officer commanding Military District No. 3.

Many spectators were attracted by the colorful spectacle, which was enhanced by the spirited military music of the Rangers Band. Under the command of Lieut.-Col. G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., the men paraded with a proficiency that did the unit justice as the regiment which, with the Governor-General's Foot Guards in Ottawa, perpetuates the memory of the famed 2nd Battalion. Before dismissing the men, Col. Winterbottom told them he was proud of the showing they had made.

Col. Anderson was accompanied in making his inspection by Col. L. T. McLaughlin, C.M.G., D.S.O., of Bowmanville, the last commanding officer of the 2nd Battalion, honorary colonel of the Rangers; Col. G. E. Weeks, V.D., commander of the 7th Brigade; Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, honorary lieutenant-colonel of the Rangers, and Major W. Salmon, M.C. with bar, of Kingston, general staff officer of M. D. No. 3. The parade served not alone as a demonstration for the review of the

C.P.C. EMPLOYEES PLAN TO ORGANIZE OWN UNION

TORONTO, June 27.—(CP)—Employees of Canada Packers Limited will meet tonight to form a union affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, according to F. J. Carney, local representative of the Butcher Workmen of the United States and Canada.

Carney said last night the employees would not accept the wage increases offered by the company. As a result of the Stevens Committee's investigation, the company offered small increases, he said, but the union would demand a flat 10 per cent increase for all workers. The demmand was based on the company's ability to pay, increased costs of living for the workers and could not be considered extravagant, Carney said.

TORONTO, June 27. (CP). — A conference expected to be held today between Premier George S. Henry and Premier-elect M. F. Hepburn was not held as the Liberal leader did not arrive in Toronto from Ottawa at it was reported he would. He left Ottawa last night and is believed to have stopped on the way to visit friends.

Premier Henry could not announce a definite day for his resignation but it is not expected it will take place before the first or middle of next week. Cabinet members are busy getting their office files in shape for their successors and office staffs have been kept working for several evenings in the work.

Lady Driver Will Face Charge of Reckless Driving.

TWO CARS WRECKED.

LINDSAY, June 27. (Special to The Examiner).—A bad automobile accident occurred at the village of Sunderland on Tuesday, when Melville Bagshaw of that village and Mildred Nicholson, nurse, of Toronto, were severely injured.

Miss Nicholson was on her way to Lindsay to attend the funeral of R. M. Fee. After passing a car driven by Philip Morgan, of Sturgeon Point, she crashed into a car driven by Melville Bagshaw.

Miss Nicholson was taken from the wreckage to the office of Dr. Ross where it was found that she had sustained cuts about the head besides serious body bruises. Bagshaw, who suffered lacerations about the arms and body, and other injuries, was brought to Ross Hospital, Lindsay.

It is understood a charge of reckless driving has been preferred against Miss Nicholson. Both cars were badly

Lachine Rapids Form Next Barrier of Water Along His Course.

MONTREAL, June 27.—(CP)—On his way to test the wide and rough Atlantic, John Smith of Peterborough, Ont., arrived in his canoe last night at Dorval, Que., just above the Lachine Rapids.

Smith reported an exciting and strenuous run for a point six miles below Cornwall during the day. Tomorrow he intends heading into the perilous Lachine waters.

Shooting the Cedar Rapids in the St. Lawrence was more exciting than traversing the Long Sault, Smith said. He encountered one wave nine feet in height with spray so thick he could see nothing, not even the ends of his frail craft.

Survived Six Rapids.

Smith, who has already survived six rapids on his way here in a canvas-covered canoe from his home, was to-day planning his course through another hazard to-morrow —the Lachine Rapids.

Asked where his course down the St. Lawrence was to end, Smith answered with a twinkle, "England."

Dressed in a leather windbreaker and khaki trousers, the canoeist asked many questions about the conditions he will face in the turbulent Lachine Rapids.

He arrived just above the rapids last night, reporting strenuous paddling in the adventurous run yesterday from a point six miles below Cornwall. The Cedar Rapids in the St. Lawrence were exciting, Smith said, with waves nine feet high and spray so thick he was at times unable to see the end of his boat.

SIX SEA SCOUTS START VOYAGE

Will Pass Through Trent Canal on Way to Lake Simcoe.

FROM MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, June 27 (CP) — Eager for adventure along the picturesque waterway of Eastern Canada, five Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club Sea Scouts left to-day in a 26-foot whaler for a 1,000-mile trip under sail and oar to Lake Simcoe, Ontario.

The trip is under the direction of Bos'n George Duncan, assisted by Coxswain Wesley McConnel. The crew consists of Sea Scouts John Swift, John Bradbury and Harold Hicks; all of the lads being between 16 and 18 years of age.

The whaler will be taken by steamer from Lachine to Kingston from whence it will proceed under its own power through the canals and lakes to its destination. On arrival there a trip to Georgian Bay by steamer is planned.

The "skipper" of the cruise, George Duncan, has made four similar cruises totalling 2,500 miles.

Cross-examination of Girl Finished in Suit Against Premier Brownlee.

MAID TESTIFIES.

States She Saw Stenographer Riding in Brownlee's Car One Night.

EDMONTON, June 27 (C.P.). — Reports of the Brownlee-MacMillan hearing published in the Edmonton Bulletin, under the name of Justice Cowper, were drawn to the attention of Mr. W. C. Ives when the court opened to-day.

A. L. Smith, K.C. chief counsel for Premier J. E. Brownlee said he believed it his duty to bring the articles to the court's attention, as he thought they were far beyond the rights of the press in presenting a fair and accurate report.

Mr. Justice Ives said he would give consideration to the matter. He warned that members of the press were in court seats behind the rail by courtesy. He could exclude representatives and they would have to take their chances of obtaining seats provided for the public "I would suggest," he remarked in reference to the complaint, "that whoever was responsible be here at two o'clock."

At 10.45 a.m. Mr. Smith finished cross-examination of Miss MacMillan.

Wife Didn't Suspect

Counsel asked witness why she had gone to see Mr. Brownlee when he was ill and Mrs. Brownlee away in the east.

"I knew Mrs Brownlee was away and she would want me to go, and I was in the habit of doing what he asked me."

"Mrs. Brownlee didn't suspect anything at that time?"

"I don't suppose she did."

"You were treated as one of the family."

"Yes."

Recognized Car.

Jessie Elgert, former maid in the Brownlee household, was called to the stand by Neil McLean. She told of seeing Vivian get into the Brownlee car the latter part of October, 1929. This was on Victoria Avenue, after 10 o'clock at night.

"How did you recognize the car?"

"I was in it myself that night."

"Ever drive with Mr. Brownlee before? Where had you gone?"

Mr. Justice Ives—"Stop."

He refused to permit further questions along this line.

Miss Elgert had been maid at the Brownlee home from January to April, 1930. She denied going back later to seek re-employment.

McLean—"Did Mr. Brownlee ever ask you to come back?"

Mr. Justice Ives stopped the answer.

Mrs. MacMillan, mother of Vivian, was next called.

Excited Over Big Fight Broadcast Indian Bites Off His Friend's Ear

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 27.—(CP)—A mouthful of ear is worth three months less a day in the county jail. That was Magistrate Blake's finding in county court this morning when he sentenced George Williams, Indian, who was alleged to have bitten off a large part of the ear of Ed Curley, another Indian. The two had been listening to the Baer-Carnera fight, and a fight followed with Curley being the loser at the time but Williams the loser when he came into court today.

MINE STRIKERS OUST AGITATORS FROM FLIN FLON

Newly-formed Anti-Communist is Endorsed by Town Council.

EVERYONE JOINS.

Pledged to Uphold British Law and Order in Mining Field.

FLIN FLON, June 27.—(C. P.)—Strike agitators in this mining town had their marching orders today while the newly-formed anti-Communist League was further bolstered by unanimous endorsation of the Flin Flon municipal council.

The strike committee, representing 1300 employees of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company who have been out for more than two weeks was presented with a resolution adopted by representatives of various organizations, requesting the ousting immediately of strike agitators from outside points.

Representatives of the Canadian Legion, Odd Fellows, Royal Arch Masons, Knight of Columbus, Masonic Lodge, B. P. O. Elks, and the anti-Communist League, pledged to uphold British law and tradition in Northern Manitoba denies affiliation with any Fascism., Nazi or Nationalist organizations at a council meeting and received the unanimous endorsation of that body.

Efforts to negotiate for the end of the strike are still dead locked, though the men have decided recognition of the United Mine Workersof Canada is no longer a condition and ask only restoration of wage cuts and various other improvements in living conditions.

Scorpion Is Found In Montreal Morgue

MONTREAL, June 27.—(C.P.) — The erie atmosphere of Montreal's morgue has been heightened by the discovery of a scorpion, five inches long, clinging to the clothing of a corpse recently recovered from the St. Lawrence river.

Morgue attendants, whose nerves are usually proof against the unusual, were startled when the venomous insect crept out from under the coat lapel of the dead man. Using a stick they flipped it into a pail of chloride of lime last night. To-day it was still alive, however, and was taken to the office of Dr. Rosario Fontaine, medico-legal expert, where it was said to be positively identified as a scorpion.

Scorpions are almost unknown in Canada, although they have been discovered here in shipments from southern ports.

BERLIN, June 27 (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler to-day assured Franz Seldte, Minister of Labor, and founder and leader of the war veterans' organization—the Steel Helmeters—that the veterans' body will not be dissolved.

The Chancellor immediately sent an order to Col. Ernst Roehm, Chief of Staff of the Nazi Storm Troopers, that attacks by the Storm Troops in word or deed on the Steel Helmeters must cease.

Hitler's orders followed a controversy between the veterans on the one hand and the militant Nazis on the other.

VALERA PARTY LEADS AT POLLS

In County Council Voting Gets 40 Seats to O'Duffy's 25.

RETURNS NOT COMPLETE.

DUBLIN, June 27 (AP)—The Fianna Fail, President de Valera's party, was leading the forces of General Eoin O'Duffy, two to one, in yesterday's local election on the basis of partial returns to-day.

De Valera's party apparently had won 40 seats in the various county councils; O'Duffy's opposition had won 25, Labor had won 15, and 12 Independents were elected.

O'Duffy's men apparently were more successful in the southern Free State and were leading everywhere in County Cork.

MIRACLE WOMAN NEVER EATS BEARS STIGMATA OF JESUS

ATTRACTS MILLIONS

By CORALIE VAN PAASEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

KONNERSREUTH, Bavaria, June 26.—In this village lives a woman who never eats or drinks, who never sleeps and who weeps tears of blood every Friday afternoon. Her name is Therese Neumann. Since 1928 more than six million people have come to this hamlet of Konnersreuth to see or to be near Therese Neumann. The average number of visitors per day is three thousand, five hundred, which makes one million, two hundred and seventy-seven thousand, five hundred per year. I am therefore not exaggerating when I say that in six year's time the number of visitors surpasses the six millons.

If I tell you that ths village has not more than three poorly-equipped inns with a total of seventy-five rooms and that the population consists of about 900 poor mountain-folks who dwell for the most part in one or two-roomed cottages, you can figure for yourself what a pandemonium it is here every day. The visitors spend their time in the open, in the market-place, in the streets, sitting on the church-steps and the "stoops" of the houses. The neighborhood of Therese Neumann's

CORN ELEVATOR IS NOT NEEDED MINISTER TOLD

Not to be Built Without Careful Consideration of Government.

DELEGATES ASSURED.

Georgian Bay Ports Oppose Construction of $600,000 Windsor Elevator.

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP)—Construction of a proposed corn drying elevator at Windsor, Ont., involving an expenditure of $600,000, will not be undertaken "without the most careful consideration" of the Federal Government.

A representative delegation from the Georgian Bay ports was given this assurance yesterday by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett; Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, after their protests against the proposal had been aired at three separate conferences. They left for their homes with the pledge from Mr. Stevens that any action taken would be in the best interests of the farmers.

G. C. Leitch, manager of the Toronto Elevators, who acted as spokesman for the delegation, believed it would be folly to build the elevator at the present time. He contended that to proceed with the undertaking would be the same as erecting one more side by side with that at Prescott "now standing empty." There was also elevator space of greater capacity than was being used at Owen Sound, Sarnia, Walkerville and Collingwood, he declared.

Facilities for Farmers

Mr. Stevens told the delegation the sole object of the Government in providing for construction of the elevator was to ensure adequate facilities to farmers of Western Ontario for storing, drying and grading their corn.

In reply, Mr. Leitch submitted his company had more facilities than needed to accommodate the primary producers in that section of the province. If more were needed his company was prepared to create them, and he assured Mr. Stevens a drying plant would be installed in the Sarnia elevator to take care of the Western Ontario farmer if the Government gave them authority to proceed. And if the emergency arose, Mr. Leitch felt certain the Hiram Walker Company at Walkerville would be willing to rent its elevator to the Government for $500 a year.

Mr. Stevens invited Mr. Leitch to set forth his protest in an official memorandum and promised to take up the whole question with his Cabinet colleagues.

Provision for construction of the elevator is made in the Government's $40,000,000 public works program now before the House of Commons.

BOATS COLLIDE SINKING ONE, 25 ARE DROWNED

Carrying One Hundred Workers Craft is Rammed From Behind.

50 ARE INJURED.

Dock Workers and Sailors Plunge Into Harbor and Rescue Many.

LORIENT, France, June 27 (A.P.)—The business jealousy of competing harbor boat captains was blamed by authorities to-day for a disaster in which 25 persons were feared to have drowned.

Owners of the passenger vessels, Prosperite and Marie Ange, which crashed in mid-stream near the docks last night, had been warned by port officials to cease their dangerous jockeying for positions.

With 100 arsenal workers, many of them women, aboard, the Prosperite was rammed from behind. She sank almost immediately. A strong current flowing through the harbor carried some bodies out toward the Bay of Biscay and a search for them was continued today.

At least 50 persons were injured, some seriously. The crash occurred in view of hundreds thronging the docks. The bravery of dockworkers and sailors who plunged into the harbor and rescued numerous passengers greatly diminished the death toll. This was officially placed at six, pending a check of the passenger lists.

Several Succumb.

The six were among those picked up by divers, only to succumb. Doctors worked over them in vain for two hours.

One of the heroes was a fugitive from justice. Just about the time the disaster occurred a policeman spotted him in the crowd and prepared to take him to pail. But the man pleaded he was a good diver, and was allowed to aid in rescue work.

The public prosecutor and port authorities opened an inquiry into the circumstances of the collision. Vessels leaving the port were ordered to keep a sharp lookout for floating bodies.

Lorient, torn for three days by political rioting, forgot party strife in the tragedy. Great crowds lingered about the port.

The Prosperite was raised at low tide early to-day and towed to the anchorage.

Some of the boat's frightened passengers managed to put on lifebelts and floated in the deep water until they could be pulled to safety.

Bells Attached To Sparrows' Legs

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27 (C.P.). — The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is hunting for the person who attached tiny bells to the legs of sparrows in downtown Union Square.

The society sent an officer to the square on Saturday and Sunday but he couldn't find the culprit—or get very close to the two birds he said had bells on their legs.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL ASSIST SHIPPING

LONDON, June 27.—(C. P. Cable)—London newspapers forecast today that the government's plans to aid the British shipping industry will take the form of credit facilities enabling the companies to build new ships provided old tonnage is scrapped. The plan, it was said, will be announced in the House of Commons on July 3.

The government will favor a building program of one new ship for every three old vessels scrapped.

HEPBURN PLANS SHORT HOLIDAY

No Intention of Hurrying Henry Government From Office.

CABINET STILL SECRET.

OTTAWA, June 27. — Definite word as to when the Henry administration proposes to hand over government to Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn, will be sought by the youthful Liberal chieftain at a conference which he hopes to arrange with the outgoing Prime Minister within the next few days.

It was learned here yesterday that Mr. Hepburn is anxious to take a holiday before he assumes office. Whatever may be the wishes of the horde of office-seekers who have besieged him here in the past two days, he has no intention of rushing Premier Henry out of Queen's Park. His holiday plans depend on what Mr. Henry says. If the Conservative leader needs another ten days to settle his affairs Mr. Hepburn proposes to leave for a vacation. Atlantic City is suggested as his likely destination.

While Mr. Hepburn positively refused to discuss his cabinet with newspapermen Tuesday, it is believed here that in his own mind he has practically decided on those who will be chosen. His present intention, however, is to make no further announcements regarding portfolios until within a few days of his assumption of office.

TRADE SLUMP FAULT OF U. S.

Introduced Nationalistic Trend in Trade Declares Speaker Rainey.

PEACE FAR AWAY.

TORONTO, June 27 (C.P.)—Delegates to the Civitan international convention to-day continued sessions after a night in which they heard Speaker Henry T. Rainey of the United States House of Representatives blame the United States for instituting a nationalistic trend in trade and defend the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mr. Rainey said newly enacted reciprocal tariff provisions of the United States were designed to restore a workable balance in international trade.

After asserting the world was "seething with nationalism" and that "peace seems far away," the speaker recalled that 122 years ago Napoleon marched toward Moscow at the head of 500,000 men, only to meet defeat and to be exiled four years later to an island in the Mediterranean.

"Perhaps," he said, "the end of the great depression, the tearing down of tariff walls, the return of world prosperity, is less than four years away."

Mr. Rainey stoutly defended the initiation in the United States of the "brain trust" form of administration, asserting that "every business organization of any account calls in economists who know their work," he maintained.

WORKS SCHEME IS CRITICIZED BY OPPOSITION

King Brands Whole Program as Diabolical Political Trickery.

RUFFLES SESSION.

Stewart Claims Program Has Three-fold Purpose.

OTTAWA, June 27 (C.P.).—Attacks on the Government's public works program have ruffled the smooth tenor of parliamentary affairs on the eve of prorogation. Describing the plan to spend some $40,000,000 on building construction to provide employment as "diabolical political trickery," Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, led off the assault last night and delayed approval of the bill.

The scheme, although it met with the disapproval of the Liberals, was commended by the Farmer and Labor members, particularly the proposal to defray the cost of the proposed works with an issue of currency.

Chief complaints against the plan were that the Liberal sections of the country were neglected while Conservative strongholds received generous appropriations.

Three-fold Purpose.

Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, said the bill had a three-fold purpose. First, it would provide employment in all lines of trade associated with the building industry; secondly, it would provide useful public properties in the form of buildings and other works, and, thirdly, it would stimulate activity on the part of others and perhaps lead to a general revival of industry.

The opinion was shared by Humphrey Mitchell, Hamilton Laborite, who believed the program marked the start of and development which would ultimately eliminate the slums of the country.

Good progress was made yesterday by the special committee of the Four-Leaf Clover Brought No Luck

RUTLAND, Vt., June 27. — (CP)—Four-leaf clovers brought no luck to Pilot William H. McMullen of Flushing, N.Y.

To-day McMullen's pocketbook was found 1,000 feet from the spot where the aviator's body crashed to earth in the aeroplane accident that cost his life and that of R. L. Oakes, his photographer, last Sunday.

In the wallet were two four-leaf clovers, a picture of a small child, and a note printed in a childish scrawl and signed Jeen. The note read: "Dady I can't write a long letter but I want to tell you I love you."

TWO YOUTHS ARE BELIEVED TO BE DROWNED IN NIAGARA

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., June 27 —(AP)—The Niagara River today was believed to have claimed the lives of two youths who failed to return to their homes after swimming parties.

The two are Joseph Mazza, 20, believed to have drowned Sunday afternoon, and Terrence Comerford, 14, missing since Monday night.

PRETTY TYPIST GIVES DETAILS OF INTIMACIES

Mystery Witness to Appear for Defence in Brownlee Case.

STICKS TO STORY.

Maintains Composure Under Cross-examination But Nearly Collapsed Once.

EDMONTON, June 27.—(C.P.)—One of the "mystery witnesses" scheduled to give defence testimony in the damage action brought by Miss Vivian MacMillan against Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta, was to be in court to-day when the hearing resumed before Mr. Justice W. C. Ives.

The 22 year old former Government stenographer as co-plaintiff with her father, erstwhile Mayor of Edson, Alta., seeks unstated damages from the middle-aged Albertan Premier for alleged seduction. The Premier, in a counter action, seeks $10,000 from Miss MacMillan and a young medical student for alleged conspiracy.

Under His Spell.

During the first two days of the hearing the tall, attractive typist has told the court of what she termed were intimacies with the Premier. They had occurred on several occasions while she was "under his spell," she claimed.

First of the "mystery witnesses" to arrive in the Alberta capital from distant cities, is Carl Snell, former Edson school teacher who tutored Miss MacMillan in Latin and, according to her, had proposed to her on one occasion. She refused him because she was too young at the time, she testified.

He has recently exercised his teaching ability at a girls' school in Halifax and came from that city to testify in the MacMillan-Brownlee case.

He arrived yesterday and was in court for a short while to hear cross-examination of the girl who is suing the Premier.

Under cross-examination Miss

FOUR ARE SAVED AFTER 24 HOURS

Disabled Fishing Craft Emperilled by Lake Rollers.

HAD BIG CATCH.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 27.—(AP)—Adrift for 24 hours on the rough waters of Lake Ontario in a disabled fishing boat, four men were rescued late yesterday by Captain Mason B. McCune and Coast Guardsmen from the Port of Rochester.

On the boat, in addition to the owner, Samuel W. Leary, were Captain Claude McDonald, Harry Leary and Engineer Harry Fuller, all of Rochester. The craft was overdue here on a trip from Brighton, Ont., eight hours when found.

Pitching seas, caused by a storm yesterday morning are believed to have disabled the craft, loaded with a large catch of fish.

BRICK THROWN IN WINDOW OF BALDWIN'S RESIDENCE

DREAMS JUSTICE LOSES ILLUSION IN WIDE SEARCH

Panait Istrati Returns Again to Paris to Hold His Crowds Spellbound.

WITH WONDROUS TALES

By LOUIS ROY
Canadian Press Correspondent

PARIS, June 27 (C.P.) — Panait Istrati, vagabond of dreams, is back in Paris. He has returned from his pilgrimage—a search, his friends maintain, for a Paradise of the Poor, a State where social justice reigns.

"My sole idea," Istrati himself says, "was to follow Beauty, guardian of all moral values which make man great." Quixotic quest! What matters is that he tells all that with the inimitable magic of his oriental genius.

To look at Istrati you would take him for a fanatic. His face is in high lights and shadows. His eyes are sunken and compelling. The fatigue of long and hungry days, of hazardous nights have dug their furrows. Some mystic fire seems to prey upon his frame. His life has had strange aberrations.

A wandering photographer at Nice 11 years ago tried to commit suicide. It was Panait Istrati, then aged 40. Son of a Roumanian peasant woman and of a Greek smuggler, he had spent his life wandering in the near Orient. Driven by an overpowering impulse to see, to learn, to live, he had wandered in an enchanted circle—the Danube ports, the Aegean Sea, the Isles of France, Alexandria, Smyrna, Constantinople.

Tarrying in strange ports, now from starvation, now from sickness, he had followed almost every trade. At one he was past master. In him the story tellers of the Arabian nights lived again.

On the shores of the Bosphorus, in the Grecian ports, they used to form a circle around him and listen all night through to his enthralling voice, often interrupted by the consumptive cough. Istrati learned French by reading Jean Jacques Rousseau. He tried writing it. Laden with hundreds of written pages of his tales, he came to Nice and sent his manuscript to the publishers. No answer—he tried to end his days.

At this moment Romain Rolland, the French writer crossed his path and changed his fate. Istrati, later, addressed these words to his friend:

"Romain Rolland, before I was touched by your conscience I was a good-for-nothing. I often lacked everything, even conscience. That happens when men will not accord to an outcast the right to honesty.

I had a dagger at my belt. I was in despair. I cut my throat. You took this dagger from me. I see you still. Fingering its sharp edge, you said to me. 'Strike rather with the word, Istrati, and you will be free.'"

Books Were Published

And while Istrati was recovering from his wound, his books were published. They were translated into 20 languages.

From the restless whirlpool of Europe to-day he had eboked unforgotten images. From its seething life he drew characters which impressed themselves on the hearts and memories of man. There is Keyra Kyrlina, strange, innocent and lovely; Uncle Anghel, Cosma, the rebel whose power became a myth to his people—a living Fresco of modern Europe.

One day Istrati disappeared. The money his works had brought him he gave away to those poorer than himself. He set off again on a pilgrimage. Communism, he thought, must be a realm of fraternity, where each man had justice and a free life. For four years he wandered over Russia and Western Asia.

Disillusion devastating and complete dogged the footsteps of the eternal vagabond. And so he is back again in Paris. He walks more painfully. He coughs continually. But his marvellous voice rings out under the bridges of Paris at night, or in the little old inns alongside the Seine, where people flock to hear him tell his inimitable tales.

Kaiser-Army Dictatorship Foreseen For Germany

A military dictatorship, probably with Lieut.-Gen. Werner von Blomberg (LEFT) at the head of it, and return to power of the Hohenzollerns, are events forecast in Germany by foreign observers as rule of Adolph Hitler is shaken by dissension in Nazi ranks. One of the three Wilhelms shown at RIGHT, the ex--kaiser, his son or his grandson, will be occupant of throne in historic Potsdam Palace (TOP) before 1935, it is predicted.

MIRACLE WOMAN NEVER EATS BEARS STIGMATA OF JESUS

home is simply impassable. A dense crowd, relieved every day by newcomers, fills the street. They are packed so close together that you could walk on their hands. They stand there, rain or shine, snow or sleet, cold or heat, night and day, winter and summer.

Nobody can see Therese Neumann without a written permit signed by the Archbishop of Ratisbonne. And Therese's father is such a typically disciplined German that I believe he would slam the door in the Pope's face if the Holy Father could not show the necessary piece of paper.

Watch for Cameras

The regulation with respect to the Archbishop's permit was introduced at the suggestion of the religious authorities, who are anxious to stop the great rush of people to Konnersreuth because the church does not want it said that it in any way sponsored the miraculous condition of Therese Neumann.

I noticed that the gendarmes of the hamlet pay particular attention to people carrying cameras. An American tourist who was about to take some movie shots of women kneeling in the streets waiting for a benediction by Therese, was kindly but firmly requested to desist.

You can have the Archbishop's permission and other recommendations from ecclesiastical authorities in your pocket, but all this is no guarantee that you will see Therese Neumann. Her parents have been virtually ruined in receiving visitors. Most times there is a sign on the door saying that visits are not permitted, and this doesn't mean maybe.

Then people wait in the streets. For Therese goes to church once a day. On one such visit I saw her for the first time, although not very closely, for she was encompassed by a dense crowd. Many knelt down as she walked by. Others sought to touch her or even the hem of her garments. She did not seem to notice anybody but walked steadily onward with a somewhat fixed gaze.

She is a woman of very ordinary appearance, but very huskily built. Formerly she worked on the land with her mother while her father attended to his small tailoring business. But work outside has become impossible, on account of the crowd that accompanies her everywhere.

Eaten Nothing Since 1922

To me the most remarkable things about this woman were not the stigmata which she carries. I mean the wounds clearly visible in her hands and on her head, of the nails of the cross of Christ, the wounds of the crown of thorns and the nail-marks in her feet and the mark of the lance in her side, which I was to see during a private visit in her home; what was most remarkable, I thought, was the fact, which is scientifically attested by a host of reputable and very skeptical medical men whom I will enumerate in a following article, the fact, I say, that this woman has eaten but very small quantities of food from March 10, 1908, till Christmas, 1922, and nothing after that. I mean absolutely no food whatever, neither solid nor liquid.

If she does not eat this is not because she deprives herself voluntarily of all food, but because she finds it absolutely impossible to eat.

Lives Normally

Still she lives a very normal life. She goes about and does housework. She is not lying down, like one of the Hindu fakirs or like a mummified skeleton. The wounds and the stigmata bother her considerably. But she reads and writes letters, visits relatives and friends and takes part in various efforts of church-endeavour. When I arrived near her home the first day there was a rush forward when Therese came out to sweep the porch.

The fact of her perpetual fast was first attested by Professor Hugo Wutz of Leipzig, a distinguished psychologist who is not a Catholic. He was assisted by Dr. E. Seidl, chief of the civil hospital of Waldassen. Fort thirty days and thirty nights these two men, at the request of the Archbishop of Ratisbonne, never left the girl for an instant. Four additional medical men were present during all that period of trial which was carried out in a secluded ward of the hospital. Two of them never allowed their eyes to stray away from Therese Neumann for a single minute. They were relieved every four hours by the other two.

Many Tests Made

At the termination of this examination it was established that Therese Neumann had absorbed nothing but 0.66 grams of water contained in the Sacred Host and 45 cubi centimeters of water which had been given her to facilitate swallowing the Host at the daily communion of which she partook. The blood that was taken from her ear-lobe and from the wounds showed not the slightest trace of abstinence at the end of thirty days. Her weight was exactly the same before and after the test. But on Fridays when she weeps blood exactly at the hour when Jesus is said to have died, she weighs four kilograms, eight pounds, less. Every Sunday morning, however, that loss of weight has been made good and she is normal again.

Several other tests were made. The experimenters, it should be added, were by no means sympathetic men. The Archbishop of Ratisbonne himself did not believe in Therese Neumann at first. Hundreds of others firmly believed that there was some trick, some deception somewhere. All have had to admit that the fasting is genuine. As to the wound-marks, these are incontestable. Anyone can see them as she walks in the streets. Tomorrow, I have been promised, I may see Therese in her own home and talk with her.

Hard to Credit

"I don't deny miracles but as yet I haven't seen any," declared Dr. James Cotton, commenting today on the strange case of Therese Neumann. "The medical world would give a great deal to know what the explanation is. Certainly it is not in accordance with medical science and under these circumstances is very hard to believe."

Dr. Cotton stated that the average person could not possibly live much more than five days without food and drink. An abnormal person might live for as long as three or four weeks, he thought. He explained that they would be existing only on their own body tissue and that they would soon die of poisoning.

"Lack of sleep is in itself dangerous," he said. "A person who has not been geting any sleep soon develops a carbon dioxide condition in the blood, with the result that he may nevver be able to sleep again."

"What is the least amount of food a person can eat, and still survive?" the doctor was asked. "About 300 calories, I should think," was the reply. "The average persons needs from 300 to 1,200 to carry on his ordinary life. The case of Therese Neumann strikes me as being beyond the scope of the human frame."

"It would be nonsense to even attempt to give a medical explanation for such an occurrence," said Dr. Gordon Bates, secretary of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council.

"It is impossible to express an opinion on such a case," stated Dr. Charles E. Abbott. "It is conceivable that a person might live for twelve years without sleep, but without food and drink is another matter. However, it is sometimes very surprising what may occur when a person is in a hysterical condition."

YOUR GROCER HAS THIS SUNNY WAY TO BETTER HEALTH

Check Common Constipation with a Delicious Cereal

Food has a lot to do with how you feel and how you look. For instance, you need plenty of "bulk" with your meals to avoid the risk of common constipation.

This ailment frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet, in most cases, it can be overcome pleasantly and safely by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" in convenient and concentrated form. Laboratory tests show the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is safe and effective. In fact, it is much like that found in leafy vegetables.

Within the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

In addition, ALL-BRAN provides vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this sunny way better than taking patent medicines — so often harmful? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or cook into appetizing recipes. Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

HONORING THE PIONEERS.

It is announced from Leeds County that a tablet is to be unveiled in the Union Cemetery at Lansdowne in memory of the pioneer settlers of that township.

Many of the people who laid the foundations of Lansdowne township are buried in this cemetery, hence the present movement to commemorate the very great services they rendered to their district and to the county generally.

The people of this generation indeed owe a debt of gratitude to the heroic men and women who in the early part of last century invaded a virgin forest, and by sheer grit and determination made homes for themselves, cleared the land and paved the way for the prosperous province that is the common heritage of Ontario folks to-day.

Too little has been said about the suffering of the pioneers, too little has been done to preserve the memory of what they had to face and conquer to build up this Ontario, and it is refreshing to find one community at least endeavoring to discharge its obligations in this respect and taking steps to permanently recognize the services of those gallant souls who first settled this province.

It is a movement that might well be emulated in other parts of Ontario, not excluding our own district, for we, like communities everywhere in this province, owe a great deal to the heroic first settlers.

CANADA'S GOLD AND SILVER.

A most interesting booklet on the gold and silver mining situation in Canada has been issued by the firm of H. R. Bain and Company, containing a vast store of information on a subject very much in the public eye at the present time.

In a foreword, it is pointed out that Canada now ranks second among the countries of the world in the production of gold and third in the production of silver, in spite of the fact that wide areas remain to be prospected and developed.

"Mining has developed," the author tells us, "from a game of chance to a work of science."

Fifty years ago the mining of gold was done by hand in the rivers. Now it is carried on by machinery far down in the earth. Improved methods have brought lower costs and higher percentages of ore recovery. Hydro-electricity has given the industry an assured supply of power, and as the booklet points out, Canadian engineering skill is equal to the finest in the world.

While the primary object of this publication is, of course, to familiarize the mining investor with the character of the mining properties that are being financed and brought to the production stage by H. R. Bain and Company, the book serves also to inform the public as to international developments likely to affect the mining industry and as to the activities of Canada's leading mines, and will be appreciated by the thousands of Canadians who have a direct interest in the industry.

COMMERCIAL FISHING IN ONTARIO.

The general impression that the only fishing of importance in Ontario is angling for sport purposes gets somewhat of a shake-up by reason of figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, dealing with commercial fishing in the province last year and showing Ontario in fourth place among the provinces of the Dominion, British Columbia, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick having a bigger total.

According to this report, the marketed value of the product of Ontario's commercial fisheries in 1933 was $2,089,842, as against $2,147,990 in 1932 and $2,477,131, the year before that.

Trout and white fish are the chief items in this total, each reaching a total close to the half million dollar mark, with trout leading with a value of $493,291.

Other Ontario fish that yielded a revenue of $100,000 or better last year were blue pickerel, tullibee, perch, pickerel and herring.

The total quantity of fish caught for commercial purposes in the waters of Ontario last year amount to 292,012 hundred weight, and as there are no plants in the province for either canning or curing these fishs, the whole catch was marketed fresh.

The extent of the industry will, The Examiner fancies, be a surprise to most people, who have been inclined to think that commercial fishing in Ontario was something that concerned only a comparatively few persons, and did not run into any large amount of money.

AQUATIC DANGERS.

The Ontario Safety League has issued a very timely bulletin stressing the seasonal danger represented by aquatic hazards.

As the League points out, we have probably in Canada easy access to more than half of all the fresh water in the world. This is said to take a toll in all of Canada of over 1,000 lives a year. Here in Ontario for the last two years drowning accidents have cost 350 lives.

There were, as a matter of fact, 75 more drownings last year during our swimming season of June, July and August than there were motor fatalities in the same period, the totals being 193 as against 128.

"What are we going to do about it?" asks the League. "Are we going to let ignorance and carelessness govern? Are we going to rush into water the first hot day as though water were harmless? Are we going to ignore this great hazard until some one dear to us pays the supreme penalty? Why not study some of the causes of drowning? Why not learn about them and avoid them?"

Here are some of the causes of drowning:

1. Not knowing how to swim.
2. Going into water too soon after eating.
3. Swimming in rough water.
4. Disregarding the awful undertow sometimes on our beaches.
5. Diving in shallow water.
6. Going in swimming by yourself.
7. Swimming in unprotected areas.
8. Using a canoe without knowing how, and without experience.
9. Attempting to swim when tired out.
10. Using automobile tubes as floats or life preservers.

Here are some things to do if you would avoid drowning:

1. Learn to swim.
2. Keep out of the water for two hours after eating.
3. Do not attempt to swim in rough water.
4. Keep out of the water when there is an undertow. Although you may be a strong swimmer, it will carry you under to your death.
5. Make sure the water is deep enough BEFORE diving. Many broken necks have paid for disregarding this rule.
6. Always take a companion with you—a good strong swimmer—when you go into the water. You may need his help.
7. Do not use inflated automobile tubes as floats and life preservers. They slip away from your grasp and you drown.
8. Do not get into a canoe unless you can swim.
9. Never change places when in a canoe or light boat.
10. Learn the Prone Pressure Method of resuscitation. It may result in your saving a life. The Ontario Safety League will gladly send you instructions free of charge.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

It requires a deep sense of public spirit and loyalty to the good of humanity to display consideration for others when the heart is overwhelmed with personal sorrow and bereavement. Yet a striking instance of this has been brought to the attention of the News.

The other day a bright little boy was struck by a motor car on a Chatham street, receiving injuries which claimed his life. He was playing on the pavement, as many children are in the habit of doing, when the accident occurred. Only those who have children of their own can even imagine the torture and anguish brought home to the parents of this young lad, and yet, in a note to the News thanking the people generally for their kindness to them in the hour of their bereavement, they say:

"We feel we have made a great sacrifice, but we hope it will be a lesson in many different ways. We feel that if our boy could only realize this terrible accident he too would be proud to have given his life, if his passing is going to be a benefit or a prevention of similar accidents; and so it is with this thought we are trying to take comfort."

It is a long time since we have recorded as noble a declaration as the above. Should not this strike home to the heart of every parent who has not yet lost a child in such an accident; and lead all of them to adopt such a course, in the training of their children in safety first principles, that the parents of this young lad will feel that their boy has not died in vain? —Chatham Daily News.

THE BEER AND WINE ISSUE.

The Beer and Wine Act, which was flaunted so enticingly by the leaders of both political parties in the eyes of the electors, and which failed to become the major issue that it was expected to be, has raised again the question of temperance, not only in the province of Ontario, but also throughout the Dominion. At the close of the war every province was under prohibition, but little by little temperance sentiment was undermined, and as a result each of the nine provinces repealed its prohibitory law and substituted therefor a system of governmental sale of liquor. Perhaps this reaction was caused by the fact that the legislation was too drastic, inasmuch as it was a complete change from the open sale of liquor in licensed barrooms to strict prohibition. That extreme would have been avoided by the Rowell policy of leaving the people in each county to decide by popular majority whether they would permit liquor stores to continue. What has startled countless numbers of good citizens throughout Ontario was the equanimity with which the announcements by the political leaders of their retrogressive policies in regard to temperance were received by the people.

The province of Ontario was long noted as being the stronghold of temperance sentiment throughout the Dominion, and for many years could be depended upon to give a verdict against the legal sale of liquor in an unpartisan referendum. The opposition to the policy of beer and wine in the late provincial election was scarcely more effective than a puff of wind. Both leaders were pledged if returned to power to proclaim the act placed upon the statute books at the last session of the Legislature. What concerns people who are deeply interested in the social welfare of Ontario, is to what extent this widening of the facilities for the sale of liquor will reach. It has never been clearly explained either in the Legislature or on the platform what forces were working for the policy of beer and wine which was formulated. It is as much a mystery to-day as it was when the bill was introduced.

In view of these things it is pertinent to ask, what next? Unless the churches of Ontario and temperance organizations take the matter up in dead earnest the province will continue on the toboggan slide toward the conditions which existed when an aroused public opinion demanded the abolition of the barrooms in 1916. This opinion is accentuated by the heavy vote in Saskatchewan recorded on the day of the provincial election in that province for the sale of beer by the glass, and the abolition of the present system of governmental sale by purchase through liquor commission dealers. These are ominous signs, and if religious and temperance organizations are wise they will undertake a campaign of education not only in Ontario but also throughout the entire Dominion to create a moral sentiment that can be relied upon to successfully combat the present tendency. If the future welfare of the temperance cause is to be safeguarded, the youth of Ontario and Canada must not be permitted to grow up without the insistent and persistent education in the evils of intemperance that created such a solid public opinion against the licensed liquor traffic in days gone by. It is an undeniable fact that, following the introduction of prohibition, education in this respect was almost entirely neglected, even from the pulpit.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. King's advice to the Premier-elect to take a holiday "away from newspapers" appeals to most people as particularly timely and pertinent.

Toronto is to inaugurate night baseball to-morrow night, which might furnish a complete alibi for the loss of any home games that may be dropped.

Ontario House in London is to be closed, and this, it is to be imagined, will be regarded as good news by New Zealand and Australia, which countries are pushing their products in the British market with commendable zeal.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

BOISSEVAIN, MANITOBA

This town, situated in the southwestern part of the province, once was a thriving commercial centre, until the coming of the Great Northern railway. The future holds much promise for a restoration to its former affluence, as it now is the northern entrance to the famous international peace garden, which lies a few miles to the south.

The town takes its name from Adolph Boissevain, senior member of the firm bearing his name, through whom, in the early years of the Canadian Pacific railway, its shares were introduced into the European market.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WHAT DO YOU DO WITH POWER

One way to check up on yourself and determine the kind of human being you are—and most of us would like to know about that—is to ask a simple question and try to answer it honestly.

The question is: "How do you act when you have a little power given to you?"

You may reply that you have no power and that very few people in this world have any power.

But that is only partly true. All of us, at some time or other, manage to get hold of a little power. It may not last, it may not be very real, but we get it....We hire somebody to do a little job. Or, more usually, we become parents and acquire power over children. Or we have power over animals. It's a rare person, indeed, that doesn't have a scrap of power in his possession occasionally.

And having power does something to people.

Sometimes they grow. Sometimes they shrink. Sometimes it makes them small and arrogant. Sometimes it makes them large and understanding. It may increase their pettiness, or deepen their decency. Acquiring more power, they may feel a greater sense of responsibility to the world, or it may enlarge their personal selfishness that grows as it feeds. Power may make a man a better human being or a much worse one, bring out the best in him, or strip a hidden meanness bare for all to see.

It's almost impossible to tell in advance what a little power will do to a man. Even the man himself cannot say what he might become, given a little power. Because, even though we do live so intimately with our own selves, we do not know ourselves nearly as well as we think we do. We lie to ourselves naturally. We praise ourselves and even criticize ourselves more than we should. We are blind to certain sections of our personalities, just as we are blind to parts of other people. But we all have a fairly accurate idea of what we would do, how we would act, if we had power. At least we know whether we want power or don't. Some men, a few, push it away from themselves. The others, most of us, want as much as we can possibly scrape together.

"So it's a fair question to ask, "How do you act when you have a little power?"....And the answer you give yourself should be a most revealing one.

Happy is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart shall fall into mischief.—Proverbs 28:14.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A FATHER OF TRANSPORTATION

On this date in 1906 Hamilton (and many other places in Canada) mourned the passing of William Hendrie. Born at Glasgow, Scotland, 16 years after the other Glasgow baby, who was to become the creator of the Canadian Confederation and Prime Minister of the Dominion (John A. Macdonald) William Hendrie was destined for the law, but after a few years' study he decided that he was not to be a lawyer and turned his attention to railway work. After some service with Scottish railways he accepted an offer to come out to Canada to join the staff of the Great Western railway, then in its infancy, and was soon located at Hamilton, which was to be the theatre of work the rest of his life.

Transportation was then in its initial stage. The railways had come but there was no link between them and the consignee. Young Hendrie conceived the idea of a transport company; it was accepted by C. J. Brydges for the company; and Hendrie formed a partnership with John Shedden. The enterprise prospered; it was extended outside of Hamilton; but in 1868 it was divided, Shedden taking the territory to the east of Hamilton, including Toronto and Montreal, while Hendrie retained that from Hamilton westward, then the more profitable.

William Hendrie soon developed his enterprises. He planned the Hamilton waterworks; he was one of the founders of the Toronto Grey and Bruce and Hamilton and North Western Railways; he helped to create the Ontario Cotton Company; and he was a director of the Canada Life; the Imperial Bank, the Hamilton Gas Company and many western development companies.

But his chief love was his breeding farm at Hamilton and his activities as a founder of the Ontario Jockey Club, of which he was for many years president. He was the only Canadian owner to win the great Futurity stakes; his horses twice won the Queen's plate at the Woodbine, Butter Scotch in 1899 and Lyddite in 1902. He was a true sportsman. He never bet in his life. It was his boast that he was "a sportsman, not a gambler", and he lived up to that all his life. Hamilton has two memorials of the Hendrie family the Martimas wing of the general hospital, built out of the winnings of that Futurity, and the nurses' home, the gift of Mrs. Hendrie. It was said of him that William Hendrie was "a man who put his gifts to good use and had a career founded on character and guided by principle."

A Thought

OUR BURDENS

In normal times every life is laden with cares; in these times of special stress the burdens of men have been multiplied a hundredfold. There are various ways in which people face the burdens which life brings. Some try to escape them altogether. They get out of every responsibility they can, and it becomes second nature to them to turn down any call for their time, their money, their strength or their love. There are others—and perhaps the bulk of mankind would qualify here—who accept the responsibilities of life gracefully but reluctantly, and sometimes a little bitterly. And then there are some—and these days have been revealing, to us in that there are more of these than the world had supposed—who take the lead not unmindful that it is a load, but take it with full strength and full heart, knowing that only so do men truly live, for life means carrying burdens.—Rev. Phillips R Elliott.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 27.— (C.P.)— Egg prices continued to advance on the Montreal produce market yesterday. Cheese was slightly easier while butter and potatoes remained unchanged.

No sales were made at the weekly auction held at the Board of Trade yesterday. The highest bid on fresh No. 1 butter was 19⅝c and the highest bid for No. 1 Quebec cheese was 9⅞c. There were 1,104 boxes of butter and 756 boxes of cheese for sale.

The butter market was unchanged, fresh No. 1 being quoted at 19⅜ to 20c. Small lots to retailers brought 21 to 22c for solids and 22 to 23c for prints. Receipts were 3,690 boxes.

Cheese declined ⅛ of a cent. Ontario colored being 10⅝c to 10¾c; while Quebec cheese sold for 10½ to 10¼c. Arrivals totalled 5,213 boxes.

Tre egg market advanced ½c to 21½c for "A" large; 20 to 20½c for "A" medium; 19 to 20c for "B" and 18 to 19c for "C." Minimum quoted are Quebec and Ontario eggs while the maximum are for westerns. Receipts totalled 871 cases.

Potatoes remained steady. N. B. Mountains bringing 80 to 85c per 80-pound bag, Quebec whites, 70 to 75c per 80-pound bag and Prince Edward Island Mountains, $1 to $1.05 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 27 -- Wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange faltered yesterday after registering early gains and closed at bottom levels. Disheartened by weakness of outside markets, futures dipped ⅝c.

Foreign demand was sluggish. No estimate was placed locally on export business. Late advices from New York, however, reported sale of 600,000 bushels of Canadian wheat for export. This was unconfirmed here.

Estimates of new wheat crops in Europe continued bullish, with 12 countries showing a net decrease of 412,000,000 bushels from last year. Liverpool apparently paid more heed to reports of rain in France and Germany and better news from Australia.

Hitler Out?

Following the "revolt" of Vicechancellor von Papen, expressed in a speech disapproving of the Adolf Hitler regime, it has become known that behind Germany's present political scene, a cabinet list of an alleged new government is being circulated. The list is said to be headed by Baron von Fritsch (above), commander of the Reischwehr, as chancellor and former Chancellor Bruening, as foreign minister. Hitler's name does not appear on the list, it is said.

Splendid Program Lakefield Meeting

LAKEFIELD, June 27 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Women's Institute met on Friday afternoon with the members of Hall's Bridge Institute as their guests, the primary object of the meeting was to hear Miss Robinson, the special summer speaker who gave a truly inspirational address on "The Challenge of the Age." The ladies were very much delighted with the helpful suggestions given them and Miss Robinson received a hearty vote of thanks. A short but excellent program was given with six ladies from Buckhorn (Mesdames Fred Armstrong, Russell Davis, Galvin Dunford, Lee Harris, Wilbert Northey and Harry Shearer) sang "When it's Lamplight in the Valley" with guitar accompaniment by Bernice Northey. Mrs. T. W. Chaplin contributed one of her inimitable readings and Mrs. A. B. Burrows' beautiful contralto was heard to advantage in the favorite "In the Gloaming." The chair was taken by Mrs. J. W. Ridpath in the absence of Mrs. White, the president. The refreshments were served by the Lakefield branch and a social hour was spent.

The annual Decoration Day of Lakefield Lodge 358 I.O.O.F. will be the event of July 8th, taking place on Sunday afternoon with service in the Lakefield cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Reid will be at home to their friends on Monday, July 2 from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and from 8 to 10 in the evening. The occasion being that of their golden wedding.

CHURCH HISTORY THEME OF TALK

Rev. N. Clark Wallace of Birchcliffe Addresses Campbellford Club.

ROTARY LUNCHEON

CAMPBELLFORD, June 27.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Facts about the Church of England and what stands behind this historic denomination, formed the subject of an address to the Campbellford Rotary Club Monday when the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, rector of Birchcliffe and a former rector of Christ Church, Campbellford, was the guest speaker. In the absence of the president, who is attending the international convention, the chair was taken by Past President Elie Brunelle.

Commencing his theme, which was founded on what the Church of England stood for and what was distinctive about it, Mr. Wallace pointed out that he did not believe in one church, and that many of the so-called divisions of the church were not so dividing as one would suppose.

Legend said, he stated, that Joseph of Arimathaea, following the death of Christ, took the Holy Crail to Briton and there founded the first Christian church, while still another story handed down was that St. Paul visited Spain and the Islands, which are thought to be the British Islands. These, however, have no authenticity, but it is known that the Christian church was established in Briton in the second century, before the year 200 A.D., for British bishops attended the Council of Arles before that time.

In 401 the Roman Legion withdrew from Briton, following which the country was invaded many times by foreign races, who settled in the land, forming the Angles and Saxons, the Britons being driven into the hill country of Wales.

In 597 St. Augustine and forty monks came to Briton, and landing in Kent, founded the first Saxon church, although the Britons in Wales were members of the Church of Christ. These two branches of the church had contact, but never came together, points of difference coming between them, mainly because one, the British, came from the Eastern church, while the Saxon was from the West. One of the main points of difference was the date of Easter Day.

Theodore became Archbishop of Canterbury in 668, and it was at this time that the first real spark of nationalism was seen, when Wilfred, a bishop of the church, was arrested and later banished for appealing to outside authority, the church at Rome, in the matter of a dispute over the division of a diocese. "The Roman bishops' authority was never really established in Britain," said Mr. Wallace.

In 1066 the Normans conquered England under William of Normandy, and here again we see that church authority still remained in the island, for the king refused to give to Rome the rights of a king, which, he declared, should be handed on. In 1215 the Bishop of Rome became the head of the English Church under King John, until at the signing of the Magna Charter this was abolished, the first clause of which was that the church in England must be free.

Henry VIII. the speaker thought to be a much abused man, but it was during his life, when the question of marriage was involved, that Bishop Crammer, delving into old authority, ruled that no authority was needed from outside the church in England. It was then that the church broke with Rome. During the reign of Edward VI. the breach widened, although it was healed in Queen Mary's reign, only to be definitely sundered again during the time of Queen Elizabeth.

One of the things that the Church of England has, the speaker said, was the Apostolic Succession, upon which it looks as giving it its authority. The Reformation in England, as far as the church in England was concerned, was more political than religious. Two of the greatest contributions to the world by the Church of England, he said, were the Book of Common Prayer and the Bible in English.

MARMORA W.I.

Mesdames Rice and Clarke Give Report on Annual Convention.

MARMORA, June 27 (Examiner Correspondence). — The monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) D. L. Curtis, an attendance of twenty-two being present. The roll call was "Vacation Emergencies and Remedies."

Mrs. J. A. Rice and Miss M. Brown were appointed captains to deal with the roll call. A motion was passed appointing Mesdames Sanderson, Prentice and Gray to look after the flower plot at the Memorial Building. The report of the annual convention recently held at Madoc was given by Mesdames Rice and Clarke.

J. A. Rice gave a splendid demonstration on "Resuscitation." Mrs. H. W. Sabine ably presented "Current Events." Mrs. J. A. Rice gave a paper on "Health," after which the meeting was handed over to the Program Committee. Mrs. C. Nichol and Mrs. C. Clarke gave a duet, "Down the River of Golden Dreams." Mrs. F. R. Wells was the winner of a story contest which followed. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which refreshments were served.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — Stocks turned slightly irregular today after general firmness in the early trading. Steels, motors and tobaccos reacted to somewhat lower levels, but the rest of the list held up well, especially metals, sugars and packing company shares. Transfers totalled about 650,000 shares.

ONTARIO'S ELECTRICAL TEACHERS GATHER IN CITY FOR CONVENTION

All Sections of the Province Are Fully Represented.

VISITING C.G.E.

The electrical teachers of the vocational schools of the province, who are in convention here this week, had with them as guests to-day, F. S. Rutherford, director of technical education, and A. M. Moon, inspector of technical education.

Mr. Rutherford commented on the gathering which is fully representative of all sections of the province, as one that could not help but result in great benefits not only to the teachers but to the pupils under their direction. "It is," he told The Examiner, "excellent evidence of the efficient type of men who are engaged in giving technical instruction in our schools."

Under convenorship of Fred E. Johnston, director of the vocational department at Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School over twenty electrical teachers are gathered here this week, for an interchange of ideas and to discuss problems common to them as teachers. Daily many profitable hours are being spent by the teachers at the local plant of the Canadian General Electrical Company, where besides being able to witness the manufacture of electrical equipment, they are hearing technical addresses delivered by plant engineers.

To-day noon following luncheon at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, where J. Simpson of London, officiated as acting chairman, the gathering was addressed by A. R. Hobbs, meter engineer; and by J. E. Girven, wire engineer, of the C.G.E. staff. Herbert A. Cranfield, supervisor of industrial service, was also among the plant officials present.

During their stay in Peterborough which terminates on Friday, the delegates to the convention are staying out at Chemong Park. This afternoon they participated in the Masonic Picnic, travelling to Young's Point by automobiles to connect with the steamer for the Rotary Boys' Camp where the event was staged.

Those in attendance at the convention, include: W. M. Prudham, Kitchener, general chairman; Fred E. Johnston, Peterborough, convenor; J. A. Broderick, Toronto, acting secretary; A. G. McLeish, W. H. Henderson, H. M. Bowers all of Hamilton; S. Hodkinson, J. H. Challacombe, G. R. Bateman, B. McKinley, all of Toronto; J. Simpson, London, Charles C. Bradley, Ottawa; C .P. Breauls, Brantford; C. E. Burton, Oshawa; Frank M. Davies, St. Catharines; R. C. James, Guelph; John A MacKay, Galt; Henry Vogel, Timmins; A. J. Weames, Peterborough; David Younger, Sudbury.

BIG PRODUCERS LEAD IN ADVANCE

Old Rumor of Mark Up in Price of Washington Gold Stirs Up Activity.

HEAVY TURNOVER.

TORONTO, June 27 (C.P.). — The mining section of the Toronto Exchange looked better to-day with a heavy volume of trading in the gold shares at much higher prices. The old rumor about an early mark up in the price of gold by Washington was given as the explanation. The big producers were prominent in the advance and the turnover was especially heavy in Hollinger, Teck-Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves. Base Metals were steady to strong and silver stocks mainly unchanged.

Dome closed $1 to $45.50. McIntyre 75 up to 48.50, while advances of 10 to 35 were boarded for Hollinger, Lake Shore, Wright-Hargreaves, Bralorne and Teck-Hughes. Pioneer at 13.50 was up 40 cents.

Noranda, Sudbury Basin, Base Metals Corporation, Falconbridge, and Pend Oreille all made a little headway on the up side.

Fraserville

Messrs. Melville Lawrence, Ernest Hawkins and Gordon Lawrence motored to Cobourg on Wednesday and went on an excursion to Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Finlay and sons, of Kansas City, are visiting friends in the vicinity. They are at present guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Clarke.

Mrs. Willard Waterman and Margaret and John are spending a few days with her father, Mr. Taggart, at Westport.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Byers of Omemee, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pritchard of Cavan, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moncrief.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sparks and family of Lindsay, visited friends in the village on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hogg and Elmer and Edgar attended Decoration service at Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough, on Sunday.

Miss Blanche Reesor has been engaged as teacher for S. S. No. 5, South Monaghan for the ensuing term.

WINNIPEG, June 27.— Generous rains over west caused some liquidation during the day but at no time was the pressure heavy. On the other hand there appeared to be some supporting orders here a half cent under the previous close and more on a scale down. The trade appears fairly well evened up. Cash trade was fair for the top grades. Foreign reports still of unfavorable character, American markets seem to be absorbing hedging and that pressure appears to be decreasing. Coarse grains steady to a shade lower with trade very small. Cash demand rather small.

Broker's Opinions.

Frazier Jelke.—Until the uncertain surrunding the personel of the new stock exchange regulatory body is removed hesitation may be anticipated.

Engle & Co.—We believe a rally with motor, chemicals, wet and metal stocks in the van indicated.

Theo. Prince—There is a likelihood of further reactionary tendencies in the motor and steel groups and allied industrials, before a general improvement in the price structure and the volume of transactins makes its appearance.

SAILOR BEATEN BY ENRAGED MOB

Alleged to Choked Jamaican Woman to Death in Quarrel.

TO BE ARRESTED.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 27 (CP Cable).—Beaten by an enraged mob after a woman had been choken to death, a seaman from the liner Lady Rodney lay in hospital today, while police prepared to arrest him on a murder charge.

Police said the seaman, David Cromby, would be arrested as soon as he left hospital for the murder of Mrs. Chin Choy, Jamaican woman, who was strangled during a quarrel.

Cromby, described as a Canadian, was not seriously injured when the crowd set upon him. He was expected to be released from hospital in a few days.

He sailed with the Lady Rodney from Montreal on June 13. The steamship is due to arrive back in that port on July 8, on completion of her present tropical cruise.

ALDERVILLE

Bruce Marsden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Marsden arrived home from Akron, Ohio.

Mr. H. Morden and Mr. W. Crow, Oakville, were visitors in the village on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams and family, of Fenella, were recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. Amos Marsden.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Yoe, and baby, Sammy, of Port Hope, visited with her mother, Mrs. Robert Franklin, and family, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Marsden, of Akron, Ohio, are holidaying with their relatives here, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Marsden.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Adams and family, Fay and Barry, of Hiawatha, were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Simpson.

Mrs. Robert Franklin and family had with them for Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Whyte and baby Jean, Misses Lydia Whyte and Fanny Franklin, Messrs. William Hawke, and Alex. Smith, all of Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. Borden Crow, had their little son christened on Thursday evening before the departure of Rev. R. W. Paton, naming the little fellow Roger Murray. A pleasant evening was spent among the intimate relatives.

told of Premier Brownlee's visit to Edson.

Accompanied by Mrs. Brownlee, the Premier visited the MacMillan home in Edson after he had been advised in July, 1933, suit would be started against him, charging seduction of Vivian MacMillan.

The 67-year-old grey haired mother, Mrs. Maud MacMillan, wife of Alan MacMillan, co-plaintiff with his daughter, revealed on the stand.

"He wanted to find out the charges Vivian had made against him, he told me," Vivian's mother, nervous and speaking in a low voice, told Neil MacLean, chief counsel for the plaintiff.

"I told him I had nothing to say. I couldn't talk because it was in the lawyer's hands."

"If it's money you are after, I haven't got any' the Premier had told Mrs. MacMillan, she testified.

He said," she continued, "he could'nt see any reasons for the charges. He asked if I realized Vivian's name would be ruined. I replied, did he realize his own name would be ruined."

"What was Mr. Brownlee's manner?" asked Mr. MacLean.

"He looked a sorry man to me" replied the witness.

NO LARGER DIVIDENDS

TORONTO, June 27 (CP)—J. P. Bickett, President of McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Ltd., to-day told shareholders at the company's annual meeting that directors will not consider unusually large distribution of earnings. The statement was made following protests of shareholders that with earnings of about $5 a share last year, a higher dividend rate than $2 a share should be paid.

BRITISH PLANS REMAIN SECRET

British Naval Plans Not Revealed After Nuemrous Questions.

CONVERSATIONS HELD.

LONDON, June 27 (C.P.).— The House of Commons was stirred today by rumors of new British naval plans, aroused by reports of the preliminary naval conversations in which the British are understood to have told the United States delegates that Britain needs more ships.

Stanley Baldwin, leading the Government in the absence of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, rigidly stuck to the silence which the British have thrown over the naval conversations since their opening, despite a deluge of questions.

There have been preliminary conversations with the United States, Mr. Baldwin said. France, Japan, and Italy have agreed to participate in later bilateral conversations. The Japanese Government has not put forward any demand for naval parity.

Go No Further.

So far Mr Bandwin went, but not an inch further.

Geoffrey Le Mander, Liberal, pressed whether it was true that during the Anglo-American talks statements had been made which might mean the submission of supplementary naval estimates.

"That might mean a daily statement, and I will at no time make it," Mr. Baldwin declared.

"Reports to this effect have been circulated in the United States," Mr. Le Mander retorted.

He asked if the Government Leader could say whether these reports had any foundation or not.

"The conversations are entirely confidential," Mr. Baldwin said shortly, "and there is no surer road to failure in any conference than to tell, before the time is ripe, what has or has not been done."

The House had to rest content.

County Cricket

LONDON, June 27 (CP Cable). — Closing scores in first-class county cricket matches starting to-day were as follows:

Essex, 144 for three wickets (O'Connor 72 not out), against Middlesex, at Lord's.

Sussex, 385 for eight (John Langridge 61, Cook 71, J. Parks 138), against Derby, at Buxton.

Yorkshire, 290 for seven wickets (Mitchell 111), against Northampton, at Northampton.

Nottinghamshire, 230 (Keeton 64, A. Staples 74); Kent 134 for three, at Nottingham.

Glamorgan, 62 (Hopwood seven for 43, Booth three for 10); Lancashire 245 for four (Watson 108, Iddon 78), at Liverpool.

Gloucestershire, 168 (Allen 59, Paine five for 73 and Hollies four for 29); Warwickshire, 124 for two (Croom 62 not out) at Gloucester.

New Mining Camp Summit Lake Area

A new gold mining camp is looming up in the Summit Lake area of the Patricia district which, unless all signs fail, will prove a real challenge to Little Long Lac and others of the newer camps prominent in the public eye at the moment. Those who are conversant with developments taking place at Casey Summit Gold Mine, on the Casey contact next door, are confident that when the details are released there will be a stampede into the section rivalling that underway at the present time in Little Long Lac.

Few, if any, of the new crop of gold producers in the province have developed so rapidly or more impressively than has Casey Summit. The mill on this property is rapidly approaching completion, and by mid-summer should be turning out gold bricks. Preliminary work on Casey Contact Gold Mines, which adjoins Casey Summit, has succeeded in uncovering several fine veins in similar formation and strongly resembling the original "finds" on Casey Summit. The high assays reported from sampling these veins suggests the probability of Casey Contact becoming a big mine like its neighbor upon further development.

CANADIAN MINING NEWS.

As a matter of interesting news, we wish to advise you that F. G. Huycke, E.M., consulting engineer for the Bremner Gold Syndicate, writes from the property at Ransom Lake in the Swayze Area as follows:

"Work progressing rapidly, weather continues fine and favorable. Roads are greatly improved and aeroplane service is now on summer schedule. Full crew of men on the property have completed the building of wharf, camps and roads. Balance of equipment has reached the camp in good order and starting immediately, every man will be engaged in an extensive program of stripping and trenching the vein systems. Very good showings have been exposed and the results of this work will determine the best locations for diamond drilling and shaft sinking."

MONTREAL, June 27 (CP)—The fury of his fists belies the gentle smile Sixto Escobar, slim Puerto Rican youth, wears into battle. Acclaimed to-day by the Montreal Athletic Commission as bantamweight boxing champion of the world, the numbing, bone-crushing power of his punches was the talk of the town.

Completely disarmed by the sweet smile, Rodolfo "Baby" Casanova of Mexico dropped his guard in the ninth round of their 15-round championship bout at the Forum here last night, and tore after the little Puerto Rican pepperpot with a furious two-fisted charge. As 9,000 fans shrieked in excitement, Escobar abruptly halted his rapid retreat and stopped the Mexican knockout king in his tracks with a terrific right-hand punch.

THREE FIREMEN NARROWLY ESCAPE FALLING WALL

TORONTO, June 27 (CP)—Fighting a fire which destroyed the Granite Concrete Block Company plant in Mount Dennis, a suburb, with damage of between $35,000 and $40,000, three firemen narrowly escaped being crushed to death by a falling wall to-day.

The men, George Wright, Bert Hoare and William Smith, were playing a hose on the flames when the 20-foot wall in front of them began to sway. One of them noticed it and yelled to his companions who dropped the hose and ran to safety just as the masonry crashed to the ground, burning the hose under tons of stone.

Besides destroying the concrete plant, the blaze damaged two adjacent buildings occupied by the Hume Transport Company and the Muir and Martin Skewer company.

CONSERVATIVES LOYAL TO HENRY

Loyalty to Leader One of Fundamentals of Conservative Party.

MAY ABDICATE.

TORONTO, June 27.—If there is a movement to remove Hon. George S. Henry from the Conservative Leadership, no such demand is coming from the great mass of the party, who remain loyal to the Premier, according to the statement of a man high in the Conservative ranks, who was interviewed at the Parliament Buildings yesterday.

Asked how strong was the move to depose Mr. Henry, he said that no word of changed leadership had come to his ears. "We don't do things that way," he said. "Loyalty to our Leader is a fundamental of the Conservative creed." There had been no effort to place responsibility for the party's defeat on the shoulders of the Premier, he said.

Immediately after the election reports were current that Mr. Henry would be replaced as Leader. The suggestion was said to emanate from a group of the younger Conservatives, and forecasts concerning his sucessor centred about the names of Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, and Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minitser of Highways. Others favoring a change were reported as proposing the election of a man who had no direct connection with the outgoing Government.

An apparently well-founded rumor at Queen's Park yesterday was that Premier Henry would lead the party for one session at least, and then would abdicate.

SPONSOR FELLOWSHIP TO STUDY LIFE'S SECRETS

In a continuous effort to learn more about foods and how they can be improved Standard Brands Limited has for the first time placed a fellowship in a Canadian university, according to an announcement by J. W. Horsey, President. Dr. Lash Miller of the University of Toronto, eminent Canadian authority on bios, will be able to continue on a larger scale his extensive laboratory studies on the chemistry of bios, a general name for a number of biological products which stimulate yeast growth.

Fleischmann's Yeast, a unit of Standard Brands, sponsored one of the first fellowships ever to be placed in a large university by a commercial firm, when Dr. R. E. Lee, head of the department of Applied Research, arranged with the University of Chicago in 1918 to establish a fellowship for the study of yeast nutrition. Since then about fifty have been sponsored by this organization in leading American universities.

"It is hoped that the study of bios," said Mr. Horsey, commenting on the Canadian fellowship, "will supply one more link in the basic problem of biology, the secret of life and growth. The eventual solving of this mystery will be of tremendous importance to humanity everywhere."

INSTITUTE BACKS GIRL SCHOLARSHIP

Course at Guelph for Girl Standing Highest in County Competition.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 27 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. V. Orser, the Seymour West Women's Institute decided after discussion to bear their share in offering the girl standing highest in the county judging competition, a scholarship of $25, which will enable a two-weeks' course next Spring at Guelph. It was felt by the meeting that this, however, should go to a girl who had never had such training before. The matter of a smaller award for the highest girl attending the local coaching class, was discussed, but no decision reached.

The meeting was a very successful one, presided over by Mrs. Howard Clark, and for which Mrs. Ray McCulloch was the pianist. A total of forty members were present. The roll call was "The District Annual, Our Summer Series, and the Present Meeting."

The report of the District Annual at Codrington was given by Mrs. Garnet Curle, district representative, which proved of interest and which showed that the annual event was a great success.

The coaching class for this section of the county, for which the date is not yet set, will be held in Connelly's School, and Miss Edith Hopkins, of Lindsay, will be the instructor. Miss Jessie Anderson gave a paper on, "What Other Institutes Are Doing," which was very instructive, and which contained much data for future programs. A splendid reading, "Little Kindnesses," was given by Mrs. Thomas Campbell; the National Anthem being played by Mrs. Robert Waddell.

A contest, "The Names of Countries," was put on by Mrs. Charles Craighead, who also gave the prize to the group having the lowest correct answers; among the winners being Mrs. E. Fairman, Mrs. F. Keating, and Mrs. A. Russell. A splendid lunch served by the hostesses concluded a very pleasant and instructive afternoon.

Weddings

LECHNER—LUCAS

DOWNEYVILLE, June 27 (Examiner Correspondence). — A pretty June wedding was solemnized at Holy Rosary Church, Rochester, N. Y. on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock when Genevieve Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lucas of Downeyville, was united in marriage to Charles Lechner, son of Mrs Charles Lechner of Rochester. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Joery.

The bride's gown was of white mousselene de sole, and she wore a white picture hat, white sandals and gloves, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

The bride's sister, Miss Kathleen Lucas, as bridesmaid, was attired in powder blue net with matching picture hat, sandals, and gloves, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium. The groom's brother, James Lechner, assisted as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Billie and Bob Lechner brothers of the groom.

After the Nuptial Mass, wedding breakfast was served at Blarney Stone Inn to the immediate friends and relatives.

After the luncheon Mr. Lechner and his bride left on a motor trip to Washington and Atlantic City, and on their return will reside in Rochester, N.Y.

The bride prior to her wedding was entertained at several showers by Miss E. Johnson, Miss A. Mulhall, Miss Kathleen Lucas, Mr. Magie, Miss K. Lechner, and the office associates of the bride. The bride's many friends here in Downeyville wish her many happy years of wedded life.

Taking Credit

The Liberals were claiming credit for urging this building programme. Miss Agnes MacPhail (U. F. A. Southeast Grey) said on the public works programme. The Liberals were claiming credit for almost everything these days. Why did they not start this programme in 1929? In fact the government of Mr. King had been defeated, she believed, largely because of the inadequate way it faced the unemployment situation.

If the Liberals could claim credit for this programme the Progressives could claim credit for converting the Liberals to that view. G. G. Coote (U.F.A. MacLeod), had year after year urged such a programme to be paid for just as this was to be paid for by the issue of non-interest bearing Dominion notes.

Congratulating the government for accepting the advice, Miss MacPhail said it should have gone farther and launched a $100,000,000-programme paid for in the same way. However, that would come later because she was convinced several such programmes would be necessary.

Election Dodge

A vain and brazen attempt on the part of the government to save itself from political extinction was the view of the measure taken by Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Lib. Melville). It was openly for the purpose of affecting the coming general election and the government should be told so. The stupidity of the government in thinking this would save it was remarkable after the effect the road works in Ontario and Saskatchewan had in the provincial elections.

The object of the Bill was to create the impression that conditions were improving, said Mr. King. The people would not be told by the government that it was their taxes that was making this possible. The fictitious device of inflation was being resorted to to make it appear there was prosperity greater than was actually the case.

Mr. King declared the province of Saskatchewan was very much interested in the development of Prince Albert National Park. He read a telegram from the City of Saskatoon in support of the park. There was no provision in the estimates for this important park development.

F. R. MacMillan (Cons. Saskatoon) asked if the opposition leader knew there was a general appropriation of $2,000,000 for the interior department in the vote.

He knew that there was an item which might be used, replied Mr. King, and he was waiting to hear the Minister of the Interior say that some of it would be spent in Prince Albert Park.

"They have also got $40,000.00 interjected a Conservative member, referring to Saskatchewan.

That was to keep people from starving, Mr. King replied. All the provinces of Canada were entitled to fair treatment regardless of their political affiliation.

F. W. Gershaw (Lib. Medicine Hat) regretted no provision had been made for irrigation schemes to aid the sorely pressed ranchers. Some provision should also have been made for assisting municipalities in sewage disposal.

A total of 494. For the corresponding week last year, 19 lots, 883 boxes of cheese were graded.

Warkworth and Morganston ship regularly to Belleville Cheddar Cheese Company and are graded at Belleville. Empire and Menie ship regularly to Swift Canadian Company, and are also graded at Belleville, while Hoard's factory ship regularly to United Dairymens' Limited, and are graded at Trenton, Norwood goes to Canadian Packers and are graded at Peterborough.

Proper date marking of the boxes arriving at the grading station seemed to take form rather slowly. Some shipments have arrived without any date marks, some with figures indicating the day but no figure to show what month, and some believing the Department at Ottawa would be glad to know they had got started, marked their cheese as made on the first month. Mr. Irwin, the grader, has been very lenient so far, but is beginning to feel that the time has come when leniency ceases to be a virtue and is going to refuse to grade cheese not properly marked.

Cheese sold on Belleville Board on Saturday at 10⅝ cents.

PRETTY TYPIST GIVES DETAILS

MacMillan stuck to the story she had told her own counsel under direct questioning the day before. For the most part she retained her composure but on one occasion, during yesterday morning's hearing, she appeared to be on the verge of collapse.

Chided By Lawyer.

The plaintiff was chided by defence counsel, A. L. Smith, K.C., for "ruining the woman who, you said, had been more than a mother to you." He referred to Mrs. Brownlee, to whose home the young stenographer said she had gone during the wife's absence to be with Mr. Brownlee.

Miss MacMillan said she had shared a room next to that of the Premier and had had relations with him "almost every night for seven weeks."

She told how she sacrificed marriage with John Caldwell, Edmonton medical student, because she was afraid of Mr. Brownlee who "always flew into a rage" and because she feared loss of employment as a junior stenographer in the Attorney General's Department. She wanted to save Mrs. Brownlee, who befriended her, she said, when she came to the city from the country town for the first time.

Rapid Fire of Questions

Throughout the entire sitting of the second day of the trial Mr. Smith kept up a rapid fire of questions in an effort to discredit direct examination testimony. He referred to plaintiff's many visits to the Brownlee home in the absence of Mrs. Brownlee.

"You ruined the woman you said had been more than a mother to you," Mr. Smith charged. "You continued to visit the Brownlee home during the month of June (when Mrs. Brownlee was out of town), but after July 15 you refused to see her."

Mr. Smith asked if Mrs. Brownlee had ever inquired where her husband was going with the young stenographer when he went out with her on the long night drives Miss MacMillan described.

"Didn't she ever ask where he was going—when he should take a couple of hours to drive you a few blocks to your home?" he asked.

"No," she replied, "not in my presence. He would say he was going back to work or to the hotel to meet a man."

Squeaky Floor

"In your examination," Mr. Smith reminded her, "you said the reason the Premier did not go into the maid's room where your bed was because of the squeaky floor and noisy springs. You said you went into the Premier's room nearly every night. You objected, but he said his son Jack, sleeping in one of the twin beds would not awaken. You said he 'used to come and get me' Is that true?"

"Yes. He would poke his head into the room and say: 'Are you ready?'" She said that was the way it had occurred.

During this period she had taken "black pills" to prevent conception, she testified. Defence counsel recalled she had not mentioned this fact in earlier examination.

Mr. Smith is expected to conclude his examination at the noon adjournment, when Mr. Justice Ives will announce further procedure.

MRS. G. SHIELD IS RE-ELECTED

Hundred Attend Annual Meeting of East Durham District Women's Institute.

FINE REPORTS.

MOUNT PLEASANT, June 27. (Examiner Correspondence). Close to one hundred members of the Women's Institute met in the Women's Institute Hall in Mount Pleasant on Friday, June 22nd for the district annual meeting officially known as East Durham district.

The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. Shield of Mount Pleasant in the chair. Minutes of the last district annual held on June 15th last in Cavan community hall were read by the secretary, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, of Millbrook. The secretary then reported the executive meeting held previous at her home in Millbrook, when a district W.I. Picnic was discussed, to take the place of the branches visiting each other as was the custom during the past year; this was brought before the delegates to hold a district picnic including the eight branches, to be held the last week in July on Thursday, July 26th, each branch to contribute a fifteen minute program and bring their lunch with them, the executive to arrange the sports program.

It was also decided to continue with the scholarship for the coming year, each branch contributing a share to the twenty-five dollars for the girl winning the scholarship and attending Guelph College for two weeks. Miss Annie Graham of Mount Pleasant was the successful girl last year.

At the above mentioned executive meeting the secretary reported that the secretary's salary had been reduced from twenty-five dollars to ten dollars. This was discussed by the delegates and on motion of Mrs. T. Harkness of Millbrook and Mrs. Marion of Morriss it was carried unanimous to aise the secretary's salary to fifteen dollars for the coming year.

Mrs. Ira Lowe reported having assisted Mrs. H. Armstrong of Millbook to audit the secretary's books and found the same to be correct.

Miss Hopkins' Address

Miss Edith Hopkins of Lindsay was present and gave an interesting talk regarding the girls coaching classes. This year the girls will be coached in four centres in East Durham and four centres in West Durham with the following program:

Nutrition—Family menus and in place of school lunches, which has been on for a number of years. "Identification of meat cuts" will be judged, when ten cuts of meat will be judged; 15 minutes will be allowed to judge.

3rd—A darn on a woollen piece of knitted goods.

4th—Kitchen plans will complete the program for judging.

Miss Hopkins urged that the ladies get behind this worth while cause and get the girls out to the coaching classes. The choosing of the three centres for the girls to be coached with the fourth as a final competition centre was left with Miss Hopkins.

Luncheon was served in the hall by the Mount Pleasant branch to the visiting delegates.

When the meeting re-convened at 1.30 the branch reports were read by the different secretaries and showed very effective work under the mottor "For Home and County."

Miss Edith Hopkins took the chair for the election of officers which was by ballot with Mrs. P. I. Bently and Miss Ruth Tully as scrutineers. The following were elected:

President: Mrs. Garnet Shield Mount Pleasant.

1st vice president—Mrs. Williams Morriss.

2nd vice president—Mrs. R. McKnight, Millbrook.

3rd vice president—Mrs. Skitch, Bailieboro.

Secretary-treasure — Mrs. J. R. Eakins, Millbook (by acclamation).

Auditors—Mrs. W. Armstrong and Mrs. Bentley, both of Millbrook.

Federated representative — Mrs. R. S. Staples, Cavan.

District representative — Miss Grandy of Millbrook.

Branch Delegates

The voting delegates were:

Morriss — Mrs. Sculthrope, Mrs. Marion, Mrs. McHolm, Mrs. Osborne. Mrs. Beighton; Millbrook—Millbrook—Mrs. Byam, Mrs. McKnight, Mrs. Harkness, Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Pallis, Mrs. W. Brown; Bethany—Mrs S. Jamieson; Cavan—Mrs. R. S. Staples, Mrs. Howden, Mrs. J. Paul, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, Mrs. Snider; Bailieboro—Mrs. Skitch; Mount Pleasant—Mrs. A. Tully, Mrs. M. Handley, Mrs. W. H. Lowes.

Elizabethville was represented at the morning session but the ladies felt that they should return home at noon to attend he funeral of their secretary's father.

Garden Hill was not represented.

The standing commitees were the same as 1933—Convenors Standing Committees: Canadian industries, Mrs. S. Sculthorpe, Morriss; Health and relief, Mrs. Snider, Cavan; Education, Miss P. Burnham, Millbrook; Historical research, Mrs. Noman Fee, Mount Pleasant; House economics, Mrs. G. Foster, Bethany; Immigration, Mrs. W. Beatty, Elizabethville; Community activities, Mrs. H. Armstrong, Millbrook; Legislation, Mrs. R. S. Staples, Cavan; Agriculture, Mrs. A. Mudrew, Elizabethville.

Model of Ancient Chinese Village For Museum

BISHOP WHITE GUARDS EXHIBIT QUAINT HOUSES

Beautifully Executed Replica of Chinese Village is Dated A.D. 200.

TELLS STRANGE STORY.

Graves and Tombs Are Sacred to Hearts of Chinese.

TORONTO, June 27.—The Royal Ontario Museum's East Asiatic collection, said to be the finest in the world, is shortly to be enriched by the addition of a fascinating Chinese compound model cleverly executed in pottery and dating back to A.D. 200.

As soon as a glass case has been provided for the model, the exhibit, which was discovered in an ancient tomb in China, will be set up for visitors to inspect.

This compound, of the third century, has proved of vast interest to Bishop W. C. White, keeper of the collection, who has spent considerable time in studying every detail and its bearing on the history of China. Curiously enough, the model is very similar to the compounds of many a Chinese village of to-day, claims Bishop White. The model, it is supposed, was fashioned according to the order of the Chinese master of the compound, and was buried with him in the tomb.

Quaint Houses

In addition to the quaint houses belonging to the estate, here are included miniature models of attendants and the animals belonging to the compound—chickens, geese, ducks, goat, a dog, a mother cow with a calf lying by her side, and a horse with saddle and stirrups. Tiny models of implements such as the grindstone, house furnishings such as stove, dressing table and bed, depict the habits of the people of Chinese compounds 1,700 years ago.

Minute study of the model on the part of Bishop White is responsible for the amazing discovery that the miniature mother cow is dehorned. The practice of clipping the horns of a mother cow evidently had its inception centuries ago. Another astounding discovery made in the study of the model was the fact that stirrups were provided for Chinese horses as early as the second and third centuries.

An art gem in carved pottery is the "spirit wall" that stands like a screen in front of the entrance. "Spirits do not turn corners" is the belief of the Chinese, states Bishop White, and if evil spirits cross the threshold of the compound they will not be able to pass beyond the spirit wall. The tiled roofs of the grey pottery houses are fantastically ornamented with tiny grotesque animals, and a Chinese woman stands at the open window of one house of the compound, looking out of doors.

A model of a Chinese compound now among the exhibits, which has proved of great interest to visitors, dates back to A.D. 1,000. Although a little larger, it does not possess the character of the model which will soon make its appearance among the Chinese treasures and which was created perhaps some 800 years earlier than the model now familiar to museum folk.

Strange Story

It is a strange story that Bishop White tells regarding the discovery of the Chinese treasures that have been brought to Toronto and have made famous the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology. He claims that the exhibit is unequalled anywhere in the world. China, itself, possesses no collection of Chinese treasures as valuable as these, which trace the history of China through the centuries.

Graves and tombs are sacred to the hearts of the Chinese, who refused for centuries to have them touched. Then came the railroads pushing their way through the country, and the Chinese were helpless. Tombs and graves were opened up with the onward march of the railways. The Chinese people themselves failed to appreciate the value of the treasures that were thus brought to light, but Canadians, with a true appreciation of art, realized the significance of these treasures, and thus there came to the Royal Ontario Museum thousands of precious relics that have enriched the Chinese collection.

With the opening up of Chinese tombs and graves in the quest for treasure there has, explains Bishop White, developed a new vocation or profession—that of the grave explorer. The Chinese adopting this vocation equips himself with a special instrument for boring, and the shaft sinking deep down into the earth divines for the explorer whether there is buried there a prize of value to the collector. Not all the treasures unearthed and exhibited in the marvellous East Asiatic collection of the Royal Ontario Museum have been buried in tombs. Many have been buried in the earth through a washout or the destruction of a community through an earthquake.

Enthusiastically Bishop White chats of his work as keeper of the East Asiatic collection in the Department of Archaeology. Should he be given ten more years to serve the Province of Ontario in this capacity, he will have to crowd into those years twenty years of work, he contends. No day is long enough for this indefatigable collector and student of archaeology, who finds life in the Royal Ontario Museum a perpetual joy.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PIANO CLASS MAKES MOST CREDIBLE SHOWING

Children Representing Four Schools Are Heard in Recital.

LENGTHY PROGRAM.

(By Jeanette)

"A generation or so ago, reading, writing and arithmetic were the main subjects on the public school curriculum. To-day, in all progressive lands, we have art and music and literature taking up more time, possibly, than the study of the 'three Rs'. And rightly so, for they contribute more to the living of a life, which is vastly more important than making a living, and they help us more to appreciate beauty in its many forms.

"In Peterborough, we have been fortunate in having a Normal School in our midst and the Board has been able to secure the services in the public schools of a director in music and in art. In this way we have been able to follow out the ambition of every true teacher: to make the schools more pleasant for the pupils. To-night, we see the results of helping the boys and girls to develop instrumental ability and now it is the responsibility of the Board to see how they can manage to help more of those who have ability and no means with which to develop it."

Inspector A. Mowat, in a three-minute speech which was listened to with much interest, formed an interlude in the program last evening of the recital and demonstration by Public School Piano class pupils of Miss E. Isobel McKee, presented at the Prince of Wales School before a very large and extremely interested audience composed of parents and friends of the little boys and girls who took part in a most entertaining program.

Last year, after Miss McKee had assumed charge of the piano teaching in the public schools, on the retirement of Miss Kathleen Snyder, who commenced the tuition here, under supervision of Miss M. R. Rannie, the pupils gave a good account of themselves in their annual recital. Last evening, however, although many of them have been studying only since September last, they redoubled the favorable impression created at that time. They play with excellent memorization of pieces that range from tiny bits to lengthy compositions; they have an apparent splendid grasp of technical difficulties, of the sentiment of the selection and possess a very fine rhythmic sense. And, above all, they all have the self-confidence that adds so much to any public performance. They approach the piano, not as to a dreaded task, but with a carefree demeanor and blithe determination to conquer its obstacles that is fully half the battle. And not one of them forsook the instrument until the composition had been completed satisfactorily.

Knowledge Not All

Watching these cheerful small musicians—the tiny lads with their careful, ducking bows, the little lassies with pink and blue ribbons in their hair—this reviewer recollected a remark of an acquaintance who underwent piano tuition—by coercion—in his extreme youth. A large, raw-boned Teutonic lady taught him:

"If I had a good-looking teacher, I might have remembered what she taught me," he complained.

So possibly part of Miss McKee's success with her charges is due to the fact of the "personality" commented on by the chairlady, Mrs. W. R. Morris, who said that the children were fortunate in having such a teacher, "associated with them in this delightful work. For she puts not only enthusiasm into her teaching, but devotion to the children and a great interest in their pleasure and happiness. The children who come in contact with her every day are really the fortunate ones."

Mrs. Morris made a very brief speech at the close of the recital, speaking of the businesslike way in which the small children went through their selections and the great credit to themselves and their teacher demonstrated in such an excellent program.

Mrs. Morris, speaking of the fact that exactly thirty-nine piano pieces, two addresses and a presentation were made in the brief space of less than two hours' time, jocularly congratulated the listeners on the fact that "both your chairman and the Inspector of the School Board, who might have made long-winded speeches, had the good sense to cut them short."

The big kindergarten room at the school, with its pleasant arrangement and a platform banked with a profusion of lovely flowers, saw an active procession of little boys and girls, from the brief opening piece, "The Day is Ended," in which the twenty-four hours went in the shortest time on record, to the closing in the well-known "Daisy Chains," up to the piano on the stage, with plenty of appreciative applause from an interested audience.

Four Public Schools

The children represented the Central, Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary and Prince of Wales Schools, and their playing of piano numbers was interrupted by several demonstrations, led by Miss McKee.

The first was a demonstration of transposition and harmonization, in which various small girls and boys, called to the piano, quickly and skilfully, from memory, played little bits of music in different keys, called out by their companions. These were clever students as were the two little boys at the blackboard who gave a written demonstration of changes in the key signature of "The Woodpecker."

Then there was a demonstration of ear training, in which the children quickly caught errors in scales played at the piano by their teacher. It was noticeable that the children were able immediately to tell when their teacher purposely played out of tune, even momentarily. And they also clapped out tempo of varying types.

During an intermission, Miss McKee was presented by little Beverley Miller, on behalf of the pupils, with a dainty little boudoir lamp and two charming miniature pictures. An appropriate acknowledgment was made, Miss McKee also thanking those present for their attendance and interest.

A feature of the program, forming the conclusion, was the playing by a jaunty little Rhythm Band of a tuneful little piece of music, "Amaryllis," with nine earnest little boys, using cymbals and triangles and other tinkling instruments, fixing their eyes on their small lady conductor, little Mary Lillow, clad in a white outfit complete with cape and peaked cap. Miss McKee was at the piano and violin accompaniment was played by Jimmy Lillico, who also played with two little girls at the piano, Muriel Hall and Betty Jory, for the singing of the National Anthem which put a period to a wellplanned and very interesting program.

Those taking part in the playing of piano numbers were as follows:

From Central School. — Teddy Cooney, Dunlop Mathias, Katherine Johnson and Eva Jessie Davies.

From Queen Alexandra School.—Mary Lou Barrett, Morris Richardson, Clayton Selkirk, Teddy Chalmers, Joan Patterson, Billy Brown, Ruth Curtis, Mary Lillow, Barbara Shields, Jean Lillow and Ruth Gaskell.

From Queen Mary School.—Gordon Best, Roma Williamson, David Bell, Beverley Miller, Joyce Nellist, Jean Cranfield, Jack Hill, Judith Clarke, Billie Reid, Alvin Boyd, Alex Carlisle.

From Prince of Wales School. — Jack Mason, Ruth Barrie, Gail Kimberley, Phyllis Constable, June Freeman, Wilbert Edgar, Eleanor Grey, Faye Olin, Jeanette MacMorran, Jack Taylor, Helen Thompson, Billy Allen and Chris Huffman.

Eleanor Gray added to the interest of a rendition of the favorite "Holy Night' composition by singing a verse while playing this lovely song.

inspecting officer, but also a display to Peterborough people of the regiment as it will be seen in Midland this week-end on its annual regimental trip.

Solemn Proceedure.

With the ranks drawn up an the band playing softly in the background, the ceremony of marching on the colors before the arrival of the inspecting party, held the attention of the assembled crowd. Lieut. Albert Stanley, D.C.M., M.M., and Lieut. Lionel Sorby bore the King's colors and the regimental colors, accompanied by the usual escort, as this solemn proceedure was carried out. Then Col. Anderson appeared and the regular ceremonial drill began with the general salute. The inspection of the line was carried out, and to the time of march music by the band, the regiment marched past in column of companies, rettired in close column and marched past in column of route. A second salute was offered and then the colors were marched off.

A staff parade of the non-commissioned officers of the unit was a novel but successful feature of the review. Of note was the fact that a portion of the drill was carried out without the benefit of spoken commands, a whistle serving as the directing signal in the manoeuvres. A parade of the bugle band was included in this section of the display.

Test of Officers.

The inspection concluded with a test of the abilities of the company and platoon commanders to take command of units larger than their regular charges. Col. Anderson looked on as each company commander in turn drilled the battalion and as each platoon commander drilled a company.

With Col. Winterbottom in command, the Rangers staff is as follows: Mayor A. B. Mills, V.D., second in command; Capt. D. T. Crawford, commander of A Company; Capt. G. Monkman, M.C., commander of B Company; Capt. R. J. Bolton, commander of C Company; Major R. C. Blagrave, regimental padre; Major J. E. R. Munro, paymaster; Lieut. H. N. Young, medical officer; Capt. G. R. Melton, adjutant, and Capt. G. R. Clegg, assistant adjutant. Major Mills commands D Company.

SUBMARINE EYE BE USED TO SCAN DEPTHS FOR HIDDEN TREASURES

Depths of Sea Will Soon be Invaded by Man's Inventive Genius.

MUCH CARGO LOST.

By BLAKE SULLIVAN
(Central Press Canadian Correspondent).

SIOUX CITY, Ia., June 27.—The last outpost of mystery—the depths of the sea—will soon be invaded by man's inventive genius.

The submarine eye, an invention of Charles W. Heath, of this city, is an apparatus capable of descending into the sea unaccompanied, going deeper than human divers can venture and transmitting to its control ship, by means of direct television an accurate reproduction of what it "sees" there.

Unlike present broadcast television, there is no current loss nor static trouble because the "eye" is connected to its controlling apparatus by direct wire. This direct transmission of images corresponds to broadcast television to the extent that the telephone corresponds to the radio.

Weighing 2,700 pounds and being only 42 inches in diameter, the eye will be so constructed that it will be capable of resisting the tremendous water pressure several thousand feet below the surface. Its shape is semi-spherical.

The eye is suspended from four points on the control vessel. While being lowered into the sea, the apparatus is directed downward, giving those aboard ship a vivid action picture of all that comes within its range of vision, and enabling the operator to control its movements in any direction desired.

By a simple action the eye can be tilted from a horizontal to a vertical observation position. Fore and aft cables govern its tilting movements forward and backward, the other two points of suspension acting as pivots. When the operator wishes to direct the eye to the right or left the starboard and port cables are manipulated, the apparatus pivoting on the opposite points of suspension.

Sunken treasurer, the lure that has attracted man from the time ships first sailed the seas, will witness the first serious attempt to seek, and recover its wealth when the submarine eye beings its search of the ocean's floor.

Much Cargo Lost

Millions of dollars in valuable cargo have been accumulating in the sea for centuries. In locating these sunken vessels and directing salvage operations the submarine eye will be indispensable. Co-operating with new devices capable of raising sunken ships en masse, the eye will be able to direct operations to depths beyond which divers can operate.

Scientists will find this invention of enormous value in studying deep-sea fish in their natural surroundings, the inventor believes. Dr. Beebe's descent last year in a bathysphere to a depth of 2,200 feet (less than than half a mile) is the deepest any human has attained, yet it will be possible to construct the submarine eye strong enough to operate efficiently at a depth of three miles or even deeper. This is expected to open to science an entirely new field of marine research.

When Heath's apparatus is operated at a depth of more than 500 feet, it will be necessary to spread the points of suspension by moving three of the cables to other ships or barges. The fourthship, that on which the receiving set is installed, is the "mother ship". For all practical purposes, however, any vessel of moderate size will give sufficient spread to the cables.

Lightning in the gloomier depths will be provided by 16 5,000 watt bulbs. hTis will provide a range of 75 to 100 feet, depending upon the clarity of the water. Special arrangements have been worked out to eliminate diffusion of light.

Aside from its assistance in locating sunken ships, the submarine eye should aid harvesters of oysters, sponges and kindred products of the sea by seeking productive fields and by directing harvest activities.

Other Uses

In charting the ocean's floor the submarine eye may also prove its worth. The pick-up apparatus may be tilted slightly upward at the bow and the vessel allowed to cruise slowly while the formation of the ocean bottom is searched, or photographed.

A considerable area can be covered in this manner by causing the eye to follow a zig-zag course, accomplishing in a few hours work that would take divers months to do, even in the shallower waters.

Man posesses definite knowledge of only two-fifths of the earth's surface. Of the remaining three-fifths—that covered by water—he knows very little. The submarine eye promises to open a new field of exploration, the limitless undersea areas. The wealth and resources to be found there offer many possibilities to those who can exploit them.

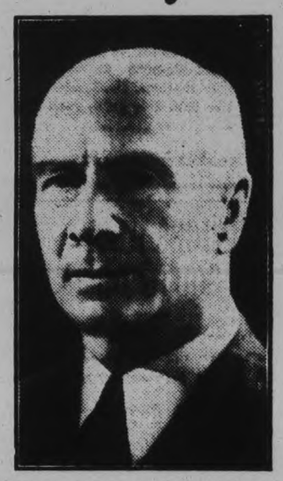
An Interesting Story— Or Is It?



From a photograph of Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., at 75. When 50 years of age Dr. Jackson was given but four months to live by the famous Sir Wm. Osler, but through natural living habits and the use of alkaline foods Dr. Jackson is today in his 77th year the embodiment of youthful vigor and endurance.

IT happened on one of those sizzling days in early June. A land agent insisted on taking me to see some "country property" suitable for transforming into a "beautiful estate". Why he picked on me I do not know, unless he had heard of the 600% increase in the sales of Dr. Jackson products, since the depression came on.

Of course, I wanted a country estate about as much as a horse wants horns, and I told him so. But I really did want a ride through the beautiful country surrounding Toronto, especially lovely in early June. So I went estate hunting, a fool's errand, hunting for something I did not want and couldn't use if I had it.

Did I say I didn't want it? Yes, and that was true until I saw that prospective estate lying there basking in the sun, the ripples and rapids of the river that ran through it glinting and gleaming in the midday glare, waiting the magic touch of some hand guided by an appraising, appreciative mind. Why, within an hour I desired that estate as intensely as a baby does its bottle when feeding time comes. It was a large piece of land, many kinds of woods, a deep river channel, rapids, eddies, bends. I tore through those woods, down the steep river banks, up the steeper river banks (banks are always steeper up than down), hour after hour in the blazing sun until finally the land agent, an aged man of 36, threw himself down on the grass saying, "Whew! I'm all in. Tell me, how can you keep going in this terrific heat? If you want to see more you'll have to go it alone." I answered: "I keep going in the heat in the same way that I keep going in the coldest days of winter when I wear no overcoat, vest nor underwear".

"Yes, I've heard that about you, but I did not believe it possible."

"You did not believe it possible that a man approaching 77 could rush around, uphill and down, as we've done for several hours, in this heat and still be fit and going strong, yet here I am 'fresh as paint'."

"That's true, too, but what's the answer?"

"Proper diet. You do not realize that your blood stream is your life stream; that blood is organized food and your blood can be no more vitalizing, that is, resistance-building, than the food you eat. You eat the conventional diet of civilization, only 1½% alkali-forming, whereas Science says 80% of your food intake must be alkali-forming. Likewise 80% of your foods must be vital and only 1½% of yours are vital, the rest are dead foods. Ninety per cent. of my foods are both alkali-forming and vital, thus I have in my blood "a normal alkali reserve, Nature's first defense against fatigue, (get that) disease and premature death". The same percentage of my food intake is vital. This alkali reserve and vital resistance in my blood makes my body vital and enables me to resist both winter's cold and summer's heat, and enables me to be still fresh and fit after strenuous effort in this heat, when you, less than half my years, are all in."

"Maybe you won't believe me when I say my main dependence for alkalis in my blood and vitality in my body to enable me to endure cold and heat and exertion is upon Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub, the only alkali-forming grain foods and beverage obtainable. In summer I cook the cereals at night, one minute, then cool and set in refrigerator and serve next day with fruit jelly or honey or maple syrup and cream, a 'treat for the Gods'—cool, off the ice, and 'cooling' to the blood, because of their alkalis. Try these cereals this way, a real treat on hot days, or eat Roman Meal uncooked as per recipe on package."

Note to the Public:—There are many other alkali-forming, vitalizing foods. I shall gladly send a list to anyone writing for it, but do not write if not really interested in better health. Address Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., 547 Vine Ave., Toronto.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

SAY FAREWELL CHURCH PASTOR

Huge Congregational Meeting Held at St. Andrew's Church, Millbrook.

LEAVE FOR CARDINAL.

MILLBROOK, June 27 (Examiner Correspondence). — An event of peculiar interest took place on Friday evening in St. Andrew's United Church when a congregational gathering, at which representatives of all the churches of the community were present, was held for the purpose of saying farewell to the pastor for the past six years, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., his wife and family, who will leave presently for their new circuit at Cardinal in the Montreal Conference. Rev Mr. Sisoe comes from Cardinal to the Millbrook charge.

Summer blossoms artistically arranged in fernery and baskets brought the beauty of nature into the sacred edifice, both within the altar and in the entrance hallway Reeve P. Stinson occupied the chair, and extended a warm welcome to the large audience. Rev. Dr. Lang of Cavan offering the opening prayer.

Seth Parker Club.

The Seth Parker Club formed the choir singing "You go to your church and I'll go to mine" was the initial chorus, the accompanists of the evening including Misses Mary Burnham, Frances Jones, and Estella Hetherington. Orville Wainman, the boy singer, was heartily encored for his solo. "When you and I were young, Maggie," as was also Mr. George (Grandpa of the Seth Parker Club), for his recitations "Up-to-Date" and "Success." Beatrice McDowell and Gordon Jones sang "Poor Richard" in their usual popular manner, responding to a recall, and the clever little elocutionist, Leatha Rowland, gave "The Dog and the Bee," with the song "The Little Elf Man" for an encore.

A vocal duet, "In the Garden," by Jean Stinson and Clifford Emmerson, was accorded warm applause. "God will take care of you" being the appropriate recall, and concluding this part of the program was a piano duet cleverly rendered by Esther Might and Marie Douglas, and a chorus by the Seth Parker group, the whole congregation joining in the refrain. Reeve Stinson spoke feelingly of "two faces that we greatly miss here to-night, those of Mr and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, absent on account of the former's illness."

Dr. A. Jemison, Clerk of the Session, read an appreciative address, and on behalf of the entire circuit Mr J. McKnight and Mrs. S. J. Smith presented the guests of the evening with a walnut dinner wagon and a cabinet of silver containing pieces of eight in the King Cedric pattern.

Gordon was also remembered with a tennis racquet, Leatha Rowland bringing this gift to the platform. The address was signed by the head of every organization of the church On behalf of his wife, himself, and their son, Rev. Mr. Jones made reply, expressing their heartfelt gratitude for the pleasant surprise and the "joy we have had in the associations and service together, and our delight in seeing the various church organizations grow and prosper."

Two important anniversaries mark this year in Mr. Jones' life, that of his ordination to the ministry 25 years ago this month, and for he and Mrs. Jones the silver anniversary of their wedding day this milestone being reached on September 1, and the chairman, on behalf of the whole community, extended the warmest congratulations on the happy events being commemorated, and best wishes for the years ahead.

Rev. Mr. Jones was born and brought up in this vicinity, and a pleasing gesture of the part of the chairman was the invitation to all those who had attended school, either at Carmel or Millbrook, with the retiring pastor to stand up, the response bringing a number to their feet all over the church auditorium. Among those who made addresses following the presentation was Rev. William Simpson, B.A., who brought greetings from the Anglican communion, spoke of the pleasure of his personal friendship with Mr. Jones, and added "best wishes to you, sir, and your good wife as you go to your new parish."

COLIC PAINS Ended!

Mrs. Ezra Goodrich was taken critically ill on Tuesday and removed to Belleville General Hospital that evening by ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson and family and Mrs. Dunsheath of Sunderland visited the former's sister Mrs. W. E. Gould on Sunday.

SERVICES HELD AT SOUTH DUMMER

Rev. E. M. Cook, B.A., of Fraserville is Special Speaker at Anniversary.

NORWOOD, June 27.—Anniversary and thank-offering services held at South Dummer Church were very successful. Although at the morning service the attendance was not as usual owing to a number attending the funeral of the late Mrs. S. S. Spence of Lakefield, who for many years was a resident of South Dummer and closely associated with the church.

Rev. E. M. Cook, B.A., of Fraserville, a former pastor, gave two very inspiring and helpful messages. In the morning his theme was "The Christian's Hope" based on the text, "And some seed fell on good ground that did yield some thirty, some sixty, and some an hundred fold," Mark 4:8. Two anthems "Sons of Praise" and "Zion, Awake, Thy God is Near" were well rendered by the choir; the duet parts being taken by J. A. Knox and M. Knox, with Mrs. Rork Ferguson as organist and choir leader.

At the evening service the church was filled to capacity. Rev. Mr. Cook took as his subject, "The Worker's Reward" taken from John 4:36, "and he that reapeth received wages, and gathered fruit unto Life Eternal that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together." The choir again rendered a splendid anthem, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," Mrs. J. A. Knox taking the alto solo.

Charles Renaud, director of Norwood Choir, sang a solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple." An octette from Norwood Choir, composed of Mrs. Renaud, Margaret Brethen, Eleanor and Margaret Marks, Ronald Webster, Earle and Maynard Bongard and Dewart McNeely sang "Steal Away to Jsus." Both numbers very much appreciated.

Norwood

Miss Lillian Greenbank, B.A., of Port Perry High School staff, is spending the vacation at her home here.

Mr. L. Sedgwick spent the week-end in Toronto. Mrs. Sedgwick and family, who have been visiting in Cooksville and Toronto, returned home with him.

Miss Olive Webster, B.A., of the High School staff of Glencoe is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Webster.

Mr. M. Small, B.A., of Havelock spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Small.

Miss Elizabeth Thompson, who has been attending the Toronto Normal School, arrived home on Saturday.

Mr. T. Hunt of Toronto spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Greenbank.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Howson spent the week-end with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lawlor of Sterling spent Saturday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Nelson and family spent Saturday in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. J. McConnell and Miss Edith Gardner spent Sunday with Mr. Evan Gardner at Deseronto.

Miss C. Calder spent Saturday with friends in Peterborough.

Dr. and Mrs. A. McGee and son, of Toronto, were the week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. McGee.

Miss Ina McConnell is visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. Chas. McConnell.

Paris now has 600 movie theatres.

Warsaw

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ketcham went to Warkworth on Saturday to visit Mr. Ketcham's mother, who has been ill.

Ernest Carveth is visiting old friends in the village and district for a few days.

Gertrude Dunford of Toronto is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry Clements.

Mrs. W. Parker and son Allan Parker are guests of Mrs. T. H. Crowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Graham of Innesfail, Alta. spent a few days last week with Mrs. R. W. Payne and Albert Graham.

An unusual family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Galvin Graham on Friday, June 23rd when eight members of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Graham of Westwood met. All of whom were over fifty years of age. Alex Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Galvin Graham and Mrs. Alex Graham were host and hostess. The following are the eight members of the family in whose honor the gathering was held: Mrs. R. W. Payne, Warsaw; Thomas Graham, Indian River; Galvin Graham, Lakefield; Mrs. T. Humphries, Belleville; William Graham, Indian River; Albert Graham, Warsaw; Andrew Graham, Innesfail; Stewart Graham, Westwood; Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. W. Graham, Mrs. Andrew Graham and Mrs. Stuart Graham were also present. A very happy afternoon was spent in chatting over old times, and telling of changes. Most of those present had lived their childhood and the greater part of their lives in East Peterborough or Asphodel. It is fourteen years since Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Graham were at their childhood homes in Westwood and visited their relatives.

U.S. War Planes To Cross Canada

The United States will find out what problems are attached to sending air forces from U.S. to Alaska across Canada in event of war with an eastern power, in a mass flight of 10 bombing aeroplanes from Washington to Fairbanks over the route shown in the map above. Thirty officers and enlisted men under Lt.-Col. Henry H. Arnold (inset) are making flight in seven hops. They seem pretty sure Canada will be on their side in event of war.

Trent River

Mrs. Reg. Taylor and son Carl and Miss Slade of Toronto are holidaying at "Idlewood."

Donegal baseball team played Trent River Thursday night resulting in a score 13-8 in favor of Donegal.

The following pupils of S.S. No. 10, Seymour, will write the entrance examination at Campbellford: Rena Chaplin, Ruth Glenn, Evelyn Wannamaker, Jim Brown and Carmen Alley.

Misses Helen and Joyce Harris, and Miss Margaret Nancarrow have returned to Toronto after spending their holidays at Healey Falls. Miss Nellie Whitely of Toronto spent the week-end with them.

School closed Friday afternoon owing to the funeral of the late Mrs. James Aikins.

Mr. Claud Goodman has had his lot on the Second Island (across the channel from his cottage) fenced. Mr. Goodman plans to erect a garage on this lot in the near future.

The Fishand Game Protective Association met Thursday night at "Cedar Isle" to elect officers and general business. Mr. Sam Ellis, president, and Melville Wight, secretary, resigned, and the following are the officers: Hon. Presidents, Messrs Thomas J. Brown and Sam Ellis; President, Harry Mann; Secretary, Earl Vanvolkenburg; Treasurer, Harold B. Wood; Directors: H. Mann, Earl Vanvolkenburg, Harold B. Wood, Jno. Ruttan, Sam Ellis, Bill McLaughlin, Melville Wight, Clifford Chaplin, Alexander Brown, R. W. Umphrey. A new name was added to the membership roll. The members discussed plans for the annual regatta to be held at a later date.

SPLENDID REPORTS READ AT MEETING

St. James' Church Women's Auxiliary Holds Delightful Gathering at Roseneath.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, June 27. — The regular monthly meeting of St. James Women's Auxiliary, had a delightful afternoon on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Pacey, when a goodly number of the members were present, and several visitors. A very satisfactory report was read by the secretary, Mrs. F. Brown, telling that the society had paid their pledge money for the half year of $10. The treasurer, Mrs. R. B. Nichol, reported $10.25 realized from the play, "The Private Tutor," put on by the A.Y.P.A. of Hastings; also a donation of $5 from Robert A. Nichol, which was greatly appreciated by the society. The Little Helpers' secretary, Mrs. Ross McCracken, reported $1.97 for the month of May; no added report was given by Mrs. Timlin for the Extra Cent a Day Fund. The travelling suit case, which is newly started, brought in $1.65 for the month of May.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Timlin and is expected to have as a guest speaker, Miss Violet Summerhayes, Diocesan Corresponding Secretary, of Toronto. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested, and wish to attend these meetings.

Miss J. Johnston asked for her meeting in August and invited the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, making a joint missionary service, each society providing a part of the program. Carried.

The rector, Rev. F. H. Battersby, addressed the gathering, taking his words from the Book of Romans: "I beseech you therefore brethren, that you present your body a living sacrifice."

Other numbers on the program was an excellent report of the board meeting in Cobourg, given by Mrs. James Webb.

Mrs. James Timlin gave a reading "Try this daily dozen." Mrs. Ross McCracken read a letter from Miss Louise Patterson, one of the first missionaries that the Women's Auxiliaries sent to Japan, over 80 years of age, but still in active service.

A reading, "Every Community has these people," by Mrs. Ernest Timlin. A poem, "In the Garden of God," was given by Miss J. Johnston. A hearty vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Webb for her report, and to Mrs. Pacey for her kind hospitality.

Obituary

ROY CAVANAGH.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning of Roy Cavanagh, whose death occurred Saturday evening after a brief illness. Rev. Father Finn celebrated the Requiem Mass and preached an eloquent sermon.

The late Mr. Cavanagh was born in Peterborough 45 years ago, and leaves to mourn his loss one son, Harold, and a daughter, Marion, a devoted and faithful niece, Mrs. H. Lush.

The pall-bearers were: J. Killingbeck, Morley Bebee, Emile Lamore, Frank Farish, Joe Jock and P. Cavanagh.

Rev. Father Costello recited the committal prayers at the graveside in the family plot at St. Peter's Cemetery.

MRS. JAMES ROBERTSON.

The funeral of Mrs. James Robertson, formerly of Lock Street, Peterborough, took place in Toronto on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Robertson died early Saturday morning in the Western Hospital, Toronto, after an illness of two weeks. She was born in England, and had lived on Lock Street, in this city, for nine years, until the family moved to Toronto about a year ago.

The surviving members of the family are her husband, James Robertson; three daughters: Mrs. James Anderson of England, Miss Kate Robertson, at home in Toronto, and Mrs. T. Yates of Toronto, and four sons: Samuel of Peterborough, David and James in England, and Alexander at home.

JAMES BROWN

The death occurred this week in Chicago of James Brown, a former resident of Peterborough who left here twenty-five years ago and was engaged in the Foundry business in Chicago.

Survivors are his wife, formerly Miss Annie Smith of Bridgenorth and one daughter, Gladys. Mrs. Thomas Duncan of Antrim street is a sister-in-law.

Interment took place in Chicago.

MRS. ROBERT COLON

In the death of Mrs. Robert Colon at her home on Peterborough-Port Hope highway this morning.

Mrs. Colon was the daughter of a United Empire Loyalist family that was among the early settlers of North Monaghan. She was born on April 27, 1851, at the old home of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lillico, and had spent her entire life of 83 years in the township.

Throughout her life she had been actively interested in the affairs of her community, was a member of Springville Church and late of Knox Church, and was widely konwn in this district.

Mrs. Colon is survived by her husband and one daughter, Miss Merton Colon at home, and by three brothers, Richard Lillico of Moose Jaw, and James and Thomas Lillico of Peterborough.

Funeral announcements will be made later.

BERT EMMERSON

Bert Emmerson, English immigrant, died at St. Joseph's Hospital early this morning, following an illness of some weeks' duration. He was 25 years of age.

According to Dr. Herbert N. Young, death is attributed to a duodenal ulcer for which the deceased underwent an operation about a week ago.

Coming to this country from England ten years ago, Mr. Emmerson had worked on farms in various parts of Ontario before coming to Peterborough over three years ago. He had been employed as a driver for the Regent Taxi Company.

The late Mr. Emmerson has no relatives in this country.

Funeral services are to be conducted at 10 a.m. on Thursday, at Belleghem's Funeral Home by the Rev. E. R. James of St. John's Anglican Church. Interment will be made at Little Lake Cemetery.

SAMUEL B. SMITH

The death took place last week in Fort William of Samuel B. Smith, a former resident of Peterborough who left here some years ago. During the Great War, he enlisted from Fort William and was gassed overseas, the effects of his injuries finally resulting in death at the hospital in Fort William.

Survivors are four sisters: Mrs. Whyard of Winnipeg, Mrs. Brown of Chicago (whose husband, the late James Brown, also passed away last week), Mrs. Rose of Kingston and Mrs. Thomas Duncan of Antrim street, Peterborough. Another brother, John Smith, passed away some years ago in Fort William, where interfent of the late Samuel Smith took place.

BIRTH.

KILLINGBECK.—At Nicholls Hospital, June 26th, to Mr. and Mrs. S. Killingbeck (nee Mae Storey), a son.

BRITAIN SENDS NEW DEBT NOTE TO WASHINGTON

Emphasizes Desire to Negotiate a Permanent Settlement of Debts.

FACTS NOT REVEALED.

British Policy Regarding Full Settlement Discussion is Set Forth.

LONDON, June 27 (A.P.).—A new British note was cabled to the British Embassy in Washington today in which the British Government emphasized its desire to negotiate a permanent war debts settlement with the United States.

Foreign Office officials declined to reveal the exact nature of the note except to say, "It is quite short."

The British policy of the past in reference to the desire for a discussion of a full settlement of the debt question was understood to have been restated as part of the communication.

The note is in reply to one by United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull, suggesting payment "in kind."

British circles pointed out that the day following the Hull note, President Roosevelt took the position that payments in kind could be only "very partial" ones. Suggestions at home that Great Britain give Bermuda or some other possession near America to the United States in payment have drawn positive Government opposition. It was officially pointed out that this would mean compulsory alienation of British subjects.

Few positive developments in the debt situation are expected here this summer, London feeling the question may lie dormant until Congress reassembles next fall.

Another financial matter—at this time more pressing—occupied the Government to-day. Representatives began conversations with a German delegation in an attempt to reach an agreement on a moratorium dispute involving a potentially costly trade war.

A bill rushed through the House of Commons and expected to be passed by the House of Lords tomorrow gives the Government authority to establish a clearing house to impound German commercial accounts. If the parley fails this course will be followed to assure payment to British bondholders of service on the Dawes and Young loans, despite Berlin's six-omtnh moratorium.

RAILWAY QUEEN VISITS CANADA

Seated in Cab of Biggest Locomotive in Empire, Queen Arrives in Toronto.

TYPICAL ENGLISH BEAUTY.

TORONTO, Ont., June 27.—Seated in the cab of the biggest passenger locomotive in the British Empire, Gracie Jones, the 16-year-old Railway Queen of Great Britain, arrived in Toronto yesterday on the Inter City Limited. Miss Jones' father is a laborer at Holyhead, Wales, in the employ of the London-Scottish and Midland Railway, and it was a happy coincidence that she should first reach Canadian soil riding on the famous Canadian National Railways train that made a world's speed record for the distance between Montreal and Toronto, while the Royal Scot, the crack train of her father's company, holds the world's speed record for its operation between London and Glasgow.

Not more than five feet in height, Miss Jones is a typical laughing-eyed type of English beauty. The eighth Railway Queen to be elected by the British railway associations, Miss Jones is the first to travel across the ocean. About her neck she wears her official chain of office. It is made up of a miniature railway links, and each link has been donated by the railways in the country over which she travelled. Her message which she brings with her, is one of peace and goodwill, and her crowning is symbolical of goodwill in the railway industry.

The chain of office present holds links from railways in France, Holland, Germany and Belgium, Ireland and Denmark; now the United States links have been added. No railway queen of the future may visit any country to which a predecessor has been.

MEAT CLAUSES OF TRADE PACT ARE REVIEWED

No Decision Reached in Conference of Meat Producers at London.

MAY IMPOSE QUOTA.

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, Eng., June 27.—Representatives of the governments of the United Kingdom and the leading meat-producing Dominions, including Canada, conferred this afternoon over the meat clauses of the Ottawa trade agreements, which expire June 30. No decisions will be arrived at for a few days, it was indicated.

J. H. Thomas, secretary for the dominions, and Walter Elliott, Minister of Agriculture, met Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner; Stanley M. Bruce, Australian High Commissioner, and Sir James Parr, New Zealand statesman, at the Dominions office.

Previously the cabinet discussed the opposition of meat imports with special reference to the demand of a large group of Conservative member of the House of Commons for a subsidy to domestic meat producers similar to that at present allowed to wheat-growers.

The British government, it is understood, still leans towards the idea of imposing a definite quota on foreign and Empire imports of meat products.

Tell Governments

Nothing definite was decided on in the Empire talks, it was learned. Some time will be allowed for the respective high commissioners to communicate with their governments and gain a reply to the proposals considered by the British government.

The British government, however, has promised a definite statement before parliament rises, probably early next month. At the same time, it is believed, the Minister of Agriculture may announce that the cabinet is considering granting a subsidy to the British meat-producer out of the levies which may be imposed on foreign beef imports under which the Dominions will be granted a preference. At the momen hese proposals are entirely unofficial.

The central chamber of agriculture is proposing that a duty be levied on foreign meat imports, through which, it is claimed, a sum of around $42,000,000 may be realized for relief of the domestic market. At yesterday's meeting of the Chamber L.C.M.S. Amery, former Dominions secretary and prominent protectionist, pointed out that Britain for the time being was precluded from imposing a duty on foreign meat by the terms of the Argentine trade treaty and in any event before such a scheme could be put into operation definite plans on a domestic subsidy would be necessary.

IN MEMORIAM.

LANE.—In loving memory of our darling son Cleveland, who went to be with Jesus, June 27, 1933.

"Somewhere up there in heaven
Dwells a dear little boy of ours,
Whom we looked on as a treasure,
Whom we cherished as divine.
But softly as a sunbeam
He slipped from off life's deck.
And we yearn so much for his tender touch
Of his arms around our neck.
It is not the tears at the time we shed
That told of the hearts that were broke,
But the lonely tears in the after years,
And remembrance silently borne."

—Ever remembered by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

HAVELOCK MASONS WILL ERECT HALL

Calling for Tenders to Replace Hall Destroyed by Fire.

Tenders have been called for construction of a new Masonic Hall at Havelock, replacing former premises that were destroyed by fire last winter. The tenders close on July 9.

Plans prepared by John T. Hornsby, architect, call for a 2-storey brick building on a concrete foundation, covering an area of 27 by 50 feet, and finished in a manner becoming the dignity of the Masonic Order. The premises are to include a lodge room, dining-room, preparation room, kitchen, laboratory and school-room.

CHURCH HAS TOWN IN HILL CREVICE

Southern Presbyterian Church in U.S. Owns Municipality in North Carolina.

MONTREAT, N.C., June 27 (CP). — An incorporated town, without debt or tax, church-controlled, but providing police and fire protection to its citizens and advanced educational facilities—that's Montreat.

Lock, stock and barrel, Montreat is the property of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. It's tucked up in a green crevice among towering mountains and has a large lake, assembly hall with 3,000 seats, two large hotels, the Montreat Normal School, children's playgrounds, residences, paved streets, its own power and water systems, and owns and operates its own general store.

Through a local association Montreat is owned by the Southern Presbyterian Church.

It has a policeman but no jail. No resident has ever been arrested, but occasionally some visiting lawbreaker has to be dealt with. If conviction results before the Mayor-Judge, the prisoner is taken four miles down the road to Black Mountain jail. But Black Mountain charges Montreat no jail fees for its prisoners.

For almost a quarter century, Dr. R. C. Anderson of Montreat, president of the Mountain Retreat Association, governing body of the town, gradually has been adding to its facilities through hard work and co-operation of prominent Presbyterians.

CENTRAL Canada is a region where the ceaseless traffic and noise of bustling centres of population may be exchanged at short notice for all the pleasures of the wildwood. Thousands of lakes linked by streams afford the canoeist a choice of routes that can be found in no other part of the continent. With a few boon companions, old clothes, a canoe, tent and adequate supplies, a whole summer can be spent under canvas. There are fashionable hotels at the watering places, and quiet boarding houses and snug camps are located at the mountain and lake resorts for those who prefer natural and unspoiled conditions. For the yachtsman and motorboat cruiser there are scenic waterways linked by deep channels or canals. The social atmosphere of typical summer resorts, the gay life at sandy beaches and the solitude of pine-shaded camps are all offered by Central Canada as solutions to vacation problems.

Many of the playground regions of Central Canada are accessible by motor roads, tree shaded and smooth arteries, which wind between cities and towns, past golf courses and through scenic countryside. The National Parks of Canada of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, annually supplies free of charge to a growing number of prospective visitors automobile road maps and information about this ideal vacation region. Everywhere in Central Canada nature abounds in primeval beauty and invites to the cool retreats which are the delight of the summer visitor.

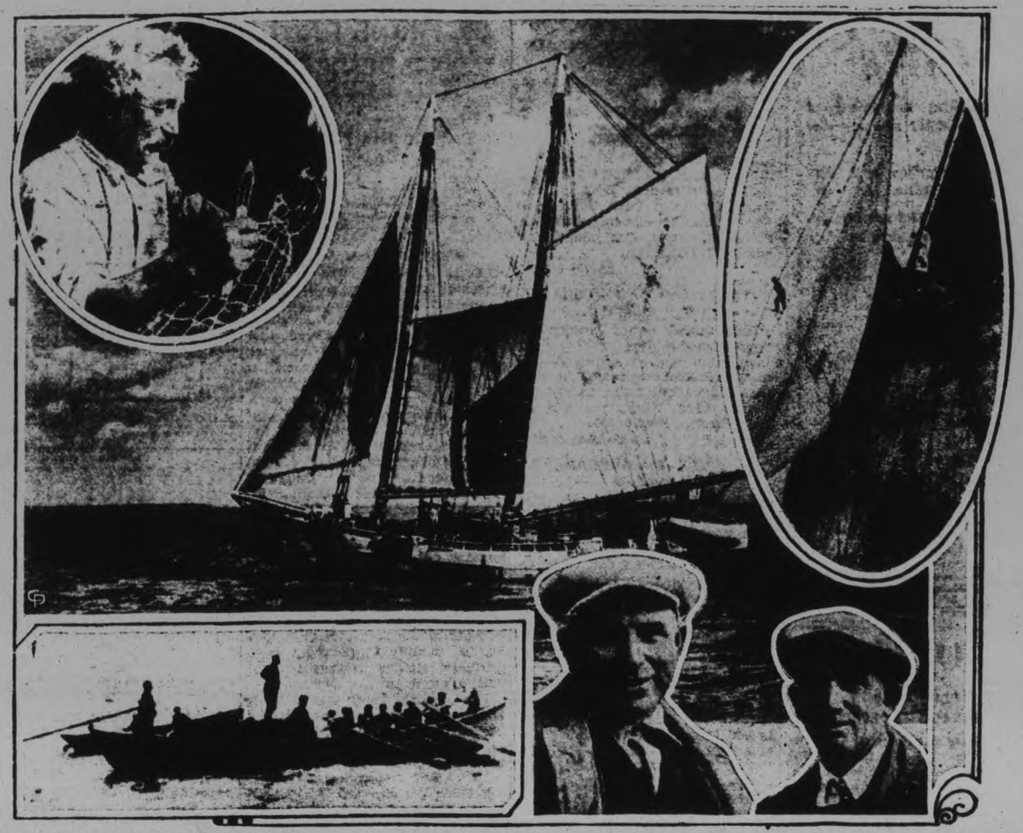
Move to Seize German Credits For Britain

Neville Chamberlain (left), chancellor of the British Exchequer of England, announced in the House of Commons that Great Britain soon would establish a German-British clearing house, because of the six-months moratorium on debts just announced By Berlin. Sir Eric Phipps (right), British ambassador at Berlin, has informed the German government of the British intention, which would sequister German credits in Great Britain and apply them to service of German bonds held by Britons. It is believed that the British move would react unfavorably on the United States, by making it more difficult for American creditors to receive any payments on debts. It is estimated that British investors hold more than $217,000,000 of Dawes and Young bonds, and that $10,847,500 interest is payable on them on July 1.

American Sailors Quit North Atlantic Fishing Fleets



That Canadian and Newfoundland sailors are supplanting Americans on the fishing schooners of the North Atlantic is revealed in the book about the life of these hardy fishermen, "Men, Fish, and Boats," by Alfred Stanford. The book tells of the hazardous life led by these fishermen, who still use the sailing vessel in their daily work, steam vessels having been proved impracticable. The layout shows in centre, a typical schooner of the Grand Banks; upper left, sea-stiffened fingers with shuttle in hand move with cunning dexterity in mending the nets. Upper right, Mickey Hall, famous mastheadman in, to the uninitiated, perilous position nearing the topsail of the Elizabeth Howard, the "white ghost" of the Banks. Below at left, the seine boat carrying out the net after sighting a school of churning mackerel. The dory in the background is used to drive the fish into the opening of the net. Lower right, Captain Ben Pine of the Gertrude L. Thebaud, and Captain Angus Walters of the Bluenose, two of the most famous boats and skippers in the North Atlantic, the Thebaud from Gloucester, now manned by a Canadian crew, and the Bluenose from Nova Scotia, queen of the North Atlantic. Where balloon ascent will take place.

Real human drama lies behind the building of the huge free balloon that will soon take off from the Black Hills of South Dakota for the stratosphere. The balloon will be the largest ever built, some 27 stories high, while the gondola will also be larger than ever before. The balloon is expected to travel some 15 miles into the universe, and those in charge state that this new altitude record is but secondary, primary interest being in the ultra-violet, infra-red, and cosmic rays that are said to bombard men like shrapnels. Every possible device know to science will be brought into play in an effort to make the flight successful. It is under the auspices of the National Geographic, with the assistance of the United States Army air corps. Two scientists, Major Kepner and Capt. Stevens, will be sealed in the gondola.

Winnipeg Scout Earns Thrilling Trip Through Arctic

Cockburn of Winnipeg, King's Scout, is the choice this year to take the thrilling trip to the Arctic on the Hudson's Bay Co. supply ship Nascopie. This sturdy vessel each year makes a survey of Canada's most northern parts, carrying supplies and justice in the person of the R.C.M.P. Young McCallum, (17 years old and six feet, 3¾ inches), was chosen from 50,000 scouts in Canada for the trip. The choice last year fell to Eric Lidell of Vancouver. The voyage will take him along the route established in 1668 by the ketch Nonsuch up into the northern hinterlands and down through Hudson Bay. Also making the trip is P. Ashley Cooper, governor of the Hudson's Bay Co., who will be the first governor to take the trip in the history of the famous organization.

The ladies of the executive committee of the local branch of the Humane Society were entertained yesterday afternoon, when they received an invitation from Mrs. Albert Grant of "Ballintrewan" Port Hope Highway, to enjoy her hospitality. It was a most interesting visit. In the large, handsome home which fronts the lake, there are many curios and souvenirs of extensive travels abroad. Mr. Grant was Warden of the Household to Queen Victoria, and his daughter, Victoria, is a godchild of the late Queen. The gift to her godchild of a life-sized engraving of the great queen hangs in the living room at "Ballintrewan" and was much admired by the guests, who also paid a visit to the kennels, where twenty-five Sealyham terriers are on view, the hobby of one of the daughters of the house. Tea was served indoors, and games played. Members of the executive who were guests of Mrs. Grant were Mrs. W. G. Howden, Mrs. R. N. Stuart, Mrs. Adam M. Young, Miss Mabel Wyatt and Miss Bessie Latimer.

Despite the inclement weather of yesterday, there was an attendance of over seventy-five ladies at the residence of Mrs. Malcolm McIntyre on Park Hill Road, at a garden tea held under the auspices of the July and October groups of the Women's Association of George street United Church, which eventually resolved itself into an indoor Marguerite tea, with fires burning cheerily in the grates. The guests were received by the hostess, and the convenor of the groups, Mrs. S. C. Kingdon, and the president of the W.A., Mrs. C. E. Smith. The verandah was arranged with baskets of marguerites and flags and quantities of roses and peonies, in pink and white, decorated the reception and living rooms. In the tea room, the table was done very attractively with a lace cloth centered by a silver basket filled with marguerites. Silver bud vases held the same delicate blossoms and tall orchid tapers were lighted in silver candlesticks. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. C. Wood, Mrs. A. W. Hynes and Mrs. Howat, Senior. Assistants were members of the two groups and the ladies were ushered to the tea room by Mrs. L. M. Richardson. Mrs. Sarah Armstrong was treasurer and a sale of cooking was supervised by Mrs. W. J. Copp and Mrs. A. F. Hagerman. During the tea hour, a pleasing program was presented. Mrs. J. Foster, played violin selections and also played accompaniments for tap dances by the Misses Kay Thackeray and Erma Beatty, and Frederick Fowler sang.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Every color is beautiful if it is used in the right place and in the right amount. In a good color arrangement your room will have color poise. Its brilliance will not be spotty, but so carefully distributed and blended that your eye is never glued to any one color splotch as you enter the room. But rather, the colors are so blended that your eye carries from on color to the next with ease and interest, and without any offending deadlock stop.

* * * * * * *

But in any successful color scheme there would be one outstanding color effect. Whether your scheme is one of quiet colors, or a sophisticated complication, there should be one main color note. This color theme may be in different degrees of distinctiness, in different tones of lightness or brightness, but nevertheless, that color theme should predominate.

* * * * * * *

Suppose, for example you want a room with a yellow theme. That does not necessarily mean that the walls, furniture and draperies must be yellow, but it does mean that for a yellow room, even if a group of oranges and greens are introduced, that there is a yellowish tone running through them. The general effect is that of yellow, and every other color in the room should be subordinated to the main theme to prevent confusion. If you want to use other coolrs that are brighter than your yellow, they still can be subordinate to the yellow note by being used less extensively.

* * * * * *

A very splendid way for a beginner to work out a color scheme is to have the largest areas of the rooms, the walls, ceiling and floor, in the more neutral tones. The smaller areas, as the furniture and draperies, in the brighter tones, and the accents, as the pictures, lamps and accessories, the most brilliant.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOL PICNIC

Keen Competition in Sports Program at King Edward School Outing.

A large attendance of children, parents and friends gathered in King Edward Park on Thursday, June 21, for the annual picnic of King Edward School.

Several ball games were played in which the older pupils took part and a number of races in charge of Mr. Bolton were run off for the younger children.

A booth in charge of Mrs. J. O. Fife, assisted by Mrs. H. Turner, Mrs. T. Menzies, and Mrs. Croft, was well patronized and added much to the enjoyment of all present.

The parents and friends were invited to have supper with the children. The different classes were seated in groups and were served by their teachers assisted by some of the mothers.

Mrs. A. H. Cooke, with Mesdames Grose, Ellis, McWilliams, Spurway, Searles and Miss E. Leggot, was in charge of the sandwiches and cakes, while Mrs. Mackness, Mrs. Matchett and Mrs. Garrard looked after the serving of lemonade. The results of the races were as follows:

Girls, 5 years—Celia Ball, Gladys Lawson, Joan Moffatt..

Boys, 5 year—Douglas Dyer, Warden Anglen, Donald Quinn.

Girls, 6 years—Edna Lackey, Gloria Fenner, Dorothy Risheren.

Boys, 6 years—Paul Estlick, Ray Harrison, Lloyd Profit.

Girls, 7 and 8 years—Mary Stevenson, Joyce Gallager, Jean Lawson.

Boys, 7 and 8—Wesley Ellis, Clifford Piercy, Alden Downer.

Girls, 9 and 10—Alice Gallager, Jean Castle, Hilda Stazicker.

Boys, 9 and 10—Leslie Moore, Eric Lang, Fred Lawson.

Machael Bajus was one of the most distinguished theologians of the Roman Catholic church in the sixteenth century.

Less meat and what you serve "dressed" more, is the demand for summer menus. In India, you know, where the weather is so very hot, food is very highly seasoned. Too many condiments are not very healthful, however, so we will content ourselves with making very tasty dishes like the chopped steak and onions in today's menu. Two toppings for the coffee cake are included in the recipes.

Today's Recipes

Chopped Steak and Onions—One pound round steak, ground; one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one tablespoon chopped celery, one egg, beaten; one-half cup chopped onions, three tablespoons butter. Mix steak, seasonings and egg, place in greased shallow pan. Top with onions and butter Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Serve in dish in which baked.

Crumbly Top for Coffee Cake—Two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons butter. Rub together until the mixture resembles small grains. A few pounded almonds may be added, if desired. Sprinkle them over the top of the coffee cake, previously brushed with melted butter.

Brown Sugar Topping—One-fourth cup butter, three-fourths cup brown sugar, three tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Cream the butter wtih brown sugar and flour. Mix in cinnamon and salt, and sprinkle over the coffee cake dough, brushed with melted butter.

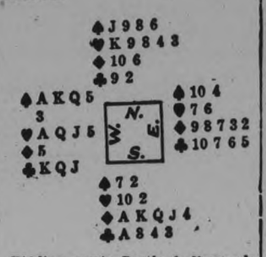
ANOTHER DOUBLE-THEN-BID HAND

It is vital to understand the details of any new method of bid or play. At the risk of boring a few players who scorn novelties, today we have another example of the "Double-Then-Bid" type of hand. South made an opening bid of 1-Diamond. West held the full requirements for what followed: At least 8 playing tricks, a strong five-card major suit, with ability to support any strong holding of partner, provided partner could furnish at least three spades, to assure West that he had not struck a bad distribution.



Bidding went: South, 1 diamond; West, doubled; East, 2 clubs; West, 2 spades; East, passed; he could not rebid clubs, lacked 3 spades, had no second suit to bid and he had to pass. That ended bidding.

The opening lead was the 10 of diamonds, which South overtook with his J, and led the K. West ruffed. West led the ace of hearts, followed by the J, as if he lacked the Q but North won with the K, just the same. North led his top club. South's Ace won. He led the ace of diamonds. West ruffed with the 5, and was over-ruffed with North's 6.

North led the 4 of hearts. Dummy held the trick, by ruffing with the 10. South discarded his lowest diamond. The remainder of the tricks belonged to West. He led dummy's last trump, and ran off his 3 good spades. Then he took 2 good clubs and his single good heart. Opponents won the following tricks: 1 in spades, by an overruff of diamonds; 1 in hearts; 1 in diamonds, and 1 in clubs. West won 3-odd on his call of 2 spades, bad as he found dummy and opposing distributions, winning the 8 playing tricks in his own hand, as his informatory double and subsequent 2 spades, over East's response, promised.

Had North been East's partner, bidding might have gone: West, double 1 diamond; partner, 1 heart; West, 1 spade; partner, 2 spades; West, 4 spades, ending bidding.

Neither a spade nor heart trick would have been lost. Only South's aces of the two minor suits would have won tricks.

Like opening bids of 2, the double-then-bid situation is a rare happening, particularly among those who happen to know it best. It is one of the best new ideas I have seen in years. Try it. Tomorrow, the last hand of the sort for some time, will appear.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

If it was true that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the cricket fields of Eton, the general idea also applies to baseball, and the United States is training many a great soldier for the possible next war.

Baseball does train and prepare men for the battle of life, no matter where that battle is fought. It trains the body to endurance, skill ,swiftness, quick repoise, accuracy and grace. It trains the mind to self-control, rapid, accurate decisions, alertness and unselfishness.

The batter who gets angry at an umpire's decision, or in amateur games at the action of a player on the opposing team, decreases his chances of making a base hit by 33 per cent, of making a two-base hit by 80 per cent, and of making a longer hit by 95 per cent. It is only the very peculiar player who can afford to get mad; one in whose make-up the adrenalin secreted in anger makes the eye more accurate and the muscles more tense.

Athletics do not simply make strong muscles and stout hearts and lungs, they also train the nervous system. The baseball player who can train his muscles to come to tension in a tenth or a twentieth of a second sooner than his opponent, will make the winning play.

It's too bad we haven't got insect muscles. Then they wouldn't have to try to get a livelier ball. They would have to tame the ball down. The field would be laid out so that it would be about a mile from base to base. Because the insect muscle is the most perfect one in the world.

A human muscle responds many times slower than the insect muscle, and releases only a fraction of the amount of energy in proportion to its size that the insect muscle does. If grasshoppers the size of men played baseball, the runner could jump from home to first and make a home run in four jumps.

Another feature about our human muscles is that after we have put them in motion—contracted them—we can't get them uncontracted for some time. The contraction of an untrained human muscle lasts .06 seconds. That of an insect lasts .003 seconds. It is plain that in order to make any progress in a series of movements we have to uncontract the muscles and then recontract them, over and over again. Here the insect has us at a great disadvantage, because it wastes so little time on uncontraction.

I said the UNTRAINED human muscles stay contracted .06 seconds. Training will improve this. The rabbit's muscle stays contracted .07 seconds; hence the rabbit can move rapidly. If the baseball batter, by practice, can train his muscle to uncontract a fraction quicker than the opposing shortstop, he will beat the throw.

Popular Screen Star Keeps Peppy With Salt Baths, Avers Gladys Glad

Mary Brian

The lovely and winsome Mary Brian, who has more boy friends on her string than any other of the Hollywood damsels, possesses an amazing amount of pep and vitality, even on the most debilitating summer days. Mary is a firm believer in the revitalizing effects of salt rubs. She gives her body salt rubs frequently during the hot weather. And she claims that they not only refresh her, but also help to keep her skin soft and satiny-smooth.

Salt rubs really are excellent for people who work or play at the expense of nervous energy. They are immeasurably invigorating and refreshing. They tone up the circulation of the whole body, and counteract the ill effects of fatigue. And they assist one greatly in recovering from the weariness and tension of hot summer days.

It really is very simple to take a salt rub. The first thing to do is to step under your shower and dampen your whole body. Then take handfuls of salt and rub the body thoroughly until the skin literally glows. After this, while your skin is still rosy from the friction, step under the shower again and rinse every particle of the salt from your skin. Do not allow any salty residue to remain on your body, as salt has a somewhat drying effect on the skin.

If you haven't a shower in your home, of course, you'll find it rather difficult to take a salt rub. But in that case, you may substitute a salt bath, and you'll find it just as beneficial. The salt bath is a tonic bath, and gives the body a gloriously invigorated and refreshed feeling. You know how marvelously refreshing a plunge in the briny ocean proves. And you can obtain practically the same effect merely by making a miniature ocean of your own bathtub.

To make your tub a miniature ocean, fill it with water that is of summer ocean temperature—from 62 to 72 degrees. Dissolve at least a pound of salt in this water, then, reserving just enough to massage your muscles and your feet. You may use pure sea salt crystals obtainable in drug stores, or plain table salt for this purpose. They are equally effective. After the bath, rinse your body well in clear water. And as the final step, administer a brisk rubdown with a Turkish towel.

SEAL AT HOME.

SEATTLE, June 27 (C.P.). — A stray seal makes itself at home in a sailboat owned by C M. Jewett, anchored off Magnolia Beach.

It dislikes visitors, and dives overboard and swims away when swimmers or others get curious. By night however, Jewett says, it sleeps in the bottom of the boat, and suns itself there in the early morning.

Jewett has named it Pop?Eye the Sailor.

POLLY PLUM WINS—Nosing out Back Fence at the wire, Polly Plum wins thrilling race on Aqueduct, L.I., track.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

DUFFERIN WOUND up in a blaze of glory on Saturday with one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds to ever pack in the little plant. Zasuska Stewant Jr. and old George De Mar all clicked at over $30 and had the form players hanging on the ropes. It was a typical getaway day with a long one dropping from the clouds about every second race. While the official figures have not yet been compiled it looks as if the Little Saratoga plant will head all the Toronto tracks in the matter of wagering.

The wise ones tell us that Eddie Seagram has a nice prospect in Sun Abbot and it may come in right handy to string along with him. Jim Badame expects Uppity to win a heat at Hamilton. So far this year he has been unable to do the needful but has reached his top form now. And any distance suits him . . . Rockingham Park got away to a nice start on Saturday on the first lap of their thirty-one day meeting. Round Table is down there fresh from a successful campaign at Long Branch. Distribute is another that was in great form as he left the Canadian circle.

AS YOU already know the Canadian Racing Association have called a special meeting this week to deal with the matter of refusing Lloyd Gentry a license. It seems they were willing to allow Harry Hatch to race his horses but would not let Gentry saddle them; in other words they were telling Mr. Hatch to get a new trainer. But Hatch did not think so highly of the idea and did not mince words in telling him so and he promptly told them that they would either grant Gentry a license or he would run his horses on independent tracks in Canada or on tracks across the line. Our guess is that Gentry will be reinstated right smartly.

Any horse that is a good finisher has a better chance at Hamilton as the long home stretch gives them a chance to get straightened away. The track is a mile and a quarter in circumference with the stretch being easily one quarter mile straightaway, quite a difference from Dufferin where they have to go twice around to complete the mile . . . . Frumper is still at Detroit and has not been better than third so far but do not sour on him as he will soon come through with colors flying. Dibert from the Halliwell barn is also at the same place and ready to do business.

RED WINGS WIN 10-7.

(By the Associated Press)

In the brilliant display of pitching strength the Newark Bears have flashed in their drive to the top of the International League, Young Jack Larocca, former New York City schoolboy star, has been an important factor.

After winning two and losing four decisions during the early part of the campaign, Larocca suddenly struck top form and the Bears 3-1 decision over Baltimore Orioles last night gave him his fifth successive triumph.

Young Jack failed to travel the route but allowed only five hits and fanned nine men before he developed a streak of wildness in the eighth and was replaced by Frank Makosky. The latter pitched the last inning and the two-thirds and allowed no hits. Euel Moore, although he was touched for 12 hits, hurled steady, effective game for Baltimore except for the sixth inning when the Bears scored the two runs that gave them victory. Roy Schalk, Newark second baseman, collected three hits.

Turn Back Buffalo

Ival Goodman's' second home run of the game, coming in the 13th with two on, enabled Rochester to turn back Buffalo, 10-7, in another night game and return to second place, six games behind Newark. Goodman also collected three singles in Rochester's 19-hit offensive on three Bison hurlers. Buffalo pounded Norbert Kleinke for 12 hits in 7 1-3 innings but got only one more off Johnny Michaels in the last 5 2-3 innings.

All other clubs were idle.

NOTRE DAME STAR ILL.

HOUSTON, June 27 — Johnny Young of Houston, Notre Dame halfback, is in a serious condition at a hospital here with a kidney infection. He has been in the hospital since Friday.

Young has been counted on as one of the gridiron mainstays of the Ramblers this fall. He will be a senior at Notre Dame.

FAVORITES WIN IN SINGLES TENNIS PLAY AT WIMBLEDON

Shields, Stoefen and Wood Score Easy Victories in Tuesday's Contests.

JONES BEATS HUGHES.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 27.—Fred Perry and Jack Crawford led a triumphant parade of favorites safely through the second round of singles play in the all-England tennis championships yesterday. Along with England's Davis Cup ace, favored to lift the title from Crawford, leader of Australia's cup forces, went all the first-rank United States players in the chase.

Crawford flashed nimble and accurate tennis to lower the colors of Hans Henkel, ranking German player, in one of the day's feature tilts. Scores were 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. Perry easily cracked the resistance of United States veteran Davis Cup leader, R. N. Williams, and went on to win by 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

H. W. "Bunny" Austin advanced at the expense of H. Denker of Germany, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. The young English internationalist showed championship form from the first serve.

Score Easy Victories.

Of the United States players, Frank Shields, Lester Stoefen, and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., scored easy victories, while George M. Lott, Jr. and Dave Jones, former Columbia University captain, engineered upsets.

Shields put out the French internationalist, Pierre Landry, 6-4, 6-4, 6-0; Wood tried out his ground strokes on Max Elimer of Switzerland, and won 6-2, 5-7, 6-0, 7-5. Stoefen blasted the well-known English player, John S. Olliff, off the courts, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Jones provided a real upset by coming from behind to defeat the English Davis Cupper, George Patrick Hughes, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4, while Lott put on a great show as he defeated Giotgio de Stefani, Italian star, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Lott tried for everything in sight, doing several tumbles and bounding to a popular victory over the Italian No. 1 man.

Helen Jacobs Wins.

In the women's division, Helen Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey both had an easy time winning first round encounters. Miss Jacobs, the United States champion, put out the unseeded but capable Englishwoman, Mrs. E. C. Peters, 6-1, 6-1, while little Sarah won from Miss R. Smith of England, 6-4, 6-1.

The going gets much more difficult for nearly all the favored players to-day. Perry has what appears to be the hardest task in meeting Roderick Menzel of Czechoslovakia, who defeated him in the French championships. The Czech is a player capable of beating any one on his good days, and through the intermittent showers of yesterday, Menzel appeared to the gallerytes to be the best man on the courts.

P. DEAN HURLS FIFTH STRAIGHT WIN FOR CARDS

New Yorkers Fail to Overcome Cardinals' Early Lead and Fall 13 to 7.

CUBS TAKE 6TH IN ROW.

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The score of that famous National League series, the brothers Dean vs. the world champion New York Giants, stood at 5-0 in favor of the eccentric pitching duo of the St. Louis Cardinals to-day.

Elder brother, Jerome H. (Dizzy) Dean, has beaten the champions twice in as many chances this season. Brother Paul, younger and not quite so noisy, outpoints them yesterday for the third successive time. Together they thus have accounted for the third successive time. Together they thus have accounted for five of the six victories the Cardinals have scored over the Giants in ten games so far played.

Young Paul, perhaps the league's outstanding freshman hurler, has pitched better ball games than he did yesterday, but he was adequate and earned his tenth victory against only one defeat. The Giants pounced on him for 15 hits, including Mel Ott's 19th home run and Travis Jackson's 10th, but the Cardinals presented him with a 13-2 lead as early as the fifth inning and he staggered through to win, 13-7. Rip Collins, Cardinal first-sacker, drove in four runs with a double and three singles and scored three times himself.

Cut League Lead

The Giants' defeat cut their league lead to 2½ games over the Chicago Cubs, with the Cards another half game behind. The Cubs benefitted by Lou Warneke's steady pitching and won from Brooklyn, 5-2. The Dodgers wound up the contest bereft of the services of Manager Casey Stengel, Catcher Al Lopez and Outfielder Ralph Boyle. Stengel and Lopez carried an argument too far to suit Umpire Charley Rigler, and were banished in the third. Boyle suffered a sprained ankle in the eighth.

Pirates Split Double

Pittsburgh, in fourth place, split two games with the Phillies, dropping the first, 5-4, and winning the second, 4-1. The fifth place Boston Braves downed Cincinnati, 5-1.

In the American League, Danny MacFaydens' fine pitching and Lou Gehrig's double and 20th home run were the high acts in the New York Yankees' 6-2 conquest of the Chicago White Sox. Trailing the pacesetting New Yorkers by a few percentage points although in a virtual tie with them, the Detroit Tigers stopped the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-1, behind Eldon Auker's seven-hit pitching.

Senators in Third Place

Washington went into third place, Cleveland into fourth, and the Boston Red Sox dropped to fifth as the result of the other two games. The Senators nosed out the St. Louis Browns, 10-9, but suffered a severe blow when Catcher Luke Sewell was hit on the head by a pitched ball and was taken to a hospital for treatment of so-far undiagnosed injuries. Cleveland trounced the Red Sox, 10-2, as Willis Hudlin allowed only six hits.

Race Draws Tighter

The slugging activities of the members of baseball's big six were nothing to shout about yesterday with the result that the race for the batting leadership in the National League was drawn a little tigher. Joe Medwick, the Cards' slugging outfielder, gained one point with one hit in three times at bat for an average of .372, while Bill Terry and Arky Vauhan went into a tie for second place with one safe blow, while Vaughan went hitless. Heinie Manush's two hits in five times at bat still left him with an average of .411. Cecil Travis of Washington, gained three points, but his .373 average still was far back of Charley Gehringer, who dropped to .396 with a loss of six points.

BRINTONS TAKE 24-10 TRIUMPH

Carpetmakers Finish First Half of Schedule One Game Behind Leading Tiremen.

HEAVY SLUGGING BEE.

Brinton Carpets defeated C.G.E. 24-10 last night at Central, and thereby finished the first half of the men's softball a game behind the League leading Johnston Tire outfit. They went scoreless in the first two frames, and then crashed through with three or more runs in every succeeding inning. They showed a powerful offensive and a tight defence, banging out 22 hits and making only 3 bobbles afield.

Lefty Sturgeon did the twirling for the winners, and his left-handed slants bothered the C.G.E. batters to such an extent that they only connected with 11 hits off his delivery. He struck out 5 and walked 5, but always tightened up when in danger.

Jimmy Price pitched for C.G.E., and while he pitched well in spots he weakened in the latter stages of the game and the heavy hitting Brintons put the game on ice. Pat Calladine was the spear-head of the Carpetmen's attack, collecting no less than 5 hits out of 5 times at bat, along with Jack Playford, who also had 5 hits out of 6 appearances at the plate, one of them being a 4-bagger. Each member of the Brintons got at least one hit during the contest.

For C.G.E., Fleming, the shortstop, did all the heavy hitting, getting 4 hits for 5 trips to the plate, bringing in three of his team's 10 runs.

Because of the muddy condition of the field, several errors were made, but in spite of this some good fielding was displayed. In the first inning, Wilshaw, second baseman for C.G.E., bagged a fine running catch in short right field.

The teams:

C.G.E.—Wilshaw 2b, 3b; Weese 3b, 2b; Fleming ss; Board 1b; Vitarelli lf; Cowan rf; Mahood c; O'Toole cf; Price p.

Brinton Carpet—H. Dormer 2b; Smith 1b; Weir lf; Calladine c; Sturgeon p; Playford cf; Newson 3b; G. Dormer ss; Williamson rf; Webb rf.

Carrick To Defend Ontario Golf Title

TORONTO, June 27 (C.P.).—A firing squad of former champions and aspiring champions will aim this week to stop short the golfing comeback of Don Carrick, burly Toronto barrister, who once was the arch-rival of Sandy Somerville, and may be again before this season is over.

Carrick leads a powerful contingent of players into Windsor for the start to-morrow of the Ontario amateur championship over the Essex County Golf and Country Club course. The big bespectacled Scarboro star is defending champion.

It will determine whether Carrick is prepared for another serious challenge for the Canadian amateur crown, a headpiece he hasn't worn since 1927, when his golf was as phenomenal as Somerville's. The rivals will not meet over the Essex layout because Sandy is not entered.

There is every prospect they will clash in the Canadian amateur later on this season at Montreal if Carrick is satisfied with his game under the fire it will be subjected to at Windsor. It was a good enough game last season, but Carrick was unable to take time to play in the national event in Vancouver.

LAST MINUTE McMASTER GOAL SAVES DEFEAT

Scots Lead at Interval 2-9 But Fail to Hold the Advantage.

3-ALL COUNT.

A last minute goal by McMaster saved the Canadian General from defeat, last night, by the Caledonians, in a league engagement, to give them a 3-all verdict, in a superb display of code that took away a valuable league point from the champions of last year.

A large crowd of spectators witnessed many local boys making their first debut. Doug. Mowry and Art Heal, King Edward schoolboys adapted themselves to the senior calibre of the game. Ed. Tice was carried off with an injured knee and Green replaced him in the Scots goal.

Heal's Beautiful Header

There was no advantage in the selection of goals. Right from the kick off McMaster out-witted the full backs to go right into goal where Tice stopped his drive. Barson transferred the ball to the right wing. Clark evaded the opposition cleverly to tip the ball back to Heal who placed the sphere at his toe. While on the run, Clark drove hard but his effort hit the upright to save the C.G.E. goal. A little later, a Clark flag kick ended in Heal placing a perfect header to the back of the net. The C.G.E. replied with a steady attack, and on one occasion, Tice took the ball right off the toe of McMaster's boot. Long swinging passes introduced by the Scots confined the activities to the C.G.E. goal which brought out the excellent qualities of Blowers at left back. A breakaway by Clark and Heal terminated in the latter sending a sizzling drive across the goal mouth where an open goal was awaiting as the custodian ran out of his charge to clear.

Rankin Scores

The C.G.E. team endeavoured to hold the Scots' attack but failed to meet the onslaught when Rankin sent a rising shot into the rigging, in below the cross-bar, from a break away by Clark on the wing. Half time—Caleys 2, Canadian General 0.

Smart Calibre Football

It was evident, on resuming, the C.G.E. didn't appreciate the count against them and applied the pressure to the Scots' defense. Their altered style of attack, with a steady long kick into the goal area, caused the Caleys a lot of anxiety. After the C.G.E. pivot man had been stopped in a dangerous rush, he gently tapped the ball back to Mitchell who rattled a long drive away out of the reach of Tice. At this point, the Scots' custodian, Tice, was carried off the field with an injured knee. Green replaced him in goal. Play travelled from end to end at a rapid pace and only tangible reward was a brilliant display of defensive work by the full backs. The C.G.E. halves continued to feed their forwards with low grounders and it was from one of these attacks that McMaster gained the equalizer on a splendid individual effort.

Gore Put Scots Ahead

The Electric boys didn't get much satisfaction in tieing the score, because within the next few minutes, Gore accepted a pass from Rankin along the touch. The winger beat two men in a row to finally lift the ball into the far corner of the goal to put the Caledonians ahead. The remainder of the tussle concluded in a desperate attempt to save themselves from defeat by McMaster and company. When a victory seemed assured the Scots the C.G.E. centre man took advantage of the opening presented him, registering a smart goal from an oblique angle. Caledonians 3, Canadian General 3.

Canadian General—W. Curtis, goal; J. Mitchell and G. Blowers, full backs; S. Clark, W. Robb and W. Bolam, halves; J. Quinn, F. Earle, B. McMaster, A. Mitchell, and R. Clyde, forwards.

Caledonians—E. Tice, goal; D. Green and W. Dinesin, full backs; D. Whatman, C. Barson and H. Webb, halves; G. Clark, A. Heal, G. Lovatt, F. Dyer and D. B. Mowry, forwards; subs., W. Rankin and J. Gore.

Referee—A. Frick; linesmen—D. Anderson and A. Downer.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

It rained last night, so we went to the movies. There was a picture of the Baer-Carnera brawl, cut a bit, but full of action. We liked it and agreed with all the writeups wherein it was stated that Maxie just coasted along, opening up in flashes to give the huge Italian an extremely rough passage indeed. The Alp was plenty game and he had a nice left jab that piled up a lot of points but wasn't hard enough to crack a robin's egg. Mister Baer, on the other hand, had a lashing right uppercut that packed dynamite.

• • • • • • •

He's a great showman, Maxie. He never forgot for a moment that he had an audience and he made the most of it. In the eleventh round, for instance, he walked to Carnera's corner, kept brushing Da Preem's left jabs away while he shuffled his feet in resin, then danced out and cut the champ down—all the time appearing perfectly at ease. At times, he became quite annoyed at Carnera's jabs in the face whenever he pulled his trunks up, but then you can't blame a guy under the circs. After all, no one enjoys his pants threatening to slip off in front of a mixed crowd, and being slapped in the face at the same time.

• • • • • • •

Some fight pictures are pretty deadly things, but these were interesting. The cries of "Cut him down, Maxie!" and "Feed him that left, Primo!" with a background of the usual fight uproar made it quite natural. Baer should make a pretty fair champ, and a real colorful one. Carnera may get another crack at the crown, but he doesn't rate it on what he showed there. The big fellow towered over Max but his jabs and pushing punches didn't bother the new champ in the slightest. But he certainly showed he had plenty of "intestinal fortitude" as Max glibly stated in a newsreel scene. Yeah, that's what's taken from cats to make fiddle strings.

King Edward School won the School Softball League title by winning all ten of their games this year. Central came next with eight out of ten, followed by Queen Mary with five wins. Prince of Wales four victories, Queen Alex two and King George one. Some good gams were played and more players got into the sport this season, but there were also plenty of one-sided and pretty poor fixtures. We still think they'd do much better another season to revert to baseball. About half the school teachers interested feels that way, but the other half doesn't.

A couple of bantam ball teams tangle tonight at six in Riverside, one going by the somewhat ferocious name of Hawks, and the other billed St. Peter's. Should be an interesting scrap and the kids ought to draw a fair crowd. We can still recall our bantam ball playing days and the huge kick we got out of every game. The tilts were the chief subject of conversation on the various neighborhood corners for days beforehand, and the gloating or mourning lasted afterward for a week. We had—and no doubt other kids did, too—a regular library of Spalding books, such as "How To Bat", "How To Play Shortstop", etc. Not to mention a pile of clippings on Big League games that would have made enough confetti for every June wedding in town!

• • • • • • •

Russ Kitchen accompanied the Petes to Kingston to-day, and the big right-hander, borrowed from the Cogs, will likely pitch. Knotty Lee also has Jack Barry of C.G.E. and Abbie Rose along—saying "between them all, maybe we can squeeze out a win." He's certainly having some tough breaks through injuries again this year, after the worst luck in the world due to accidents last summer. Spook Scriver is the latest loss, having been operated on for appendicitis yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital. He rested easily last night and is reported making satisfactory progress. The locals' ace twirler will no doubt be out of the game for quite a while.

• • • • • • •

Brintons wound up the men's softball first half schedule last night with a 24-10 win over C.G.E. There's a tie game to be run off yet, as it has a bearing on the standing. Second half opens between Fashion-Crafts and Brintons Thursday. Rumor has it that the other three teams are kicking about C.G.E. being run by the loop—and are we laughing! The other three squads had their choice on players and the Electrics had to take what was left. But now, the others are afraid—yeah, that's the right word—that C.G.E. will cop the second half. It seems Messrs. Scates and Harrison have them bluffed. Why don't the managers of Johnston's, Brintons and Fashion-Crafts take our advice and put detectives shadowing the wily co-managers of the new team?

• • • • • • •

Campbellford Maroons are here Saturday afternoon at 2.30 to play the local Kiwanis lacrossers in Riverside Park, a regular O. A. L. A. intermediate game. The homesters have copped three straight so far and hope to knock off Campbellford, too, but we know the Whitton-Ingram-Bush-Hendy combination when at full strength can always give the Petes a tough battle. They expect to field a full squad this game. Since there is no ball game here Saturday and with the new grounds, the game ought to draw a fine crowd. A fast, even box lacrosse contest in the daytime is well worth seeing, being crammed with action, thrills, smart play, and enough rough stuff to keep fans excited.
